A talent tea, under the auspices of the Queen Alexandra Circle, A.O.F., No. 136, was held last Friday at the home of Mrs. George Record, 13 Cricket Place, with a splendid attendance during the afternoon and evening, when dancing and cards added to the entertainment of the guests.

WHERE WORLD'S AUTOS WERE BUILT IN 1922

In the year 1920 the United States supplied 68 per cent. of the automotive exports of the world, and Canada supplied an additional 8 per cent. of the cars of American design. France supplied 11 per cent.; Germany, 6 per cent.; Italy, 4 per cent., and Great Britain, 4 per cent.

In 1921 manufacturers in the European countries had re-established themselves in a stronger position after the confusion caused by the great war, and automotive exports from the United States dropped to about 40 per cent. of the world total, while Canada's ratio increased to 10 per cent.

DENVER TRAFFIC COPS WILL BE MADE VISIBLE

In Denver, Col., traffic officers are to be illuminated—not "lit up" in the general sense of the word, but, at the same time, lighted.

A new system for controlling traffic at crowded corners in that city is to be put into effect. The invention, that of A. G. Paine, automobile man, consists of a large leather belt with a red light on the front and back. Traffic officers will wear this belt, and small dry cells will be carried.

Whenever a traffic officer signals traffic to proceed east and west, for instance, his "fore-and-aft" will flash out red lights to warn all motorists proceeding north and south to halt.

Every traffic officer thus will be his own semaphore.

WOMEN SHOW GREAT INTEREST IN AUTOS

No less an authority than Alfred Reeves of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce says that "man may earn the family income, but the woman in the home has a very influential part in saying how the budget shall be spent. In so vital a purchase as a car, her wishes are certain to have an important bearing on the ultimate purchase."

A recent survey of the New York district showed that in 75% of the cars sold the final choice was made by a woman. A tabulation of the registration of 100,000 cars in various section of the country showed that six per cent of these were owned by women, or 6,000 cars.

Thus, a woman not only has a voice in the selection of the car for the family, but she is purchasing her own car in increasing numbers. The woman's tastes and ideas are therefore well worth recognition, and her interest in motor cars may be developed with profit.

But this influence on the part of woman is not alone an indication of her personal interest in the motor car from a selfish standpoint. It is proof that she recognizes the importance of a motor car in the life of the family

TIRE MILEAGE RECORDS DEPEND ON CONDITIONS

Tire mileage records are often misleading. It is actually possible for a given lot of a few tires to run farther than the average and still be poorer tires than others. It is not the point that the use of average tire mileages is wrong, but rather that the average mileage test with no knowledge of actual running conditions may be entirely misleading.

Unless omething is known of the facts behind tire averages it is difficult to make a reliable decision on such tests. The fact is well known that under normal conditions front tires will outrun rear tires. If a large portion of the tires to be tested are applied on front wheels it is very possible that they may equal an average mileage of previous tires used on rear wheels and still be poorer tires.

It is necessary to know on what wheels the tires are run. Also, to take into account the running conditions, overlonding, wheel alignment and accidents.

FILLING STATIONS FOR GAS ARE UNKNOWN HERE

Gasoline filling stations are as yet unknown in Switzerland, although there are about 20,000 passenger cars registered. Gasoline istribution is made by garages, where the procedure is from the barrels in which it is kept to the litre measure and then into the tanks of the vehicles. There would, however, be considerable missionary work to be done before automatic filling stations could be sold there.

PISTON SPEED GREATER IN MOTOR TRUCK ENGINE

Authorities state that the power plant of a motor truck will have a piston speed of two or three times that of a similar engine used for passenger car propulsion because of the low reduction gear ratios necessary to drive a heavy truck with an engine of reasonable piston displacement. A truck engine operates under heavy-duty conditions practically all of the time and it should be specially built for the work. All bearing surfaces should be larger than in a pleasure-car motor of the same power, the lubricating system must be positive and the water cooling is usually by forced circulation in which a pump keeps the water moving. An interesting comparison may be made between a truck and a passenger-car engine of 300 cubic inches piston displacement to show how truck engines must be run faster. A passenger car with 4.25 to 1 reduction and 34-inch tires will require an engine speed of 750 r.p.m. to attain a vehicle speed of 15 miles per hour. A two-ton truck with 36-inch tires and 8.5 to 1 drive and reduction would necessitate an engine speed of about 1,400 r.p.m., or 6 r.p.m. more than the pleasure car to attain the same speed. Unless special designed for high-speed work, normal crankshaft speed of a mo truck power plant should not exc 1,000 r.p.m. to secure long life of bearings and other engine parts.—Scientific American.

CHRISTIANS ARE FLEEING FROM ALEXANDRETTA

Strained Relations Between France and Turkey Arouses the Fear of More Massacres.

FRENCH PROTEST

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 18.—(United Press.)—Christians are fleeing from Alexandretta owing to strained relations between France and Turkey, according to the official Anatolian News Agency.

Five hundred Armenian families already have departed from the city. An outbreak is feared as a result of the recent disagreement, including that over the Chester concessions to the United States, against which the French have protested to Turkey.

A band of fifty Armenians from Syria attacked a Turkish village called Aghzibozkale, in the Adana district. According to the News Agency, Turkish detachments rushed up and destroyed the attackers, the report stated.

In a Bad Mood.

The Turks at Angora are in a mood of restrained belligerency as the time for resumption of the Lausanne Conference draws near. Ismet Pasha arrived here to-day for a conference with the Allies on the subject of the Chester scheme before going to Lausanne.

The Angora Assembly adjourned until May 21, so it will not be in session when the confreres meet in Switzerland to resume the Greco-Turkish peace conefrence.

Mustapha Kemal, Turkish war lord, who has appeared in a somewhat tame role since his marriage, made a speech to the army, in which he declared that if the results of the Lausanne conference necessitated resumption of hostilities, he felt sure that the army was prepared to do its duty in the sacred struggle.

FRANCE FEARS GERMANY AND BLOCKS PEACE

Paris, Affrighted by Threat of Strong, Reconstructed Teuton Foe Seeks Life Insurance.

RELIES ON SELF

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS

DUSSELDORF, April 18. — The one big stumbling block in the way of peace in the Ruhr—and in Europe—is France's fear of a reconstructed Germany, again powerful and capable of annihilating France if left to face her alone.

Nothing short of some kind of guarantee against such a fate will ever budge France from astride the Rhine.

If Great Britain will not give it to her, nor America, nor the two together, then France will follow out a policy all her own—a "safety first" policy—from which nothing short of superior force can turn her.

That is my outstanding impression after visits to Paris, London, Berlin and the cluster of German Pittsburgs which merge, one city into another, here in the Ruhr.

Washington Busy

I have means of knowing the government at Washington as well as that at London constantly is putting out feelers both in Paris and Berlin.

Berlin, I know, is anxious to reach a settlement. And so is Paris. The hitch is not over the actual question of reparations, for Premier Poincare is still willing to accept $50,000,000,000 gold marks in addition to what Germany has already paid on account.

The problem which the United States and Britain have to solve, if they are to act as arbitrators in the Ruhr dispute, is how France may be secured against another German invasion.

Whatever objections Premier Poincare may have to Secretary Hughes' plan to have a commission of experts determine the question of reparations and Lord Robert Cecil's suggestion that the League of Nations work out a scheme which would satisfy France's anxiety for her own safety is not an impossibility.

But one thing is certain. France, backed by her two strongest allies—America and Britain—to face Germany alone, would leaped astride the Rhine.

She is in the Ruhr, Germany's one big industrial centre, without which Germany would find it very difficult to wage a successful war.

And there France will stay until she can get the life insurance she is after or until she hammers out a guarantee for herself and in her own way, let anyone object who may.

ELECTRIC CAR FOR PETERBORO WAS DISCUSSED

Nothing Definite Recommended in Regard to Local Claims for New Service.

C. N. R. STAFF HERE

An electric service over some of the lines out of Peterborough was one of the matters discussed at the conference of officials of the Canadian National Railwy System, between Toronto and Portland, Maine, which was held in the G.W.V.A. Hall this morning.

Since this possible improvement was first mooted by G. N. Gordon, M.P., several months ago local interest and hopes have been stimulated by the prospect of the advantages it could bring to Peterborough and this district.

After this morning's session which was concluded at 1.30 p.m., Mr. W. R. Davidson, general superintendent at Montreal, and Mr. D. J. McMillan, superintendent of the Belleville Division, told The Examiner that nothing definite had been proposed as to extensions of the electric car service.

It was stated that an additional car had been ordered would soon be available, and although Mr. A. McNab had suggested that it be placed on the Peterborough-Lakefield run, or as a special between Peterborough and Toronto, leaving here in the morning and departing from Toronto at 7 p.m., other branches of the system were also mentioned as having strong claims, especially between Valleyfield and Montreal.

The plans of the C.P.R. to install a bus line to McCracken's Landing is considered as an influence that may secure a C.N.R. electric car for the Lakefield-Peterborough stub line, but there were no specific assurances as to what action might be taken or representations made to the management.

Mr. McMillan said that in all probability the electric car would not replace any train now on the schedule.

Another question of local interest mentioned this morning was a Pullman service between Peterborough and Montreal.

The seventy C.N.R. men lunched at the Empress, and were hosts to a number of city officials and business men, among them Mayor Taylor, J. J. Duffus, Robert Hicks, S. R. Armstrong, John Crane, R. E. Layfield, G. A. Macdonald, Rev. J. A. MacKenzie, and F. L. Roy.

GOMPERS DERIDES REDS WHEN THEY ATTACK HIM

NEW YORK, April 18—(Canadian Press).—Addressing the annual convention of the National Civic Federation of Labor, Samuel Gompers defied the Soviet Government of Russia to destroy the American Federation of Labor and himself, as its president, as a means, he declared, of its avowed plan to overthrow the Republic of the United States.

Referring to the fight he said Labor had to make for its existence and its standards, Mr. Gompers added, "I have no exaggerated notions of power of these Reds. I was deeply impressed with the quotations from their documents. But, after all, what did they amount to, vaporings of muddle-headed men and short-haired women.

ALL-RUSSIAN CONGRESS COMMUNISTS IN SESSION

Premier Lenine Sends Message that Soviet Retreat Must Stop, and Government Arouse Itself Against Recent Attacks From Within—Lenine Improving in Health.

(By John Graudens).

MOSCOW, April 18 (United Press). — From his sick bed Premier Nikolai Lenine sent word to the opening session of the All-Russian Communist Congress that the Soviet retreat must be stopped, and the Government must arouse itself against recent attacks from within which are aimed at the re-establishment of capitalist principles, the stricken leader urged.

This, he believes, must be the primary purpose of the Communist Congress.

Lenine transmitted his message through his close advisor, M. Zinovieff, who delivered the Government's programme speech in behalf of the Premier, who is unable to arise from his bed.

Zinovieff, however, brought the cheering word to the Communists on Lenine's condition. The danger is past, he said.

M. Kamenev declared that the physicians who are in constant attendance on Lenine say he is improving in strength. His sickness is serious, but far from being hopeless. It was caused by the nerve strain of ceaseless work. We have the fondest hope that Lenine will return to us soon, Kamenev added.

MOTOR SHOW NOTES

Anyway, wouldn't you have been a little disappointed if we had not had our daily now?

The person who wins Robert Hicks' ton of coal tonight will certainly appreciate it.

We have had more snow on other Motor Show dates, and it has not spoiled the fun or the crowd.

It's not cold at any rate, and the big jolly crowd at the Armouries will make it warm enough for everybody.

Five big drawing prizes to be given tonight on admission tickets, from a ton of coal, first prize, $17.00, to a Rose Brand ham, value $4.00.

Some one else will get six Roy photos, valued at $10.00, and one of Turner's celebrated auto rugs, value $10.00. Timely, are they not?

After you get inside numerous other valuable articles are to be drawn for, and you are just as likely to win one or more as anybody else.

Like the umpire at some ball games, the weatherman is rotten, but the "pep" that is behind the Motor Show will win out.

After all, who cares for a little bit of snow? If we don't get any to-morrow we will be wondering why.

Come along, now, get into the game, and see that the Health Association have some funds to take care of the little folk in a few short months when the weather will be red hot, and we are all getting our heads off for a cool night.

No Law Against Marring Victoria Park But Why the Hurry in Crossing Grass?

Because there is no law forbidding persons to walk on the grass ot Victoria Park, the people who pass through it are specially requested to keep to the paths entirely while the ground is wet and soft. The appeal is made to their sense of public interest and to their desire to co-operate with the City Council in preserving the beauty of this park by avoiding the short cuts that greatly mar the appearance of the lawns.

Members of the Council who thought of invoking the assistance of the police were informed by Chief Newhall that if he had the authority he would be glad to appoint men to arrest some of the reckless trespassers. The statute, however, says:

"Any person who unlawfully enters into, comes upon or passes through or in any way trespasses upon any land, the property of another person, which is wholly enclosed or is a garden or lawn, shall incur a penalty of not less than $1 or more than $10, whether any damage has or has not been occasioned thereby."

In other words, while it is an offense under this law to cross a private lawn or garden, there is no liability in crossing a public park unless it be wholly enclosed; and the local parks are unfenced and open to the public.

NEW SMOKE TEST MACHINE ACUTE

Plumbing Inspector Metheral Has New Apparatus More Sensitive Than Old One.

"Sensitive as a watch," is the simile with which Plumbing Inspector Metheral describes the efficiency of a new smoke test machine which he obtained recently and has used on several jobs. It is known as the Bon-Bailey machine, made in Toronto under a Scottish patent, and cost $80. One of the same type was used in Toronto for thirty-two years, requiring only minor repairs to the bellows of the air pump that is attached to it. Part of the machine is the smoke chamber in which are burned stems of tobacco whose smoke is exceptionally pungent. This chamber is surrounded by a water jacket, into which an enclosing bell-shaped hood fits loosely, and as the smoke is pumped into the plumbing system under inspection it fills the pipes and raises the copper hood above the fire chamber. If a leak exists in the system the smoke in the plumbing which has been plugged at the top will begin to escape, thereby lessening the pressure under the copper hood of the machine, which immediately reacts and will gradually sink toward the top of the smoke or fire chamber.

The smoke from this machine will pass through the smallest hole that would emit sewer gas, and by the odor of the tobacco and also its color the defect is easily located.

NEW PLANS MOOTED FOR L. R. STEEL CO.

TORONTO, April 18 (Canadian Press). — Reorganisation plans for the L. R. Steel Company, by which shareholders would pay off creditors and step into their shoes and carry on the business as a going concern, were presented to the gathering of shareholders at the Labour Temple last night. The chief outline was that they should make an advance of anywhere from 10 to 15 per cent. on the stock which they had already purchased, and that this money should form the trust funds.

The outline of the plan was presented by W. M. Wilkins chairman of the Reorganisation Committee, and formerly closely associated with the late L. R. Steel; and there was little display of enthusiasm for the idea of advancing more money.

ADOPT POLICY OF EVERY MAN FOR HIMSELF

Shareholders Birmingham Motors, Limited, Discuss Best Prospects for Conserving Interests

A NEW COMPANY

"Every man for himself" was the policy adopted at the meeting of the shareholders of Birmingham Motors Ltd., last night, called by T. A. de Forge, chairman of the reorganization committee, to ascertain their wishes in regard to amalgamation with a company being formed in Montreal to take over the Birmingham Motors. The gist of the information given at the meeting is that a payment of $1.50 into the new company carries over one share of Birmingham Motors stock and gives the stock holder protection in the event of the company proving successful, whereas those who do not pay the $1.50 will lose all their investment when the assets of Birmingham Motors is sold.

The last meeting of the shareholders was held in the Fall, when Mr. du Bois was present and made a somewhat similar proposal. At that time the Peterborough shareholders did not consider that the Montreal company had sufficient backing to warrant their joining the organization. Since then, however, the pre-organization syndicate has succeeded in obtaining the backing of the Prudential Trust Company.

Trust Company Handles Funds

It is proposed that the Trust Company will take care of subscriptions to the amount of $35,000, the total needed to float the company.

If the syndicate fails to raise the $35,000, necessary to float the company within a certain time, not yet specified, the payments made under this plan will be returned by the Trust Company.

Should the $35,000 be forthcoming the syndicate will manufacture a few cars and float a company with a cap itialization of $2,000,000. When the time comes to pay the money out for construction purposes a committee will be appointed to look after the interests of the shareholders.

The offer presented to the shareholders is similar to that made last fall. The terms are that $1.50 be paid on each share in Birmingham Motors Ltd., which the shareholder wishes to carry in the new company. Only shares on which this is paid will be recognized, but if any shareholder does not wish to pay the extra amount he may allow all or some of his shares to lapse, and they may be taken up by others on payment of the amount.

Position of New Company

The Montreal Motor syndicate has bid for the assets of the Birmingham Motors Ltd., and it is confidently expected that the tender will be successful. The new car, designed on Birmingham lines by Mr. du Bois, is to be called the Du Bois car. The principle of the car is a Birmingham patent right, and the patent rights are still the property of, and in the name of Birmingham Motors Ltd., of Canada. Robert Meecham is to be manager of the proposed company. Mr. Meecham was characterized at last night's meeting by some who know him, as an able promoter and organizer, and a very clever man.

No organized action was taken at the meeting, but several of the shareholders present took the opportunity of paying the amount necessary to protect ther interests.

PARADE TONIGHT

Undaunted by the somewhat forbidding aspect of the outdoor climate, the men and women who are in charge of affairs at the Motor Show were working away as busily this morning as if the 1923 spring season was a perfectly wonderful example of the best that old Mother Nature can do in the spring line.

A spirit of optimistic cheerfulness prevailed from one end to the other of the long stone building. Workmen were stringing lines for electric lights over the entrance, feminine workers were busy as bees with arrangements for decorating the various booths, and a bright note of color, carried out all along the line, was supplied by the blazing tints of the flower stand, whose orange flower garniture gave a warm note to the entire booth. The ladies in charge here showed excellent judgment in their choice of such a cheery hue, and the bright outlook for a succesful show is shown in the spirit of these ladies also, who have ordered their usual supply of some five thousand roses for to-morrow.

A Hopeful Spirit.

Repetitions of a hopeful spirit were manifested in the smiles and prophesies for better weather encountered all along the line, making a growing conviction in the mind of an observer that such a spirit deserves the whole hearted support and co-operation of every citizen of Peterborough. Any community, like the man who smiles when everything is right, can make a success of such a venture in bright, propitious weather. Why shouldn't the people of the city get together and make a success of something that is a little more difficult, at least in the circumstances surrounding its inception? Why not, just for a change, reverse the usual half-hearted motor parade of other years and have a turnout this evening that defies wind and weather in its attempt to start off the 1923 Motor Show with a grand flourish?

Splendid Decorations.

It may be an optical delusion, but the decorations this year seem better than ever. The flags and pennants are abundant, the color scheme of the different booths more varied and pleasing, the glistening, spotless motor cars more attractive. There are plenty of them, from the box coune to the gorgeous, stream-

ASIATICS HOLD ENGLISH CHILD AGED 7 YEARS

A STRANGE STORY

LONDON, April 18. — The fate of a fair-skinned little English girl of seven soon will occupy the attention of the British parliament and turn the sober lawmakers from their debates on matters of world-wide interest affecting the greatest empire on earth.

And because of parliament's interest in her, the little girl, Doris Hawker probably will be taken away from her black foster-parents who are holding her at Madras, India, and will be brought back to her native England.

Here is Doris' strange story:

Doris was one of the children in a London orphanage. She watched daily as women came, bent on adopting little ones—ladies of the aristocracy in their fine gowns, wives of middle-class merchants in plainer garb, and others.

But Doris, though a beautiful child, never was taken. And daily she would wait wistfully and long for a home with a daddy and mother.

Home in India

Then came a bright day. An attendant told Doris a home had been found for her. And how happy Doris was!

"But your new mother and dad are in India," the attendant added. "They are wealthy English people who live there. You'll be put on the ship today and they'll meet you when the ship reaches port."

So Doris, ever so gay and happy, was put on board the big liner. And the ship traveled and traveled for so many days Doris couln't count them.

Then they came to a strange country, where the sun was hotter than it ever had been in England, where people wore flowing white garments and wrapped things that looked like towels around their heads.

Her Strange Parents

Doris was the first down the gangplank, so eager was she to meet her new parents with whom she was to be so happy in this strange country.

Then she met them—and recoiled in terror.

They were dark-skinned people and seemed to have a weird, foreign atmosphere about them. When they spoke to each other, they used a strange tongue Doris couldn't understand.

They were kind, but Doris was none the less thoroughly afraid. And her terror increased when the strange pair took her to their home—a little, squat dwelling, surrounded by narrow, ill-lighted and smelly streets.

There were no children in those streets save dark-skinned ones who made faces at Doris and shouted words that had no meaning for her.

So every night Doris would cry herself to sleep and pray that she might be returned to people of her own kind.

Perhaps it was her prayers—but, anyway, the news of the irregular adoption leaked out in England. It aroused public indignation everywhere.

"I intend to show," says Becker, "that Doris' foster-parents represented themselves as English people while, in reality, they are native blacks of the lowest caste. She is being held in a native quarter, under conditions unsuitabe for any English girl." I want her brought back."

FRANCE PLANS MEASURE FOR RUHR AREAS

Increased Pressure Will Be Brought to Bear Against Germany—Results Not Discouraging.

SEIZE MONEY.

DUSSELDORF, April 18.—(Canadian Press)The French and Belgian Ministers of War conferred here yesterday with the military commanders in the Ruhr, in regard to measures for putting into effect the increased pressure against the Germans agreed upon at the recent Franco-Belgian conference in Paris.

Beside the Ministers, those attending the meeting were General Degoutte, commanding the French forces; General Ruquois, the Belgian Commander, and General Buat, Chief of the French General Stag.

M. Magino the French War Minister, told the newspaper correspondents after the conference that, while the Allies were resolved to intensify their measures, the new plans did not call or any extension of the occupied area. His inspection of the district, he said, showed that while many obstacles had been encountered, the result of the occupation were in no wise discouraging.

The trial of Herren Hartwig, Oesterlin and Brehme, three of the Krupp Directors arrested after the recent clash between French soldiers and workmen at Essen has been postponed from this Friday until next week and the charges against Herr Ritter, the fourth director, have been dismissed.

The Germans announce that Dr. Morriau, a Swiss lawyer and a professor in the University of Geneva, will aid Dr. Grimm in the defence of the Directors.

The French continue to confiscate German money sent into the Ruhr whereever they suppose it is designed to encourage the resistance to the occupying forces; 150,000,000 marks have been taken at Recklinghausen 22,000,000 marks at Duessfedorf. The Germans say this money was not intended for the strikers, but for the unemployed. From German sources also come reports that issues of money seized hereafter by the French will be declared valueless by the Reichsbank.

Postmaster Held Up By a Lone Bandit.

REGINA, April 18 (Canadian Press). — William Malcolm, postmaster at Ebenezer, was held up yesterday morning by a lone bandit, and robbed of $1,000.

Of this amount $700.00 belonged to the N. Bawlf Grain Co. and $300 to the Post Office.

The bandit walked into the office, asked if the grain cheques were cashed there, and when Mr. Malcolm went to the safe he gagged him, bound him with a rope, and then took the money.

No trace of the bandit has been found.

MANY CHANGES ARE SUGGESTED FOR FARMERS

GRAIN EXCHANGE.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 18.—(Canadian Press.)—That the Government should collect information for the farmers regarding prospective conditions in agricultural production in other countries was contended by Prof. Wm. T Jackman, Professor of Political Economy, University of Toronto, giving evidence yesterday afternoon before the Special Parliamentary Committee on Agricultural Conditions The farmer, with such information could plan his crops more intelligently and avoid overproduction and a consequent price for wheat or other of his products which would not pay for his efforts.

Chairman A. R. McMaster of Brome, objected that market conditions fluctuated from day to day whereas, once the farmer had sown his crop he could not change.

Prof. Jackman said it would be practicable to supply information relative to live stock in other countries which would be on the market two or three years hence. Various countries maintained intelligence bureaus for commercial industries, and Prof. Jackman held that such a bureau would be of equal service in agriculture. To the chairman's objection that consumption might vary in accordance with the people's prosperity ,the witness claimed that consumption did not vary much, from year to year, notwithstanding prices.

Prof. Jackman claimed further that there was great need for an investigation of marketing methods for agricultural products. Some method should be devised to admit of orderly marketing. If it could be done more satisfactorily by farmers' organizations, provision should be made for financing them in order to enable them to do it. Also, if farmers wished to make the experiment of carrying their products over a length of time in order to avoid selling at disadvantageous prices, provisions should be made for financing them. Prof. Jackman thought such financing should be a matter of private enterprise, however. He believed the products themselves would constitute ample security.

To a question by John L. Stansell, Elgin East, whether the grain exchange worked to the advantage of the producer, the witness said the surplus of advantages over disadvantages predominated. If the farmers were better organized and could sell all their grain through the exchange the advantage would be still more marked.

Replying to a question by T. W. Caldwell ,of Victoria and Carleton as to whether his observation tended to prove that a custom tariff enhanced prices, Prof. Jackman replied:

"I am in an institution which is supported by protectionists and free traders, and think it would not be the part of wisdom for me to answer that in public."

"Are you in the position of another witness who said he would lose his job if he told the truth," questioned another member of the committee with a smile.

"Of course," replied Prof. Jackman, "you don't expect me to answer that question."

The committee laughed and, at adjournment Chairman McMaster expressed the hope that the time would come in Canada when College professors could speak fearlessly their mind without fear of anyone.

BAGDAD RAILWAY CAUSE OF DISPUTE

Reparations Commission Cannot Decide on the Interpretation of Wording of Article 260.

PARIS, April 18. — (Canadian Press.)—The question of the disposition of the Bagdad railway and other property formerly held by German citizens, was discussed afresh yesterday by the Reparations Commission, the discussion hinging on the interpretation of the world "rights and interests" in Article 260 of the Treaty of Versailles.

This article, which provides for the transfer to the Commission of ownership of public utilities and concessions in Russia, China, Turkey, Austria-Hungary and Bulgaria, has thus far been interpreted in a narrow sense b ythe Germans, according to the experts of the Commission.

One of the many properties involved is the Bagdad Railway, most of which the Germans sold before the formation of the Commission. It was decided to refer the interpretation of the phrase to arbitration.

Article 260 of the Treaty of Versailles provides that the Reparations Commission may demand "that the German Government become possesed of any rights and interests of German nationsl "in any public utility undertaking or in any concessionoperating in the countries mentioned in the above despatch, "and may requre that the German Government transfer within six months of the date of demand, all such rights and interests and any similar rights and interests the German Government may itself possess to the Reparations Commission."

Germany shall be responsible for indemnifying her nationals so dispossessed, the article provides, and the Reparations Commission shall credit such sums on the reparation account.

REBEL LEADER WAS CAPTURED BY FREE STATE

REPORTED WOUNDED.

DUBLIN, April 18. Canadian Press. — Dan Breen. one of the most militant leaders of the irregulars and spoken of as a possible successor to Liam Lynch as Chief of Staff, was captured by Free State troops in Ahlerlow Glen, in western Tipperary. The troops had been searching for Breen ever since his escape last Tuesday, when Lynch was taken.

Captures are also reported from Powerstown, near Clenmel. These include the prominent irregulars P. O'Connell and Dick Dalton.

Commandant Daniel Breen was one of those reported to have been in conference with Eamon De Valera and Liam Lynch when the latter was captured after a fight last week, dying shortly afterwards from his wounds. A report became current on April 11 that De Valera and Dan Breen had been taken prisoner at Clonmel, but this was denied by the Free State authorities, and later despatches mentioned Breen as a likely successor to Lynch as leader of the irregulars in the south.

Breen, who formerly lived in Chicago, was commandant of the Third Tipperary Brigade of the Irish Republican Army. Letters captured last month were thought by the Free State authorities to indicate a plan by the irregulars to send him to the nited States on a mission. Shortly before Lynch was captured Breen was reported to have been wounded in the head in an encounter with Free State troops in the glen of Aherlow but managed to escape.

WINTERS NO COLDER.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(Associated Press)—The earth is undergoing no general change of climate.

Despite repeated assertions around the stove in the general store, that winters are gradually growing milder, or harder, as the case may be, the United States Weather Bureau declares there is no evidence of a progressive change of climate in one direction or the other.

The fact that the last two years have been unusually mild in most parts of the country has provoked many assertions that winters are becoming warmer, bureau officials say, but records can be furnished to the contrary. Periods have occurred and will occur again, when for a few years the weather has seemed or will seem to be noticeably warmer or colder than the average. While there are well-recognized alterations in climatic condition, as of wet and dry, hot and cold, little is known with regard to definite laws of sequence of weather condition over extended periods.

LABOR PARTY HAS REPORT ON DEPORTATIONS

Special Committee Visited Ireland to Investigate Arrest and Deportation of Nearly One Hundred Men and Women.

SAW COSGRAVE.

LONDON, April 18.— (Canadian Press.)— The Labor Party has issued a long report by John W. Muir and Arthur Greenwood, Members of the House of Commons who as a special committee appointed by the House visited Ireland for the purpose of investigating the internment after their deportation from Great Britain of nearly one hundred Irish men and women charged with being implicated in a plot against the King and State and an attempt to overthrow the Free State Government

The deputies consulted with William Cosgrave, President of the Dail Eireann Cabinet and other prominent officials, but were not permitted to see the prisoners.

Their report adds little to what is already known, but submits a number of pointed questions for the British Government to answer in line with the well known attitude of the Laborites on this subject, mainly concerning the legality of the British action and whether the British Government was prepared to take care of these persons and their dependents, for whom the Free State declines responsibility. The report shows that Mr. Cosgrave contended that if the deportees were put on trial many of them would be sentenced to long terms in prison, and when the trouble was over if the Free State Government wished to release them serious difficulties would arise, whereas if they were simply detained in Mount Joy Prison they could be liberated without formality.

Stinson, K.C.; Vice President, Leslie Frost; Secretary Carl Sylvester; Assistant Secretary H. Mullen; Treasurer, Stanley Beal; Assistant Treasurer, Harry Reid; Directors D. J. TWO GOVERNMENT BILLS INTRODUCED

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson Objects to Filling Up the Hopper Every Day—To Withdraw Some of the Measures.

TORONTO, April 18. Canadian Press. — Before the redistribution debate was resumed in the Legislature yesterday afternoon two government bills were introduced. One was to extend the inspection by the Hydro inspectors to certain manufactured articles. Hon. Harry Mills introduced a bill containing the recommendations of the Fish and Game Committee.

"When will we finish bringing down government measures?" asked Hon. G. Howard Ferguson. "The Prime Minister wants to finish by May 4 but the House never will if the hopper is to be filled every day." The Premier replied that some measures would be withdrawn and that unless there was time unimportant matters would not be taken up The Conservative leader requested that the Premier detail as soon as possible what measures were to be dropped.

W. H. Casselman (Dundas) speaking for the first time from the Opposition side, asked concerning the Adolescent School Amendment which he had been promised. The Premier said he did not know when this would be introduced and that any new bills would be after arrangement with the two Opposition leaders.

George Halcrow took occasion to welcome "as a brand from the burning," Mr. Casselman into no man's land in the Legislature. Dr. Stevenson(London) said that he had been requested by the whip of the U.F.O. party to say that last Friday the caucus of the party had decided to request the Speaker that Mr. Casselman be given a seat on the other side. "I want to thank you, Mr. Speaker for giving him a seat opposite without this request," said the member.

Prospectors Fear Loss of Their Claims

NORTH BAY, Ont., April 18. — (Canadian Press.) — A special despatch yesterday states that disquieting rumors are abroad in northern mining circles of an attempt to revive some old land concessions in north-western Quebec, where the big staking boom is in progress and where friends of politicians are alleged to have been given concessions years ago. Whether or not any such concessions involve mineral rights is not disclosed, but the rapidity with which the rumor is spreading would indicate that real fears are held among the hundreds of miners and prospectors who have staked claims in this section. An official pronouncement from the Government is eagerly awaited.

CRITICISM FOR PASSIVENESS OF BRITISH GOVT.

Ronald McNeil Says There Will Be No Pin-Pricking Policy Toward France—Sugar Duty Controversy

BUDGET DEBATE.

LONDON, April 18. Canadian Press. — In the House of Commons yesterday the Ministers were again subjected to strong criticism on account of their passive attitude in the face of French action in the Ruhr and the consequent handicaps to the British trade.

Ronald McNeill, replying for the Government, declared that it had no intention of pursuing a pin-pricking policy towards France.

Most of the sitting was occupied with debate on the budget, and the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Stanley Baldwin had no reason to be dissatisfied with its reception, especially by two former Chancellors, Mr. Asquith and Sir Robert S. Horne. Clearly, however, the controversy wil centre on the failure to reduce the sugar duty, as well as on the claims for reduction of indirect taxation.

Mr. Asquith said that he would have preferred relief in the sugar tax rather than on beer and this sentiment was greeted with enthusiastic cheers from Lady Astor. Mr. Asquith joined issue with the Labor Party over the income tax, and argued that an income tax even of four shillings was a pernicious form of capital levy, reacting adversely upon British trade and industry.

THE NATIONAL ANTHEM.

At a recent banquet in Belleville the chairman took advantage of the occasion to comment upon the manner in which the National Anthem had been honoured and upon the carelessness of Canadians generally in paying respect to "God Save the King."

There is unfortunately too much foundation for such criticism.

Instead of standing at attention while the anthem is being played, the average gathering arises, apparently reluctantly, and gives but scant attention to the strains of the national air.

If it comes at the end of a theatrical performance or a concert half the audience is busy with wraps or coats and some of the rest are on their way to the doors.

Only a few—most of them returned soldiers—stand at attention and show proper respect.

This is Courtesy Week, and not a bad time for Peterborough people to resolve to be courteous and patriotic in their treatment of the National Anthem.

PAYING FOR HIGHWAYS.

Permanent highway construction is still at a stage in Canada that permits of our profiting by the mistakes of those who have been before us, says the Ottawa Journal. The major part of our highway programme is still to be carried out and we should be able to avoid some of the costly errors of the states below the international boundary.

An interesting and important question now being considered in connection with the highways of the United States is as to the assessment of the cost of these roads. This is brought up through the destruction of the highways by heavy motor truck traffic. Many of the states have found that their earlier asphalt and concrete roads were not strong enough for this traffic. They are now endeavoring to build roads to the requirements of heavy freight trucks. Some of the roads that it was supposed would last for twenty years or more have suffered already to such an extent that they must be reconstructed.

Communities are asking if it is right that the taxpayer should shoulder the entire cost of these roads. Why, they ask, should they provide highways for business interests whose traffic uses them, any more than they should pay for railroads carrying similar traffic? It is the users of the railroads who pay for them. Why not the users of the highways? Much of the motor truck traffic wearing out the state roads, they point out, is competing with the railways.

The difficult problem, of course, is as to how to assess any part of the cost against the users. Are we to go back to the toll road system? Or is the motor haulage business to be brought under central organization such as the railways have, with a system of privately owned highways as its principal asset?

ROAD FINANCING.

Hon. Mr. Biggs the road-maker of the Ontario Government, who is charged by some critics as having started Ontario on the road to ruin, seems to be trimming his sails for the coming battle.

The intimation that the Province intends to take over the entire cost of Provincial highways, instead of calling upon the counties through which such roads pass to pay a share, as has hitherto been the policy used, is very evidently designed to placate rural criticism of the Minister's road policy.

In his speech at Milton the other day Mr. Biggs referred to the fact that the Provincial Government had paid $950,000 to the roads of Halton County, while the county itself had only had to contribute $512,000.

Similar conditions, he intimated, prevailed in other counties of the Province.

They forgot to ask themselves where all this money came from.

Nor did they stop to think that they as residents of Halton County had not only to pay the $512,000 contribution from their county and their share of the $950,000 provided by the Ontario Government for Halton roads, but they had also as citizens of Ontario to pay their share of every dollar paid by the Province for roads in every other county in Ontario.

The Government has no mysterious treasure frow from which to take the money it flings around so lavishly.

In the last analysis it comes out of the pockets of the people, and no matter how the records may appear in the book-keeping the roads that Biggs built are a heavy burden upon the citizens of this Province.

As a contemporary puts it the people of Halton will some day realize, "that if all a man's neighbors combine to pay his debts it does not put him much further ahead if he has to shell out to help pay the debts of all his neighbors."

MORE EXTRAVAGANT THAN OHIO.

Ordinarily we do not associate economy with the carrying on of government in the United States, so a comparison between the expenditures of the Drury Government and that of the Ohio Legislature, which indicates that Ontario has much to learn from the State south of Lake Erie, confirms the charge that the Farmer-Labour administration in this Province has been extravagant.

The population of Ohio is almost double that of Ontario.

Yet we find that at the last session of the Ohio Legislature an appropriation of $72,000,000 was made to cover all State expenditures for two years.

In Ontario the ordinary Provincial expenditure for last year was $37,442,000, and the capital and extraordinary expenditure $51,885,000—a total for one year of $89,327,000.

Suppose the amount spent on the Hydro and T. & N. O. Railway account was to be deducted from this total, there is left a balance of $74,000,000.

In other words, Ontario, with about half the population of Ohio, spent more in one year than the Ohio Legislature needs for two years' operations.

Having regard to population, the expenditures of the Drury Government would appear to be about four times as heavy as that of the American State.

The cost of government across the border is usually assumed to be high.

However, when it comes to spending the people's money it is evident the Ohio politicians have much to learn from the Drury-Raney-Peter Smith administration.

POLICE EXPENDITURES.

The Attorney-General's statement to Mayor Wenige of London that city councils have control of the expenditures of the police department and may "prune" the estimates if the aldermen desire to do so, cleans up a point over which there has been much discussion.

It has been claimed that under section 363 of the Municipal Act the council could inspect the estimates, but had no power to reduce them.

Hon. Mr. Raney's ruling is to the contrary.

"The estimates submitted by the board of police commissioners to the council," says the Attorney-General, "are undoubtedly, in our opinion, subject to reduction.

"Formerly under this section, before the amendment in 1920, the board submitted estimates to the council and the council had no right to interfere with the same.

"It is quite clear now, however, from the wording of this section, that this is no longer the case, and that the estimates are, like other estimates, subject to 'pruning.'"

However, there is one little joker in the regulations which the Attorney-General points out.

"The Council has no power to say how many police are to be maintained on the force."

That is the prerogative of the police commission, for it is stipulated that the number of constables in cities must not be less than the commissioners report as absoutely required.

The situation seems to be that while the council controls the purse, the commissioners have the right to say what size the force shall be.

If city councils, however, reduce the appropriations, the commissioners will have to decide either to reduce the force or inaugurate lower salaries for the constables.

THE RECOMPENSE OF AGE.

"I shuddered the day I turned forty years old." That is the way a well-known Londoner started his story. He was requested to go on, and he proceeded: "It did not take very long to get used to being in the forty class. The recompense came in thinking of the number who were in the fifty class. In ten years I passed into the fifty class myself, and the shudder was not so great, and since then I have gone well in with the sixties, where I will remain until such time as the milestones count me out.

"Would I like to be young again, you ask? Yes, and no, mostly no. There comes a stray thought to most of us sometimes, especially when we see children at play, and watch the surplus energy they have to work off. Yes, we'd like to feel that jumping-jack sensation in our limbs again; we'd like to run, because walking is too slow; we'd like to yell at some fellow across the block.

"But age has its compensations, and they are large. I hear men say that if they had a chance to go over their lives again they could make a better job of it. I have never reached that stage. No; I can hardly bring myself to believe that my observation has been so keen, and my sense of error so acute, that were I going across the trip a second time I would make no mistakes. I could hardly bring my own mature judgment to place any such wreath upon my own head. Were I to make the journey again I might make worse mistakes than I have made.

"As I go on from forty to fifty, from fifty to sixty, and start to make my way toward the spot that will be marked three score years and ten, my ways have changed. Perhaps I have given up the fire of youth, but in its place I have the broad vision of a matured mind. Friendships are not quite so easily made, but somehow many of them are more precious than any of the passing fancies of youth. I have learned in a measure to easily separate the things worth while from the things that are not of value. I can appreciate youth, because it does not seem so very far when I turn and look back to the day when I was so classed; middle age problems I have met and dealt with, and can even appreciate the anxieties and the worries of those who are bowed down with the weight of years, and to whom life has served out its best.

"No. It has been a good and a fair journey. I am at the point now where poets say my feet have turned toward the sunset of life. Beyond me stretch the slopes, the autumn leaves, but not until we get there do we see the glorious colorings of autumnal grandeur. Not until we turn toward the west do we see the sun in all the riot of heaven-born coloring going down to its rest. So it is with life. In the natural course of events I shall soon turn to the avenues of autumn and the hours of sunset. It is not the end of all—it is but the beginning of a life more abundant and more wonderful. No, I do not desire to have my youth back again, not even if I had a choice in the matter. I have lived through the bright hours of the morning; in the heated hours of the noon-day. I was with the toilers at their tasks, and now as I approach the quiet hours of twilight I will not hold back, but gladly enter in."—London Advertiser.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

As the Globe puts it, April seems to be taking it on low all the way.

Motor car owners are expected to be out 100 per cent. strong for tonight's parade at 7 o'clock sharp.

The Legislature is warming up. Although the early weeks were tame, there is evidently to be plenty of fireworks for the rest of the session.

The Farmers' Sun intimates that Premier Drury is too eager for office. That is something, however, of which the coming election may cure him.

People who talk about the joys of being a member of the Legislature have never had to listen to Col. J. A. Currie making an all-night speech.

The Agrarian party was first known as the United Farmers, then as the Progressives, and now is apparently to discard both titles for the new description, "Druryites" and "Morrisonites."

Evidently the Farmers' Sun does not want any "truck or trade" with the old parties.

Andrew Hicks, M.P.P., seems to be afflicted with the foot and mouth disease—that he never opens his mouth without "putting his foot in it."

WHEN EVERYBODY IS "CATCHING A COLD"

Is The Time To Take WINCARNIS

"I feel that I owe you a debt of gratitude for what your wonderful Wincarnis has done for me and other members of my family. We first learned of Wincarnis when we resided in England. It gave us so much satisfaction that we all used it whenever we felt the need of a tonic, as when influenza was rampant or when every body was "catching a cold."

We have continued to use Wincarnis since our arrival in this country, and we have recommended it to a number of our friends here. All of these friends are now singing the praise of your excellent preparation.

It is really surprising how quickly one regains weight and strength and recovers from nervousness when Wincarnis is taken after an attack of influenza or a very severe cold."

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

Young People's League Had An Interesting Meeting—News of Interest.

MILLBROOK, April 18. — The citizenship committee had charge of the Young Peoples' League on Monday evening, the vice-president, Mr. Frank Alcorn, being in the chair. The topic for discussion was, "Methods of Extending the Kingdom," from the League study book, and it was taken up in a most interesting manner by the president, Miss E. Hetherington. The points chiefly emphasized were meekness, implying moral courage, self-restraint, high faith, and forgiving love which is the odor the trampled flower diffuses to bless the foot which crushes it. For these graces we are indebted to Christianity for they are not to be found amongst pagan peoples, nor the gross perverters, or corrupters, of the Christian faith. Other facts brought out included the statement that those earnestly striving to live up to this standard may expect persecution, not in the sense of methods pretaining to the inquisition, but hurting keenly and just as real; and also that organization alone, no matter how perfect, will not mean salvation either individual or national.

Mrs. Tucker gave a reading, "Mrs. Moffatt's Version of 1st Corinthians, the 13th chapter," and the hymn which followed, "Just as I am, Thine own to be," carried out the theme of the evening. A special closing prayer, written to be used in connection with the study chapter, every one present being furnished with a copy, brought the meeting to its conclusion.

On her wedding-day, Thursday, April 26, Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon will wear a superb wreath of orange blossoms, the gift of the Canadian Club of Florida. The wreath is now being packed in ice for shipment from New York on the last boat that could bring it to London in time for the marriage. Personal friends of residents in this vicinity are members of the club which is sending the gift.

The Dominion Department of Agriculture is now urging farmers who are growing varieties of grain of which they are doubtful as to its quality, or producing power, to send eight-ounce samples to the Cereal Division, Experimental Farm, Ottawa, for analysis and field trial. To accurately determine the value, lots which give greatest promise will be carried over for comparison with standard varieties of subsequent years. The land available for this work being rather limited, samples will be listed for testing in the order of their arrival, hence the advantage of sending early. Late arrivals may have to be held over for another year.

Tenders for a handsome new War Memorial Hall have been called for by the Ontario Public Works Department, to be erected on the college campus at the O.A.C., Guelph. The bulk of the cost is to be borne by the government, but $50,000 has already been subscribed by the faculty, and members of the student bodies. Several of the younger farmers from this vicinity have been included in the latter having taken short courses at Guelph. Macdonald Institute has also had students from here in domestic science, sewing courses, etc. The hall will stand alongside the Mills building.

STILL BATTLING IN LOCAL LEGISLATURE OVER REDISTRIBUTION

Conservatives Gird Their Loins for Continuing Heated Debate for Days Yet—All Night Sitting

TORONTO, April 18. — Canadian Press. — The battle on the Redistribution Bill, and the amendment by the Conservatives wiping out the bill, was continued until 4.15 this morning in the Legislature. At 1.45 after Charles McCrae had spoken for three hours and moved the adjournment, Hon. George Henry took up the battle for the Conservatives. He spoke until the hour of closing when the debate was adjourned by Alex. Lewis, Conservative, North East Toronto.

Hon. F. C. Biggs, who was leading the House at the time consented to the adjournment until 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The Conservatives are prepared to go ahead with the debate for days. The amendment means that everyone who has spoken on the main bill may speak again. The government kept the majority of its members present all night. The remainder are ready to come on refreshed with sleep. The only group apparently where no organization has been made for debate is the Liberals. The Prime Minister was not in the House for the last two hours of this morning's session. It is expected that T. S. Lennox, J. Cooke and perhaps W. F. Nickle, will be among to-day's speakers in the debate.

Hon. G. Henry, who kept the watches of the night for the Conservatives, wanted to know why the proportional representation bill was not first introduced by the government. He thought the whole proceedings a farce, that the government might go to the people with the declaration that it had sought redistribution but had been prevented from reaching its objective.

"The people of Ontario will be right in assuming that this is a grand stand play on the part of the government. It does not want redistribution and is taking this method of not having it. There has been no candor or frankness from the Prime Minister."

Talk Indefinitely.

The opposition members figting the Drury Government's electoral reform proposals in the Queen's Park can talk indefinitely and the government is powerless to stop them. That Queen's Park has no "gag," no machinery, by which the debate can be terminated forcibly, has been unearthed in the legislature's books on procedure. All the government can do is to sit back and listen, compromise with the Conservatives, or in the last analysis put off the June election until Oct., and let the opposition talk itself out. From well informed quarters however it was learned last night that there is no thought of postponement of the election. The government will pass estimates ask His Honour, the Lieut.-Governor, to dissolve the Legislature and appeal to the country in June, probably on the 25th of the month.

In the event of such happening the biggest item of the election controversy would be as to who was responsible for the Legislature's failure to pass redistribution.

To Block Drury.

Yesterday in the Legislature a determined filibuster was instituted to block Premier Drury's plan for proportional representation and redistribution.

W. H. Price, Conservative, Parkdale, spoke for almost four hours, and bitterly derided the Premier's proposals. Maclang, Liberal, Cochrane, and H. H. Dewart, Liberal, South-East Toronto, and C. C. McCrea, Conservative, Sudbury, also lead in the attack.

The House adjourned at 4.10 a.m.

NEW YORK, April 18.— (Canadian Press.)—Police of East Dortchester ,Conn., yesterday stopped Vera Sheppard and Theodore Gill, marathon dancers, who toured three States, after they had one-stepped continuously in dance halls and moving vans for 68 hours and forty minutes, a world's record.

PREPARATIONS FOR OLD BOYS' REUNION

Campbellford Decides on a Three Days' Celebration, August 6, 7 and 8.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 18. — After the election of officers and the transaction of other routine business last night, the Chamber of Commerce took up the matter of prepartion for the Old Boys' Reunion.

It was unanimously decided, on motion of Councillor Cole and Dr. Watson, to hold the celebration on the three days originally planned, August 6th, 7th and 8th, instead of having Sunday for the opening day and winding up the affair on Tuesday evening as agreed to at a joint meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and Town Council last week. It was felt that as Wednesday is a half holiday in the surrounding towns that would give the residents an excellent opportunity to visit Campbellford on that date.

The residents of the town are asked particularly to note the fact that the committee will begin a canvassof the various wards on Friday next to receive the names and addresses of former residents of Campbellford. There will be two canvassers in each of the four wards and the citizens are requested to have ready lists of the names and present location of absent friends and relatives. When the secretary has these lists, circulars will be sent to the absentees, giving them particllars of the proposed celebration.

Committees Reoprt.

Reports were received from chairmen of the various committees with regard to what has been done in the way of preparation. Major J. M. Bygott of the transportation committee stated that he had written the railway authorities as to reduced fares for the celebration, but no reply has yet been received.

A. H. McKeel sent word that it would be impossible for him to accept the chairmanship of the regatta committee and F. J. Smith was appointed in his place. A. L. Riendeau was also added to this committee.

The Matter of Publicity.

G. Nicol submitted a long report of what the publicity committee proposes in the way of advertising the affair. They suggest that the campaign be statred by sending out a form letter to the former residents. They would enclose a list of events on the several days and on the back of these cards would be a diagram of a wheel, every spoke of which will set forth a reason why the person written to should come to Campbellford for the re-union. This circular is to be followed by a more personal appeal requesting a reply.

At the local celebration of Victoria Day and the Twelfth of July, tents are to be installed in which information regarding the re-union is to be given out to the visitors in town.

Cards advertising the celebration are to be printed and posted on the windshields of all automobiles, either intown or passing through Campbellford. Posters are to be printed and streamers placed up in town to attract the attention of visitors. The Government is to be asked to permit the use of a cancelling stamp, giving the dates of the re-union, this to be used on all letters leaving the local post office.

Advertising seals are to be affixed to mail matter, will be prepared and offered for sale by the Boy Scouts and Girl Guides. Souvenir badges or buttons will also be placed on sale. It is expected that a small revenue will be derived from these souvenirs.

C. H. Davidson, S. A. Maguire, and D. J. Lynch were appointed a committee to seek the co-operation of the school teachers within a radius of ten miles of Campbellford, these to be asked to secure and send in the names of former residents of the district.

Dr. Watson reported that the Entertainment Committee had held a meeting and drawn up a programme which he submitted.

F. A. Bingar, chairman of the Athletic Committee, stated that an attempt would be made to arrange a ball game between Belleville and Peterborough. The tennis and the bowling grounds and the golf links will be open to visitors during the re-union.

Chairman Burke, of the Fireworks Committee, reported that a Hamilton firm had offered to supply fireworks at a minimum cost of $175.00, but he thought the required display would mean an outlay of about $250.00.

The Finance Committee, composed of all committee chairmen, with Mayor Meyers as chairman, will meet this week to devise ways and means for financing the undertaking.

To Beautify Town.

In response to an invitation, the owners of property along the east side of the river attended the meeting. T. L. Diamond, M. Montgomery, Frank Hubbell, and others expressed their readiness to co-operate in this work. The property owners will meet with the Town Improvement Committee to devise plans.

A NEW POSTOFFICE IN CAMPBELLFORD

Another Stage Passed in Effort to Secure Modern Building.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 18. — Another stage has been passed in Campbellford's long and unwearied effort to secure a new post office building, one that would be in keeping with the importance of the town and a recognition of the local office as an earner of postal revenue for the Government. D. J. Campbell Strange of Kingston was here yesterday to look over the local field and to ascertain whether things were really as bad as they have been represented. Inspector Strange maintained a commendable official reticence and would give no indication of what sort of a report he will submit to the department but as he appeared to be a gentleman of well developed faculties of observation he cannot fail to have noted that as to conditions here not more than half has been told.

The Federal machinery seems to move slowly. Yesterday's official visit has been expected for over three months. Councillor Carter revived the agitation for a new building at, the initial meeting of the present Town Council and the matter was brough to the attention of Melton E. Maybee, Federal member for Northumberland County, who secured from the Department the promise that an official would be sent here to make a report. Yesterday he arrived.

Reeve Anderson, in the absence of Mayor Meyers who was out of town, did the honors, showing the visitor through the building which serves as a postoffice here, calling his attention to its architectural deficiencies and lack of sanitation, and also laying before him the records that show the large amount of annual business that it carried on in spite of existing disadvantages. Then the Reeve and Councillor Cole persuaded Inspector Strange to attend the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce in the evening, to which gathering he was escorted and introduced by Postmaster C. L. Owen. There he heard from members and others present expressions of opinion that must have convinced him that in the desire for a new building, the site for which has already been secured by the Government, the people of Campbellford are a unit.

Those who spoke were S. J. Dolman, J. A. Irwin, R. C. Weston, Reeve Anderson, D. J. Lynch, W. Russell, Dr. H. B. Longmore, Postmaster Owen, G. Nicol, I. A. Stewart, Councillor H. W. Carter and I. A. Humphries.

Some of the speakers expressed wonder that in such a building very many could preserve the excellent health, and the urbanity of disposition for which the genial postmaster is in his own person a standing example.

Mr. Owen was the Federal member for Northumberland County during the regime of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and though he sat with the Opposition, he secured a vote of $25,000 at different times for a post office, but that is as far as the matter ever progressed, apart from the purchase of a site. The breaking out of the war stopped work on all public buildings, but since peace was declared, new post offices have been put up in smaller centres than Campbellford, in Lakefield, for example.

Some people appear unable to understand why Campbellford has so long been discriminated against in this matter. Seasoned politicians profess to have the explanation, basing their conclusions upon the experience of other towns existing under similar conditions. Campbellford has never been a doubtful factor in the final analysis in a Federal election. Constantly and consistently it has given its majority for one party, which apparently never considered it necessary to offer inducements to hold the town in the fighting line, while the other side seemed to realize the hopelessness of making any concessions. At each succeeding election, the town turned its other political cheek to be smitten again.

Inspector Strange made no statement at the meeting last night, but he must have left town loaded down with material for a voluminous report.

FREIGHT RATE IS DISCUSSED

Ottawa Parliament Takes a Whole Day to Talk on Freight Rates Without Result.

OTTAWA, April 18. — (Canadian Press).—All day the House of Commons discussed a motion to abolish the "mountain scale" of freight rates in British Columbia, as unjustly discriminatory against that province. It was moved by General J. A. Clark, of Burrard. By the elimination of this disadvantage, it is said, the trade of the country would be benefited and immigration encouraged, since it would enable people in the far western provinces to buy commodities at reasonable rates and also market their produce to advantage. In support of his argument, he cited Sir Henry Thornton to the effect that the cost of railway operation in British Columbia was less than in other parts of the country owing to its more equal climate. Hon. S. F. Tolmie said it was doubtful if British Columbia would have entered the confederation had she known that there was to be discrimination against her in the matter of freight rates. Hon. G. P. Graham, acting Minister of Railways, said the matter was primarily one for action of the Railway Commission. Right Hon. Arthur Meighen claimed that as the Government, in restoring the Crow's Nest Pass agreement last session, had interfered in favor of Saskatchewan and Alberta, it would now have to listen to the claims of all the other provinces which were suffering burdens of high freight rates.

The resolution was finally declared "Lost on division," without the formality of a vote.

ANNUAL MEETING COMMERCE BOARD AT CAMPBELLFORD

CAMPBELLFORD, April 18. — Vice-president J. Allan presided at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce last night in the absence of the president, Rev. Father Phelan, who is suffering from a slight illness.

The election of officers was quickly disposed of. When that item of business was taken up, Dr. Watson moved, seconded by A. E. Caddy, that the present staff of officers be re-elected, and this was carried unanimously. Dr. Watson called attention to the fact that the Chamber of Commerce had been organised only a short time ago, that the officers had served for less than a year, and for that reason it was only fair to keep them in their present positions, which they are filling so satisfactorily to the members, and with so much credit to themselves.

The officers of hte organisation are;

President, Rev. Father Phelan,
Vice-president, R. J. Allan,
Treasurer J. A. Stewart,

Clifford Weston and A. E. Caddy were added to the Property Committee, to succeed C. H. Harris and C. Reid, who have left town.

The Chamber of Commerce, which was organized early this year, taking the place of the Radio Club, now has a membership of 38, all of them representative business and are moderately estimated at over professional men It has assets that $800.00, and begins the second year of its existence with a cash balance of $76.00. It has already made itself felt as a power in the community, and has brought here distinguished outside speakers to address public meetings. It has inaugurated a campaign for the beautifying of the town, and it was the Chamber of Commerce that originated the idea of hold an Old Boys' Re-union in Campbellford this year, an idea which has been enthusiastically adopted by all classes of the citizens, preparations for the celebration being now in progress.

Advertising Campbellford and its resources is the outstanding aim of the organisation, and already a number of outside firms looking for a change of location or suitable place for a branch office are in communication with the secretary and results are sure to follow. Rev. Father Phelan, the president, has been a resident of town for a comparatively short period, but no citizen is a more enthusiastic booster for Campbellford, and so one more fully appreciates the natural beauties and resources of the town.

To Hold Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Lawn Bowling and Tennis Club will be held Friday evening in the assembly room of the Public Library at 8 o'clock.

STAGE ALL SET FOR ELECTIONS

U.F.O. Standard-Bearer in East Northumberland to Be Opposed By Major Belford, Conservative.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 18. — While so many Ontario constituencies are in a political turmoil selecting candidates for the impending Provincial election ,the stage is all set for the coming contest in East Northumberland, the riding in which Campbellford forms so important a part. Here the candidates have been before the people for nearly a year.

Wesley Montgomery, of Brighton, the present member, will again carry the U.F.O. standard, while the nominee of the Conservative Party is Major J. F. Belford, who resides on a farm near Codrington.

Originally an Anglican clergyman, Major Belford, when the war broke out, became active in the recruiting service, and raised a company which he took overseas. He was one of the best-known chaplains in the service. The Major is famous both as a pulpit and political orator, and his friends are confident that he will be able to win the riding back to its former standing as one of the Conservative strongholds of Ontario.

Mr. Montgomery has during his term of office, given the riding good service, and when he comes to Campbellford during the campaign, it will not be forgotten to his credit that he was instrumental in securing for the municipality the High School grant of nearly $1,100 which was held up last year on the recommendation of the inspector.

It is taken for granted that there will be no Liberal candidate nominated in East Northumberland, so that the contest will be a straight one between the Farmers' Party and the Conservatives.

R. Lowre yis Conservative vice-president for Campbellford, and D. J. Lynch holds the same position for the Liberals.

In the West Riding.

The situation is different in West Northumberland, the riding which has been represented in the Legislature for years by Sam Clarke, Liberal. No nominations have yet been made, but that Mr. Clarke will be in the field again is a foregone conclusion. The Conservatives recently held their annual meeting at Cobourg when it was decided to organise and fight until the last vote was polled but the matter of selecting a candidate was deferred.

West Northumberland is essentially a rural riding Cobourg being the only large urban centre within its boundaries. The farmers are well organised, but the popularity of the present membed is unbounded, and during the past four years he has increased his rural following by the independent support which he has given the rural Government.

The outcome in the West Riding depends a good deal upon the attitude of the Farmer Party. It is not yet settled whether they will put up a candidate of her own.

Colonel F. D. Boggs, the present Mayor of Cobourg, it is believed, can have the Conservative nomination if he cares to make the run. A call for a convention of that party is looked for any day now.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS IS EFFORT TO PREVENT WAR

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 18.— (Canadian Press.)—The greatest international experiment that has ever been tried was the description of the League of Nations given here last night by Lord Robert Cecil, who presented the league, not as a work of any man or any individual group of men, but as "the offspring of anguish of peoples of the world and of their resolve to do all in their power to prevent repetition of war.

The farmers had a bee and the plant was hauled to the Perdue farm, where boring for oil will commence as soon as the drill is placed in position.

The whole countryside is worked up over the operations of the company ,the members of which have placed their own money in the venture .No stock has been sold, and should the operations prove a failure the members of the company will lose considerable money. They feel confident, however, that they will strike oil.

MAKE THE BACKYARD PAY

By W. R. BEATTIE.

Lovers of flowers of the more striking types have had their desires gratified the past few years in the wonderful development of the dahlia. While this flower is not adapted to growing everywhere and does best in moderately cool or temperate climates, it makes a good showing and often gives a reasonable profit from the sale of cut flowers. Present varieties include flowers from the small compact type all the way to the big, spreading, loose-petaled sorts that are extremely attractive.

In the fall, about the time the frost kills the dahlia plants, the stems are cut off just above the ground. The tubers or roots are dug and left in a cluster for storage. Dahlia roots can be kept under much the same conditions as Irish potatoes, that is, they should be kept reasonably cool so they will not sprout and should not become so dry that they will shrivel.

A storage cellar where potatoes are kept is generally fairly good for keeping dahlia roots. In order to keep the roots from drying out by exposure to the air they may be packed in a shallow box of sand which is moistened just a little from time to time but not enough to cause the roots to rot.

Thinning Out.

In the spring of the year the roots are taken out and divided, one root being planted where each hill of dahlias is wanted. Sometimes each root will throw up several stems and if too many appear, part should be thinned out.

The plans can be brought into bloom earlier by placing each tuber in a pot and starting the plants in the house, then setting them in the open ground after the weather has become warm. The same method can be followed where a hotbed or coldframe is available for starting the plants. Pots five or six inches in diameter will be needed as the roots are sometimes rather large.

Dahlias should be planted in good, deeply prepared soil and the individual plants placed at least three feet apart in the row and the rows about four feet apart. A stake should be driven by each hill and the stems kept tied to these stakes as they break easily with the wind.

Cultivation.

The cultivation of dahlias is just about the same as for tomatoes or most any of the garden crops. In extremely dry weather they will need watering. A little mixed fertilizer sprinkled over the surface and worked into the soil about the time they begin to bloom will add vigor to the plants. Mulching with fine, strawy manure or sweepings from the poultry house is also an advantage.

Where dahlias are grown as border plants and the flowers not cut for sale or for use in the house the old flowers should be kept nipped off before they fade, so the vigor of the plants will go into the formation of new flowers. The best effects in growing dahlias are obtained where they are either planted in a mass of one color only or else the combination of colors in the group planting is carefully considered. The colors vary from light cream or almost white to the deepest red and bronze.

Don't Let That Cold Turn Into "Flu"

Rub on Good Old Musterole

That cold may turn into "Flu," Grippe or, even worse, Pneumonia, unless you take care of it at once.

Colds are merely congestion. Musterole, made from pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other simple ingredients, is a counter-irritant which stimulates circulation and helps break up the cold.

As effective as the messy old mustard plaster, it does the work without the blister.

Just rub it on with your finger-tips. You will feel a warm tingle as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief. 40c and 75c, at all druggists.

DEATH OF AGED BISHOP TUTTLE

Oldest Active Anglican Bishop in the World Died as Result of Grippe

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 18.— (Canadian Press)— Bishop Daniel Sylvester Tuttle, presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in America, and in point of service the oldest active Anglican bishop in the world, died in St. Louis at 2.03 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He had been ill since February 28, when he suffered an attack of grippe.

With the aged prelate's death, passed system of awarding by seniority the office of presiding bishop of the United States, since Bishop Tuttle held since 1903. Under an arrangement voted at the Episcopal General Convention in 1919, however direction of the Church's affairs has been placed in the hands of a National Council, with an elected bishop as head. Bishop T. C. Gaylor, of Memphis, heads this Council at present.

Tolling of the bells at Christ Church Cathedral, the seat of the Missouri Diocese of the Church, Bishop Tuttle's diocese, was begun as soon as news of the churchman's demise was received.

Co-Adjutator Bishop Frederick Froote Johnson becomes, by automatic process, the Bishop of Missouri, succeeding Bishop Tuttle. He is 56 years old and before coming here, was Bishop of the South Dakota Diocese.

A statue of Bishop Tuttle stands in the reredos of Christ Church Cathedral. It was placed there in 1912, as members of the congregation wished to confer the distinction on the prelate of having his statue placed there while he was still alive.

The bishop was opposed to woman suffrage, and favored local option as against State-wide prohibition.

ITALIAN PREMIER FINED IN COURT FOR SPEEDING

BOLOGNA, Italy, April 18—(Canadian Press). — Benito Mussolini, Italian Premier, was arrested yesterday and fined as a speeder.

The Premier, in his red racing car, was driving at a fast rate of speed through Faenza, when he was stopped by a traffic policeman and haled before the Magistrate, who imposed a fine. The policeman was greatly perturbed when the identity of the prisoner became known.

The Premier, however, had nothing but praise for the officer, to whom he said, "Always do your duty and fear nothing."

Want Ad Tips by John T. Bartlett

MAKE IT EASY FOR PEOPLE TO BUY.

"How can I make it easy for people to buy?" Getting ready to sell a thing with want advertising, that is a good question for you to consider. All over the country are businesses which prosper because their owners realize the rewards of making it easy for people to buy. And the principle applies to small articles as well as large ones. It is especially applicable to much want ad. selling.

"Free delivery" has made it easy for the public to buy many an advertiser's offered things. All the buyer has to do is 'phone. Sales naturally are greatest.

Making it easy for people to inquire always facilitates sales. Give your 'phone number if you have one; if it will help, your address, too—and your name. Say if you, "Shown any time during the day or evening" One advertiser said, "'Phone, and I will call for you in my car."

Because he wished to move to the city, an advertiser offered his farm for sale. He knew that he would be buying a city home, also that he could swing the purchase with a small down payment. So in his want ad, after describing his farm, he said, "Small down payment; balance long terms; or will take city bungalow in trade." The small initial payment made it easy for people to buy. This advertiser's correct belief was that to each one in the market who could pay all cash, there were several who could handle on terms.

Easy terms are one of the most successful plans for expediting sales. And in this connection it should be pointed out that the sum involved need not necessarily be a large one. Granting a buyer credit "till next pay day" has sold many things involving only small amounts of money.

Offering to take mentioned things in trade is often a good plan for making it easy for people to buy.

Want ad. readers are appreciative folks. Let your want ad. make it easy for them to buy, and watch them respond.

The PRIDE of PALOMAR

By Peter B. Kyne

CHAPTER XXV.

Bill Conway driving up the San Gregorio in his prehistoric automobile, overtook May and her mother walking home from the Mission, and drove them the remainder of the distance back to the hacienda. Arrived here, old Conway resurrected the stolen spark plugs and returned them to Parker's chauffeur, after which he invited himself to luncheon. Apparently his raid of the night previous rested lightly on his conscience and Parker's failure to quarrel with him lifted him immediately out of any fogs of apprehension that may have clouded his sunny soul.

"Hello, Conway," Parker greeted him, as the old contractor came into the dining room and hung his battered old hat on a wall peg. "Did you bring back my spark plugs?"

"Did better'n that," Conway retorted. "The porcelain on one plug was cracked and sooner or later you were bound to have trouble with it. So I bought you a new one."

"Do any good for yourself in El Toro this morning?"

"Nope. Managed to put over a couple of deals that will help the boy out a little, though. Attached your bank account and your bank stock. I would have plastered your two automobiles, but that tender-hearted Miguel declared that was carrying a grudge too far. By the way, where is our genial young host?"

"Horse bucked him off this morning. He lit on a rock and ripped a furrow in his sinful young head. So he's sleeping off a headache."

"Oh; is he badly hurt?" Kay cried anxiously.

"Not fatally," Parker replied with a faintly knowing smile. "But he's weak and dizzy and he's lost a lot of blood; every time he winks for the next month his head will ache, however."

"The gray one—his father's old horse."

"Hum-m-m!" murmured Conway and pursued the subject no further, nor did he evince the slightest interest in the answers which Parker framed glibly to meet the insistent demand for information from his wife and daughter. The meal concluded, he excused himself and sought Pablo, of whom he demanded and received a meticulous account of the "accident" to Miguel Farrel. For Bill Conway knew that the gray horse never bucked and that Miguel Farrel was a hard man to unseat.

"Guess I'll have to sit in at this game," he decided, and forthwith climbed into his rattletrap automobile and returned to El Toro.

During the drive in he surrendered his mind to a contemplation of all of the aspects of the case, and arriving at the following conclusions:

Item. Don Nicolas Sandoval had seen the assassin walking in from the south about sunset the day previous. If the fellow had walked all the way across country from La Questa valley he must have started about two p.m.

Item. The Potato Baron had left the Farrel hacienda about one o'clock the same day and had, doubtless, arrived in El Toro about two o'clock. Evidently he had communicated with the man from La Questa valley (assuming that Don Miguel's assailant had come from there) by telephone from El Toro.

Arrived in El Toro, Bill Conway drove to the sheriff's office. Don Nicolas Sandoval had returned an hour previous from the Rancho Palomar and to him Conway related the events of the morning. "Now, Nick," he concluded, "you drift over to the telephone office and in your official capacity cast your eye over the record of long distance telephone calls yesterday afternoon and question the girl on duty."

"Bueno!" murmured Don Nicolas and proceeded at once to the telephone office. Ten minutes later he returned.

"Okada talked to one Kano Ugichi, of La Questa, at 2:00 yesterday afternoon," he reported.

"Considerable water will run under the bridges before Kano Ugichi returns to the bosom of his family," Conway murmured sympathetically. "He's so badly spoiled, Nick, we've decided to call him a total loss and not put up any headstone to his memory. It is Farrel's wish that the matter be forgotten by everybody concerned."

THE ANIMALS KNOW IT'S COURTESY WEEK.

"My Dog is a Gentleman For Courtesy," Says Sam.

This is Kiwanis courtesy week, and even the animals know it. "My dog" said Sam as he puffed his clay pipe, "has real—what do you call it—courtesy, that's it. My dog has that because when he sees me he wags his tail and says to me, 'I'm glad to see you old man' and then when I give him a bone, my dog wags his tail again and he says to me, says he, 'Thank you'. That dog of mine is no yallar cur—my dog is a gentleman. Some men could learn lessons in courtesy from my dog."

If every dog taught his master this lesson then every man should have a dog. A great deal has been said about the dollars and cents value of courtesy, but think for a moment what the social life of Peterboro would do without it. There is a certain amount of frigid politeness which passes for courtesy with certain people, but behind that in every worth while community there is a warm moving spirit of kindness which alone makes life worth living. "Thank you" is an expression of that spirit, and "drop in to tea" is a practical exposition of it. Take these things away and you take away the oil that makes the wheels of household duties revolve easily for the housewife.

Let the business man bring the little courtesies into his business life and he will find business runding along in a well lubricated groove which will add to his life and pleasure.

LAKES NEAR PETERBORO TO BE RE RESTOCKED SOON

The executive of the Fish and Game Association at a meeting last night made application to the hatcheries for bass fry to restock the lakes and rivers in this vicinity, including Chemong, Stoney Lake, Rice Lake and the River Otonabee above Peterborough. Members of the Association are in attendance at the booth in the Motor Show to explain these and other activities of the Fish and Game Protective Association in this district, and also to enlist new members.

CAR FERRY AT COBOURG UNDER CONSIDERATION.

An enquiry has been received at the Chamber of Commerce as to the number of cars from this section of the province that would probably use the proposed automobile ferry from Cobourg to Charlotte. This indicates that the assurance given by Sir Henry Thornton to Mr. G. N. Gordon that the matter would be looked into is being carried out.

It has been estimated that between 400 and 500 cars from this district would use the new route if it materializes.

I still have this matter under consideration."

Two Presentations of Interest—Death Removes Prominent Residents.

COLBORNE, April 18.—Rev. R. Smartt, former rector of the Anglican parish of Colborne and Lakefort, had a sale of his household effects here Saturday afternoon. Mr. Smartt is leaving Colborne for Detroit shortly.

Mr. S. E. Robinson has sold the property at Wicklow, belonging to Hugh Ross and J. Trotter, to Mr. Charles Bradly of Grafton. This is considered to be a valuable property. It is a part of the E. A. Doolittle farm.

Mr. J. J. Sayer, who recently dispersed of his business here to Mr. A. Agig, has left Colborne for Charleston, West Virginia, where he will be manager of a company in business there. Mr. Sayer was a good citizen and generally interested in church and charities, and will be much missed. Many friends wish him God-speed.

The A.Y.P.A. of Trinity Church here held a social gathering in the Parish Hall on Thursday night that was much enjoyed. Dainty refreshments were served and a pleasant evening spent.

Mr. Bruce Pogue has gone to Peterborough to act as manager, It is understood, of the Willoughby Farm Agency.

Presentation at Salem.

Mrs. H. Grant's Sunday School class at Salem took occasion recently to present her with a cold meat fork, the gift being accompanied by an appropriate address, which was read by the superintendent, Mr. S. E. Dixon.

Another Presentation.

Prior to their removal from Colborne to Detroit, Rev. Harold Smart and Mrs. Smartt were presented with a purse by the congregations of Trinity Church, Colborne, and St. Peter's Church, Lakefort, the gift being accompanied by the good wishes of his former parishioners here. Mr. Smartt assumes the rectorship of St. Barnados parish, Detroit.

Personal Paragraphs.

Rev. R. A. Whattam, pastor of the Methodist Church, conducted anniversary services at Stockdale on Sunday.

Miss L. Cooley has gone to Thomasburg, where she has accepted a position as teacher in the Public School there.

Rev. J. F. Meers, Port Hope, was the preacher at the regular services in the Methodist Church here yesterday.

Mr. Elwood Dudley has moved to Whitby, where he has purchased a residence.

Mr. C. H. Byers has leased the house he has vacated and will take up residence there.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Kernaghan, Haldimand Township, are receiving congratulations because of the birth of a son; also Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Mellow upon the birth of a daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. C Ventress, Cremake Township, on the birth of a son.

The Grave.

The death of Alexander McIntosh has removed an esteemed resident of Haldimand Township, who passed away in his 87th year. Mr. McIntosh was born in Scotland, but was for many years a resident of Canada, residing at Hamilton and Bowmanville before coming to Salem to reside. In 1864 he bought the farm in Haldimand Township upon which he has resided for many years. He was an active member and elder of the Presbyterian Church in Colborne, and more recently of the Presbyterian Church at Vernonville.

The Late Jack Pickworth.

A former resident of Cremake Township, Mr. Jack Pickworth, passed away recently at Maple Creek, Sask., from effects of a paralytic stroke. He was in his 83rd year. He is survived by his wife and two sons. He is survived also by two brothers, William and James of Colborne, and two sisters, Mrs. W. A. Hyde of Los Angeles and Mrs. H. Greely of Maple Creek.

CHURCH UNION AT MOUNT PLEASANT.

Proposition That Presbyterian and Methodist Churches Unite is Mooted—Cavan News.

CAVAN, April 18. —A meeting was held in Mount Pleasant last week to discuss the feasibility of uniting the Presbyterian and Methodist churches of that place. Nothing was decided on, as the Presbyterian church of Omemee wished the Presbyterian church of Mount Pleasant to join with them if they gave a call to another minister to succeed Rev. Mr. Scott. In Mount Pleasant both the Methodist and Presbyterian churches have very small congregations, so it would appear that church union would be advantageous in that village.

The regular service at the Cavan Methodist church was withdrawn on Sunday evening owing to the fact that the pastor, Rev. S. G. Rorke was suffering from a severe cold.

The debate on the Bible characters Joseph and Moses led by Rev. I. Craw and Rev. S. G. Rorke which was to been held in Cavan church, Friday, April 20, is withdrawn for the same reason. It is postponed till Friday, April 27.

Rev. Mr. Williams will be the new curate to succeed Rev. Capt. Spencer in the Cavan parish.

THREE MINISTERS LEAVING COBOURG

Will Vacate Their Charges Within the Next Few Months — An Alliance Visitor.

COBOURG, April 18.—Sunday the congregation of the Cobourg Methodist church at the morning service had the pleasure of listening to a splendid sermon from the General Secretary of Education, Rev. T. W. Graham, D.D. He took for his text an unique passage, from one of the greates of the Hebrew prophets, Isaiah 30, chapter 20. Yet shall not thy teachers be removed into a corner any more, but thine eyes shall see thy teachers. In a strong convincing exposition of this passage, Dr. Graham showed that education was not something that any nation could afford to set in a corner or in an obscure place, but that it was a component vital part of national and religious life. The work and calling of the teacher, even in our public schools, had not yet been given its rightful place by many people.

He told of the work of colleges and schools, especially in the west and of the great work that was being accomplished, frequently among those of nationalities not Canadian. Young men possessed with a thirst for knowledge were coming to these schools, and by hard work, ingenuity and the performance of menial tasks, gained certificates and went out to use not only the education which they had so laboriously secured, but their consecrated talents in the service of their own peoples. With earnestness and enthusiasm they are carrying to others the new light that special opportunity has brought into their own lives. He spoke also of the work in the colleges in helping young men to train themselves for the ministry.

It was a scholarly compelling message, and Dr. Graham was listened to with keen interest. The pastor of the church, Rev. J. S. I. Wilson, conducted the service, and also preached in the evening service.

In the other churches, the local pastors were in their place, Rev. W. A. Bremner at St. Andrews at night, Rev. H. A. Carson at the Congregational church, Canon F. J. Sawers at St. Peters and Rev. J. P. McLennan at the Baptist church.

Three Ministers Leaving.

A unique feature in connection with Cobourg's church life is that three ministers will be leaving their pastorates here within the next few months. Rev. J. S. I. Wilson is completing his fourth years as pastor of the Methodist church, and will be leaving at the end of this conference year. Rev J. P. McLennan has resigned and will vacate his pastorate at the Baptist church in May, and Rev. H. A. Carson, has also resigned the pastorate of the Congregational church and leaves at the end of this month Such a circumstance occurs but rarely in the history of any town. In addition to their pulpit work in the churches, the ministers of Cobourg conduct a service every Sunday at the Counties Home for the aged and at the Ontario Hospital, the Salvation Army co-operating with them in this work. Capt. Godden of the Salvation Army also conducts a service one each month at the Counties jail, and Rev. J. P. McLennan of the Baptisht church has also helped in this work.

Ben. H. Spence Here.

Mr. Ben H. Spence of the Dominion Alliance, Toronto, occupier the pulpit of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church at the morning service Sunday and delivered a characteristic discourse. Rev. W. A. Bremner, who was confined to his home by illness the week previous conducted the evening service and preached a good sermon.

OBITUARY

MRS. ELIJAH CRONSBERRY.

The death occurred at her late residence, Ann street, Cannington, on Wednesday, April 4, of Elizabeth Hooton, eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hooton, Cavan. The deceased had only been ill for a few hours, being taken suddenly and critically ill on Easter Monday, April 2, about 4 p.m. But all that medical skill and loving hands could do was of no avail, and she passed peacefully away to her eternal rest and happiness. She was born at Fairmount, Cavan, and spent her girlhood days there, where in 1872 she was united in marriage to the late Henry Jones, Eldon. Later she moved to Eden, Mariposa, where her first husband predeceased her almost 22 years ago. Eleven years ago she was united in marriage to Elijah Cronsberry, Cannington, where she resided until her death. She was a consistent member of the Methodist church from girlhood, and an active worker, being a Sunday School teacher for a number of years; also president of the W.M.S. She was also active in charitable work. Her lovable character, her humility and goodness of heart endeared her to a wide circle of acquaintance, who greatly deplore her passing.

She is survived by her husband, three sisters and two brothers. They are: Mrs. J. W. Bidgood of Cleveland, Mrs. S. T. Wilson and Mrs. George Haygarth of Omemee, Robt. and George Hooton of Peterboro; also two adopted daughters.

The remains were interred in Eden cemetery beside her late husband, the officiating clergymen being Revs. Sanderson and Scott of Cannington and Rev. Wilson of Cambray. The pallbearers were: R. M. Hooton, G. H. Hooton, Thos. Jones, Geo. Haygarth, S. T. Wilson and J. Shier. Many beautiful wreaths were placed on the casket by sympathizing friends.

ERUPTION MAUNA LOA.

HONOLULU., April 18.—(Associated Press)—A new summit eruption of the intermittently active volcano of Mauna Loa before 1925 has been forecast by Thomas A. Jagger, Jr., government volcanologist at the Kilauea observatory. Mauna Loa is on the island of Hawaii.

Dr. Jggera says that the Kilauea laval and that of Mauna Loa rise and fall in concert Both volcanoes connect with the same underground course, the pulsations of which bring about a nine-year cycle of activities.

In connection with this forecast Dr. Jagger urged the construction of a trail to Mauna Loa as a safeguard which would permit quick investigation of activities.

Mauna Loa's last great activity was in 1919, when the lava overflowed the crater and swept down to the sea thirty miles away.

STRONG PARTY OF ROYALISTS IN FRANCE IS A MOST SOLIDLY ORGANIZED GROUP

General Mangin, the Famous Commander of Attack Troops, Nicknamed the Butcher, Supports the Royalist Cause—They Advise No Reparations From Germany.

By ERNEST M. HEMINGWAY
Special to The Examiner. Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.

PARIS, April 18.—Raymond Poincare is a changed man. Until a few months ago the little white-bearded Lorraine lawyer in his patent leather shoes and his grey gloves dominated the French chamber of deputies with his methodical accountant's mind and his spitfire temper. Now he sits quietly and forlornly while fat, white-faced Leon Daudet shakes his finger at him and says "France will do this. France will do that."

Leon Daudet, son of old Alphonse Daudet, the novelist, is the leader of the royalist party. He is also editor of l'Action Francaise, the royalist paper, and author of L'Entremettouse or The Procuress, a novel whose plot could not even be outlined in any newspaper printed in English.

The royalist party is perhaps the most solidly organized in France today. That is a surprising statement to those who think of France as a republic with no thought of ever being anything else. The royalist headquarters are in Nimes in the south of France and Provence is almost solidly royalist. The royalists have the solid support of the Catholic church. It being an easily understood fact that the church of Rome thrives better under European monarchies than under the French republic.

Philippe, the Duc of Orleans, is the royalist's candidate for king. Philippe lives in England, is a big, good-looking man and rides very well to hounds. He is not allowed by law to enter France.

A Royalist Fascisti

There is a royalist fascisti called the Camelots du Roi. They carry black loaded canes with salmon colored handles and at twilight you can see them in Montmartre swaggering along the streets with their canes, a little way ahead and behind a newsboy who is crying l'Action Francaise in the radical quarter of the old Butee. Newsboys who carry l'Action Francaise into radical districts without the protecting guard of Camelots are badly beaten up by the communists and socialists.

In the past year the royalists have received a tremendous impetus in some mysterious way. It has come on so rapidly and suddenly that from being more or less of a joke they are now spoken of as one of the very strongest parties. In fact Daudet is marked for assassination by the extreme radicals and men are not assassinated until they are considered dangerous. An attempt on his life was made by an anarchist a month or so ago. The girl assassin killed his assistant, Marius Plateau, by mistake.

General Mangin, the famous commander of attack troops, nick-named "The Butcher" is a royalist. He was the only great French general who was not made a marshal. He can always be seen in the chamber of deputies when Leon Daudet is to speak. It is the only time he comes.

Want No Reparations

Now the royalist party wants no reparations from Germany. Nothing would frighten them more than if Germany should be able to pay in full tomorrow. For that would mean that Germany was becoming strong. What they want is a weak Germany, dismembered if possible, a return to the military glories and conquests of France, the return of the Catholic church, and the return of the king. But being patriotic as all Frenchmen they first want to obtain security by weakening Germany permanently. Their plan to accomplish this is to have the reparations kept at such a figure that will be unpayable and then seize German territory to be held "only until the reparations are paid."

The very sinister mystery is how they obtained the hold over M. Poincare to force him to fall in with their plan and refuse to even discuss the German industrialists' proposal to take over the payment of reparations if they were reduced to a reasonable figure. The German industrialists have money, have been making money ever since the armistice, have profited by the fall of the mark to sell in pounds and dollars and pay their workers in useless marks, and have most of those pounds and dollars salted away. But they did not have enough money to pay the reparations as they were listed, no five European nations could, and they wanted to make some sort of a final settlement with the French, not pay all their money into an ever growing rat hole of a plan to keep them weak by enlarging the hole.

Politics of Scandal

That is the fallacy of the analogy between the war of 1870 and the present war. France lost that war and the Germans occupied the country. They demanded an indemnity that they calculated France could pay and they evacuated the country section by sections as the indemnity was paid. They were there to collect the money and they had it calculated out just how much money they could collect. They were not there on a long and indefinite campaign of keeping France weak. They stole two provinces, collected an indemnity and went home to prepare for the next war.

Now we must get back to little white-whiskered Raymond Poincare, who has the smallest hands and feet of any man I have ever seen, sitting in the chair at the chamber of deputies while the fat, white-faced Leon Daudet, who wrote the obscene novel and leads the royalists and is marked for assassination, shakes his finger at him and says "France will do this. France will do that."

To understand what is going on we must remember that French politics are unlike any other. It is a very intimate politics, a politics of scandal. Remember the duels of Clemenceau, the Calmette killing, the figure of the last president of the French republic standing in a fountain at the Bois and saying: "O, don't let them get me. Don't let them get me."

The Prisoner of Daudet

A few days ago M. Andre Berthon stood up in the chamber of deputies and said: "Poincare, you are the prisoner of Leon Daudet. I demand to know by what blackmail he holds you. I do not understand why the government of M. Poincare submits to the dictatorship of Leon Daudet, the royalist."

"Tout d'un piece," all in one piece, as the Matin described it, Poincare jumped up and said: "You are an abominable gredin, monsieur." Now you cannot call a man anything worse than a gredin, although it means nothing particularly bad in English. The chamber rocked with shouts and cat calls. It looked like the free fight in the cigaret factory when Geraldine Farrar first began to play Carmen. Finally, it quieted down sufficiently for M. Poincare, trembling and grey with rage, to say: "The man who stands in the Tribune dares to say that there exist against me or mine abominable dossiers which I fear to have made public. I deny it."

M. Berthon said very sweetly: "I have not mentioned any dossiers." Dossiers is literally bundles of papers. It is the technical name for the French system of keeping all the documents on the case in a big manilla folder. To have a dossier against you is to have all the official papers proving a charge held by some one with the power to use them.

The Apology Accepted

In the end M. Berthon was asked to apologize. "I apologize for my outrageous words I may have used." He did so very sweetly. It took this form: "I only say M. le President, that M. Leon Daudet exercise a sort of pressure on your politics."

This apology was accepted. Poincare goaded out of his depression to deny the existence of papers that had not been mentioned is back in his forlornness. You cannot make charges in France unless you hold the papers in your hands and those that do hold dossiers know how to use them.

Last July in a confidential conversation with a number of British and American newspaper correspondents Poincare, discussing the Ruhr situation, said: "Occupation would be futile and absurd. Obviously Germany can only pay now in goods and labor." He was a more cheerful Poincare in those days.

Meantime the French government has spent 160 million francs (official) on the occupation and Ruhr coal is costing France $200 a ton.

ITALIAN MINISTERS HAND RESIGNATIONS

All Members of Catholic Popular Party Have Placed Portfolios at the Disposal of the Premier.

ROME, April 18. Canadian Press.—The Minister of Social Welfare Stefano Cavazzoni, and under-Secretaries Vassalo, Milani and Cronci all members of the Catholic Popular Party, have placed their portfolios at the disposal of Premier Mussolini.

Signor Cavazzoni, referring to the Premier's demand that all Cabinet Ministers belonging to the Catholic Party state whether they intended loyally to follow his policy or consider themselves bound by the resolutions adopted at their recent party conference told the premier that the great majority of the party wished to continue in collaboration with the government.

The Premier declared that he would wait before deciding about the resignations until after the meeting of the Catholic Parliamentary group on Friday. If the group adheres to the resolutions adopted by the Catholic Congress at Turin, Mussolini will accept resignations, but if the group rejects the resolutions and reaffirms loyalty to th Fascist government, he will not accept the resignations.

WOMEN OF THREE GENERATIONS

The daughter, mother, and grandmother have all proved from personal experience are remarkable strengthening and tonic properties of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in overcoming the ills of women. It was first made from roots and herbs in 1873 by Lydia E. Pinkham of Cobourg, Ont., for her neighbors and friends. Its fame has spread from shore to shore until it is now looked upon by women every where as the standard remedy for woman's ills. It has been proved that it benefits 98 out of every 100 women who try it, which is a marvelous record for any remedy to hold.

FAR-AWAY FIELDS ARE FOUND NOT SO GREEN

In view of the number of Canadian work men who are unemployed and are anticipating going to the United States to better their condition, the following letter received by The Star from a former member of a Toronto firm, who is on the other side, may be of interest:

"I hope you will excuse me taking liberty of writing to you at this time. Now, as you see by address, I am a little way from Toronto.

"I came on here from Detroit. Work here is very plentiful and wages good, but board and lodging are very high. I am paying $6 per week for room, and then to eat in restaurants, which I find is still higher, takes all the goods there is in the job. I think if you can see your way clear to give me a chance and place me in your service your action will be fully appreciated by me."—Toronto Star.

WINS AN AUTOMOBILE AFTER HE WAS KILLED

WINDSOR, April 18.—(Canadian Press).—Although Marcus Swisser, Grand Trunk Railway crossing watchman, was unlucky enough to be killed last week when he failed to hear an approaching train, he was lucky enough to win a high-price automobile in a raffle the day after his body had been picked up in little pieces. In Swisser's pocket a raffle ticket was found and laid aside with other papers. On Saturday night the drawing was made and the ticket stub showed that Swisser had captured the capital prize. The machine will be sent to Swisser's widow at St. Thomas.

HELD TRAIN HOUR FOR TANGO DANCE

Passengers Fretted and Fumed Over Delay and Grew Indignant.

TORONTO, April 18.—(Canadian Press).—While a dancer at a local hotel finished his special brand of Tango, a whole train of ten coaches, carrying passengers, mail and express, and operated by the Canadian National Railways, had to wait for one hour and ten minutes.

The Grand Trunk train No. 213, in charge of Conductor M. Home, and piloted by Engineer Campbell, due to leave the Union Station at 11.45 p.m., was held on Monday night for seventy minutes for Rudolph Valentino and his wife, Winifred Hudnut.

While the Tango dancing movie actor was going through all the contortions of the famous Argentine Tango, passengers on the train fretted over the delay and grew indignant.

Most of the passengers on the train were citizens from towns or villages between Toronto and Hamilton. In many cases they were business men and women returning home late.

This train is the last one out of Toronto in the evening, and is due in Hamilton at five minutes past one.

The answer to all questions regarding the delay was, "We will go as soon as we get our people for the special car."

NEW MINISTERS NAMED IN FEDERAL CABINET

OTTAWA, April 18.—(Canadian Press.)— More Federal Cabinet changes are pending. Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of National Defence, may become Minister of Railways and Hon. E. M. Macdonald may become Minister of National Defence. It is expected that Mr. Graham will continue to take care of Postmaster-General's portfolio until Hon. Charles Murphy returns from Mexico after the session.

As to vacancy in the Cabinet created by the appointment of Hon. D. D. McKenzie, Solicitor Geleral, to the post of Puisne Judge in the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia, it is anticipated that when the time comes for an appointment the name of George W. Kyte, chief government whip, will receive consideration.

Freedom from constipation, mild or chronic, can be surely looked for if you will eat Kellogg's Bran every day! Two tablespoonfuls are sufficient; for severe cases with each meal.

Kellogg's Bran is nature's most wonderful food awaiting a chance to bring back your health. Kellogg's Bran is scientifically prepared to relieve suffering humanity from constipation and it will do that.

Being cooked and krumbled, Kellogg's Bran is delicious in its nut-like flavor. It should not be confused with common bran which is unpalatable and hard to eat. Kellogg's Bran adds greatly to the pleasure of eating other hot or cold cereals. A popular way to serve Kellogg's Bran is to cook it with hot cereals. In preparation, add two tablespoonfuls of Bran for each person, mixing it with the cereal to be cooked.

Kellogg's Bran is especially delicious in raisin bread, muffins, pancakes, macaroons, etc. Recipes appear on each package.

Realize what Kellogg's Bran is doing for constipation sufferers all over the nation, then just think what it can do for you and yours. The horrors to come should guide you to eat bran regularly, to serve it in some form each day.

You can drive constipation out of your family with Kellogg's Bran—and remove the cause of 90% of human illness! First-class hotels and clubs serve Kellogg's Bran in individual packages. Ask for it at your restaurant. All grocers.

STOLEN BONDS ARE FOUND ON A FARM

TORONTO, April 18.—(Canadian Press.)—Bonds discovered buried on a farm near Islington yesterday, along with considerable jewellery, have been identified in part as some of the bonds stolen by unknown robbers from the bank at Stouffville, according to General Victor Williams, commissioner of provincial police.

The provincial police are confident that the Stouffville robbery was carried out by Floyd Austin and Lewis Nolan, who were arrested in New York following a similar robbery at Mount Forest.

Extradition proceedings against Nolan failed and Austin is at present held in Arkansas on a charge of murder.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT TO ASSIST AGRICULTURE

LONDON, April 18. — (United Press)—The Government held a cabinet meeting yesterday to consider the report of the agricultural commission and the government decided that they would take no action to put its recommendations into effect. The Commission proposed protective taxes on barley and other grains, and restrictions on the importation of flour unless such flour was shipped with a percentage of the by-produce.

In place of these proposals the government announces that it proposes to assist agriculture in the form of reduction of the rates on agricultural land, which will involve an annual grant to land owners of four million pounds, and also a special grant of a million and a half for the upkeep of the main country roads. The Agricultural interests this morning, express themselves as dissatisfied with the government's proposals and are sure to propose greater concesions, but it is generally hoped that these concessions already projected will tide over the critical situation that now exists.

TO FIGURE IN ANNUAL CONCERT AT TORONTO

Two familiar Peterboro names are to figure on the programme of the annual concert of the Toronto Conservatory of music, in Convocation Hall this year. Following on her recent success at her recital in Toronto, Miss Agnes Logan, a pupil of Carlos Buhler, who is on the staff of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, and is also a visiting teacher at the local Conservatory of Music, has been asked to play, and Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park, a teacher at the local Conservatory, and a pupil of Dalton Baker, of Toronto, who shortly leaves Canada to continue his teaching career in New York City, will also sing.

As the high standard of performances at the annual concert of the Toronto Conservatory, is well known and artists taking part are limited to a chosen few, available from all parts of Canada, and even from the United States, Peterboro is fortunate in being represented in both the vocal and instrumental sections of such an event.

REPEAT PERFORMANCE DREW GOOD AUDIENCE

The A. S. K. Class of Knox church repeated their very successful minstrel show of the previous evening, to a good-sized audience in the Sunday school lecture hall last evening. The different sections, including sketches, readings, vocal and instrumetnal solos and waltzes, clog and step dancing, were heartily applauded, the dancing of Mr. Ed. Leonard receiving much acclaim. Mr. Hugh Lush gave his lightning sketches, accompanied by songs, which proved so successful the previous night. All arrangements were carried out in an efficient manner, and Mr. Verne Morphet is to be congratulated on the success of his well-balanced minstrel show.

STARTED BUILDING OF NEW ENNISMORE CHURCH

Building operations on the new Ennismore church, to replace the burned structure, started in earnest this morning. Messrs. R. Sheehy and sons, competing with several other bidders from the city and Toronto, were the successful tenderers for a structure which will cost, when completed, in the neighborhood of $50,000. Messrs. Sheehy and Sons were the lowest bidders. It is expected that the new church, rising on the ashes of the old, will be a handsome edifice, larger in size than the former St. Martin's.

TELEGRAPHER'S FATAL SLEEP.

LONDON (United Press). —John Murray, telegrapher, went to sleep on the main line of the railroad in his village, John's dead. A trackwalker found Murray on the right of way just after a train passed. He was neither bruised or bleeding. A doctor declared the train had passed above his body after death occurred from sleeping sickness.

QUEEN MARY HOCKEY TEAM WERE BANQUETTED

A most enjoyable function was successfully carried out at Queen Mary School last evening when the Home and School Association treated the boys of the Hockey Club to an informal banquet. There were present in addition to the boys, George A. Macdonald, honorary president; Alex. Dick, honorary vice-president, Inspector A. Mowat and W. H. Barry. The room was tastefully decorated with the school colors, and the tables were laden with edibles that a boy could wish. Need less to say that ample justice was done to the good things provided.

Mr. Dick with Mr. W. H. Barry as accompanist had charge of the musical programme and there was not a dull moment. Mr. Dick simply waved his magic wand and boys who were never known to utter a chirp before, sang lustily. Even the ladies did not escape; A wave of the wand in their direction and any song asked for was efficiently rendered by them.

Short speeches were given by the men present, Mr. Macdonald impressing on the boys the value of unselfishness and helpfulness as useful lessons to be learned from their sports. Mr. Mowat emphasized the value of singing and games, and stated that the true aim of sport was the formation of character Mr. Dick drove home the lesson of co-operation and Mr. Barry, too, gave a word of good advice to them.

Then followed cheers for the guests and very hearty cheers for the ladies who provided the feast after which the pleasant affair came to an end.

Such deformities as bow-legs and knock-knees are becoming much less frequent owing to the spread of knowledge of hygiene among parents.

C. C. A. SECRETARY URGES REDUCTION

Would Not Wipe Out Tariff but Would Like Trading Arrangements With United States in Natural Products.

OTTAWA, April 18.—Submitting the programme of the Canadian Council of Agriculture before the House of Commons Committee on Agricultural Conditions to-day, John W. Ward, Secretary of the Council, urged:

"A substantial all-round reduction of the customs tariff on the necessaries of life; an increase in the British preference; reciprocity with the United States along the lines of the 1911 agreement; free importation of agricultural implements, vehicles, fegilizers, lumber, cement, illuminating, fuel and lubricating oils, and of all raw materials and machinery used in the manufacture of these things."

Mr. Ward believed that, even in the face of the high United States' tariff, Canada would benefit by reducing her own tariff. Cost of living would be reduced in Canada, and this would benefit all classes.

"I am not suggesting that you wipe out the tariff altogether," said Mr. Ward, "but we believe there should be substantial progress downward. The tariff increases the cost of production, and farmers to-day are absolutely unable to carry any extra burdens. The tariff is also keeping immigrants out of Canada."

The increased cost to Canadian farmers of agricultural implements in one year because of the tariff Mr. Ward estimated to be $9,974,000. This was 5.3 times as much as Canada received in revenue from agricultural implement duties.

Asked by Hon. J. E. Sinclair how he estimated that the protective tariff enhanced farmers' production costs by nearly ten million dollars a year, Mr. Ward said he based this on the tariff and the manufacturers' added profit on the amount of duties paid. These figures were taken on the apparent consumption of Canada. Duties had been reduced somewhat since the year 1920, for which Mr. Ward took his figures.

"That rather vitiates what you have placed before us," said Chairman McMaster. "I thought you dealt with present-day conditions."

Mr. Ward said he had taken the latest complete figures available. He admitted that valuations also had changed since the period he had reviewed. Tariff changes last year would alter his estimates of ten millions.

John F. Reid, former M.P. for Mackenzie, Sask., dealt with farming conditions in Western Canada. With his sons he farmed 1,120 acres in Saskatchewan.

"I haven't lost faith in Canada, and there is nothing wrong with Western Canada," Mr. Reid asserted; "it is conditions that are wrong. In my own case in perhaps three years under present conditions would see the savings and earnings of a lifetime wiped out."

THE CHARMING LITTLE COMEDY WAS REPEATED

The charming little comedy entitled "Patty Makes Things Hum," was repeated last night at Reid Street Hall, under the auspices of the Young People's League, to a well-filled hall and appreciative audience, who expressed their pleasure with laughter and applause.

The cast was identical with the first showing of the little play, with the exception of the substitution at the last minute of Mr. Wm. Giles as Mr. Smith, in the place of Mr. Osborne Smith, at present in the hospital. Wilfred Derry took the part of Capt. Tom Braithwaite; Leslie Bristoe that of Capt. Fred Little; Fred Preston enacted the role of Mr. Bob Greene, and Mina Edwards was Mrs. Smith.

was Mrs. Smith; Mabel Carter played Mrs. Doris Greene. Nellie Carter, Patience (Patty) Little; Florence Derry was Helen Braithwaite; Leyda Wilson was Hope Dunbar; and Edna Forster was Hyacinth.

Between acts, the Trinity Sunday School Orchestra, led by Mr. R. Gliddon, rendered pleasing music, and Miss Grace Allen gave a vocal solo, with encore.

At the close of the programme, a social hour was spent by the cast and orchestra, with service of light refreshments, as guests of the Young People's League.

The furniture used was loaned by Messrs. McBride & Franks and Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons.

VOICE OF PEOPLE

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir—As your editorial asserts in last evening's issue of the Examiner, the death rate of Babies is deplorable. I wonder if the Public is aware that the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has a nurse engaged for just the purpose of teaching the young mother to care for her baby before and after birth and this is done practically for nothing. It is astonishing that more people do not take advantage of it. The Statistics of the Company show a decided lowering of mortality.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,

Welfare,

J. MALANE.

DELIVERED MARBLE TO THE WRONG COMPANY

TORONTO, April 18. — Counsel for the Canadian Pacific Railway, whom the Italian Mosaic and Marble Co. sued in the Division Court, claiming $75.77 for marble consigned to them and not delivered, produced copious authorities in an endeavour to convince Judge Morson that when goods were addressed wrongly but the bill of lading was addressed rightly, the company was not responsible for wrong delivery.

His Honour agreed heartily with all the authorities, but pointed out that they did not contradict his view of the case—that the bill of lading was the contract, and that where there were discrepancies, the company ought to have made inquiries.

The marble was delivered to the Italian Mosaic and Tile Co. and counsel declared that the tags were addressed to that company. The agent of the C.P.R. at Peterborough, however, declared that the tag and the bill of lading bore the same address. "I would like to contradict my own witness," requested defendant's counsel, but the Court would have none of that. So it went until a C.P.R employee gave some more definite evidence. "The tag was addressed to the Italian Mosaic—and the rest was smeared out," he said.

The Court gave plaintiff leave to add the consignor, The Vermont Marble Company, of Peterborough, as defendant, so that plaintiff would not be "squeezed between two denials."

C. R. WIDDIFIELD MOVING TO GALT

An Appreciation of the Services of Mr. Widdifield

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Widdifield will very much regret their removal from this city, but they extend to them their heartiest and best wishes for their success and happiness in their new home in the town of Galt.

Mr. Widdifield, a son of His Honor Judge Widdifield, of Toronto, graduated with honors at Toronto University, and in due course was called to the bar.

He came to Peterborough about nine years ago, and was a partner for five years with Mr. G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons. During four years of that time Mr. Widdifield served with the Canadian Expeditionary Force in France, and was wounded and gassed on active service.

Shortly after Mr. Widdifield's return he was appointed solicitor and counsel for the City of Peterborough, which position he held until he completed his arrangements to remove to Galt.

At the recent sittings of the County Court, which have just closed, His Honor Judge Huycke referred in very complimentary terms to the ability shown by Mr. Widdifield in the presentation of his cases before him as solicitor and counsel, and stated that he appreciated the thoroughness with which he prepared his cases and the clearness with which he presented his facts and arguements and the way in which he marshalled his authorities.

The City Council at its last session passed a unanimous vote of thanks and appreciation for his past services to the city.

He has always taken a keen interest in athletics, and for the past two years has been president of the Hockey Club and a member in an advisory capacity of the Baseball Association.

During this last four years Mr. Widdifield has been secretary of the Liberal Association for West Peterborough, and has always taken an active and keen interest in advocating Liberal principles on the public platform.

Mrs. Widdifield, B.A., is a daughter of Mr. T. H. G. Denne, formerly Mayor of the City of Peterborough, and has resided in Peterborough all her life, and has a very wide circle of friends. She will be greatly missed in social circles and in charitable work.

Mrs. Widdifield was secretary of the 87th Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire, and recently president of the Peterborough Ladies' Golf Club.

The Examiner extends to Mr. and Mrs. Widdifield its best wishes for their success and prosperity in their new home.

INTERESTING DISPLAY BY W.A. OF ST. JOHN'S

The Women's Auxiliary of St. John's church held an interesting display of their bale yesterday afternoon in St. John's parish hall. This bale, which is in progress of making for several months prior to its final shipment, is the contribution of the ladies of St. John's church to the work of the Mackay School, the Church of England boarding school, at La Pas, Manitoba. It consists of the entire outfit of winter and summer clothes for a young Indian girl residing at this school who is the special charge of the Women's Auxiliary of St John's church. Included with the shipment are many other things for general use in the home, including two boxes of soap, many comfortable looking rag mats, and a number of articles of wearing apparel. The little hoods for small girls, made in the old style, in bright hues, with ribbon bows topping the face-encircling shapes, are very attractive. The outfit includes dresses of print, calico and serge for warm and cold weather, underwear for any season, stockings, hats and coats, necessities like tooth and hair brushes ,everything needed by a girl of seventeen, the age of the particular charge of St. John's church. Measurements are made with care as the young lady is evidently not of the anaemic type, possessing a thirty-four inch waist and forty-four inch bust.

Tea was served during the afternoon from a pretty table garnished with bright pink carnations. Mrs. R. C. Blagrave and Miss Emma Denne presided. Mrs. W. H. Dayman was in charge of the refreshment committee, assisted by Mesdames Ross, Might and Franks. The convenor of the Dorcas committee, Mrs. J. J. Howden, received the guests with the president of the Auxiliary, Mrs. A. W. Turner.

FESTIVAL AT KNOX

The conclusion of Knox church Sunday school anniversary will be held in the auditorium of the church on Friday evening, April 20th. The programme on this occasion will consist of musical numbers by a amssed choir from the Intermediate school, a choir from the Primary Department, duets, solos, violin selections, interspersed by dialogues, readings and tableaux. Rev. J. A. MacKenzie, who closes his pastorate in Knox next Sunday will take part in the programme. The committee in charge are sparing no time or effort to ensure complete arrangements and success. Members and adherents of Knox are asked to make this an evening long to be remembered in the annals of the church, by uniting in an entertainment of pleasure and profit.

MONTREAL, April 18. Canadian Press. — The tone of the market for cash grain was very firm, with no change in prices. Business in flour was quiet. A good steady trade continues in most lines of mill feed but the market for rolled oats is reported slow. The demand for baled hay shows no improvement. A firm feeling continues in the egg market with the prices fully maintained. A fair trade is passing in potatoes.

The tone of the butter market is on the whole steady. There is little to report in the cheese market.

EGG MARKETS.

OTTAWA, April 18. Canadian Press. — The firmness in the egg market is reflected in the higher prices and the upward movement shows no sign of a reaction. Supplies are very light at Montreal and Toronto. The consumptive demand is heavy and the local receipts at Montreal and Toronto require to be augmented with imports from the United States which are reported to cost about 31c delivered. There is no surplus for storage. Ontario track shippers are paying from 27 to 29c to stores and producers, making sales at 29 to 31c f.o.b. The continued cold unseasonable weather is having a serious effect on production. Until there is a surplus for storage purposes no reaction in the price can be anticipated.

Montreal firm, unchanged.

"My Boy was Starving to Death"

"As He Was Getting No Nourishment He Was Gradually Wasting Away."

"Here's a story which will interest every mother. Before my boy was born, I was in such delicate health that the doctor didn't think I would survive the ordeal. For weeks after he was born my life was despaired of, so I couldn't feed him and the poor little fellow was left to the care of friends. He wasn't naturally strong. No care was taken in choosing his food and his poor little stomach became so weakened that he couldn't keep anything on it. As he was getting no nourishment from his food, he was gradually wasting away. Finally, in desperation, we sent for a child specialist and he said that my boy was starving to death. He gave him some medicine and advised a certain diet. The child did improve but somehow couldn't seem to get strong. This went on for four or five years and the boy still continued weak and puny looking. He could not play like other children without having to lie down and rest. My sister who lives on a farm near the sea, said that she could fix him up if I would send him to her. While I hated being separated from him, I was ready to make any sacrifice to get him strong. He was away from me for three months and it was with feelings of great excitement that I awaited his return as my sister had written me that I would be surprised when I saw my boy. When my sister got off the train, I could not believe that it was my own boy that she was leading by the hand. I never saw such a change in any child. He was fat and rosy and full of life with a happy smile! 'What on earth have you done to him,' I said. 'Why,' she replied, 'I simply made him live out of doors, gave him good food—and here's the real secret, I gave him three bottles of Carnol Before he had taken half a bottle his whole appearance had changed. He got heavier, his face took on a colour and he would run round for hours at a time.' The change in my boy is the most wonderful event in my life. I am a regular 'fan' for Carnol and never lose a chance to boost it. As I write I am looking out of the window and when I see that rosy, active, healthy child running round, I cannot believe that he was once a puny, delicate boy."

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money. 5-4-23

FRANCE AND THE FIGHTING GAME - - By Ed. Hughes

CLEAN PLAY PREVAILS IN LACROSSE GAMES UNDER O.A.L.A. RULES

A Strenuous Game and Always Will Be But Rough Stuff and Dirty Work Has Been Eliminated.

NO FATALITIES.

One respect in which lacrosse, during the past few years, has improved greatly, is in the matter of clean play. Lacrosse has always been a strenuous game, and will continue to be such as long as it is a game worth playing, but in lacrosse or in any other sport there is no place for deliberate rough play or dirty work. Therefore, it has been a matter of much gratification to all, that this sort of stuff has been steadily growing scarcer each year. The Ontario Amateur Lacrosse Association has been the butt of much criticism at different times for one thing and another, and to be quite frank most of the criticism has been deserved, but in the thorough manner they have gone ahead to stamp out rowdyism and undue roughness from the game, they deserve nothing but the warmest praise from all.

Have Wrong Impression.

It is unfortunate that anyone who is not a lacrosse follower and knows little about the game when lacrosse is spoken of, will four times out of five make some remark about "that rough game" or the butchers' sport" etc. A real game of lacrosse is not any rougher than any other forms of athletic endeavor in which teams compete. As pointed out at the convention this year, there has never in the history of the game been one fatality due to lacrosse reported, while in both football, especially the American variety, and baseball, deaths from accidents occur every year.

Only Minor Injuries.

Furthermore, it is seldom that any lacrosse player sustains a broken limb, the majority of the mishaps being cuts and bruises that can be fixed up with a few stitches. Next to a rugby game it might be admitted that there are more bumps and bruises received in a lacrosse match than in any of the other sports, but the thing that should be emphasized is that most of the casualties; in fact, are of a minor variety, few being of a really serious nature.

For that matter, any sport that is worth playing is attended by some risk to the participants. Rugby stands out as the most strenuous of all. Hockey, where gashes from skates frequently cause severe injuries, is about on a par with lacrosse. Basketball is certainly a hard grind, and with a wooden floor as a playing surface, the casualties are not scarce. In baseball there seems to be less chance of a player receiving a cut or bruise, but in baseball there is more risk of serious accidents, such as broken legs from slides, and mishaps from "beaning" than there is in either lacrosse, hockey or basketball. Soccer, with all those iron-shod boots flying after one ball, is certainly not free from hospital cases, the lower limbs of the players coming in for most of the damage.

Club Rivalry.

One way in which lacrosse was given a bad name in years gone by, came from the deadly feuds that often sprang up between two small towns, each of whom sported a lacrosse team. The team of one town would visit the rival "burg" for the first game, and with feeling running high the going would be rough with the home team naturally having the advantage. The return match, with plenty of grudges to pay back would, ten to one, be more or less of a Donnybrook. It was not so much the players as the crowd that started these rough-houses and spoiled any chance for clean sport being fostered. Nor were these outbreaks confined to small towns, as here in Toronto much the same proceedings have taken place on the Don Flats or Cottingham Square more than once. That exhibitions like these did not help the game with the more far-minded part of the community without saying.

Baseball No Angel.

But is lacrosse the only game that has been marred in the past by senseless feuds and grudges and rowdy crowds? In baseball, where the personal contact between the players and the chances for "rough stuff" are less, the number of ball games, both in this country and the States, they have been broken up by "party" feeling, are without number. Baseball teams and umpires have been mobbed by crowds a great many times, but this certainly does not mean that baseball, as it is now conducted in all real organizations, is anything but a good, clean game.

All in Same Boat.

Hockey in Ontario has had much the same ups and downs of clean and dirty sport, as has lacrosse, but no one throws that up at hockey now. Rugby, while not played in smaller towns to such an extent has received its black eyes, if they may be called that, at different times, in Sarnia, Dundas, Hamilton and other spots, not excepting Toronto, where many a team has had to make a dash for it from the historic Jesse Ketchum Park. But no one seems to think any worse of present-day Rugby. Why then, should the hammer swingers be always knocking lacrosse, for a past condition tha has been part of every sport.

Few and Far Between.

Outbreaks, of poor sportsmanship still occur amongst the players and supporters and mar sport in Ontario, is baseball, lacrosse and the other lines. But those outbreaks are being curbed more and more every year. Strong legislation in all forms of athletic endeavor have done much towards this end, and the O.A.L.A. has done its part well.

Cardinals Lost An Overtime Battle.

CINCINNATI, O., April 18 (Canadian Press). — The Reds opened the National League season here yesterday by winning a well-played eleven-game from the St. Louis eleven inning game from the St. Louis Cardinals, 3 to 2. Donohue was hit freely, but kept them scattered except in the seventh and the eighth rounds. Hornsby, the leading hitter of the National League, did not get one safety in five times up. The Reds fielded without an error. The paid attendance of 30,338 broke the opening day record for Redland Field. Score; e

ONE STRIKE MEANT NOTHING TO LAJOIE

Some Hitters Are at Their Best When Two Strikes Are Called.

Some of the best hitters in the history of the game have done their most damaging work with two strikes on them.

Larry Lajoie was such a hitter. Larry usually looked the first pitch over in a careless fashion. Opposing pitchers, wise to the fact, invariably laid the ball over the plate, feeling they were getting Larry in the hole.

One strike, however, meant nothing to Lajoie. He often used to remark to the umpires, "I don't care where you call the first two, but he sure the third one is over when you call me out."

With two strikes on him, Larry was always at his best. A majority of his hits were made under such conditions. No veteran can ever recall Larry hitting at the first ball.

Other batters make the mistake of taking too many good balls and drawing the line too fine for themselves. If Joe Connolly, Cleveland's recruit outfielder, has a fault, that is his trouble, according to the veterans.

The vets all regard Connolly as a good hitter, feel that he will come through, yet are of the opinion that he is constantly handicapping himself at the bat.

"Connolly takes too many good balls. He gets himself into the hole and gives the pitcher too much of a margin. A good hitter like Connolly should slash away at the good ones. The moment he gets that idea, and makes the most of his possibilities, he is going to increase his worth at the plate 25 per cent," say the veterans.

Football

Word has been received of the death of Jack Mulvihill, a former member of the Comrades Football Club. Death resulted at his home 276 Kenilworth Avenue, Toronto, after a sever attack of the flu. He was a well known soccer player and sprinter. Previous to coming to Canada in 1913 he played in Belfast for the John Mitchell and Shaun Galeic A.C. and for several years was a member of the All-Ireland team. He is survived by a widow and two children, the youngest but six weeks old.

C.P.C. and Peterboro United will meet at King Edward Park Saturday afternoon for the first Junior soccer game of the season. Sam Calladine will be the referee and the kick off will be at 1.30 sharp.

The C.P.C. Juniors will appear in their new uniforms for the opening game. The uniforms were presented to the players by Gordon Mathews.

All juvenile players who intend to take part in the games for the cup presented by Alex Kay are asked to attend a meeting to be held in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms on Monday evening at 7 o'clock. All players taking part in this competition must be under 18 years of age.

Floyd Johnson to Meet Fred. Fulton.

NEW YORK, April 18 (Canadian Press). — Floyd Johnson, Iowa aspirant for heavyweight boxing laurels, will go through with his much-debated match with Fred Fulton, Minnesota plasterer, next Monday night at Jersey City, and risk upon the result his chances of meeting Jess Willard in the main bout of the charity show at the Yankee Stadium on 12th May.

MAJOR TEAMS GET IN ACTION

National League Schedule Opened Yesterday and American League Gets Under Way To-Day.

NEW YORK, April 18 (Canadian Press). — With the National League forces already in the front lines—prepared to "fight it out on that line all summer"—the American League's opening barrage of base hits will be laid down to-day.

The spotlight in the junior circuit will be directed toward the New York Yankees, victors in two successive campaigns, who will dedicate the Yankee Stadium, their great amphitheatre in the Bronx, in the opening skirmish with the Boston Red Sox.

Washington will pry off the lid against the Athletics in Philadelphia, while in the West, Tris Speaker's Cleveland Indians will entertain the Chicago White Sox and the "Sisler less" St. Louis Browns will be hosts to Ty Cobb's Detroit Tigers.

Possibility of a new record for baseball attendance being established at the Yankee Stadium opening was forecast late yesterday by the announcement that the entire reserved seat capacity of 20,000 had been sold.

At noon to-day, 30,000 additional grandstand seats and 20,000 bleacher seats will be put on public sale at the park, with indications pointing to the limit of 70,000 being touched.

The Yankees, with their 1922 lineup intact and an all-star twirling staff buttressed by the addition of Southpaw Herb, Pennock, will take the field to-day favoured by a majority of critics to repeat their triumphs of 1921 and 1922. The club will start the season in better shape than a year ago when Babe Ruth and Bob Meusel were out of the line-up for a month, suspended by Commissioner Landis as a result of an unsanctioned barnstorming tour.

Ruth and his mighty bludgeon, intent upon a comeback to retrieve his prestige, lost last season, will be an important factor in the Yankee attack.

Detroit, more powerful on the offensive than the champions, but lacking as reliable and well-rounded a hurling corps, looms as the contender-in-chief for the Yankees' laurels. Ty Cobb has instilled into his men a will-to-win which will be hard to down.

The addition of two costly third basemen, both from the Pacific Coast, has played a prominent part in improving the pennant chances of both Chicago and Philadelphia.

Willie Kamm, from San Francisco, gives every indication of being worth all of the $100,000 he cost the White Sox, while Sammy Hale, obtained by Connie Mack from Portland for around $45,000, promises to give the Athletics the best infield since the days of the famous "$100,000 quartette."

St. Louis, minus George Sisler, its mainspring on both attack and defence, does not figure to land near the top; Cleveland has strengthened several positions with promising young talent, and may be the surprise of the race, but Boston and Washington, in the hands of new pilots, Frank Chance and Donie Bush, appear irretrievably moored to the second division.

FRENCH JOCKEY DIES.

PARIS, April 18 (Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's). — The well-known French jockey Parfrement died to-day in hospital as a result of his fall at the Enghein races.

Parfrement won the Liverpool Grand National on Lutteur III. in 1909. He rode Librette in last month's Grand National.

CLOSE RACE IN INTERNATIONAL

Baltimore Team Weaker Than Last Season — Toronto Expected to Be a Strong Contender.

NEW YORK, April 18.—(Canadian Press.)—With prospects of an unusually keen pennant race, due to a better balancing of clubs that has existed in several years, the International League will start blazing the 1923 trail to-day.

Opening festivities will be staged in the southern wing of the circuit, Syracuse playing at Baltimore, Buffalo at Reading, Toronto at Jersey City and Rochester at Newark.

"The outlook for 1923 seems unusually bright," declared John Conway Toole, President of the League, who will assist in the opening ceremonies at Reading. "The baseball fans in the cities of the circuit have been showing even during the winter, keen interest in the game. Commissioner Landis, who attended a baseball meeting with me in one of our cities in January, expressed surprise at the live feeling for the sport. Our clubs have been strengthened and the race should be a well-balanced one. Every club has at its head an experienced baseball guide and many of them have been in the habit of winning pennants. They will keep things moving."

Despite the loss of Jack Bentley, star pitcher and hitter, who was sold to the Giants, and the fact that several veterans have slowed up a bit, Jack Dunn's Baltimore Orioles, four times champions, are picked by a majority to add another triumph to their string.

The title-holders, however, it is predicted, will face stiffer opposition, particularly from Rochester, Buffalo, Toronto and Reading. Rochester, which finished second last year, has a gap to fill at shortstop but has a wonderful array of hitters. Reading, with Spencer Abbott piloting the club in place of Chief Bender, has been strengthened, while Toronto and Buffalo both promise to be contenders from the start.

Jersey City, Newark and Syracuse so far have shown little indication of championship strength, but several changes in their line-ups may make them dangerous.

Kinks o' the Links

by PRO

When playing out of a sand trap, the club head touches the sand on the upward swing. The player goes through with the swing and successfully gets out of the trap. In addressing the ball the sand was not touched with the club.

Is a player penalized a stroke when the club head touches the sand before coming into contacs with the ball regardless of the circumstances, or is there a line of discrimination?

The player is penalized a stroke for touching the sand with the club head. The fact that it came on the upward swing makes no difference. The rule is very definite and no exceptions are noted. While the player was in no way aided by the act, no consideration can be given that fact. He must suffer the penalty of one stroke.

Player's drive from the tee results in a slice that strikes a spectator standing well off the fairway. After striking one of the gallery the ball is deflected into a very bad lie. Has the player any recourse?

Such a happening is merely regared as a break of the game. The ball must be played from the resulting lie.

FOHL HAS MANY SUBS FOR THIRD

Ellerbe Will Start at the Hot Corner For St. Louis Americans But May Not Last.

Many a ball game was lost around third base by the St. Louis Browns last summer.

Once more third base seems to be the problem on the St. Louis Americans which is still unsolved.

No doubt Frank Ellerbe will start the season at the difficult corner. Will he be able to go the route.

An injured knee, a reminder of his football days, put Ellerbe out of the running last year when he was playing fine ball for the Browns. A long rest has seemingly restored the old-time strength to the injured member. If Ellerbe's knee holds out he will play the bag and the position will be well cared for.

What if the old injury should return and render Ellerbe unfit for regular play? Granting that such is the case, Manager Fohl has perfect confidence in his young recruits for that position.

The leader of the Browns is particularly strong for Syl Simon, who pastimed last year with the Bay City club of the Michigan-Ontario League.

Simon impresses you as a rookie with much ability and promise. He fields well, has a good arm, and his style at the plate makes it seem as if he has a mighty fine chance to hit big league pitching.

In addition there is Homer Ezell, with Shreveport last year, who hit well over .300 in that organization. Last, but not least, is the veteran Eddie Foster, who has many a good game stowed away in his system.

"I am not worrying in the least about third base," says Fohl. "When I am satisfied none of the men I am depending on will fill the bill it will then be time to start worrying."

So with that let us dismiss the third base problem.

Still Have Hockey in North Bay Rink.

NORTH BAY, April 18 (Canadian Press). — For the first time in years championship hockey games are being played in the middle of April. Juveniles of North Bay have resurrected their equipment after the few days of spring, and on Thursday night will decide who are winners of the N.O.H.A. medals.

Paddock Will Not Compete in Paris.

NEW YORK, April 18 (Canadian Press). — The Board of Governors of the National Amateur Athletic Union last night refused to grant an appeal by Charles W. Paddock, University of Southern California sprint star and world's record holder, for sanction to take part in an international college track meet at Paris in May.

The Board's decision was based on its feeling that an exception in Paddock's case could not be made to the recent A.A.U. ruling barring all United States athletes except the Yale-Harvard track team from participating in international meets broad this year. This ruling was effected to secure concentration upon preparation for the Olympic Games at Paris next year.

Large Crowd Saw Chicago Go Under.

CHICAGO, April 18 (Canadian Press). — Between thirty-three and thirty-four thousand persons, the largest crowd on record to witness an opening game in Chicago, packed the reconstructed Chicago National's ball park yesterday, and saw Pittsburgh win the first game of the season from Chicago, 3 to 2.

The usual opening day ceremonies took place, Mayor Dever of Chicago pitching the first ball, and President Heydler, of the National League, being guest of honour. The scores:
Pittsburgh ..... 000300000—3 3 2
Chicago ..... 010000100—2 8 1
Morrison and Semidt; Osborne, Kaufmann and O'Farrell.

Giants Open Season By Beating Boston.

BOSTON, April 18 (Canadian Press). — McQuillan pitched the world champion Giants to a 4 to 1 victory over the Braves in the opening game yesterday. He was hit safely only four times, and did not let ragged support bother him.

Groh's triple and home run, both off McNamara, accounted for three New York runs. Despite the cold, there were 16,000 present to encourage President Christy Mathewson of the Boston Club in his new venture.

Commissioner Landis, Governor Cox, and Mayor Curley acted as catcher, pitcher, and batter, respectively in the ceremony of throwing the first ball. O'Connell, Bagwell, and Conlon played in their first big league ball game. Score:
New York ..... 110000200—4 8 4
Boston ..... 001000000—1 4 3
McQuillan and Snyder; McNamara, Marquard and O'Neill.

CONSIDERS CHANGES IN PRAYER BOOK

House of Bishops Favors Revision — Would Do Away With All Present Irregularities.

LONDON, April 18.—(Canadian Press Cable)—The house of Bishops yesterday considered the question of generally approving the revision of the prayer book. The Archbishod of York said that alter the revision is completed every unauthorized form must be made to cease. Tradition, order and authority within the church must be restored and this might involve recourse to the ecclesiastical courts. The present position under which the court have largely ceased to function is intolerable, said the Archbishop.

In the opinion of the Bishop of Ely the present situation is dangerously irregular, the provisions of the prayer book being widely disobeyed and replaced by other forms.

The Bishop of Norwich opposed the revision and especally criticised the proposed alternative service for Holy Communion.

The Bishop of Manchester announced that when the revision come up to the national assembly he would move for the introduction of an authorized prayer dealing with international peace.

LAWN BOWLING ACTIVITIES--GOOD SEASON AHEAD

Club Will Be More Active Than for Some Years Back—Many New Men Joining.

The lawn bowlers, having held their annual meeting, and the various committees appointed, are looking forward to a successful year, and indications are favorable. Already a large number of the old bowlers have signified their intention of taking an active part, and the prospects are for a large number of new bowlers.

It is the ambition of the club to be in a position to restrict its membership to 75, of which about 50 are in sight, and applications for membership are now being received by the secretary, W. Reg. Fox, care of R. G. Dun & Co., Royal Bank Building. 'Phone 887. The demand for membership this year has already greatly exceeded any other year, and it has been decided to close the entry list on May 1st. This will enable the Executive Committee to draw up the season's schedule and other events well in advance of opening day, which, weather conditions being favorable, will be about the 24th of May.

All the old members are asked to get their renewals in early, and new members can get in touch with the secretary by 'phone, or mail their application for membership, along with the annual subscription. The club fee this year has been reduced to $5 for new bowlers, which should encourage the sport, and owing to the fact that there will be only between 20 and 30 new members taken in, it is a question of first come, first served.

Burglar alarms which not only give loud warning of the intruder, but also take a snapshot photograph of him, are being tested in Paris.

CENTRAL LEAGUE CLUBS IN LINE

All Nine Outfits Have Forwarded Their Guarantee Bonds.

LINDSAY, April 18. — President Dedman received word from Secretary Nott that all clubs in the Central Ontario League had forwarded the necessary $50 guarantee bonds, as well as paid their entrance fees of $15.

This finally settles all rumors concerning teams threatening to withdraw and the League is complete. The various clubs have also listed their secretaries, umpires, etc., with their addresses and 'phone numbers.

Every club in the League has to furnish bonds guaranteeing that they will carry through the season.

BASEBALL PRICES REMAIN THE SAME

Although baseball prices in several of the Central Ontario League towns were higher than in Peterborough last season, there will be no increase in the local admission charge, the executive of the Peterborough Central Ontario League Club decided at a meeting last night, with Ald. N. E. Phalen, the president, in the chair.

The general admission will remain at 35c, with the main grand stand 25c and the side stand at 15c, the only change being that the southern part of the side stand will be altered and the whole of the structure used as a grand stand, with a fee of 15c for any part of the stand.

Considerable business in connection with the opening of the season was transacted.

Among other items, an invitation was received from the committee of the Old Boys' Reunion at Campbellford for the Peterborough team to meet Belleville on August 6 as a feature of the celebration. It was decided to accept this invitation.

New uniforms ordered for the Petes will be here in a few days, and it was decided, in order to lend a helping hand to the junior organization, to make a gift of last year's Peterborough uniforms to the Adanacs.

JOCKEY CLUB HAD A SECRET BANK ACCOUNT

Trial of Frank H. Dunn For Theft Reveals Fact That Connaught Park Club Received About $19,000.

UNACCOUNTED FOR.

MONTREAL, April 18. Canadian Press. — A casual reference that the Connaught Park Jockey Club was given a sum of $6000, was the first intimation received by Henri Girard, auditor of accounts for the Provincial Treasury Department, regarding the $19,000 held in special bank account at Ottawa unknown to the shareholders of the club. This was a feature of the continued hearing here yesterday in the trial of Frank H. Dunn charged with stealing $38,000 and falsifying accounts of the Connaught Park Jockey Club.

Mr. Girard recalled in cross-examination by N. K. Laflamme, K.C., M. P., counsel for the defence, a conversation he had had with T. P. Gorman, secretary of the club, in September, 1922, a few days after Dunn had been arrested. In a very searching investigation into figures and records, Mr. Girard had not taken into consideration the $19,000 given to the club as a special rebate.

"When did you first hear of it?" inquired Mr. Laflamme.

"On September 6 or 7 when I met Gorman at Blue Bonnets track."

"Did he mention the $19,000?"

"Oh, no. He spoke of $6000. We spoke of Dunn't arrest and as the conversation was terminated Gorman turned to me and said: 'Oh, by the way, We have received $6000 from Dunn.'"

"What did you say to that?"

"I never said a thing. I stood and listened and thought that it was a very interesting phase."

On September 20, Girard again saw Gorman at Ottawa, and was then informed by the Connaught Park secretary that the club had received $12,000. He was never told that the amount was $19,000 or thereabouts, and only found this out when he sent an inspector named Belanger to investigate "this particular phase."

"What was the final amount ascertained?"

"Something like $19,000."

Girard's evidence bore out the statements made by Hon. Jacob Nicol, Provincial Treasurer, J. A. Begin, Provincial Comptroller of Revenues, and J. B. Watson, Auditor of the Connaught Park Jockey Club, that they were in total ignorance of the special allowance of $19,000 to the club.

Mr. Justice Wilson declared that the case had narrowed down to one vital point—where is the money? Some latitude, it was understood, was allowed the government agent, but using this latitude, in which direction did the money go?

Evidence in the case, which has now lasted over a week, was completed yesterday afternoon, and counsel for the Crown, R. L. Calder, K. C., will address the jury this morning. Mr. Laflamme announced there would be no witnesses for the defence.

LOVE AND MOON HAVE SO MUCH IN COMMON

Says Bebe Daniels, Discussing Picture, "The Glimpses of the Moon."

What are "the glimpses of the moon" moments in life? In Edith Wharton's novel, "The Glimpses of the Moon," picturized for Paramount by Allan Dwan, and which comes to the Capitol Theatre for three days, beginning Thursday, they are the moments when love first blossoms to find fulfillment, moments that bind lives together safe against temptation.

But there are other "glimpses of the moon" moments, according to Bebe Daniels, who plays the role of Susan Branch, the heroine of the picture.

"Every time you do a charitable act; every time you accomplish something worth while; every time your thoughts are tempered with magnanimity toward your fellows, you experience what I believe to be 'glimpses of the moon' moments," explained Miss Daniels. "They are the moments when you feel the ecstacy of a full life and reach mental, spiritual and physical heights that lift you above the materialism of every day living.

"There is something about the moon when it shines in all its glory that brings a peaceful calm to those who look on from the earth below. It is this same calm that comes to lovers in perfect accord and of which Mrs. Wharton wrote that explains the meaning of the title of her novel, "The Glimpses of the Moon.' We all seek such moments in our lives, and some find more of them than others."

CARETAKER FOR RIVERSIDE PARK

Announcement Has Been Left in the Hands of Grounds Committee.

At a meeting of the Peterborough Baseball Association, with President Walter Oke in the chair, the question of appointing a caretaker for the season was left in the hands of the Ground Committee, which is composed of T. H. Hooper, Jake Solomon and F. E. Convery.

This committee, which will have charge of Riverside Park for the season, was instructed to have some alterations made in the river stand and to arrange such other repairs as are considered necessary before the grounds are opened for the summer's activities.

It was also decided to advertise for tenders for the booth privilege at the park.

OVERALLS MAY BE PURCHASED FOR FIREMEN

Would Add Year to Life of Uniforms Ald. Stocker Says—New Hose, Suits and Shirts Bought.

84 SHIRTS WANTED

Purchases of hose and personal equipment for the members of the Fire Department amounting to more than $2,000 were recommended by the Fire, Water and Light committee last night after a three hour struggle with samples and agents and prices.

Representatives of four companies manufacturing fire hose submitted their tenders and expatiated at more or less length upon the merits of their respective products. On Ald. Holloway's motion, seconded by Mayor Taylor, it was finally decided to buy 500 feet of the Paragon brand made by the Gutta Percha and Rubber Company at $1.60 a foot. The Dunlop Tire Company's double jacket hose at the same price was advocated by Aldermen Stocker and Maher, but the majority of the committee, including the chairman, Ald. Crowe, declared their preference for Paragon. Prices were also submitted by the Dominion Rubber Company and the Goodyear Tire Company.

New Uniforms.

A joint tender of $965 from Chas. Schooley and C. J. Snider, local tailors, for twenty-one new uniforms, was accepted on Ald. Holloway's motion, seconded by Ald. McIntyre. This order comprises nineteen suits with extra trousers at $45, for the men ,and a suit for the chief and deputy-chief at $55, also including extra trousers.

Other prices were quoted as follows: T. L. Anderson $1,065, Grafton & Co. $1,006.50, D. H. Hickey $1,045.45, the Peterborough Tailoring Company $1,023.75 and H. Lebrun & Co. $971.30 The choice fell between the Lebrun Company and Schooley and Snider. It was found that the weight of the material shown in the Lebrun samples was more nearly the weight of called for in the specifications, but the Schooley and Snider samples more closely approximated the goods desired by Chief Gimblett. His plan was to obtain trousers of about the usual kind of cloth ,but with lighter cloth in the coats so that they could be worn without vests in the summer with a greater degree of comfort than heretofore. These uniforms, which constitute the regular issue and not special summer suits, must be completed by May 15th.

New Shirts and Caps.

In the re-outfitting of the firemen new shirts were also ordered, four for each member of the staff, with blue ones for sixteen men, and white stripe ones for five officers, a total of 84 shirts.

Gratfon & Company's tender of $2 for the sixty-four blues carried with the committee on Ald. Maher's judgment as to quality, and Lebrun & Company's price of $33 a dozen for the twenty officer's shirts was adopted on the same basis.

Three bids were received for new caps, and the order will be placed with the Hamilton Hat Company for $50.75.

And Overalls Perhaps.

Ald. Stocker urged that each fireman be provided with combination overalls to be used when engaged at routine work that might soil the uniforms. He believed that an extra year's wear might be got out of the suits if ordinary and proper care was taken with them. Ald. Stocker said he had seen the men working in gravel and dust while wearing their reguar uniforms, and as a matter of economy he considered that overalls should be supplied.

Chief Gimblett told the committee that the men wore old suits while working about the fire hall in the morning, but their drills were held while the men were in their regular uniforms. Ald. McIntyre asked whether there were not sufficient old clothes available to save the new issues, and suggested that they might be worn during the hours of routine work without impairing the smart appearance of the staff. Chief Gimblett promised to consider what might be done along those lines, and in the meantime the purchase of overalls was deferred.

Other requisitions approved by the committee were twenty-one badges, six duty helmets and coats and electrical supplies for the alarm system. The purchase of a gong to be installed at the pump house, a life net and stream guage were left over for further information as to prices.

Pressure Again Forces the Mark in Germany Down

BERLEN, April 19 (United Press). — The question of whether the Reichsbank will pour its gold on to the market to halt the decline of the mark was still undecided to-day as the market opened.

Pressure forced the mark down to 35,000 to the dollar during yesterday's trading.

The Reichsbank wavered between using its gold in an effort to peg the falling price, and permitting the speculators to manipulate it at will.

TO SAVE SITUATION.

LONDON, April 19.— (Special.)—A later despatch says the German Reichbank will continue to lend its support to save the falling mark, a Central News despatch from Berliin stated today. This decision was reached at a meeting of government officials this morning, when it was also decided that steps should be taken to limit imports. All persons and corporations possessing [illegible] will hereafter be compelled to register them with the government, it was said.

FRENCH PEOPLE BACK INVASION

But No One Has Any Idea of Amount of Reparations Germans Should Pay.

By William Philip Simms

PARIS, April 19.—I was sitting on the terrrace of a boulevard cafe watching the Sunday crowd throng by.

"Tell me," I said to the friendly waiter at my elbow "what do all these people think about the Ruhr —the trouble with Germany— and all?"

,'Ils pensent," he said quickly, "quils ont tout casse: Qu'ils paient!" (They think the Germans destroyed everything: Let them pay!)

Before I left America I had been told the French were opposed to the occupation of the Ruhr; that they were opposed to Premier Poincaire's plan to collect from Germany; that only French "militarists" were for the occupation and were pushing Poincare on to his own and to France's destruction; that the annexation of the Rhineland was the underylying desire of the French government.

Now what is the real truth?

To get at it I did not ask members of the French cabinet, nor army oficers, nor bankers, nor industrials who might have their eyes on the Ruhr and be thinking of what the coal and coke of that district might mean to French steel.

I went to some old friends(— regular, honest-to-John French folks who work like everybody else for their living.

I went to a shoemaker, a traveling salesman, a garden seed merchant, an elderly lady who keeps books in a little factory, the waiter in my favorite little restaurant, a dire farmer, a spin painter, a dentist and a civil engineer.

And if I tried a week I could not sum up what they all said briefer or better than did the waiter in the boulevard cafe.

All Want Payment

And to me the most interesting revelation of all was the total absence of fire-eating. Not a one but insisted the Germans should be made to pay—and would be made to pay—but only "all they were able to."

Nobody had any fixed idea as to the amount Germany could pay. All agreed she could never pay the cost of the war, nor any considerable part of it. But they were confident that she would now have to pay what she can, be that little or much.

So they are for the Ruhr venture —don't ever doubt it—and insist that the troops camp there until Berlin sues for terms.

5000 CHICAGO WORKERS OBEY LABOUR QUEEN

Monarch of All She Surveys, Mrs. Florence V. Murphy Rules With Iron Hand.

WIFE OF "BIG TIM"

By Roy Gibbons.

CHICAGO, April 19.—A queen in her own right is Mrs. Florence V. Murphy here.

Monarch of all she surveys, 'tis with matchless smile and an iron hand she rules her 5,000 subjects.

Down to the very last, each member obeys her commands in snappy double-time precision.

"Queen Murph," as she is jokingly called, came into the "throne" by right of lawful succession a month ago.

This was when her husband, the famous "Big Tim" Murphy, was sentenced to four years at Leavenworth after having been found guilty of participation in the $500,000 Dearborn Street Station mail robbery.

Murphy Labor King.

Murphy was known as Chicago's labor czar. He held allegiance by the might of his fists and a well-stocked "back o' the yards" vocabulary of invective.

When the federal chaperons appeared and announced the jig was up, "Big Tim" kissed Mrs. Murphy goodby and laughingly charged her to "carry on, Flo."

And that's what she's been doing since, meeting with a success that proclaims itself.

All her subjects swear by her, and there's not a man among the lot who wouldn't risk his neck and the necks of all his friends too, should "Queen Murphy" demand such a sacrifice.

Her Broad Powers.

By a mere tilt of her eyebrows she could make Chicago trudge with unshined boots.

And hers is the power also to interfere with the city's gastronomic affairs for the gas workers are the chaps who make the fuel which causes the range to burn the steak, and without them no steaks could be cooked.

Likewise she could tell the street sweepers to take up their golf sticks and run away to the country over the week-end which would leave the many avenues up to their curbstones in dirt.

But "Queen Murph" isn't doing any of these things.

"She's long on mediation and short on fireworks," say those who know her best.

"I'm here to stay and will do my best till Tim gets out," she announces.

"The boys have faith in me. And I'm not one to let any faith be misplaced.

"Shooting from the shoulder is my motto and that's all there is to it."

"Go to it, Mrs. Murphy. We're for you," shouts her kingdom. "You get us good pay, you bring us cheer, maybe some day you'll get us beer. Hurray for Mrs. Murphy."

THIRTY-SIX POLICEMEN AT SHOW SAYS ONE MAN

That Peterborough has too much police protection is firmly believed by at least one man this morning. This man counted no fewer than 36 policemen in uniform along the route of the motor parade yesterday evening. The explanation is that when the parade had passed one point the policemen moved from there to a point in advance of the parade, thus keeping all points covered. As a matter of fact, there were only some twelve uniformed men doing this duty.

GIRL PREACHER IN A CRUSADE AGAINST SATAN

Fourteen-Year-Old Evangelist Plans to Spend Her Vacation Fighting Modern Social Evils.

CHILD WONDER

PITTSBURG, April 19.—As the end of the school year draws near, Mary Agnes Vitchestain, 14-year-old evangelist who took New York, Boston and the whole east by storm in a series of "revivals" last summer, is planning to devote her vacation to a fresh crusade against the devil and his earthly agents.

"Evolution, revolution and devlution are bringing the world to ruin," says Mary Agnes, looking up from her school books in her home here, "and I shall do what I can to combat them."

So the "child preacher" will start this summer's campaign as the principal speaker at the ten-day session of the Silver Grove camp meeting, to be opened opposite Louisville July 8.

Going to California.

The rest of her summer schedule is not yet completely worked out, but Mary Agnes says her travels will take her through California. She will devote all her attention to the west, it is understood.

Mary Agnes has been speaking in public on religious subjects since she was nine years old. Last summer she spoke in New York and created more interest in the metropolis than any Broadway show running.

Going on to Boston she spoke at Tremont Temple where hundreds were turned away after the hall had been packed. On Palm Sunday of this year 3000 heard her exhortations at Poli's Theater, largest playhouse in Washington.

But, despite all this, Mary Agnes is a normal healthy girl. She never allows her speaking engagements to interfere with school—she in the first year at "high." She likes athletic sports, too.

Mary Agnes' dad, J. H. Vitchestain, editor of a labor publication, can't account for his daughter's unusual talent for pulpit oratory.

"There are no clergymen in the family," he says. "And Mary never had any homiletic training.

"But she's shown an evangelistic bent since she was four, when she came down to the newspaper office where I was working and posted up a sign in her own handwriting telling the boys they couldn't smoke in the office any more."

What She Teaches.

"The world, as far as morals are concerned, is going rapidly to hell.

"The Creator has given us good features and we should not resort to paint, powder or comestics.

"The modern dance has sent more girls on the wrong path than any other one thing. I would close every single public dance hall!

"I would have laws passed forbidding the wearing of suggestive dress by women."

BROTHER DEAD RESULT FIGHT

Blenheim Township Farmers in Fatal Fight Over Possession of Plane

WOODSTOCK, April 19.—(Canadian Press.)—David Mackie, Jr., a Blenheim township farmer, died in hospital here this morning from injuries received in a quarrel with his brother Milra on his farm two miles from Drumbo yesterday morning. It is said that the brothers, who lived on adjacent frams, had not been on the best of terms for some time. Wednesday morning Milra went to his brother's farm for a carpenter's plane and when he was taking it away, it is stated, David demanded its return, which was refused and a quarrel resulted .Versions of the affair differ, but Mrs. David Mackie, Jr., stated that her husband told her before he died that the wounds in his head were caused by a plane in the hands of Milra Mackie. The latter declares that he hit his brother with his fist and that the fatal injury was caused by David striking his head on a stone.

LIVELY BOXING AT MOTOR SHOW

Fast Work in the Ring Pleases Boxing Enthusiasts.

Ted Smith and Sims, a pair of "bantams," contributed one of the feature bouts at the boxing shows put on at the Motor Show last night. The youngsters will be seen in action again on Friday night. Combe and Millard caught the fancy of the crowd as they went through three lively rounds, as did also Tony and Leonard Minicola in their bout.

To-night's cards will be: Lucas vs. Thompson, Scott vs. Scully, Corbett vs. Tierney, Kennedy vs. Daniels.

The first show will start at 8.30 o'clock, and the second programme one hour later.

Forty unemployed ex-officers recently volunteered for work as bus conductors and drivers in London.

MOTOR SHOW NOTES

Records broken already. Best opening parade. Best first day crowds, best receipts from drawing and best motor display of any show yet held and no snow yet to-day.

This is the finest day so far this spring and there will be another record broken to-night. Who got that ton of coal last night.

There are so many drawing prizes a person would wonder how it is possible to draw a blank.

The citizens certainly turned out with their cars last night, and it was greatly appreciated by the committee.

And there was lots of music. All the bands turned out excepting one, but those on hand worked like beavers to make the parade the success it was.

There will be lots of music down town to-night, two bands to show the people the way to the show.

If you cannot find the dress parade, the boxing bouts or the show, ask one of the Girl Guides and they will direct you.

For the balance of the week just keep in mind all the good the Health Association will do with the proceeds.

The fine appearance of the Sanitary Ice Co. trucks in the parade was commented on by many.

See the list of drawings in the paper for to-night and to-morrow. Some fine prizes for the masquerade to-morrow night. Everybody will be masked after nine o'clock tomorrow night for the greatest closing of any show held here.

The orchestra, under Prof. Gliddon, rendered an exceptionally high class concert last evening. The orchestra is on every night.

The exhibit of cars is grand, and you can go and sit in any of the finest of them and imagine the sensation of bowling along the highway at 40 or thereabouts and nobody will say a word.

GOOD CROWD AT OPENING NIGHT OF MOTOR SHOW

Visitors Were Delighted With Character of Exhibits and Charmed by Entertaining Features.

PARADE WAS LARGE

The Motor Show got off to a good start last night with a good attendance and a parade which surpassed last year's by over a hundred and fifty per cent. Some sixty odd cars took part in the line that led off with the Fire Chief's small red car and the big red motor truck. Various private cars and delivery waggons followed, including six of the spotless white outfits of the Sanitary Ice Company, and numerous large trucks filled with loads of shrieking small boys. Three bands played lustily; the Salvation Army the Rangers, and the Melody Concert. The speaker and official opening of the show at the Armouries was dispensed with this year, but nearly two hundred of these same eager youngsters formed a mass meeting in front of the building later to pester F. L. Roy with requests for admission. They had been informed by Sgt. Deannard that "Mr. Roy will let you all in after awhile "

Welcome For All

The huge, electrically-outlined "Motor Show" sign above the entrance winked a welcome to the crowds of people who thronged in the big store building last night, while the hundreds of floating overhead pennants and gracefully-draped flags struck a note of high, warm color over the gay scene. The booths, arranged in centre formation as usual, were very attractive with bright lights and vari-colored decorations. Music from the overhead stand where the Conservatory of Music orchestra played all evening mingled with the blare of the megaphone announcing special attractions and the murmur of the constantly-moving crowd. There was no lack of interest last night in the human elements in a shifting panorama of life, color and movement. The incomers seemed to be eager to inspect everything in sight, to enjoy the various amusements and to patfonize the refreshment booths. There were good-sized audiences for the boxing bouts, the fashion show and the dance hall, the latter in charge of the Peter Robinson Chapter I.O.D.E. with music supplied by Paul Gliddon's orchestra.

The Otonabee Chapter has a tea-room at the right of the entrance, and the 57th Regimental Chapter supervises the sale of flowers, in a charming entrance booth, whose rounded green arches are festooned with glowing autumnal flowers in orange hues. Girls with roses from this booth circulated all evening through the crowd.

Various Attractions

The King's Daughters are selling fancy work of the daintiest sort. Their exquisite stock of wares includes lovely soft embroidered things and babies' apparel. Their booth is bright with slashed paper in orange and blue, a large, flaxen-haired doll baby topping a central arrangement of triple pointed striped poles. Here, too, is the popular sand-pile, providing fun for kiddies and seniors alike.

At the white-latticed booth of the Catholic Women's League, bright with yellow streamers, yellow balloons and Jap lanterns, hot soup and crackers, hot coffee and doughnuts, peanuts soft drinks and home-made cooking are sold. The Business Girls' Club is in charge of a colorful section, its gorgeous artificial flowers catching the eye, where candy is dispensed, and the Thursday Club, whose ideas in decoration include ferns and quantities of fuzzy pussy-willows, sell ice-cream.

Splendid Prizes.

The prize booth contains plenty of useful things, such as wrapped hams, auto tires and oils, canoe paddles ,silk umbrellas and bags of flour.

Messrs. Miller, Powell and Watson have "everything electric," with rotating washing-machines to attract the busy housewife; the Duffus Motor Sales section, draped in purple and yellow, shows Ford accessories of all sorts; the Canadian Fairbanks-Morse people have a novelty in the "home water plant"; J. J. Turner & Sons are showing a convenient stove for camp purposes, and warm, heavy motor rugs; the K. & S. Rubber goods people of Toronto display tires and hot-water bottles in an attractive section arranged with comfortable chairs and tall, lighted piano lamps; the Fuller Brush people have an interesting exhibit, and the Ontario Motor League dispenses road maps and information from an orange and black section, surmounted by the huge, illumniated wheel emblem of the association.

City Offers Thanks To Mr. J. J. Houden

J. J. Howden has voluntarily surrendered his telephone number 100 to the city to be transferred to the firehall solely for fire alarms. Chief Gimblett informed the Fire, Water and Light committee that Mr. Howden had offered his telephone number to the department, a change which the Chief himself suggested some months ago for the reason, he said, that 100 is a unicversal number for fire stations.

Ald. Stocker proposed a resolution of thanks to Mr. Howden in recognition of his public spirit in thus co-operating with the community.

ROYAL CACHE JEWELS FOUND

Also State Documents Hidden by King Nicholas Before He Fled From Montenegro.

BELGRADE, April 19.—(United Press.)—Royal jewels and valuable documents of the State — buried when the late King Nicholas of Montenegro fled for his life—were dug from the ground at Cettinje today.

The Royal cache, six feet under ground, contained four cases of priceless gems and several boxes of documents of State. They were unearthed in the garden of a private house.

The documents are expected to disclose important international facts concerning the relations of Nicholas with the other nations of the world during the great war. They will be surveyed by the State officials before being made public. The discoverers believe that Royal effects were hidden in 1916, just before the King departed from his country.

A HOSPITAL AIRSHIP IS AMERICA'S LATEST

DAYTON, Ohio, April 19.—(United Press)—Surgery above the clouds is the latest step in the advance of aviation

A hospital airplane is under construction at McCook Aviation Field. A special design distinguishes it from the ambulance plane now in use by the army air service.

The new ship will embody a hospital compartment to permit surgeons to perform the most delicate operations while traveling through space at 100 miles an hour.

Patients will rest on comfortable cots. In the present ambulance plane—a modified D.H. 4 passenger plane—patients are forced to lie in cramped quarters, and according to McCook officials, the surgeon in charge does not have enough room to move about his patients and administer to their needs.

The hospital planes will be built throughout especially to serve its one purpose—to make the sick or wounded as comfortable as possible during their treatment.

The capacity of the hospital plane will be pilot, surgeon and two patients, if clinical work is to be done. If certain labratory equipment is left below, the plane will carry a pilot, and four others.

Completion of the hospital ship will fill a need which has long existed in the air service.

Especially constructed compartments will carry surgical instruments and medicines.

SUGAR PRICES INFLATED BY "SPECULATION"

Pocket Books of Brokers Enriched in February to the Extent of $900,000.

INJUNCTION BY GOVT.

WASHIGTON, April 19 (Canadian Press. — Injunction proceedings to completely shut off trading in sugar futures were instituted in New York to-day by the Federal Government.

The Government's Bill, prepared under the personal direction of Attorney-General Daugherty, after consultation with President Harding, asks the Court permanently to prevent the New York coffee and sugar exchange from entering into or permitting any transactions in sugar, "unless persons purporting to make such sale has in his possession or under his control a supply of sugar adequate to meet the requirements of such transaction."

Action is requested, the Government says, as the result of "an orgy of speculation," which has driven up the price of sugar to the consumer, and which during February enriched the pocketbooks of brokers by $900,000.

"Conspiracy in restraint of commerce" is charged, and officials of the exchange and of the New York Coffee and Sugar Clearing House Association, against which injunction would be directed jointly with the exchange, are asked to appear in Court and answer the Government's allegations.

Raw sugar futures took a perpendicular drop of approximately 50 points on the New York coffee and sugar exchange to-day upon receipt of the word of the Government's suit to enjoin trading in sugar futures.

LONGHEADED MEN COURTEOUS TO ALL

"Courtesy Disentangles Trouble" Says Railway Man — "It Pays" Declares Post Office.

The Canadian National Railways recognise the cash value of courtesy, and make a point of impressing employees of the road with the need for its exercise.

"Courtesy disentangles trouble," declares H. R. Charlton, manager of the Canadian National Advertising Bureau. The executives of the road recognise that curtness is excess baggage on any trip, while courtesy lightens the load and brightens the path.

In printing, when the compositor gets "out of sorts," it means that he has not enough type to spell the words needed. Any person lacking courtesy is "out of sorts."

Salesmen often tell how they make a practice of being courteous to the office boys in the purchasing agents' offices, because the boys will some day be the buyers, and the long-headed salesman looks forward to the day when he will solicit business from those office boys. Salesmen, railroad men, and all who have tried it out say "Courtesy pays."

FLOODS MAY DO GREAT DAMAGE WESTERN PROV.

The Rivers Have Risen Rapidly From Four to Six Feet in Several Places—Sudden Rise in Temperature.

TRAINS DELAYED.

WINNIPEG, April 19 (Canadian Press). — With mountainous snowbanks disappearing rapidly and melting waters piling on top of the ice, which is not yet broken in creeks and rivers, flood conditions prevailed in some parts of Manitoba yesterday.

Gangs of men are busy clearing Government ditches and drains, but the water is coming faster than it can be handled, and the land in many districts resembles small lakes.

The railways are also experiencing trouble from washouts. The Canadian National Norris-Somerset local has been held up by a washout since early yesterday morning.

Five culverts have been washed out in one mile in the Norris district and sections of grades have been swept away in several places.

Flood conditions prevail in low-lying land near Emerson and two bents of a trestle bridge were washed out. The Canadian National Railway had to detour the Great Northern and Northern Pacific trains into Winnipeg.

A sudden rise in temperature resulted in a washout, 50 feet long and 4 feet deep, on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway near Broadview, Sask., and trains arriving here from the West yesterday were several hours late.

Crews are engaged in building a temporary bridge over the break, and to-night's trains are expected to arrive on time.

BRANDON, Man., April 19 (Canadian Press). — The Assiniboine River here has risen three feet during the past twenty-four hours, which makes a total of 7 feet 4 inches since 27th March.

There is about 6 feet of water on top of the ice.

It is expected that if the present weather holds, the ice will break on Friday or Saturday, which will lessen the danger of a flood. If there is a further rise of two feet, the river will overflow its banks.

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man., April 19 (Canadian Press).—Reports received from the farm of Rennie Brothers, just across the steel bridge over the Assiniboine River, late yesterday, was to the effect that the water in the river has risen four feet over the ice level, and that all the low land in the vicinity was flooded, with an indication of a repetition of last year's flood.

Wilson May Clear Up Wall Street Bombing

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 19 (Canadian Press). — The statement of Herbert Wilson, former evangelist, alleged mail robber and convicted murderer, that he provided the explosive for the bomb exploded in Wall Street, New York City, on 16th September 1920, is logical, and may be true, William J. Burns, Chief of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice, declared yesterday after a conference here with Wilson.

STATE OF CHAOS IN TORONTO HOUSE

Legislative Business Congesting Rather Than Being Cleared Up—Numerous Complaints From Members.

TORONTO, April 19 (Canadian Press). — Before the debate on the Redistribution Bill was resumed in the Legislature yesterday afternoon, numerous complaints and requests came from members on the Opposition side.

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Conservative leader said that business was congesting rather than being cleared up. He demanded to know what measures were being dropped that the House might rise on 4th May. He supported W. H. Casselman who asked the Government to Attendance Act amendment which bring down the Adolescent School he had been promised.

Hon. R. H. Grant Minister of Education said he was prepared to bring down the amendment any time.

Mr Ferguson assumed that this would be to-day and received no further information from the Government.

Mr. Ferguson protested about using private members' day for doing Government business.

Premier Drury replied redistribution was pre-important, and that the Government would not intrude on the rights of private members further than was absolutely necessary.

Alluding to the Conservative blockade of speeches on the Electoral Bill the Premier said "Things have come to such a pass when there seems nothing to do but go to the country early."

MEN AND WOMEN SLOWLY STARVING

Nine Are Isolated on Fox Island, Lake Michigan, Without Food.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., (Canadian Press). — Nine men and women are slowly starving to death on Fox Island, in Lake Michigan, 18 miles off Northport, Leelenau Co., and are unable to reach the mainland on account of huge ice floes in the lake.

Word of their plight was received here last night from Gilman Dame, former State food and dairy inspector.

Mr. Dame said the men and women went on the island before the opening of winter to cut wood. They thought they had enough provisions to last them, but their supply had run out a few days ago.

It was then that three of the men undertook a perilous trip across the broken ice to Northport.

SENATOR SAYS SALE OF LAND IS RIDICULOUS

Senator McLellan Says the Public Interests Were Not Considered When Property Was Sold to Imperial Oil Company.

TO BUILD TANKS.

OTTAWA, April 19 — (Canadian Press)—Hon. J. F. McLellan in the Senate today strongly attacked a real estate transaction between the Government, the Canadian National Railways and the Imperial Oil Company at Sydney C.B.

The Canadian National Railway executive had recommended the Government to dispose of a portion of water-front to the Imperial Oil Company to build oil tanks for the purpose of unloading their tank steamers. The Government had sold this property for $8100.

Senator McLellan claimed that the price paid was ridiculous; that the property was and would be required for the railway; that the head of the Canadian National Railway, at that time, D. B. Hanna instead of acting for the railway was anxious to please only the Imperial Oil Company; that the department of Railways and Canals had betrayed the city of Sydney. The negotiations for the transaction began early in 1921 but were not completed until the Summer of 1922.

Hon. Mr. King, Minister of Public Works said Senator McLellan had personally inspected property and found that the whole space would be required for Government purposes. It had also been found that conditions which were expected to be imposed upon the Imperial Oil Co. on behalf of the city of Sydney had not been put in the deed He contended that a lease, revocable if the property was required by the Government would have been the proper proceedure. The new president of the Canadian National Railway had nothing to do with transaction, said Senator McLellan and he expected that he would take some action to protect the railway.

The Senate adjourned until three o'clock to-morrow.

FRENCH TREATY WAS CRITICIZED BY J. D. CHAPLIN

Analysed Treaty With France as a Mere Give-Away Which Would Result in a Loss of Revenue For Canada.

FIELDING REPLIES.

OTTAWA, April 19. Canadian Press. — The trade treaty between France and Canada was submitted to severe criticism by J. D. Chaplin, Conservative member for Lincoln, in the House of Commons this afternoon, Chaplin delivered a detailed analysis of the treaty and occupied most of the sitting, a brief statement by the Finance Minister, Hon. W. S. Fielding, being the only other contribution to the debate.

"If there is to be a trade treaty" said Mr. Chaplin, "let it be on sound reciprocal lines. This is a mere give-away and there is hardly a reduction in the tariff that gets us anywhere."

He describes a large number of items in the treaty as "mere padding," and declared that its only result would be a loss of revenue to Canada.

Mr. Fielding [illegible] that Mr. Chaplin appeared to think that Canada's trade with France was so small that it was not worth while having a treaty at all. That was not the view of foreign governments of Canada, including the late administration and that of which Sir Charles Tupper was a member.

Canada, he said, was relatively a low tariff country, while the policy of France was in the direction of high protection. If Canada were to have a treaty with France at all it would have to be on the recognition of the traditional tariff policy of France.

Mr. Fielding is expected to continue his reply to-day.

GERMANY'S CHANCE TO WIN FRUITS OF THE WAR

NEW YORK, April 19. Canadian Press. — Urging close cooperation between the international industries of the United States and Great Britain, Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, yesterday declared in a speech before the British Empire Chamber of Commerce, that Germany stands an excellent chance through her "efficient and willing labor," to win the fruits of the war unless the allied nations are able through cooperation to bring the producing costs down to a minimum. Mr. Schwab indicated that he favored a sort of pooling system with national industries as units in serving the world's business field.

"LONE STAR" HANS LAST OF THE TWO GUN MEN

Famous Character of the Bad Days of the West Was Crushed to Death in an Elevator Shaft — "Was Never Beaten on the Draw"—Killed 28 Men.

OMAHA, Neb., April 19.—(Canadian Press.) — Fighting, smiling, gray-haired old "Lone Star" Fred M. Hans, Indian fighter, frontier scout and possibly the last of the real two-gun "cross-arm" draw experts, met death here last night with his "boots on."

But death did not come on the field of battle where he had so often faced it, nor on the wings of a bullet. He was crushed to death in an elevator shaft at the Omaha World-Herald plant where he was night watchman.

Lone Star was caught by the elevator when he attempted to move the control lever from the outside and the lift suddenly shot upward.

Lone Star began his career as pliansman at the age of 16, when he left home to search for a brother kidnapped by Sioux Indians. He broke into fame first in 1876 in the "Hole-in-the-Wall" country, Powder River, Wyoming, when single-handed he shot and killed "Shacknast;' Jim and his two fellow bandits. It was Lone Star's hammer-fanning that won the unequal fight.

The Indians dubbed him "We-Chach-Pe-Wan-Ge-La" which, translated, means "Lone Star." Other high spots of Han's life were:

Shot and killed two stage coach bandits, April 12, 1877, near Valentine, Neb.

Shot five Indians in battle of Little Missouri, near Black Hills, August 21, 1877, saving the lives of a party of twenty prospectors.

Killed eleven Indians with twelve shots, using both guns, hammer-faunning in the battle of Wounded Knee, S.D., in 1892.

Shot and killed bandit at Fremont, Neb., in 1897.

Was official War Department investigator of Custer Massacre, and followed Sitting Bull six hundred miles on horseback, inducing him and his band to return to the reservation.

Was present at Sitting Bull's death.

In all, Hans was credtied with having killed eight white men and twenty Indians.

"I was never beaten on the draw," he often declared.

Until a month ago Hans wore a scalplock 18 inches long which he kept curled under a skull cap as he sat aroud the World-Herald editorial rooms at night, often displaying his skill with his two guns to reporters and visitors.

"No one is after it now," he explained when he ordered his locks cut off.

LABOR FOUND A STATE OF WAR WAS EXISTING

France is Using a Whale to Catch a Sprat in the Ruhr District — Immediate Action Needed.

NEW TREATY.

LONDON, April 19.—(Canadian Press)—France is spending millions on the occupation and getting next to nothing out of it; she is using a whale to catch a sprat."

This strikingly phrased conclusion is contained in the report of the Labor Party's delegation which went to the Ruhr about the middle of March to investigate the situation there and in other parts of Germany.

The delegation was composed of Thomas Shaw, Charles R. Burton and William Adamson, all members of the House of Commons.

The report, which was issued last night, declares that the delegation found a state of war existing in the Ruhr, and lays stress on the dangerous possibilities for the future of such conditions, where the occupation force runs the risk of being inextricably involved in the common ruin and being itself wiped out.

Admitting incompetency to express an opinion on the legal aspects of the situation, the report proceeds:

"In our judgment the situation can not adequately be dealt with by any machinery under the Treaty of Versailles, but requires a new instrument, international in character, in the framing of which the German people should participate.'

The report makes no definite recommendations, but suggests that, as delay may be fatal, an appeal should be made to the French and German Governments to submit their proposals with regard to reparations and security to an international tribunal and since British interests are more directly involved then those of any other State, except France, Germany and Belgium, that the initiative should be taken by the British Government in the form of a frank and definite statement of British policy and that no effort should be spared to keep in touch with both sides in order to take advantage of every development calculated to narrow the gap between their conflicting claims and terminate the present deadlock.

The delegation is convinced that such a suggestion would be well received by the great masses of German workers, while if nothing is done and the French, Belgians and Germans are left to themselves, "sooner or later they will fight it out, with terrible and incalculable consequences to Europe and the world."

Easiest Way to Remove Ugly Hairy Growths

(Beauty Culture)

Here is a method of removing hair from arms, neck or face that is unfailing and is quite inexpensive: Mix a thick paste with some powdered delatone and water and spread on hairy surface. After 2 or 3 minutes, rub it off, wash the skin and every trace of hair has vanished. No harm or inconvenience results from this treatment, but be careful to get genuine delatone and mix fresh as wanted.

She was gathering eggs when the horse which was sick, attacked her with its feet.

Dog Lost His Tail But Takes Revenge

PORT ARTHUR, April 19 (Canadian Press). — The action of a collie dog, owned by a resident in Fort William, in pulling the trolley of a belt line car from the wire, is explained as revenge growing in the heart of the dog after having had about two inches of his tail cut off by the street car.

The dog has daily, for some time, been engaged in endeavouring to pull the trolley off, and quite often is successful, necessitating the stopping of the car while the conductor engages in restoring the contact necessary to electric propulsion.

FEAR CRUELTY TO CANADIAN CATTLE

House of Lords Discussed Question of Admitting Heifers From Canadian Herds.

LONDON, April 19.— (Canadian Press Cable.)—In the house of lords yesterday, Lord Strachie presented a motion expressing regret that the order permitting the importation of Canadian store cattle had the effect of encouraging the cruelty of spaying heifers. When the House of Lords debated the resolution in favour of admitting Canadian cattle nothing was advanced in favor of admitting heifers, said Lord Strachie and the compromise, he understood, was that only steers would be admitted .Lord Strachie proceeded to describe the spaying operation as a most cruel one which could be performed in Great Britain only under an anaesthetic. So far as he knew this was not the customary method in Canada and he feared that the Canadian farmer, attracted by the British market, would be encouraged to perform spaying operations on a large scale.

Lord Ancaster, replying, took the stand that the act covered the admission of heifers. He contended that Lord Strachie had not given any argument for assuming that the operation would now be performed more extensively than formerly. He understood that a considerable number of heifers were spayed in Canada for reasons which he gave the house.

Lord Mayo expressed the hope that the cruelty would be stopped in Canada as much as possible, but he emphasized "we could not have contagious abortion introduced here." This was prohibited by the Importation of Animals Act.

Lord Strachie replying, said the new regulation contained only optional provisions for the introduction of heifers and he suggested that the Canadian government be asked to see that no heifers are brought here unless they have been operated upon under the same conditions as prevail here. Lord Strachie's motion was rejected by 41 votes to 13.

HOUSE REFUSES A NEW CUSTOM FOR MINISTERS

Will Not Be Allowed to Speak in Both the Upper and the Lower Chambers —Debts Are Refunded.

SUGAR DUTIES.

LONDON, April 19. Canadian Press. — The House of Commons last night by a vote of 244 to 100 refused to consider a bill introduced by Captain John H. Thorpe, Conservative, proposing to follow the custom of France, Spain and other countries, and permit ministers, whether belonging to the House of Lords or the Commons, to speak in either House.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Baldwin, replying to criticisms of his budget, gave details of the manner in which the Dominions are paying their debts to Great Britain. The Australian and New Zealand debts are funded and interest amounting to about 6,000,000 pounds yearly is being received regularly. A substantial portion of the South African debt has been paid off and the remainder funded. The Canadian debt had practically been settled.

Therefore the House would see that the country was receiving exactly the same treatment from the Dominions that Great Britain gave to those to whom she was indebted.

Mr. Baldwin also went into elaborate details about the sugar trade in regard to Labor criticisms about his failure to reduce the duty. He pointed out that the consumption of sugar in the United States was increasing by leaps and bounds owing to prohibition, and to increase in population and wealth. He humorously advised the people of Great Britain to wait for prohibition until there was again a surplus of sugar, otherwise by giving up alcohol and taking to sugar they might feel they were casting a real burden on the masses of the people.

The Chancellor expressed his belief that the rise in sugar to 30 shillings per hundredweight, or thrice the price in January, 1922, was caused entirely by the prospect of a shortage and the slightest increase in demand might bring about a panic, and send the price far higher. After quoting a referenc to the hold United States banks have on the Cuban crop, he said that increased sowings in Continental countries were stimulated by high prices, and approximated 25 to 40 per cent.; therefore by the return next year there should be the time to reduce the duty. If he were to reduce the duty on sugar in the present budget the whole of the reduction, he declared, would go straight to New York, and he was not going to do that This was greeted with Ministerial cheers.

THURSDAY, APRIL 19, 1923.

A COURTESY WEEK THOUGHT.

Is courtesy a desirable quality to develop in boys and girls? If it is, then it is worth while to exemplify.

Parents who expect their children to be thoughtful of others—to be courteous—must set examples of courtesy. They may even be courteous in their punishment by explaining the justice of it.

Training, thus given to children, by precept and example, will cause them to carry their good breeding out into the community and reflect credit upon their parents.

How much better would our towns and cities be, if boys and girls and men and women were considerate of others—if they were courteous?

SHOULD BE COVERED.

It has been discovered that there is no law forbidding peovle to walk on the grass of a public park, although private lawns or gardens are protected from trespassing.

This means that although Victoria Park has been closed to traffic by the civic authorities, the police would be powerless to stop any citizen who chose to stroll across the wet lawns.

Fortunately for the future appearance of the park, there are comparatively few offenders.

Most people have enough pride in Victoria Park and enough sense of their responsibility as citizens to avoid trespassing until the park is considered to be in condition to be thrown open to the public.

But while this is so, might it not be advisable for the Council to consider this question, and if possible have a contingency of this kind provided for so that on occasion, when it becomes necessary in the public interest to temporarily bar people from the city parks, there will be some authority by which trespassers can be dealt with?

It seems a rather ridiculous state of affairs that the authorities, under the present conditions, can be flouted by any one who happens to be indifferent to the common welfare.

THE MOTOR SHOW.

Peterborough's annual Motor Show had a most successful opening last evening, and with probably the best array of exhibits and special attractions in the history of the event there is every reason to hope for financial results equal to the merit of the programme.

It is a most desirable thing that this should be so for linked up with the success of the Motor Show is the future of the Peterborough Health Association, so far as this year's activities are concerned.

The work done by the Health Association needs little endorsation. What has been accomplished in Peterborough since the inception of this splendid organisation is too well known to require any elaboration at this stage.

The Association is recognised as a community asset of great value.

Similarly the Motor Show has come to be regarded as a community effort to help a movement that is of sterling public service.

It is not a commercial enterprise but a co-operative attempt on the part of the automobile dealers and other firms, oragnisations, and individuals to ensure revenue enough to finance the operations of the Health Association.

All the various church and social organisations who are assisting turn their proceeds over to the Health Association.

It is a splendid object lesson in team work, and the public will, on this occasion as in the past, do its share by affording the Show liberal patronage to-night and to-morrow.

A MODERN HERO.

The fuss made over Rodolph Valentino, moving picture star, in Toronto, and the columns of gushing tributes appearing in some of the Queen City newspapers, furnish some food for the thoughtful.

A great scientist, a famous singer, a distinguished statesman, or celebrated soldier would not have been given half the space that was accorded this swarthy, nimble-toed dancer, hurled into fame by the moving picture camera.

His chief achievement is to look well on the screen.

He may or may not have brains; however, he does not need them in the roles to which he has been assigned.

He has acquired riches, and he is greeted as a conquering hero wherever he goes.

For that he is not to be blamed.

But isn't it a striking commentary upon modern conditions that wealth and adulation should be heaped upon an individual whose main claim to distinction is based upon brilliantined hair and an assortment of regular features?

WHY THE DELAY?

Although the Ontario Government complains that the Conservative members of the Opposition are using obstructionist tactics in their fight against features of the redistribution measures, in many minds there is more than a faint suspicion that behind their screen of complaint the leaders of the Government are secretly pleased.

There is a strong feeling that the Ministers and rank and file of the Drury party are not going to weep very much if the campaign of obstruction succeeds and the Bill is killed.

So long as there is an opportunity for placing the blame upon somebody else's shoulders, the administration is quite satisfied to have the election fought out in the present constituencies.

But they may not succeed in shifting the onus.

The people of the Province have their eyes open, and they realise that if Mr. Drury was sincere in regard to redistribution he would have introduced the question long before this stage.

Newspapers in all sections of Ontario have been urging the Government for weeks to bring in a redistribution measure.

Journalistic supporters of the Drury party were included in the newspapers which pointed out the need of correcting the present inequalities in representation.

Members of the Legislature have also repeatedly urged the Government to act.

All appeals were without effect, however, and it is only now, with the end of the session in sight, that the Premier has made a move in the matter.

WHAT WEATHER MEANS.

The continued cold weather and the effect that it has throughout the Province is felt, not only in a continued consumption of coal for domestic heating, but is working changes in the farming conditions of the Province which will be very marked before the harvest season arrives.

There is too little appreciation of the man who toils at our basic industry, farming, by his city brother, and the present unfavorable weather, which is tending at present to reduce his possible earnings for this season, should be considered by all who have the interests of our national welfare at heart.

Few people, and especially those living in cities, are in a position to grasp just how important a factor weather is in the production of the crops that not only supply our daily bread, but also keep our factories and mills in operation. It is common knowledge that unless the farming community is enjoying a measure of prosperity, in a country where 40 per cent. of the population either directly or indirectly obtain their living from agriculture, it is hopeless to expect the balance of the people in other industries to prosper.

At present the farmer is faced with the prospect of harvesting a very poor crop of fall wheat. Last fall the newly-planted crop came along better than was expected in the face of a shortage of fall rains, and when winter made its appearance with a blanket of warm, protecting snow the farmer was entitled to hope that he had every chance of obtaining a good yield.

As nearly as can be estimated at the present time this prospect has been shattered. All parts of the Province have not been heard from, but it is evident that the fall wheat in the London district at least has suffered from winter killing, and is still being injured. When the first real thaws came the snow melted rapidly, only to freeze again into fields of ice, and now that the ice has gone in its turn we find the farmer's wheat field in sad shape. Scarcely a field has escaped considerable winter killing, and the present intermittent freezing and thawing with sharp frosts at night bids fair to complete the damage.

Things are seldom as bad as they appear, and it is to be hoped that exceptionally suitable weather conditions during the summer will work a miracle in undoing some of the damage that is so apparent at present, but it is just as likely that the handicap will be increased.

If there was ever a time in the history of farming in this Province that the farmer needed bountiful crops that time is the present. Bankers throughout the Province say that never before have they carried so much of the farmer's financial burden, and that unless something outstanding in the way of bumper crops comes to the farmer's assistance many of the hardest workers in the farm industry will go under before the end of the year.

There are too many of us ready to belittle the farmer. It is the delight of too many householders to crow over the fact that they have succeeded in bargaining the farmer down a cent or two in the buying of their butter and eggs, and if these same people had a full understanding of the host of factors absolutely beyond the farmer's control that he has to grapple with in the production of his crops, there is no doubt that they would have a greater sympathy.

Farming today has become a complicated, heavily-capitalized industry, based on individual effort, and suffers more from factors of weather and climatic condition than any other industry, and a measure of friendship and better understanding of the farmer and his work will go a long way toward improving our national prosperity. The damage to this year's wheat crop is not the only setback that the farmer will get before harvest, but is mentioned simply because it is one that is apparent at the present time.—London Advertiser.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Put the Motor Show over the top. There should be a record attendance to-night and to-morrow.

At all events, the Legislature should be used to long speeches. The members have been doing little else but talking for many weeks.

So far the line-up for the Ontario political sweepstakes in June includes Drury Farmers, Morrison Farmers, Liberals, Conservatives, Drury Labourites, Independent Labourites, U.F.O. Labour, and Independents. And the end is not yet.

The present session of the Legislature should not end without the placing of a Blue Sky Bill on the statute books.

It looks as if Canada should send some of her politicians over to England to learn how the British Parliament manages to cut down expenditures and makes tax reductions possible.

Redistribution should have been brought down earlier in the session, and for that failure the Drury Government alone is to blame.

A Seattle sheriff declares that he will jail the first couple who start Marathon dancing in that city. The charge will be insanity, and the sheriff should have no trouble in proving his case.

A Baltimore non-stop dancer is reported to have gone "partly insane" on the floor. There is a strong suspicion she was insane when she started.

Mr. Burr is the U.F.O. candidate in Prince Edward. He should be a standard bearer easy to stick to at least.

Marathon dancing should be stopped by the authorities. It is as foolish a form of competition as the Morons have yet been able to discover

HELP FOR YOUNG WOMEN

Mrs. Holmberg Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Viking, Alta.—"From the time I was 15 years old I would get such sick feelings in the lower part of my abdomen, followed by cramps and vomiting. This kept me from my work (I help my parents on the farm) as I usually had to go to bed for the rest of the day. Or at times I would have to walk the floor. I suffered in this way until a friend induced me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have had very satisfactory results so far and am recommending the Vegetable Compound to my friends. I surely am glad I tried it for I feel like a different person now that I don't have these troubles." — ODELIA HOLMBERG, Box 93, Viking, Alberta.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills in this country, and thousands of voluntary testimonials prove this fact.

If you doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Cobourg, Ontario, for Mrs. Pinkham's private text-book and learn more about it. C

PLEASANT EVENING AT CAMPBELLFORD

Miss Willena Duncalfe has accepted a position as stenographer in Mr. C A. Wilson's office, succeeding Miss Audrey Rowe, who was called home on account of the death of her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. James Shaw of Seymour West were in Stirling on Saturday attending the funeral of the late Mr. John Craighead.

Mr. and Mrs. William Craighead, Mr. and Mrs. William Bennett and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wallace and Mr. Alfred Bennett of Seymour East attended the funeral of the late Mr. Craighead in Stirling on Saturday.

Epworth League.

The meeting of the Epworth League on Monday evening was in charge of the 3rd Vice-President, Mr. Claude Duncalfe of the social and library department, who had arranged an excellent programme. The address of the evening was given by Mr. Alex. Winters, who gave a very interesting and profitable talk on "The Feet," illustrating by means of a plaster model. Mr. Winters first referred to the anatomy of the feet, and stated that the cause of most foot troubles of today, such as fallen arches, bunions, corns, etc., were due to ill-fitting footwear, shoes and stockings. The speaker emphasized the fact of the trouble caused by too short footwear, and stated pointed shoes were not so injurious if worn in two sizes larger than average size worn. Parents were urged to see that their children were properly shod, as foot troubles caused a great deal of the irritability and ill-health in the world.

A very pleasing quartette, "Trust Her Not," was well rendered by Mrs. H. O. Richardson, Mrs. C. W. Turner, Dr. H. O. Richardson and Mr. George Lucy. Humorous readings were also given by Misses Hilda Hollenby, Beatrice Airhart and Winnifred Phillips.

The next meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Turner, 4th Vice-President, in charge of the citizenship department.

Returned Missionary.

Rev. A. Haddow, B.A., B.Th., a missionary on furlough from Bolivia, South America, gave a most interesting and helpful address in the Baptist Church last evening, when the Ladies' Mission Circle held an open meeting. The goodly number who were privileged to hear Mr. Haddow learned much of this land of Bolivia, physically and spiritually. Rev. Mr. Haddow, who has spent ten years in that land, is a clear, forciful speaker and impresses all who hear him with his own enthusiasm concerning the great need for Christian workers in that land of two and one-half million people.

The speaker introduced his subject by taking his hearers with him, in imagination, by boat from New York via the Panama Canal and down the west coast of South America, where for 2,000 miles along the coast one sees nothing but rocks and sand. Finally the port of Chili is reached, and the journey inland of 220 miles is begun on trains, running ten miles an hour, gradually ascending before La Paz is reached until one is 6,000 feet above sea level and can look down upon La Paz, built in a wedge-like slope between its high mountains. This city has a population of 100,000 people, who wear three distinct types of dress, representing three distinct classes of people—first, descendants of Spanish or white; second, mixed Indian and Spanish, third, pure-bred Indians, who number 900,000. The Baptist mission work is carried on only among the two latter classes. Until 1898 there was no evangelical work among these two and one-half million souls. For 400 years the Church of Rome had been in sole possession—in fact, Bolivia's history dates back to almost the beginning of the Christian era. In 1898 a graduate of McMaster University began his work in this country and soon after his arrival found that the law of the state forbade any one to do evangelical work. Prayer can and will solve many difficulties, and this time a resolution solved the difficulty, when a government of young men who believed in religious freedom took charge. From 1900 to 1915 no new missionaries left for that field. Out of the popuation of Bolivia, two and one-half millions, 87 per cent. cannot read or write. In many of the parishes the name of Christianity has been put on pagan customs. In South America only one out of every 400 is a Christian, while in Japan one out of every 120 is a Christian. Rev. Mr. Haddow said that La Paz is facing a situation that can be solved by prayer, and urged his hearers to respond to the great need for workers in that land.

Mr. Haddow exhibited many most artistic articles of clothing worn among his people, such as scarfs, sandals, caps, bags, etc.

At the conclusion of the address a most hearty vote of thanks, moved by Mrs. R. C. Weston and seconded by Mrs. W. H. Carter, was tendered Mr. Haddow.

Rev. H. S. Bennett, B.A., pastor, presided during the evening and called upon Rev. R. Bloye to lead in prayer. Misses Helen Cairns and Verna Shore rendered a duet, "O Master, Let Me Walk With Thee," very sweetly. Mr. R. C. Weston in his usual fine voice sang "I Could Not Do Without Thee" very acceptably. The meeting was then concluded with prayer by the pastor.

Sayles and Nattrass—That the membership fee for this year be 50 cents.—Carried.

The secretary was also instructed to write Mr. Ward Patterson, of Peterborough, thanking him for the invitation to have this club join the Peterborough-Port Hope-Cobourg League, and expressing regret that it would be impossible, owing to various reasons, for them to accept the invitataion.

The secretary has sent out letters to Messrs. P. C. Brown, of Bethany, Garnet Shields of Mt. Pleasant, Robert Wright of Campbellcroft, Bert Richardson of Pontypool, Douglas Deyell of Bailieboro, M. Mitchell of Omemee and G. McDowell, of Cavanville, suggesting that each of their local teams discuss the matter of forming the proposed league, appointing a committee to act in the interests of such an organization, to meet at some central point at a date agreed upon and make necessary arrangements, draft set of rules, etc. The earlier such meetings can be held and details completed, the better the outlook for the success of the League, and the season's sport. The suggestion is also made that only a single schedule be played this yearon account of those from the farm being so busy during July and August.

As soon as replies are received another meeting will be called and final arrangements made.

To take a child's shoe which shows signs of wear, or one that has been outgrown, and actually rebuild it at the factory, adding a full size to the length—that is a part of the Hurlbut service to parents. It is unique in the shoe industry.

Rebuilding is more than ordinary repairing. The worn parts—soles, insoles, tips, vamps or linings—are actually replaced with new material and the shoe made practically as good as new. The cost is moderate; the result—more economy on shoes which, even aside from this feature, give the lowest cost per day of wear.

Write for "Rebuilt Service" price list and we will enclose copy of the "Pussy-Foot Jingle Book" in colors. The youngsters will enjoy it.

System Run Down Blood Out of Order

Many people become run down, but don't know just exactly what their trouble is, when, as a rule, it is improper circulation of the blood.

All they need is a good tonic to build up the system and put the blood into proper shape.

For this purpose there is nothing on the market to-day to equal.

Burdock Blood Bitters

It regulates the stomach, liver and bowels, purifies the blood and tones up the entire system.

Mrs. H. Poole, Port Dover, Ont., writes:—"My system was run down and my blood out of order, and I suffered a great deal from pains in my head which made me feel very miserable. A friend told me to try Burdock Blood Bitters, so I got a bottle and before it was used I found it was doing me good. I kept on until I had taken three, and now I feel like a different woman.

My husband also took it and it has built him up."

DISPUTE BETWEEN THE SUN AND WIND.

Courtesy and Good-Will Won Where Gruffness Failed.

Way back in the olden days—so the story goes—there was a dispute between the Sun and the Wind as to whether courtesy or gruffness was the more influential factor in human affairs. The Wind claimed that gruffness would win, but the Sun argued in favor of courtesy and good-will. A traveler wearing an overcoat was selected as the one on whom to make the test.

The Wind tried to blow the coat off. It failed, and then blew more briskly. The coat was buttoned up by the man and the Wind, becoming angry, blew a gale. The man drew up his big collar and defied the force of the wind. Finally the Wind acknowledged defeat.

The Sun smiled upon the man and he lowered his collar. The Sun sen courteous sunbeams to the man, whowas so warmed that he unbuttoned his coat. As the Sun continued its courtesies, the man looked up brightly and removed his coat. Courtesy and good-will won were gruffness failed.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE.

One is a race between the men guests, to get first from the church to the bride's home, with news that the ceremony is over. A bowl of brose and a glass of whiskey are the winner's reward.

The bride always is lifted over the threshold by the bridegroom and a broom, poker and tongs are placed in her hands immediately.

A LETTER FROM J. H. BURNHAM

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir: To those who think of Presbyterianism and Methodism, in relation to the good of Canada it appears as if two great rivers that have heretofore nourished the land, and have fed the waters of the great deep of religious faith, are about to be cut off by the hand of man and diverted to the very material result of making them pay. To the rising generation this movement also is a shock. That which was supposed to come up from the very depths of human feeling, and to be the outpouring of the heart, is on the ground that it does not pay, is not good business, to be translated into the barren and godless utilitarianism of the oncoming time.

It is not the needs of the poor heart of man and of woman, the humble submission of it to God, the fervour of a profound religious faith, the fact of a momentous and fearful future, that is moving those inclined to this merger, this submergence of all that has led up to this moment in both denominations—but the needs of the West. There are too many church buildings, it is said. Whose fault is that? There did not use to be? Is it to be after all only a bankrupt sale? Is it to be the union of lost causes with a lost faith in the Word of God? We are witnessing strange things. We see the laws of God Himself set aside for those of man. Is it any wonder that this province is on the very brink of breaking up into pieces (called groups) in fierce hostility with each other? We are boosting ourselves. Surely we are. Like those who went down to confusion and death of old we are setting ourselves and our boasted works and ideas up in place of those of God. Can any face the furtherance of such a movement without alarm? Not unless they too have gone mad with self conceit and presumption. And why in the name of union do these forsakers of the Bible propose to cut them off from their brethren in other countries? Is this good business, too? Look deeper. This proposal to wipe out the old churches is one to wipe out the old faith. Our Canadian clergymen are deserting it. That is what is at the back of it. The Bible is in the hands of the Sabotins. The fury of the higher critics (critics higher even than God Himself, they think) will not be stayed. Let us leave these things to God and curb our own presumption. If we have any faith at all left we must know that God's ways are not our ways. We neither did nor can make what we propose to correct and to destroy. The meeting in the Public Library this evening ought to be but the beginning of a great counter-blast, a fight for all that we think we are, for, believe me, it came from this "unworthy" past which some now seek to forget.

J. H. BURNHAM.

Financial News and Views

Canadian Stock Exchange — And Mines — | New York Stock Exchange — And Curb Prices.

To-Day's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, April 19.— (Special.)—While some profit taking interrupted the progress of the stock market upward to-day, the general tone of trading again was buoyant. Prices continued to move forward in the general list in the first hour. U. P. made a new high on the move at 142 1-2 at the head of a new upswing in Rails, while most speculative leaders of the industrial class reached the best levels seen since the primary upward trend was interrupted in the middle of March. Next to Sugars and Rails, Steels were the best acting group. Steel common was active around its recent high, while Republic Iron and Steel advanced nearly a point to 64 7-8, the come account of Republic for the first quarter showing net earnings of $2,235,000, compared with a deficit of $277,000 in the corresponding period last year, gives a good idea of the great change for the better in Iron and Steel condition. The surplus available for the Common was at the rate of $15 a share annually.

Earnings for the current quarter would be even better. In view of the good showing of Republic it would be surprising if U. S. Steel failed to show a big increase in earnings in the first quarter. Steels report will be made public next Tuesday.

Some profit-taking came into the market before noon, giving the list an easier tone in the late morning. But this tendency was natural in view of the extensive recovery from last week's break. It did not interfere with the special demonstrations in progress in individual stocks. United Drug spurted to 83 1-2, against Wednesday's low of 79 1-4, reflecting the expectation of a common dividend resumption before the end of the year. United Drug has completely recovered from the readjustment incident to the 1920-21 delation. Its earnings now are runnings at the highest rate since the war.

Coppers continued to reflect foreign buying. One of the recent features of the London market was the strength of Rio Tinto. This interest on the part of the British in foreign coppers has also been manifested in Anaconda. Other copper shares which, with English investors, are familiar, are expected to gain increasing stimulus from this accumulation. British holders of American stocks were liquidating when the pound sterling was worth 25 cents less than at present. They are repurchasing now because stocks are really cheaper to them with the exchange on London at $4.65.

Following announcement of the Government suit against the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange, quotations of future options on sugar fell precipitately.

The dip, it is said, was due to the heavy liquidation brought in by the announcement that the suit had been filed.

Spot sugar, however, found no easier level. Cuban raws jumped to a new high for the year at 6 7-8 cents.

DIGNITY AND RESERVE

A certain amount of dignity and reserve should characterize all good people. I do not mean the dignity which says, "I am holier than thou," but that dignity which knows its place, and that will not permit undue familiarity, that will open its heart to all well meaning people, but close it on the approach of those who would hold them cheaply. We shall never regret being reserved along those lines, but otherwise we shall regret. Do not be hard toward the ill-meaning but be strict with yourself, and put a price upon yourself too dear to be paid by any but the best.

CALLS PETERBORO FIRST CLASS CITY

Visiting Railwaymen Had a Busy Day Here Yestesday.

"Peterborough is one of the most important cities we have on the rails of the Canadian National Railway" said W. R. Davidson, General Superintendent at the luncheon in the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Davidson expressed his pleasure in having the meeting take place the city, and with all the evidences very much taken with the beauty of the city, anr with all the evidences of prosperity and thrift. From the first time he had passed through Peterborough he had developed an admiration for the city. In an aside to J. D. McMillan, Belleville Division Superintendent, he suggested that they come to Peterborough to live. Peterborough had never been considered as a city on a branch line but was always looked upon as being on the main line of the old Grand Trunk Railway.

At this luncheon, J. D. McMillan occupied the chair, and interesting addreses were given by C. E. Horning, Division Passenger Agent; Mayor Taylor; George McDonald of the Quaker Oats Company; J. J. Duffus, President of the Chamber of Commerce, Robert Hicks, Chairman of the Utilities Commission; S. R. Armstrong, City Clerk; R. E. Layfield of the C.G.E. and others.

Mr. Horning dealt with matters regarding the passenger traffic on the road and especially between Kawartha Lakes and Peterborough city.

All of the city's representatives spoke in an admirable way of the splendid relations existing between the city and the railroads.

The programme was enlivened by community singing and by solos by Rev. James A. MacKenzie and John Crane, were much appreciated.

Following the luncheon, the visitors were lined up in front of the Empress and a photograph was taken by Mr. Roy. Cars were on hand and took those who wished to seize the opportunity to the various factories and on a general tour of the city, from which they all returned enthusiastic in their praises of the beauty and progressiveness of the city.

Among prominent railway representatives present were: George Beckingham, superintendent of tracks; W. R. Battley, superintendent of motive power; C. M. Walton, superintendent of transportation; District Superintendents J. J. Connoly, and A. B. MeNaughton; James Edwards, Division Freight Agent; George R. Fairhead. Division Freight Agent, Toronto; W. H. Jones ,of the Welfare Department; R. Surgeon, Lost Freight Agent, Montreal; H. M. Gain, G. Cooper and R. E. Orr, trainmasters; R.Heels, W. Bibby, Tom Yarrow and H. M. Hobson, track supervisors; H. J. Page, Chief of the Investigation Department, and W. H. Howard, local representative of the same department; A. MacNab, Peterborough station agent, and Frank Sandy, Lindsay station agent.

WILL NOT CONFER ON ALLIED DEBTS

Subject Referred to in the British House of Commons.

LONDON, April 19.—(Special)—Stanley Baldwin, in replying to a question in the House of Commons Wednesday, declared that he saw no advantage, at present, in calling of a conference to discuss Allied debts.

Baldwin, Chancellor of the Exchequer, further stated that the amount of reparations which will be demanded of Germany would be the greatest sum she could pay.

The German indemnity, he pointed out, is not dependent upon the debts of the various allies.

LOUNT AND MATTHEWS.

Q—When was the execution of Lount and Matthews?

A—On April 12, 1838, Samuel Lount and Peter Matthews were hanged in Toronto for their share in MacKenzie's rebellion of 1837-38. MacKenzie had escaped to the States and there was some sympathy for these, his followers, who were men of stainless character who had participated in the uprising. England sent orders to spare them, but there was no Atlantic cable then, so the order for mercy came too late. Twenty-one years later, on November 28, 1859 their bodies were taken from the "potter's field," and buried reverently in the Necropolis, Toronto.

THE MOUNTED POLICE.

Q—When was the mounted police force organized?

A—The Royal Northwest Mounted Police force of Canada was organized on March 29, 1873 to meet the need of maintaining law and order in the north west after the Hudson's Bay Company resigned the task. "The Scarlet Riders" as they were first called, patrolled half a continent with wonderfully beneficial results and still do so.

NEIGHBOR LED WAY TO HEALTH

Mrs. Hartley States Tanlac, Taken on Mrs. Braithwaite's Advice, Restored Her Fully.

"It certainly is remarkable how quickly Tanlac restores a person's health. When I had taken my second bottle, my indigestion was gone and I gained eleven pounds. No home should be without Tanlac." This statement was made the other day by Mrs. Alma Hartley, 13 Bright St., Toronto, Ont.

"Stomach trouble, sleeplessness and a badly run-down condition kept me in misery two years and I was just a nervous wreck. When I look back now I wonder how I lived on the little I ate, my appetite was so poor. My food soured, gas bloated me and caused terrible pains, and I was dreadfully nauseated. I almost forgot what a good night's sleep was, and became alarmingly thin and weak.

"It was Mrs. Brathwaite, my neighbor, who advised me to try the Tanlac treatment, and I am surely thankful. My appetite is so ravenous now I can't wait for meal time. My nerves are calm. I sleep like a child and always feel strong and refreshed. Tanlac is simply grand."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 35 million bottles sold.

DISMISSED APPEAL IN WHICH COMBINE ALLEGED

TORONTO, April 19.—(Canadian Press.)—The Appellate Division has dismissed the Attorney General's appeal from the decision of Mr. Justice Orde in the case of an alleged growers' combine. The Attorney-General brought action against the Canadian Wholesale Grocers' Association and a number of individuals, asking declaration that their organization offended against sections of the criminal code which prohibit combinations in restraint of trade. An injunction restraining them from operating in that manner was also asked. The lower court dismissed the action and this finding is now upheld.

The jury's finding was as follows: "We find accused guilty according to the indictment."

A rider was added that "the department of Provincial Revenue should be censored for paying such meagre saalries to employees when handling such large sums of money."

The jury first returned to the court with the above mentioned verdict and an addition to the effect, "and T. P. Gorman an accomplice to the fact."

Mr. Justice Wilson pointed out that Gorman was not under indictment and that the jury eliminated all reference to him in their final finding.

Dunn will be sentenced Saturday.

THEATRE PRICES MOUNT.

BERLIN, April 19.—(Associated Press)—Theatre tickets have jumped so in price that prospective theatre-goers leave the box offices in disgust nightly when they see the price lists. In the more exclusive seats are priced as high as 39,000 marks. This is about four times the daily wage of a skilled workman.

Because there is a D&A which will positively fit your figure, giving correct style with comfort and proper support, and yet cost comparatively little, it is certainly worth your while to ask your corsetiere for this D&A.

DUKE OF YORK PAID VISIT TO UNIONS

Trade Union Headquarters at Peckham Visited By Royalty For the First Time.

LONDON, April 19.—(Canadian Press.)—"Let me take you inside, sir, and initiate you into the details of the Bolshevik organization" was the greeting with which President Brownlie of the amalgamated engineering unions welcomed the Duke of York who, as president of the industrial welfare society visited the headquarters of the union at Peckham yesterday.

Mr. Brownlie made a speech and said it was the first time Royalty had never visited the trade union headquarters. He explained the activities of the union in order to show that the benefits conferred now are chiefly connected with strikes. He handed the Duke copiesof reports, remarking as he did so, "Read them some pleasant Sunday afternoon."

The Duke replied, and then made a tour of the buildings. He questioned the officials with regard to details and Brownlie continued to supply him with information, including the fact that every member of the union was card indexed.

IT'S A DRAB WORLD!

When the Prince of Wales marries the Duchess of York will be demoted to fifth lady and Princess Mary will become the fourth.

CONSERVATIVES ARE STILL HANGING ON

Announce a Policy of "No Surrender" on Redistribution Project Before Legislature.

TORONTO, April 19—(Canadian Press)—Yesterday in the legislature filibuster forces still hanging on and and say that the y will not surrend say that they will not surrender.

A. C. Lewis (Conservative), North East Toronto, makes a new speech record of four and three-quarter hours in an all night session, while J. A. Currie, (Conservative), South East Toronto, delivered his second effort on Premier's redistribution and propotional representation proposals.

W. F. Nickle, (Conservative), Kingston, declares the Conservatives will continue the fight until the bitter end.

A Bill whereby Port Arthur may turn over certain lands to Shunia township on which the Great Lakes Pulp and Paper Company may construct factories, is passed.

Firm Blockade

When Ontario Legislature adjourned this morning at three o'clock there was no sign of a lifting of the blockade instituted last Monday by the Conservative Opposition, against the passage of the Drury U.F.O.-Labor Government's redistribution bill for the general election promised for late in June.

On the other hand it was again forcibly declared by W. F. Nickle, Conservative member for Kingston, and others on the same side of the house, that the Government's proposals, not only as to redistribution but also on proportional representation would be fought to the bitter end by all constitutional means in the power of the Opposition.

After three all night sessions, members on all sides are beginning to show physical effects of the endurance contest. The adjournment this morning was moved by Col. J. A. Currie, (Conservative), South East Toronto, who had occupied the floor since midnight in his second speech against the measure.

Obliged to Retract.

There was an enlivening incident when Col. Currie asserted that E. J. Evans, United Farmer member for South Simcoe, had been elected because the people in the riding had believed him a Conservative. In denying this Mr. Evans mentioned the word "liar," but retracted when the Speaker sustained the Colonel's demand for the same.

CANNOT EXTEND TRAPPING SEASON

Would Require Special Act of Legislature Not Possible This Session.

Regarding a request that the trapping season be extended this year, T. Tooms, M.L.A. for West Peterborough, writes as follows:

At the request of several people to have the trapping season extended for five days this year owing to the exceptional condition of the weather, ice still being on rivers and lakes, I have taken this matter up with the Game and Fisheries Department, who inform me that the trapping season is regulated by statute and can only be changed by Act of Parliament. This I understand cannot be done this session.

As to the suggestion that gameoverseers be requested to relax their vigilance for five days, the department would not consider such a question as it is claimed by many that more vigilance in the administration of game and fish laws is necessary.

GIRLS CAN'T DRESS ON $125 A YEAR

Declares Mrs. F. Constance Before Minimum Wage Board in Toronto

TORONTO, April 19.—(Canadian Press) Declaring that girls employed in offices are expected to dress well and look smart, otherwise their employers do not want them, Mrs. F. Custance of the Workers' Party of Canada, contended before the minimum wage board last night that the board's estimate of what it costs a girl to clothe herself is too low. A special programme is being prepared for the Young People's League on Monday evening, April 23, under the auspices of the Missionary Committee, Mrs. G. W. Sayles, convenor. As this is the last meeting for this church year, the committee are following their usual custom of having some special features for the programme instead of giving missionary information as would ordinarily be done at other meetings once per month during the year.

The programme will include piano and vocal duets, cornet, piano and vocal solos, readings, choruses and other numbers by both junior and senior members. Misses Ella Elson, Estelle Hetherington, M. Byam, H. Barnard, Mrs. Sayles, little Bernice Smith, Masters Nelles and Lawrence Rowland, Walter Sayles, Ida Payne, Jean Burnham, Gladys Tucker, K. Freelove, Marjorie Sayles, Messrs. W. Coombe, G. E. Burnham, Ewart Tucker, F. Alcorn and others will assist. A small charge is being asked for admission to increase the missionary funds of the League, which go toward the support of Rev. E. and Mrs. Hibbard, of the Methodist Mission Press, Chentu, West China.

Regatta Committee of Old Boys' Reunion Under Way—Personal Mention.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 19. — Fred J. Smith, chairman of the regatta committee for the Old Boys' reunion, has selected as his colleagues seven of the best known water sportsmen in town: J. A. Linton, who will act as secretary of the committee, S. J. Moore, A. H. McKeel, R. H. Cole, Roy Bell and A. S. Riendeau. Mr. Smith was chairman of the committee that arranged the programme of acquatic sports that was given on Heroes' Day, July 1, 1919, when a celebration was held in honor of the returned soldiers.

Messrs. McKeel, Cole, Linton and Moore were members of the same committee so that practically the same men will handle this event in August as had charge of it four years ago. Mr. McKeel was judge at the buoy, Mr. Moore at the finish and Mr. Cole was starter. No better regatta committee could have been chosen and this item in the reunion programme is certain to prove one of the leading attractions. The members of the committee will hold their first meeting in Mr. Riendeau's office on Monday evening.

As to Tag Days.

As announced the other day Capt. Ding of the local corps of the Salvation Army was given permission to hold a tag day in town on the 24th of May. When the request was presented Councillor Carter moved that it be denied and that no tag day be permitted this year unless conducted under the auspices of the Daughters of the Empire, to raise money for the soldiers' memorial fund. This motion failed to find a seconder, and after permission had been granted to the Salvation Army, Councillor Carter moved that this should be the last permit issued during the year, except the object was to raise the money previously referred to. Deputy Reeve Wilkinson seconded the motion but he and the mover alone supported it when it was put to a vote.

TORONTO WOMEN JOINED BAD GANG

Are Now Held at Detroit as Witnesses in Liquor Tragedy.

TORONTO, April 19.—(Canadian Press.)—Four young Toronto women who joined a gang of bad men, believing them to be successful bootleggers and silk smugglers, are being held by the police at Detroit as witnesses in connection with the liquor tragedy there.

The women are reported to be Ida Halder, Myrtle Watson, Clara Monroe and Blanche Clayton. They were taken with four men and another woman, members of the gang of 15 who started out originally at Toledo as bootleggers and silk smugglers, but by transition familiar in police annals, became hold-up men.

Members of the gang have, it is charged, already been connected with three slayings, including one police officer. From the robbing of rum-runners they graduated to robbing pay cars.

Photos of the Toronto girls are to be sent here for purposes of identification and for verification of their story that they joined the gang thinking they were going with bootleggers and silk smugglers.

HIGHLANDERS ARE OF FINE PHYSIQUE

Emigrants From Hebrides Found to Be in the Best Physical Condition.

LONDON, April 19.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Among the highlanders due to sail this wek for Canada are some who have been compelled to forego the voyage for the time being as they are occupying holdings under the board of agriculture and their agreement with the board requires them to give a year's notice of an intention to leave. Not a single adult amongst the whole number of emigrants from the Hebrides has been found wanting physically and rejected. One man was rejected at first but was subsequently passed as a fit prospective emigrant.

Only one child was rejected by the examing authorities, a fourteen months' old child, and the parents had to face the trying alternative of leaving the child behind or abandoning the voyage. As they had sold all their effects in view of their leaving the country to begin a new lie in the dominion they regretfully decided to leave the baby in charge of relatives.

Pungent Comments on The Ills of Democracy

TORONTO, April 19 (Canadian Press). — That the average Canadian politician is too much buried in "the muck of the back yard and sideline politics" to heed the lessons of history, or to be cognisant of the existence of physical facts which should influence statesmen, is the view of General J. T. Fotheringham, as expressed last night during his lecture before the members of the Military Institute, in which he outlined the effect which geography has had on political, economic, and social development.

The major portion of General Fotheringham's address was devoted to the citation of proofs of the need for and the advantages to be gained from "thinking by the map."

But before proceeding to what was a comprehensive and remarkably interesting survey of history's reaction to geography, he offered a few pungent comments on some of the ills of modern democracy.

Mrs. L. Whiting, 202 King St. West, Brockville, Ont., writes:—

"I took very sick with my nerves and stomach, and seemed to be all run down. At times my heart would flutter and palpitate so and I would take such weak spells in the pit of my stomach that I sometimes thought I would never get better. I had almost given up hope when a friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I did not stop until I had taken twenty-five boxes. It has done wonders for me and I want to recommend it to everyone."

Interesting Talk From War Veteran to Epworth League — Deaths Cast Gloom Over Village.

OMEMEE, April 18.—On Monday evening the Epworth League of the Methodist Church held their regular weekly meeting, under the auspices of the citizenship department. After the devotional exercises were conducted by Mr. Irvine Connell, the vice-president, Mr. Harold Cunningham, a war veteran, was called on to give a talk to the League on the Big Four Company, A.B.C.D., the Canadian division in action at Vimy Ridge, April 9, 1917. Mr. Cunningham began his talk from the time he left Lindsay, when he was connected with D Company, in the 38th Battalion, and gave an account of his trip in detail to Ottawa, then to Bermuda, and on to Bramshot Camp, England, and then to France. In speaking of his stay in Bermuda, which lasted several months, he said their training had to be done in the early morning and late in the evening on account of the extreme heat during the day, when all white people, numbering about 8,000, had to remain under cover. The population of Bermuda was 20,000, and the remaining number were real black people, making it necessary for Britain to keep a standing army there. While they attend church together, the white people always occupy the front pews.

Mr. Cunningham told of attending a Presbyterian Church one Sunday evening, and when the service was being conducted, he thought he recognized the minister, and on going up to speak to him at the close of the service, found out that he was the Rev. Mr. Peckover, who was pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Omemee a number of years ago.

The speaker had obtained a large box, about 4 x 4 feet and 10 inches deep, which he filled with damp sand, and to make the description of the great Canadian victory of Vimy Ridge more vivid, he used a miniature battlefield, which showed the relative positions of the trenches, slopes and the Ridge itself, and gave a splendid description of each. It was in this battle that the speaker himself received a severe wound in the hip.

His talk was thoroughly enjoyed by all present, and he deserves great credit for the very interesting and humorous manner in which he presented it. At the close he recited the poem, "In Flanders' Fields," which was indeed appropriate to the occasion.

Rev. Mr. Stillman made a few remarks, and also Mr. Leighton, congratulating the speaker on his splendid talk.

The meeting closed by singing, "Lord, God of Hosts, be with us yet, lest we forget," followed by the League watchword in unison.

Had Bad Pains In Her Heart

Nerves Were Very Bad

Mrs. John Case, R. R. No. 4, St. Catharines, Ont., writes:—"I wish to say that I have been bothered very much with my heart and nerves. I doctored with two different doctors, but did not find much relief. I would have such bad pains in my heart, at times, I would be almost afraid to move or breathe, and at night I could not sleep. If the pains in my heart were gone, my nerves would be so bad I could not lie still and would only get a little sleep by being tired out. My stomach was also very bad and I could not eat but very little, and then only certain things or I would have so much distress which always made my heart worse.

I had been suffering for nearly two years until one day I was talking to our druggist about the way I felt. He advised me to give Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a fair trial. I have now taken five boxes and am feeling so much better, I am able to do my own work, and can eat anything I wish. I cannot praise

SUGGESTS COMMANDMENTS REPLACE CONSTITUTION

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 19.—(Associated Press)—A bill to repeal the constitution of Missouri and all statute law, and substitute for them the ten commandments and the league of Nations, was introduced in the lower house of the Missouri legislature during the session just adjourned. The bill, however, was not given serious consideration, and was not even referred to a committee by the speaker.

In explaining his actiin in introducing such a bill, Representative J. Dal Swiers, republican, of Christon County, stated that it was for the purpose of aiding the democrats in their apparent plan to change all the laws, by changing them all at once.

Another bill introduced was one providing that all street cars be equipped with an automatic light on the rear which would show the word "stop" when the car was not in motion. It got through the house but in the senate, it was amended, the amendment providing that it "should be in effect only during the total eclipse of the sun and moon."

Another bill of unusual character introduced in the lower house provided that no landlord could refuse to rent to persons with children.

Want Ad Tips by John T. Bartlett

"INSIDE FACTS" ABOUT THE OFFERED BUSINESS.

When, offering your business for sale, you write a want ad., your cue is this: Use specific, 'inside facts. If your turnover has been six times, in a trade where five or less is the rule, give your rate of turnover. If you have little competition, let the reader know it. Perhaps you are "old-established," a vastly important condition because it carries with it much public goodwill and the composite habit of many to trade at your store. Then say how long your business has been established, how large is the loyal following of customers.

You do a heavy volume on a low rent. Say what your sales amounted to in a recent period, together with the favorable terms of your lease.

A clean stock—no stale, shopworn or obsolete stuff — always makes a business more attractive to buyers. Maybe this is a fact you can put in your want ad.

Local business conditions may forecast a rosy future for your business. Then indicate as much in your want ad. Business men like to buy "coming" enterprises.

Think a moment and you will realize just why such facts as the foregoing will make your message effective. What are the things a "business chance" inquirer, coming to you, will want to know about? The very things we have mentioned —your turnover, total volume, terms of lease, competition, condition of stock, future prospects. And the favorable facts which he learns on these points will, if he buys, have 'put over" the sale.

So much is obviously true. What is also true—a principle which skilled want advertisers repeatedly capitalize—is that the facts which will finally persuade an inquirer to buy will, if suggested in the want ad., help to produce the greatest number of inquiries. And in doing this, they will find the best buyer in the least time.

When you advertise a business chance, tell the reader favorable "inside facts" about the business.

MORE INFORMATION OF 1870 SNOWFALL.

Facts As Previously Published Are Corroborated By D. Eason.

Referring to the extraordinary snow of the late winter of 1870, and the excessive flow of water resulting from the melting snow, and the flood at Peterboro, Mr. D. Eason, of the Trent Canal staff supplies further information that corroborates the facts as noted. Mr. Eason recollected that among the records of the river and lakes he had at one time dropped across statements relative to the flood that prevailed all along the Otonabee and Trent rivers.

In 1870 Henry Deacon was the slide master at the dam just above Healey's Falls, on the Trent. Deacon was in the service from 1853 until 1890, and so familiar with the river in all its moods and tenses. In his notes he has stated that in 1886 the spring flow was the highest since 1870, and that the 1886 flow was 43¾ inches over the crest of the dam. In 1870 it came 24 inches higher, making the 1879 flow at about 68 inches over the crest. So that the volume of water passing over the dam showed at 28.000 cubic feet per second.

As a contrast, the flow of 1913, which was the highest in recent years, stood at 16.000 cubic feet per second. A normal spring flow would be about 11.000 feet per second, as was the case in 1921. But in 1920 it was only 7,000 feet, in 1919 at 9,000 feet and in 1918 10.000 feet. To bring on a large flow certain conditions must appear at the same time, such as free melting of the snows accompanied by rains.

It will be understood that the excessive water pouring down the rivers and lakes, (Rice Lake), came very largely from the territory north of Peterboro. Supplemented by the flow from the Indian River, emptying into Rice Lake near Keene and the Ouse, joining in below Hastings. Both of these streams were swollen out of all remembrance. In patricular the Indian River, which takes its flow at or near the eastern shores of Stoney Lake, received a very large volume direct from the lake. In ancient days this river formed a very considerable outlet for the northern waters, and several very fervent disputes and encounters ensued from attempted filling up of the outlet from the lake, and tearing down of the barrier by those who wanted the water to turn into power along at Lang and at Keene.

Date palm trees grow on the shores of the rivers Chatt-el-Arab from Faou on the Persian Gulf up to Kourna, an expanse of about 138,999 acres.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating. nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people wh. enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Sugar Reaches a New High Price.

NEW YORK, April 19. —(Canadian Press.)— Heavy purchases of raw sugars by big refining interests yesterday caused an advance in prices of all classes of sugar to the highest levels since 1920. The demands of housewives throughout the country for granulated and other refined sugars forced the refiners into the market, it was reported around the Sugar Exchange.

The price of raw sugar advanced twice during the day's trading, the last sale of Cuban raw being at 6 1-4 cents. The refiners at the same time advanced their wholesale price for fine granulated to 9.60 cents a pound, the highest price in nearly three years .

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

May Obtain Relief by Enriching the Blood Supply.

In the days of our fathers and grandfathers, rheumatism was thought to be the unavoidable penalty of middle life and old age. Almost every elderly person had rheumatism, as well as many young people. It was thought that rheumatism was the mere effect of exposure to cold and damp, and it was treated with liniments and hot applications, which sometimes gave temporary relief, but did not remove the trouble. In these days there were many cripples. Now, medical science understands that rheumatism is a disease of the blood, and that with good, rich red blood any man or woman of any age can defy rheumatism. There are many elderly people who have never felt a twinge of rheumatism, and many who have conquered it by simply keeping their blood rich and pure. The blood enriching qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is becoming every year more widely known, and the more general use of these pills has robbed rheumatism of its terrors. At the first sign of poor blood, which is shown by loss of appetite, dull skin and dim eyes, protect yourself against further ravages of disease by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They have helped thousands—if you give them a fair trial they will not disappoint you.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

GUESTS HUNT PANTHERS.

BOMBAY, April 14.—(Associated Press)—The numerous inhabitants of the Palace of the Maharaja at Nandod, capital of the state of Rajpipla, guests, servants and retainers, were thrown into a panic recently when the news was broadcast that a panther had been seen in the gardens.

A shooting party of the guests was hurriedly formed, various members of which climbed to points of vantage on the roofs of the many small buildings scattered throughout the palace grounds. In the meantime natives beat the gardens to drive the beast from shelter.

Eventually a whole family of panthers, consisting of a big-sized pair and a full-grown cub, was turned out. After an exciting chase all three animals were killed by the sharpshooters. A large crowd of natives, unconscious of the risk to which they were exposing themselves, collected in and around the gardens and made the shooting most difficult.

WOULD TRAIN MINERS IN USE OF GAS MASKS

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(Associated Press)—Oxygen breathing apparatus is taking an increasingly important part in the war by science and humanitarianism to reduce death and loss from mine fires and explosions. The United States Bureau of Mines says the proper use of the breathing apparatus after the recent mine explosion at Spangler, Pa., resulted in saving 22 lives.

Nevertheless, the disaster reports of the bureau indicate the need for more widespread installation and training. Of 122 mines at which disasters have occurred, only 32 had fully trained rescue crews, while 16 others had only a few men trained. Records of a large number of such disasters show 189 men saved their lives by sealing themselves behind barricades built to shut out fatal gases. Many cases are recorded where men lost their lives in attempting to escape through passages filled with poisonous gases.

The wearing of oxygen breathing apparatus after disasters and in the fighting of mine fires, however, is hazardous. The records show 23 men have died, wearing apparatus at the time of disaster, but this number is only about 1.2 perecent of those wearing such apparatus. By careful investigation it was proved in each case that if the apparatus had been kept in proper order, or had the men been properly trained or been physically sound, or had they not attempted to do too much, there would have been no deaths and no occasion to blame the apparatus.

To Force Germans to Accept Notes.

ESSEN, April 19. — (Canadian Press.)—Reports from Duisburg indicate that the occupation authorities intend to use force in making the Germans accept seized bank notes which the Federal Reichsbank has declared invalid.

The desptaches state that members of the occupational forces appeared at the Duisburg branch of the Reichsbank yesterday with 6,000,000 marks in 20,000 mark notes, bearing the distinguishing initials MX, seized recently at the Mulheim printing plant.

They demanded that the notes be exchanged for others. When this was refused, the visitors seized 6,000,000 marks in other German currency, leaving the repudiated notes with the bank.

Man-Eating Sharks on the West Coast.

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 19. — (Canadian Press). — Sharks of the man-eating type, fifteen feet in length, are reported at the ocean entrance to the Straits of Juan De Fuca, by Captain Rynak, of the steamer Moerdyk, of the Holland-American Line, which arrived here yesterday from Europe, via San Francisco. The man-eating sharks seldom get so far north, and the presence of the monsters is most unusual in the North Pacific.

Captain Rynak and his officers counted five sharks, and it is thought they may be following the seal herds which migrate north at this season of the year.

Police Clash With the Unemployed.

ESSEN, April 19. — (Canadian Press.)—Clashes between unemployed and the police were reported yesterday from various parts of the occupied area. The most serious disturbance was an Muehlheim, where a crowd attacked the Town Magistrate's office. One German was killed and 17 wounded in a clash with the Security Police.

The unemployed at Muehlheim had been reintorced by men from Duisburg, Oberhausen and nearby towns and marched to the Town Hall be present their demands for increased allowances. Admittance to the Town Hall was refused the men, whereupon the crowd began a violent demonstration, which included throwing stones through the windows. The firemen and police turned the hose on the multitude, which only served to increase the anger of the mob. The workmen then attacked the police, who retaliated with revolvers and bayonets. Two of the men wounded probably will die. In Essen and Duesseldorf unemployed men on parade had minor clashes with the police and firemen, but there were no casualties. Discontent among the unemployed also is reported from Elberfeld and Barmen, in unoccupied territory.

Above all others he must feel well and look well if he is to impress his customers favorably and make a success of his business. How much, therefore, does his welfare depend on the proper functioning of the digestive organs?

Mr. A. A. Bourn, of 93 Charles St., Hamilton, was in a general run down condition until Dreco cured him of stomach, kidney and intestinal disorders that were rapidly impairing his earning powers.

"For some time," says Mr. Bourn, "I had been feeling terribly weak and run down. I completely lost my appetite and whatever I did eat would form gas, causing me to belch and bloat in a distressing way. My kidneys were so bad that I could hardly stoop, what with the terrible pains across my back and I had to constantly take a laxative. I have only taken two bottles or Dreco, but I have gained five poonds in weight and am feeling stronger in every way. My bowels are regular, I eat well and sleep soundly. All my friends remark on how much better I am looking. It is a pleasure indeed to recommend Dreco, for I am delighted with the benefits it has given me."

There is no need for any man or woman to suffer the miseries of indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, kidney trouble or a disordered liver. These, and all similar complaints, yield quickly to the natural toning and regulating influence of Dreco, the herb and root remedy that has won the heartfelt thanks and recommendation of thousands of Canadians, many of them in and around Peterborough.

Dreco is being specially introduced in Peterboro by Bond's Drug Store. It is also sold in Lakefield by E. H. Northey, and by a good druggist everywhere.

Agricultural Association Was Boycotted.

OTTAWA, April 19 (Canadian Press). — That the Merchants' Consolidated Limited, a wholesale organisation formed by retail merchants in Western Canada, was classed by manufacturers and their agents as "an organised bunch of buyers," and therefore not properly wholesalers, was the declaration before the Special Agriculture Committee of the House yesterday by Clifford F. Sly, one of the managers of the Merchants' Consolidated.

Mr. Sly told the committee that his organisation had been able to reduce costs of distribution in many lines, but that manufacturers refused to sell to him declaring that his company was "an illegitimate." This applied to manufacturers of cottons, salt, rubbers, starch, table syrup, and a number of other staples handled by his company.

Witness also claimed that the Wholesale Grocers' Association of Winnipeg had issued a "legitimate list" with which manufacturers' agents could deal. His firm was not on that list.

Make the Rinso liquid first

Do not put Rinso direct from the package into the tub. Mix half a package of Rinso in a little cool water until it is like cream. Then add two quarts of boiling water, and when the froth subsides, you will have a clean amber-coloured liquid.

Add this liquid to the wash tub, until you get the big lasting Rinso suds. Then soak the clothes clean.

Rinso is as splendid for the regular family washing as Lux is for fine fabrics.

The PRIDE of PALOMAR

By Peter B. Kyne

"I have already forgotten it, my friend," the urbane Don Nicolas replied graciously, and Bill Conway departed forthwith for the Hotel de Las Rosas.

"Got a Jap name of Okada stopping here?" he demanded, and was informed that Mr. Okada occupied room 17, but that he was ill and could not be seen.

"He'll see me," quoth Bill Conway, and clumped up the stairs. He rapped peremptorily on the door of room 17, then tried the knob. The door opened and the old contractor stepped into the room to find the Potato Baron sitting up in bed, staring at him. Uttering no word, Bill Conway strode to the bed, seized the Japanese by the throat and commenced to choke him with neatness and dispatch. When the man's face was turning purple and his eyes rolling wildly, Conway released his death-grip and his victim fell back on the mattress, whereupon Bill Conway sat down on the edge of the bed and watched life surge back into the little brown man.

"If you let one little peep out of you, Okada," he threatened—and snarled ferociously.

"Please, please," Okada pleaded. "I no understan'. 'Scuse, please. You make one big mistake, yes, I zink so."

"I do, indeed. I permit you to live, which I wouldn't do if I knew where to hide your body. Listen to me, Okada. You sent a countryman of yours from the La Questa valley over to the Rancho Palomar to kill Don Miguel Farrel. I have the man's name, I know the hour you telephoned to him, I know exactly what you said to him and how much you paid him to do the job. Well, this friend of yours overplayed his hand: he didn't succeed in killing Farrel, but he did succeed in getting himself captured."

He paused, with fine dramatic instinct, to watch the effect of this broadside. A faint nervous twitch of the chin and the eyelids—then absolute immobility. The Potato Baron had assumed the "poker face" of all Orientals—wherefore Bill Conway knew the man was on his guard and would admit nothing. So he decided not to make any effort to elicit information, but to proceed on the theory that everything was known to him.

"Naturally," he continued, "that man Pablo has ways and means of making even a stubborn Jap tell everything he knows. Now listen, O child of Nippon, to the white man's words of wisdom. You're going to depart from El Toro in a general northerly direction and you're going to do it immediately if not sooner. And you're never coming back. The day you do, that day you land in the local calaboose with a charge of conspiracy to commit murder lodged against you. We have the witnesses to prove our case and any time you're tried by a San Marcos County jury before a San Marcos County judge you'll rot in San Quentin for life. And further: If Miguel Farrel should, within the next two years, die out of his own bed and with his boots on, you will be killed on general principles, whether you're guilty or not. Do I make myself clear or must I illustrate the point with motion pictures?"

"Yes, sir. 'Scuse, please. Yes, sir, I zink I go very quick, sir."

"Three cheers! The sooner the quicker—the next train, let us say. I'll be at the station to see you off."

He was as good as his word. The Potato Baron, mounting painfully the steps of the observation car, made hasty appraisal of the station platform and observed Bill Conway swinging his old legs from his perch on an express truck. He favored Okada with a very deliberate nod and a sweeping, semi-military salute of farewe .

When the train pulled out, the old contractor slid off the express truck and waddled over to his automobile. "Well, Liz," he addressed that interesting relic, "I'd bet a red apple I've put the fear of Buddha in that Jap's soul. He won't try any more tricks in San Marcos County. He certainly did assimilate my advice and drag it out of town muy pronto. Well, Liz, as the feller says: 'The wicked flee when no man pursueth and a troubled conscience addeth speed to the hind legs.'"

As he was driving out of town to the place of his labors at Agua Caliente basin, he passed the Parker limousine driving in. Between John Parker's wife and John Parker's daughter, Don Miguel Jose Farrel sat with white face and closed eyes. In the seat beside his chauffeur John Parker sat, half turned and gazing at Don Miguel with troubled eyes.

IS CHILD HER OWN?

WARSAW, April 19.—(Associated Press)—One Polish mother will wonder all her life whether she is bringing up her own child, owing to an unfortunate accident which happened at a maternity home in Lwow.

A woman gave birth to a healthy boy, but the baby returned to her after it had been bathed, proved to be a girl. A search was ordered, but the finding of the right baby was not an easy matter, as the mother could not recognize her child from the six boys and three girls born that day. She chose one of the boys as her, and hopes she is right.

THE MARKETS

CASH GRAIN.

MONTREAL, April 19.—(Canadian Press).—A moderate amount of business was done in oats for domestic account and the market for No. 2 yellow corn was firm at the recent advance. There was no important change in the condition of the domestic flour market. The tone of the mill feed market remains firm, but business in rolled oats was quiet. There is no change in the baled hay market. Prices for eggs were well maintained. Demand for potatoes was fairly good. The feeling in the butter market is about steady. Business is still very quiet in cheese.

WINNIPEG CATTLE.

WINNIPEG, April 19.—(Canadian Press).—Receipts, 560 cattle and calves, 760 hogs and four sheep.

There was a good demand for the moderate offerings on the cattle market yesterday, and bidding on all classes and grades showed considerable strength. Prices ranged from steady to fifty cents higher, handyweight butcher steers registering the largest advance.

The hog market advanced ten cents. Packers were bidding $9.75 for thick smooths and $10.72½ for select bacon.

EGG MARKETS.

OTTAWA, April 19. — (Canadian Press). — Egg supplies continue light, and the situation generally firm and unchanged. Competition is said to be very keen at country points, and as a result prices are steady. In some of the large consuming centres hardly sufficient eggs are arriving for current consumptive demand. One instance is reported of a retailer paying 30c f.o.b. shipping point for candled stock.

Toronto firm and unchanged.

Montreal receipts increasing but demand active. Graded stock jobbing 36, straight receipts 34; market well cleared daily.

Manitoba and Saskatchewan markets unchanged.

Edmonton very firm, prices advanced 2c.

British Columbia local fresh 23c at country points, with 22c offered for specials. Specials jobbing 26c, firsts 23c to 24c, pullets and seconds 20c.

St. John market shorter supplies. Local and Prince Edward Island straight gathered, jobbing 36c, stales 34c, retail price 40c to 45c.

SERVING AMERICAN FOOD IN PARIS NOW

By JOHN O'BRIEN.

PARIS.—(By Mail to United Press).—Montmartre has capitulated. The Free Commune has made unconditional surrender to the American invaders. The proof? In one of the all-night restaurants which dot the map around the Place Pigalle you can call for "a stack of wheats, with maple syrup and sausages" and actually get them. There's no bluff about it, either. They have all the old flavor of the cakes you used to eat on the Bowery, or Broadway and Forty-second street, or in any other main street of the United States.

This is due to the enterprise of a couple of dusky "genlmn" from Virginia, who made a fortune running a jazz band in cafes of Paris-After-Dark and purchased a restaurant once known as the Little Dukes, in parody of the legendary grand dukes, who cut such a swath up in the region of the Mount of Martyrs in the days before Leon Trotsky and his compeers overturned things on the banks of the Neva.

Mike and George—they are the proprietors, called by French visitors "Monsieur Michel" and "Monsieur Georges"—Wanted to disprove the theory that an all-night restaurant owned and run by negroes must necessarily be a rough-house. "White folks" are permitted to remain as long as they behave.

The place opens after sundown and closes for the night at ten or eleven next morning.

CHURCH CENSORS NAMES.

SOFIA, April 19.—(Associated Press)—The recent fashion of giving children fantastic names, drawn for the most part from the novels of Maeterlinck, Hamsun and others writers, as well as the names of heroes of the communist revolution in Russia, has grown to such an extent that the church has forbidden priests to baptize infants with such names.

To enable priests to know which are allowed, the Bulgarian church has issued a catalogue of names. This list is placed at the disposal of parents. Baptism is obligatory in Bulgaria, and the priests are the official registrars.

TO BUILD NEW ROADS.

PORT-AU-PRINCE, April 19.—(Associated Press)—The Haitan council of state has voted the extraordinary credit of $180,000 for road and bridge construction in addition to the extraordinary credit of $300,000 authorized last December for similar purposes. With this total of nearly a half million dollars, the public works program for the physical rehabilitation of Haiti will not only outstrip former estimates, but the problem of unemployment in the districts afefcted will be greatly ameliorated and the money put in circulation will stimulate the island's improving economic condition.

Four Teams in Mercantile--Homers For Ruth and Williams

MERCANTILE LEAGUE TO HAVE FOUR TEAMS SENIOR PLAYERS OUT

Teams Can Only Use Players Who Are Employed By Firm Represented.

FEW GROUNDS.

The Mercantile League will consist of four teams and players will be confined strictly to employees of the firms represented. This was decided on at a meeting of the league held last evening in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. Three teams are definitely entered and the fourth team will be from the employees of two factories. The teams entered are: The Examiner, Canadian Packing Company and Westclox.

A resolution was passed barring all players who are signed by the Central League team as it was felt taht their presence one one or more of the teams would make the league too one-sided. A player who has been signed by the senior team and later reelased will be eligible to play in the Mercantile League as soon as he gets his release.

Owing to the failure of the Intermediate League with Port Hope and Cobourg, an Intermediate League will be run by the City League and an all-star team will be picked from the Mercantile League players to take part in this series. Though the League itself will not be affiliated with the O.B.A.A. the all-star team which will be picked will have come under the O.B.A.A. rulings so that the twoorganizations for all intents and purposes will be entirely distinct. The details of the operation and management of the team will be worked out at a meeting of the executive committee to be held in the very near future.

It is hoped to play the first games during the week of May 14 and the schedule will be arranged at the first meeting of the executive. The scarcity of playing grounds will be keenly felt and will of necessity have a great bearing on the arrangement of the schedule. A representative of the Baseball Association grounds committee was present and offered every co-operation from the senior body to help the Mercantile League along. There tare, however, numerout other teams to be accommodated and the grounds committee is faced with the tremendous task of trying to fit them all in.

All games in the Mercantile League will be seven innings, twilight games and it is hoped to be able to play at least two games a week. It is probable that the first games will be played during the week of May 14. Alex Kay will officiate as chief umpire for the league.

In order that the preliminary work necessary before the league games can get under way, can be cleared up, the representatives present were asked to have their various clubs appoint a member for the executive committee an dto send the name and address of the executive member to the League secretary as soon as possible.

JOE GANS WAS ONE OF THE BEST

The Colored Lightweight Could Hold His Own With Any of Them.

One of the greatest lightweights who ever pulled on a glove was Joe Gans, the "Old Master." The colored boy could hold his own with any of them. A remarkably clever boxer—one of the best the game has produced—he also packed a real wallop. Time and again Gans went out of his class to meet opponents. Size or weight made no difference to him.

But Gans was in the ring in the days when big purses were not known, and when "marathon" bouts were in order. Gans' greatest battle no doubt was that 42-round affair with Battling Nelson at Goldfield, Nev., in 1906. It was scheduled, as a finish fight, but came to a sudden end when Referee George Siler gave the fight to Gans on a foul. But for that there is no telling how long the two would have battled.

In that bout the Baltimore boy fought for the largest purse ever put up in a fight in which he was one of the participants. The stakes were good for $34,000. A good sum in those days.

But all Gans, the winner, got out of the "kitty" was a meager $11,000 —and the lightweight title. Nelson, the loser, cornered the rest. And all because Billy Nolan, Nelson's shrewd manager, refused to sign articles unless his protege was to get some two-thirds of the purse for his share, win, lose or draw.

It is one of the rare instances in the game wherein the loser got the Paddock Defies Ruling of the A.A.A.

A recent ruling by the A.A.U. of the United States barred all athletes except those of the Yale-Harvard track team from visiting Europe this summer and performing. Charles Paddock, world's champion sprinter, yesterday took a direct slap at United States athletic control when he defied the Amateur Athletic Union, the American Olympic Association and all other bodies which would try to bar his European jaunt this year. He will voyage to Paris at the earliest possible moment in face of the refusal of his plea to be allowed to compete at a university track championship meet in Paris next month.

The ruling was affected to assure concentration upon preparation for the Olympic games at Paris next year.

Johnson and Fulton to Go Twelve Rounds.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Floyd Johnson, Iowa heavyweight, and Fred Fulton, Minnesota, will be permitted to box in a twelve-round no-decision bout in Jersey City next Monday night by a reversal of the decision of the New York Boxing Commission that no boxers booked to appear at the milk fund benefit here May 12 could engage in any other bouts before that time.

William Muldoon, chairman of the New York State Commission, in reversing himself, said he had been influenced by an appeal from the commission in charge of the milk fund show to allow Johnson to go through with his contract.

Muldoon further announced that the winner of the bout would have to appear against Jess Willard in the main bout of the big card. As no official decisions are permitted in New Jersey, the verdict of five boxing writers will be accepted to decide the winner, if it goes the limit. Fulton, who had previously said he would fight for nothing, signed a contract to fight Willard for $1 If he wins from Johnson.

EXPECT MANY FOREIGN CARS AT BIG SPEEDWAY

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 19. —(United Press).—The largest field of foreign entries ever participating in a Yankee race will line up at the barrier on Decoration Day for the start of the International 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

The foreigners, after a successful series of victories from 1912 to 1919 inclusive, were halted in 1920 and for three years Americans have annexed the laurels.

With the new class 122 cubic inches piston displacement motors demanded for the first time in America, the foreigners see added hope for victory, for they have been racing the smaller motors abroad for several years.

American motor builders are lending every effort to hold supremacy. Eleven American cars have been entered to date.

City League Will Meet This Evening.

An important meeting of the City League will be held this evening in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. The meeting will start promptly at 7 o'clock and President Patterson has arranged a snappy programme by means of which he expects to get through all the work necessary by 7.45. This will probably be the last meeting of the league before the opening of the schedule and it is therefore important that representatives of every team should be present.

All signed players and prospective players of the C.P.C. Football Club should note that the regular practice nights are Tuesday and Thursday of each week. Practice starts at 5 p.m. at King Edward Park.

SOME BOWLING RECORDS.

When it comes to the miracle men of sport, you just can't overlook Billy Knox, Philadelphia bowler.

Rolling in the A. B. C. tournament at Milwaukee, Knox in nine games has piled up the remarkable total of 2019 pins.

Ball games won in the ninth, gridiron contests decided by a long run in the final seconds of play, horse races won by the proverbial nose, fade into insignificance when compared with the feat of Knox.

When he started his final game he was called upon to roll a score of 275 to win by the margin of a single pin. That meant he must turn in almost a perfect game.

Perfect scores of 300 are a rarity in national competition. Knox scored 279 in the big test, going to the front in all events with a five-pin margin. If ever a bowler deserved a perfect game, it was Knox.

It was freely predicted that the record would stand for a long time. Knocking over 2000 pins was regarded as a feat that would seldom be turned.

It is a rather strange coincidence that in the Milwaukee tourney, now in progress, the record has thrice been broken. All within the short space of one week.

Marion McDowell of Cleveland provided the first sensation of the tournament by getting a total of 2003 pins, four better than the best previous mark.

McDowell's performance was no fluke. He is rated one of the best bowlers in Cleveland. Recently in a series with George Uhle, Cleveland pitcher, McDowell turned in 27 strikes.

Charley Daw of Milwaukee next drew the spotlight with a total of 2014 for nine games. None of the bowling experts believed this mark would be shattered, yet it stood only a few days.

Knox, in compiling his great record of 2019, bowled 618 in the team event, 686 in the doubles and 715 in the singles.

Kinks o' the Links
by "PRO"

A player on reaching his ball after the second shot, finds that a number of twigs blown from a nearby tree, practically surround the ball. The ball is resting on a slight incline. The player stooped over and removed several twigs but in no way touched the ball. However, the moment the twigs were removed the ball rolled severl inches from its original position. Is there a penalty for such action?

The player was within his rights in removing the twigs, they being regarded as loose impediments. However, if the ball moves after the removal of the twigs, the act is held responsible and the player penalized one stroke.

In playing from the tee, the ball strikes one of the electric grass cutters being used on the course, lodges itself therein, and is carried some distance before the fact became evident. What is the proper thing?

A ball shall be dropped from a spot as near as possible to where the grass cutter was when the ball lodged in it. There is no penalty.

OVEREATING WILL FINISH PLAYERS

Ping Bodie Was Greatest Spaghetti Hound of Them All.

Ping Bodie used to be one of the "eatinest" ball players in the big leagues when he was playing the outfield and clowning with the New York Yankees. His talent at the table once led a humorist among the baseball writers to propose a spaghetti eating contest, in which he would back Ping against all comers.

Ping heard about it after he had left the big leagues and was playing out on the Pacific Coast and his warm Latin blood boiled with indignation.

"I eat less than anyone on our ball club. As Essick (the manager). He allows me three bucks a day for grub and I only spend one.

If the price of spaghetti is not higher in California than it is around Littl Italy in New York, Ping could get enough yards of the dish for a buck to founder a couple of less ravenous appetites.

Many ball players have been known to eat themselves out of fast company by taking on too much food and getting out of condition. On the other hand, the desire to make something out of the club's meal allowance on the road has kept some of the thrifty players from eating enough.

Connie Mack had a lot of slim youngsters on his Athletic team last year and when some New York writers began to refer to the club as the "Skeletons," Mack protested vigorously against the inference that the club was tight and he emitted words to the effect that you can give a player bread jack, but you can't make him eat.

Connie Mack may have ceased to be a big figure in American League affairs since 1914, but the genius of the lanky Philadelphia manager in developing players is still much in evidence in the big leagues. Twenty-five players, who got their start under Mack and who are scattered all over the big leagues, will figure more or less prominently in deciding the two championships this year.

The Mack stamp is almost as prominent on the New York Yankees as it is on his own Athletics. Joe Bush, Bob Shawkey, Herb Pennock, Frank Baker, Joe Dugan, Wally Schang and Whitey Witt are all former Athletics, and with the exception of Frank Baker, who may have retired, Miller Huggins will depend on them greatly for another pennant victory.

Until last winter when he opened the pocketbook for the first time and bought Sammy Hale, Mack seemed more interested in disposing of star material than in acquiring it. Connie defended himself recently by saying that he did not care to experiment with a player who did not have promise of becoming perfect in his position and that until this spring he had never been able to find those players.

The Athletics of 1923 look like a most promising young ball club and it may be that the oft-repeated promise that the Athletics have arrived will not fail as it has failed in the past.

REVIVE LACROSSE IN CAMPBELLFORD

Young Men Taking Active Part in Boosting National Game.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 19.— There are too many lovers of the game of lacrosse here to permit the pastime to pass out of existence locally this year at least without a struggle to revive it, there are those who call attention to the fact that this year Campbellford has a better chance than ever to get into the intermediate group and to wind up the season with a balance instead of a deficit. The young men who are taking a leading part in this attempt at revival are Stewart Hubbell, manager of the Princess thetre, A. P. Hind, Kenneth Cairnes and Chief of Police Duncalfe. Subscriptions will be solicited to raise the necessary funds, the following statement being submitted to all those who are asked to contribute,

"To revive intermediate lacrosse in Campbellford, we, the undersigned, do pledge our support financial and otherwise, to the extent of our ability. This will mean that for the coming season all affairs will be under new management. A meeting will be called at a later date in the public library to adopt committees and attend to all necessary arrangements. The grouping in this district is Havelock, Peterborough and Hastings.

PITTSBURGH SENDS TO JAIL LOAFERS WHO WON'T WORK

PITTSBURGH, April 19.—With a serious labor shortage facing industry in this district and no inducement sufficient to persuade hundreds of idle men to go to work, the police here swept over the Grand street district, corralling 160 loafers and vagrants.

In Central police court Magistrate Sullivan, after looking over the husky loafers, issued the ultimatum: "Either go to work or to jail. Which will it be?"

Of the 160, many of whom had never worked seven continuous days in their lives, 110 chose work. These were turned over to proprietors of employment bureaus, who informed Magistrate Sullivan they could place twenty times the number if they could be found. All the men, after being instructed to take the jobs offered, were told they would go to the workhouse for thirty days if arrested again.

Fifty men who offered alibis to the Magistrate but whom the police testified were corner loafers and who refused to work, were each fined $2, with the alternative of serving twenty-four hours in jail.

According to Commissioner Ford, the crusade on men who refuse to work and who loiter will continue until the men are either in jail or working.

A JOINT MEETING OF THREE RURAL CLUBS

At a joint meeting of the three rural clubs, the U.F.O., the U.F.W.O. and the U.F.Y.P.O., held on Tuesday evening of this week in the W.O.W. hall, the chief topic of interest in the business session which preceeded the social evening was a discussion of the co-operation of Peterboro junior farmers in the Swine Club. Annually, a province-wide competition between junior hog breeders takes place in Toronto with prizes awarded the Government, for the express purpose of encouraging the breeding of the highest type of pig. Boys of eighteen or under who have personally supervised the up-bringing of their entries are entitled to enter any number of pigs up to six each, in the competition. The competitors are required to make up the necessary car-load. Although Peterborough is fortunate as a district in possessing a very fine type of hog, this is the first time that the subject of entry in this competition has been mooted here. The packing companies in Toronto usually entertain the young people in fine style, the contestants having the opportunity of accompanying their charges and watching the method of grading them. Mr. W. R. Shields is convenor of the committtee in charge of this competition.

A debate on the subject "Resolved That life in the country is more desirable for a young man than life in the city," was won by the negative, upheld by the U.F.Y.P.O. represented by Roy Sanderson and Carl Wilson the U.F.O. which took the affirmative side, was argued for by Messrs. E. Carson and V. Milburn. H. B. Cowan acted as neutral judge and critic, the other two judges being Messrs. T. Shields and C. Brown.

Announcement was made at this meeting of the installation of E. H. Brown as shipper for Peterboro live-stock association.

THE U.S. MARATHON ROAD RACE STARTED AT NOON

BOSTON, April 19.— (Canadian Press.)—The United States' Marathon road race was started over the roads from Ashland to this city at noon to-day. A pack of twenty-two runners, five of them former winners, broke away from the starting point, with Clarence Demar of Melrose, who broke all records in winning last year ,in the van.

NEGOTIATING FOR CARPENTERS' WAGE

Many of the Local Contractors Have Agreed to Rate of 75 Cents -- Others Expected.

Reporting agreements with a majority of the local contractors for a wage scale of 75c. an hour for carpenters, Pat Green, of Ottawa, business agent for the Carpenters and Joiners' Association, left at noon today for Pembroke with the expectation, he said, that the members of the Builders' Exchange would also decide to sign up their meeting next week.

Peterborough, Toronto and Pembroke, he told the Examiner, are the only three towns of any importance in the province that have not concluded a working understanding with their carpenters. Toronto is now paying 90c. an hour, but the men have asked for $1, and still believe they will get it as the general wage. Windsor pays 90c. until the end of July and $1 for the remaining nine months. And the wage to Detroit carpenters, Mr. Green said, is $1.15. He recently completed negotiations with the Guelph contractors for 80c., and incidentally twenty-three apprentices are taking up the work there, while according to Mr. Green there is not one apprenticed carpenter in Peterborough.

During the last eight months fifty per cent. of the local carpenters have moved to other cities ,and it is understood that others are prepared to go, too, if the 75 cent scale, which Mr. Green declared to be the minimum paid throughout Ontario, is not approved by local contractors. Those who have signed the agreement will be fully protected by the Carpenters' Association in regard to supplying men and maintaining the accepted wage.

SECRET CODE BOOKS ON THE MISSING LIST

LONDON, April 19.—(Special.)—Seven secret wireless code books have mysteriously disappeared from the war office. A flying squadron of secret service men have been sent into the foreign districts in an effort to apprehend the thieves. Meantime an entirely new official code is being drawn up.

GOOD CROWD

A Radio Concert.

Next door, Mr. James McGrath conducts the radio which adds to the attraction of the bright little corner fitted up by the ladies of the Y. W. C. A. to draw attention to their coming gymnasium pageant. Gay butterflies and pink cherry blossoms weave themselves about the overhead lattice, twined with blue and pink streamers, eye-catching 'Y' posters cover the wall, and at either side stand miniature figures, one clothed in the tufted costume of the bird dancer, the other in the green and red suit, the woolly black cap of the performer in the golliwog number in the coming pageant.

The Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association has an attractive section, interesting with its deer heads and mounted fish, its colored prints and descriptive literature, and just around the corner, in the rear enclosure, is the table of Ackerman, Dawson and Company, whose explanations in regard to automobile insurance are given. Here too is the Canadian Lever Springs Company of Peterborough, with samples of its wares; farther on, an automobile agency shows the stripped chassis of a car, another with the inner mechanism of its make of machine mounted on a board, both attracting much interest.

Messrs. White Brothers are exhibiting bicycles, motor bikes, a kiddie tricycle with coaster brake and miniature autos, and the Singer Machine people have installed a couple of electrically-operated sewing machines.

Boxing Bouts and Dancing.

Upstairs, in the eastern gallery rooms, boxing bouts drew the crowd and in the north-western portion of the opposite gallery, the dance-hall was in full swing, while in the upper recreation rooms at this end also, a fashion show had a good attendance. Messrs. R. Hall & Son, Limited, are displaying the latest ideas in feminine apparel on a small stage, against a simulated living-room background, the three models, the Misses Berenice Janeway, May Perry and Dorothy Garden, paraded to music in a manner almost professional in its graceful ease.

The Fashion Show.

Sports suits, street suits and dresses and afternoon frocks were shown, the first in the gleaming baronet satin skirts, the trig hats, the tight-fitting woollen fabric overblouses of the mode, with knitted wool and silk scarfs and jaunty Deauville 'kerchiefs.

Combinations of greys and blues and soft brown shades are popular this season. Many of the natty little three-piece suits showed greys and blues, one pretty thing having a skirt and coat and flaring cuffs of grey, the skirt top and coat lining showing in Cuban blue. A dress of blue and grey flat crepe had bands of Persian embroidery and much braiding on the bell-shaped sleeves, while Oriental crepe weaves showed in several of the form-fitting overblouses, many of which had long sleeves. Simplicity and grace was the keynote of the one-piece dresses, the majority showing plain skirts and bodices, the attraction lying more in the quality and cut of the material than in elaboration of trimming or style. One plainly-made dress of sunset cut velvet had black velvet inserts in the wide, low-hung belt, a two-toned brown and cocoa silk crepe relied only on its manifold tucking for its elegant effect, and a black taffeta had a quaint, pointed collar and cuff set in cream lace. The hats worn were large and simply trimmed. One, a brown poke, crossed with purple velvet bands and adorned with clusters of purple grapes, was very fetching, but the majority were of the same hue as the gown with which they were worn. Wraps were shown, in soft twills and bolivia cloth, in brown and dark blues, with raglan and large, flowing sleeves. Embroidery in lighter self tones appeared on several examples.

The Motor Cars.

Little has been said about the motor cars which make the show a "Motor Show," but it is impossible to give an idea of their variety and beauty. They should be seen to be appreciated. In long rows against either wall, and in the rear, west-end enclosure, they stand in all the glory of their bright newness and glistening splendor, small and large, luxurious and business-like, in blacks and blues and browns, waiting for inspection by anyone interested in the very latest ideas in the motor vehicle world. They were the subject of interested examination and much favorable comment from the throngs of people who last night gave them the "once over."

Attendance last evening was fully equal to any first-night previously held, over a thousand people taking advantage of the opening of the 1923 Motor Show.

Drawings for prizes take place sharp at 9.30. Ticket-holder winners remaining until that hour will have an opportunity of learning their success at first hand.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND.

Messrs. Lindsay and Barrett, who will present the Machan Sisters' Stock Company at the Grand Opera House for three days, commencing April 23rd, have proved themselves to be capable managers. The excellent company of capable players, headed by the Machan Sisters, who will be seen in an unexcelled repertoire of the most successful successes, enriched with scenery and effects, proves their ability as managers.

As actresses, the Machan Sisters, Miss Rosalind and Miss Gloria, are versatile, have splendid voices, admirable stage presence and are ably fitted for the numerous roles they are called upon to play during their visit here.

Some idea of the merit of the company may be gained from the reception which has been accorded both the stars and company wherever this attraction has appeared. Almost everywhere managers have insisted upon return engagements, and in every case where it has been granted, the Machan Sisters and their company have been greeted by capacity houses. This is not only gratifying to the young stars but it is evident that the theatre-going public appreciate and enjoy the Machan Sisters Stock Company.

There is every reason to believe that when this company plays here that they will be accorded the same treatment.

VETERANS BENEFIT UNDER PROVISIONS OF NEW RELIEF ACT.

Many Provisions of New Law in States Are Sponsored By Returned Men's Organizations.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(Associated Press).—Numerous benefits not before within the reach of disabled ex-service men were granted in the new veteran relief act passed during the last days of the 67th Congress, says the United States Veterans' Bureau.

Many of the provisions of the new law are sponsored by veterans' organizations. One of the most important, it is said by the Veterans' Bureau, provides, in effect:

1. That every officer and enlisted man or any person in the active service under the War and Navy Department, who was discharged or who resigned prior to the establishment of the Veterans' Bureau, August 9, 1921, and every such person in the active service on or before November 11, 1918, who, on or after August 9, 1921, was discharged or resigned, shall be conclusively held to have been in sound condition when entering the service, except as to such disabilities as were noted of record when or prior to the time he entered the service.

2. That an ex-service man who is shown to have a mental disease or an active tubercular disease of 10 per cent. or more, and such showing was made upon examination by a medical officer of the Veterans' Bureau or other qualified physician, within three years after separating from the service, shall be considered to have acquired his disability in service or to have suffered an aggravation of pre-existent tubercular or mental disability. In addition to extending this period from two years to three years in mental and tubercular cases the provision eliminates the qualification that the tubercular condition must be pulmonary to entitle one to the benefits of the presumption.

There is also a provision extending the time in which a certificate of disability may be obtained by providing that such certificate may be obtained prior to March 4, 1924, and that such certificate, except in case of fraud, shall be incontestable evidence that the injury for which it is issued was suffered in or aggravated by the military service.

Another provision of the new act which is applicable also to veterans other than World War veterans, provides that when a veteran of any war dies after his discharge or resignation from the service and does not leave sufficient estate to meet the expenses of burial and transportation of the body, the Veterans' Bureau will pay for a flag to drape the casket, and also for burial expense not exceeding $100, the flag, after burial, to become the property of the next of kin of the deceased. If death occurs while such person is receiving governmental medical, surgical or hospital treatment or vocational training, the bureau will pay, in addition to burial expenses, actual and necessary cost of transportation of the body, including the preparation of the body, to a place of burial within the continental limits of the United States. This provision of the new act extends the funeral expenses to a larger class of veterans than was previously provided for.

There is another provision in the act which is of interest to the Spanish War veterans, as well as to veterans of the Philippine insurrection and Boxer rebellion. It extends all hospital facilities under the control and jurisdiction of the bureau so that they are available for these veterans suffering from neuro-psychiatric or tubercular ailments.

A provision is also made that payments of premiums on yearly renewable term insurance and converted insurance may be deemed not to have lapsed in the cases of those persons, who, while mentally incompetent and for whom no legal guardian had been appointed, have heretofore allowed or may hereafter allow their insurance to lapse while so suffering, during the period for which they have been or may hereafter be so rated.

Camels are the only animals that cannot swim and this may be why they go so long without water.

TYPHOID EPIDEMIC WILL COST $40,000

With a Death Toll That Is Far More Serious to the Town of Cochrane.

Typhoid fever is costly, from a financial viewpoint, but how much more so from the toll of deaths reported from Northern Ontario during the last couple of weeks. Five deaths occurred April 11, alone.

Every few years there is an epidemic of typhoid in the Province, usually due to the contamination of the water supply. Typhoid fever is a water-borne disease, and the baccilli gains entrance to the body through food or water, and not in any other way.

The Prophylaxis of the infection bears chiefly on the insistence of a pure water and ice supply. If the water and ice that is used in homes and places of business is not pure and free from germs, towns and cities must face the possibility of the outbreak of disease at any time.

It stands to reason that if the water supply is not pure, that the ice supply will not be pure either.

People may be inclined to think there cannot be any danger from our water supply this year owing to the severity of the past winter, but it is a known fact that freezing does not kill germs, the spores which correspond to the seed of a plant are very difficult to destroy, lying dormant till the ice is subjected to heat, when they again become active.

Surely in the face of this terrible calamity, we ought to take the lesson very seriously, and insist on pure water and pure ice.

WEDDING BELLS

FOLEY—KEITEL.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized by Rev. Father Costello, when Miss Margaret Keitel, daughter of Mr. Alex. Keitel, of Sherbrooke Street, Peterboro, was united in marriage to Mr. Leo Foley, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Foley, of Keene. Miss Mary Foley, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid, while Mr. Joseph O'Dette of Peterboro supported the groom. The happy couple will reside in Keene.

GRAHAM—RUNIONS.

A large company witnessed the wedding which was solemnized on Saturday, April 14, at 6.30 in Grace Methodist church, Winnipeg, Man., by Rev. J. W. Runions, Ph.B., father of the bride, assisted by Rev. W. Cann, of his daughter Bessie and Dr. Gordon D. Graham, Vermillion, Alta., son of Mrs. Graham Morton, of Winnipeg. As the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin peeled forth, played by Mr. Ronald Gibson, the ushers, Loftin Walden, cousin of the bride, and Earl Rogers, escorted the bridal party to the altar. The little flower girl, Shirley Graham, niece of the groom, was dressed in pink taffeta with touches of silver, and hat to match, and carried a basket of pink sweet peas. Miss Opal Graham, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid, and was gowned in mauve and silver shot taffeta, with touches of pink and a cluster of silver grapes, wearing a band of silver leaves in her hair, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The matron of honor, Mrs. T. Ross Currie, sister of the bride, was dressed in blue and silver shot taffeta, with silver lace collar and streamers of silver ribbon, with band of silver leaves in her hair and carried deep pink roses. Lastly came the bride, leaning on the arm of her brother, Wesley Runions. She was gowned in white crepe faconne, brocaded with silver, with elongated side drapes, caught with a cluster of silver grapes, her only ornament being a rope of pearls. Her train hung from the shoulders, while her veil, which was arranged in cap effect, with coronet of orange blossoms, extended to the end of her train and was held in place with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of cream roses, orchids and apple blossoms. Mr. H. McLean acted as best man. During the signing of the register, Mr. J. T. Westby sang "Love's Coronation." The bride's mother wore grey crepe de chene with side panel of peacock blue beaded in cut steel, with hat to match. The groom's mother wore a gown of royal blue satin, with black lace overdress, and hat to match. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. G. W. VanVliet poured tea, and Mrs. Charles Barber cut the ices, assisted by Mrs. C. Wood, Miss Ruth Shannon, and a number of the bride's C.G.I.T. group. Later the bride and groom left for Vermillion via Calgary, the bride wearing a gown of Duke of York shade alltyme crepe with trimming of Paisley and brown hat and veil with Paisley trimming. The out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Moffatt, Portage la Prairie, and Miss Cora Walden, Bagot.

OBITUARY

The funeral of Mrs. Irwin Marks, formerly of Peterborough, will take place from the C.P.R. Station on Saturday on arrival of the noon train from Toronto, where she has been resident lately.

Rev. W. Harold Young will conduct the services. Interment will be made in Little Lake Cemetery.

MRS. MARY CAIRNS.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary Cairns, who died on Wednesday afternoon, April 18, will be held from her late residence, 491 Patterson street, at 2 p.m., on Friday, April 20. Rev. R. B. Grobb of All Saints, will officiate, and interment will be made in the Little Lake Cemetery.

The late Mrs. Cairns was 82 years of age, and suffered a stroke about three and a half years ago, since when she had been an invalid, suffering a second stroke, with complications on Monday morning last, to which she succumbed. She is survived by two daughters, and one son, Susie, Clara and George F., all at home.

Born in Ireland, deceased's malden name was Mary Detcher, and it is 68 years since she left her native land, and came to Peterboro, where she married the late Mr. George Cairns, who predeceased her 24 years ago. A devoted wife and mother, loyal friend and sympathetic neighbour in the hour of need, she enjoyed during her long life here the esteem and respect of a large circle of friends and acquaintances. An Anglican by faith, the late Mrs. Cairns was a consistent member of All Saints' church since its inception as a mission, and for many years engaged in the activities of that church's women's associations.

NO CAMP FOR THE PETERBORO RANGERS

Peterborough Rangers have organized for the summer and report that they will be up to strength by Tuesday next.

Training has started and will be continued every Tuesday until the end of May. The regular training of nine days has been authorized, but as the Government is keeping down expenses there will be no camp this year.

Several officers with overseas service are expected to join the organization shortly. A feature of the body now is that all the sergeants have had overseas experience and compose a body of non-commissioner officers that compares favourably with any in the Dominion. They were highly commended on the last inspection by the General Officer Commanding.

The Officers and men are looking forward to a successful year's work.

GERMANS WOULD ATTACK FRANCE BUT NOT WORLD

Unified Teutons Are Only Deterred By Fear of British and American Intervention.

HATE COMMON FOE.

(By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS)

COLOGNE, April 20.—"Germany would fight France right now if she could obtain assurances from the United States and Great Britain that they would not intervene."

An American of high standing in Germany, a man closely acquainted with leading Germans all over the country, who knows the people and the language as well or better than he knows his own, made this statement to me while on his way through this city.

"Before the Ruhr occupation," he said, "Germany was split up into all sorts of factions fighting among themselves. The Ruhr has brought them together to a man.

"Junkers and Syndicalists, imperialists, pan-Germans, Socialists and Republicans—all hate the French today with a personal bitterness not apparent even during the crucial days of the war.

Hatred Rolls Up

"As the French stay on, as incident follows incident in the Ruhr, and as tales of riding whips used by the French on German civilians go the rounds—true or false makes not the slightest difference—this hatred goes on rolling up.

"Experts say the Germans could not possibly make war against the French. The latter have all the machinery and the Germans none.

"But experts also said prior to 1914 that a general European war could not happen because the principal nations were already hard pressed for money.

Experts' Opinions

"When the war broke out regardless, these same experts said it could not last a year because all concerned would go bankrupt. Yet the war lasted over four years.

"I am not expecting war between France and Germany. But let us not forget in that connection the human opinion—super-heated anger and desperation, the feeling that anything would be better than the way things are.

"And then there is the rest of Europe. Germany might find allies among other desperate nations. In any event Germany might start something she could not finish by which might nevertheless kindle this ball of the world."

THE WEATHER.

There was a feeling of real summer in the air to-day, and it was by all odds the warmest since early fall. At noon to-day it was 70 deg. in the shade. The lowest last night was 50 degrees, also the warmest night for many weeks. Soon the shady side of the street will be selected, and the season open for the perennial query, "Is it hot enough for you?"—W. P.

Rev. J. F. Chapman Transferred to the London Conference

The Methodist Transfer Committee, which met in Toronto this week, have transferred Rev. J. L. Chapman, B. A., of St. James' Church, Peterboro, to the London Conference.

As Rev. Mr. Chapman received an invitation from the Empress Avenue Church, London, early last December, this transfer was made necessary in order that the invitation might be accepted.

AIR HONEYMOON DIVES TO EARTH

ATLANTA, Ga., April 20.—Wiil D. Philan, aviator, and his bride, soared to the seventh heaven of matrimonial bliss—

Philan, you see, married Miss Annie May Wells here. The ceremony was performed while the pair were seated in Philan's plane.

Then the propeller started whirring and off flew Philan and his bride for a honeymoon in Indiana.

But, say police, Philan forgot one important fact when he got married—that he already was married to a girl in Lexington, Ky., and had neglected to divorce her.

Well, news of the spectacular air wedding reached Lexington. Upon which the alleged wife No. 1 communicated with the father of the alleged wife No. 2 in Atlanta.

Upon which papa complained to police who caused the flying lover's arrest at Evansville, Ind.

The air bride has come back home to father. The woman who calls herself wife No. 1 is coming to Atlanta, too—to testify against Philan.

DIRECTORS DECIDE TO COMMENCE OPERATIONS

At a meeting of the directors of Canadian Oil Fields Ltd. last evening it was decided to proceed with the purchase of materials and machinery to drill several hundred feet.

The manager was instructed to hire the necessary help for an immediate start. Three Colborne business men are backing the operations with investments and funds, on the strength of a report by a representative of the Land and Mines department at Ottawa. This official reported very favourably on the prospects for a good flow of oil.

GOVT. OF FRANCE PLACE EMBARGO BRITISH SHELLS

Extraordinary Relations Between Two Countries Revealed-Shells Needed for Scrap Steel.

BREACH OF TREATY

LONDON, April 20.—(United Press).—An extraordinary state of affairs existing in the relations between France and Britain was revealed in the House of Commons last night when Reginald Terrill, asked the government if France had placed an embargo on the return to England of thousands of shells remaining in France after the war, and the property of the British War Office, which were needed in England for Scrap Steel. In reply to Hon. Ronald McNeill, Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, admitted that the rumor was correct and said that the British Government had lately forwarded a most vigorous protest against such an embargo, and had pointed out that this action by France was a direct breach of the Anglo-French Convention. The French Government thereupon replied, but wholly ignored the question of such violation.

Price Has Risen

France further stated that the price of scrap steel had risen by two pounds a ton since the placing of the embargo.

The result of this action by France may lead to the refusal of British importers to accept any deliveries of steel from the Ruhr, and the rais ing of the question has raised a stir in political circles.

PRESENT CLUB BAG TO MR. MACKENZIE

At the conclusion of choir practice in Knox church last night, Rev. J. T. MacKenzie, who is leaving the city in the near future, was very pleasantly surprised by the members of the choir. A very tastefully worded address was read by Mrs. Walter Byers and on behalf of the choir, Mr. H. J. McCannan presented Mr. MacKenzie with a handsome Club Bag. The address was as follows:

"Dear Mr. MacKenzie, — The members of the choir of the church in which you have ministered for the past eight years, wish at this time to express their sorrow at your coming departure, and to present to you a token of their best wishes for success in your new charge. You have been at all times a staunch friends of the choir. Your assistance has always been given cheerfully, and because of your presence we have been able to do better work.

That in itself, you will say, is ample reward.

But we wish you to accept this Club bag, so that you may safely carry away not only our best wishes for your continued success in the Master's work, but also an invitation to return to us when your new duties will permit. This precaution is necessary because we know the choir of your new charge will be just as anxious to keep you with them as we will be happy to have you with us again."

The address as signed by all present.

Before Mr. MacKenzie was permitted to reply the choir say "for he's a jolly good fellow" and followed it up with three cheers and a tiger.

In his words of acknowledgment Mr. MacKenzie referred feelingly to happy associations he enjoyed with those responsible for the service of praise and paid a tribute to the loyalty and efficiency of the choir. He thanked them for this visible token of their affection and expressed the assurance that the future holds good things for Knox, in which the choir will largely share.

Mrs. MacKenzie was also remembered by the gift of a box of chocolates, which was found modestly reposing within the recesses of the Club Bag.

Mr. MacKenzie closes his pastorate in Knox on Sunday next, April twenty-second.

Prince of Wales Desires Long Rest on His Ranch in Alberta

Private Trip to Canada Will Be Arranged Only If Health Demands It—Unveils Monument in Brussels on April 28.

LONDON, April 20. — (United Press.)— The Prince of Wales will pay a visit to Belgium on Saturday, April 28, to unveil a monument in Brussels in commemoration of Britain's gratitude to Belgium for her care of the British wounded in the Great War.

The Prince, who has been suffering from a throat affection for several weeks past so that he has been forbidden to make speeches, is giving his parents and the nation some anxiety with regard to his health. He is considerably run down and his physicians say that he needs a complete rest.

To intimate friends recently the Prince stated that what he needed and desired before all else was a three months' stay on his Alberta ranch, and efforts have actually been begun for the Prince to undertake a private visit to Canada, but it is doubtful whether this can be arranged and it is stated on the highest authority that the trip to the Dominion will not be made unless the requirements of the Prince's health compels such a journey.

CITY WON BOTH CASES

Actions for Damages Amounting to $1200 Recently Tried in County Court Were Dismissed by Judge Huycke — Double Win for Late City Solicitor—Negligence Not Proven.

Two similar actions against the city for damages, which were recently tried in the County Court, were dismissed without costs by Judge Huycke on decisions that were handed down on Thursday.

Mrs. Carrie T. Whitlow was the paintiff in one case, suing for $700 on account of injuries suffered in a fall on the sidewalk in front of the Montgomery Hotel on Simcoe Street. In the other case, Miss Minnie Quinn claimed $500 damages for a broken arm with consequent pain, inconvenience and loss of time, resulting from an accident on March 3, in which she fell on a patch of ice on the sidewalk in front of Mittard's store on Hunter Street.

Negligence on the part of the city was alleged by both pisintiffs. These were the last cases in which Mr. C. R. Widdifield acted as city solicitor. The judgments follow:—

Mr. C. R. Widdifield for the defendant.

This is an action for damages by Miss Quinn against the City of Peterborough. The plaintiff on the 3rd of March, 1922, fell on the pavement on the south side of Hunter Street, between the Low Apartments and Millard's store and broke her arm. From this she undoubtedly suffered much pain and inconvenience, and in addition for a long time was unable to carry on her business as a dressmaker, which resulted of course in financial loss.

Duty of Municipality

The law generally requires a Municipality to keep its streets and pavements, where there are such, in a reasonable state of repair, and the Municipality is liable for any damages that occur to any individual by reason of non-repair, or lack of repair, and this lack of repair may be caused by either nonfeasance or misfeasance, that is by performing work in an improper manner, or neglecting it altogether. The law makes an exception with reference to such lack of repair when caused by snow and ice. In ordinary cases, ordinary negligence is sufficient to fasten liability upon the municipality; but the legislature has deemed it wise, probably on account of the severity of our northern winters, to enact that in cases of damages resulting from snow and ice that the municipality must be guilty of "gross negligence" in order to attach liability to it.

Was There Negligence?

The question, and the sole question here is, was the municipality guilty of "gross negligence," which negligence resulted in the injury to the unfortunate plaintiff? Taking into consideration all the evidence, I must answer this question in the negative. The defendants employees were in constant touch with this particular part of the city, and the evidence generaly is that although in a bad place, it was not such that could be regarded as necessarily dangerous, or that such "gross negligence" was established. The accident was apparently caused by a smooth strip of ice upon the sidewalk upon which the plaintiff slipped, the smoothness being caused by children sliding on it. This bit of ice had been sanded continuously; and, if I can believe the evidence as I do, not a day passed but some attention was given to it by the City employees. They may, or may not, have used the best methods; but they seem to have used the best of their judgment in connection with it. It was suggested that they should have coipped, or scraped, or roughened it in some way.

The evidence of the Engineer, and his assistants, show that such had been tried and found not feasible, or satisfactory. The City men put sand on that place nearly every day, or when it was required, and sometimes salt. The salt is said to have given the best results when mixed with the sand, and it is not shown that the salt had been used immediately before the accident. I think, however, reasonable care was taken of this pavement and that the City is not guilty of such "gross negligence" as the Statute contemplates.

The action must therefore be dismissed. In view, however, of the severity of the accident and the suffering of the plaintiff, I make no order as to costs.

Dated at Peterborough this 17th day of April, 1923.

EDWARD HUYCKE,
Judge.

WHITLOW vs. PETERBOROUGH
Mr. S. T. Medd for the plaintiff.
Mr. C. R. Widdifield for the defendant.

This is an action for negligence against the City of Peterborough. It is alleged that a grating in the pavement on the north side of Simcoe Street, just by the Montgomery House, was raised or elevated so that the plaintiff tripped over it and seriously hurt herself.

There is no doubt the plaintiff fell, and no doubt also that she was laid up for a considerable time and suffered pain and inconvenience. She was also at a financial loss arising from various causes, and was unable for some time to carry on her usual occupations. The question is whether or not such accident was due to the defendants' negligence.

Examined the Place

With the consent of the parties I have viewed the scene of the accident. I find that there are two gratings in the pavement adjoining the Montgomery House. The evidence given by the plaintiff and on her behalf, is that the accident took place on the eastern grating. I think there may be possibly some confusion in the mind of some of the witnesses as to these two gratings; but the pleadings show, and evidence is given to indicate that it was at the eastern one that she met with the accident. That being so I must find that this eastern grating was not elevated, or out of place, and that the defendants are not guilty of any negligence regarding it, and that this particular grating has been for many years in precisely the same condition that it is now, that it has not been taken out, or its position changed in any way whatever.

Claim Disproved

So that with regard to it, not only is the plaintiff's claim unproved, but it is absolutely disproved by and on behalf of the defendants. It came out incidentally that the western grate had been moved and taken up on various occasions to put coal in the cellar, and that sometimes it had been out of repair, was elevated and might have caused an accident; but the scene of the accident is placed by the plaintiff and her witnesses at the eastern grating, and that being so I must find that she has failed to make out her case. The result is that her action against the City must be dismissed.

There will be no order as to costs.

DRY MEASURE REJECTED BY BRITISH HOUSE

Commons, by a Vote of 236 to 14, Threw Out the Scotch Prohibition Bill.

FIRST OF ITS KIND

LONDON, April 20. — (United Press).—The House of Commons, by a vote of 236 to 14, this afternoon rejected a prohibition bill introduced by Edwin Scyrmgeour Dundee. The Scotch Prohibitionist Bill, which was up for a second reading would have prohibited the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors except for scientific purposes.

One member after another rose and tore the proposal to shreds, most of the speaker pointing to the United States as a horrible example of prohibition.

First of its Kind

Edwin Scrymgeour, prohibition member of parliament, in moving today the second rerading of his bill prohibiting the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquor, except for scientific and medical purposes, pointed out that it is the first measure of its kind introduced in the house.

VETERAN PARADE ON SUNDAY NEXT

Anniversary of the Second Battle of Ypres Will Be Observed.

Peterboro Veterans of the World War are reminded again of the annual church parade, which will be held on Sunday morning. The parade this year will be held to the Sacred Heart Church.

All Veterans in the city are asked to attend in uniform, and wearing decorations. The service starts at 10.30 o'clock, so the parade will leave in front of the G.W.V.A. Hall at 10 o'clock. The Peterboro Rangers band will be in attendance.

This parade is always held on the Sunday falling nearest to April 22, this date being chosen because it is the anniversary of the Second Battle of Ypres, on which occasion the Canadian troops made a name for themselves that will live forever. This is the battle in which the first gas was used by the German forces and in spite of this barbaric and inhuman form of warfare the Canadian troops held the line and prevented the German forces from breaking through to victory.

Quick Response By Local Firemen Shows Progress

When the alarm was sent in from box 25 yesterday evening to turn the fire truck out to take part in the Motor Parade, the firemen took two repeats off the tape in the usual way and arrived in the market square in just 50 seconds. At their regular practice they run out two lines of hose and coupled them in 9 seconds.

Apropos of this, it is interesting to note in an Examiner of August 9, 1887, that the fire department in a test had a stream playing from a George street hydrant in 1 minute and 16 seconds from the time of alarm.

This was a wonderful record for the time, and considering the apparatus then in use one can admire it very much. The progress that has been made in equipment and training is seen in the difference between 59 seconds and 1 minute and 16 seconds—and last night the apparatus travelled a greater distance.

JUDGMENT FOR CURTIS BROS.

Appeal Court Allows Their Claim With Full Costs Against John E. Hayes and Sons.

In a judgment delivered at Osgoode Hall yeaterday, the Court of Appeal unanimously allowed the appeal of Curtis Brothers, brickmakers, in their action against John E. Hayes and Sons, contractors, for bricks used in the construction of the Red Arrow Tires building.

The plaintiffs' claim for $3,609 was dismissed with costs by Mr. Justice Middleton at the trial here last November, but the appeal against this judgment has now been allowed, and Curtis Brothers are given the full amount of their claim together with costs of the trial and the appeal. The judges composing the Court of Appeal were: Chief Justice Sir William Meredity, Mr. Justice Magee, Mr. Justice Hodgins and Mr. Justice Ferguson.

Solicitors for Curtis Brothers were Messrs. Peck, Kerr and McElderry, who were represented on the appeal by I. F. Hellmuth, K.C., of Toronto, and Mr. F. D. Kerr, K.C., and Gordon and O'Brien, who were represented on the appeal by H. S. White, K.C., of Toronto, were the solicitors for the defendants, John E. Hayes and Sons.

ATTENDANCE AT BIG MOTOR SHOW BROKE RECORDS

Splendid Musical Programme, Boxing Bouts, Fashion Show and Dance Hall Attractions

RADIO SECTION

The attendance at last night's Motor Show broke all previous records for any night. Hundreds of people circulated all evening through the large building, examining the cars, listening to the music of the orchestra of the Conservatory of Music, which had a specially good programme last evening, patronizing the boxing bouts, the fashion show and the dance hall, or having a good time at the refreshment booths.

On the streets and in front of the entrance to the Armouries, the band of the Peterborough Rangers and the Melody Concert Band played all evening, huge signs announcing to the crowds the fact that the Motor Show was going on in the Armouries. The fine weather of last night brought out scores of people, to spend a pleasant evening in taking in the manifold attractions of the Show.

Gay With Flowers.

The flower booth, gay with roses, carnations, snapdragon and hydrangea, was doing a flourishing business, pretty girls with fragile, perfumed wares circling among the crowds; the sand pile in the fancy work section supervised by the King's Daughters had its usual quota of happy youngsters, and the sales of ice cream, candy, soft drinks, doughnuts and coffee was proceeding apace. Tall Highlanders in full regalia added a touch of romantic color to the gay crowd, which seemed to a casual observer to be enjoying itself with a zest absent during last year's showing. Perhaps the fine weather had some-

Ford Says He Has $200,000 Cash; And He Has No Idea of Borrowing

NEW YORK, April 20.—Henry Ford has no intention of going into the market to borrow money. This statement the automobile manufacturer made in a telegram sent by him in Detroit to The Wall Street Journal to answer to an inquiry as to how his cash balance stood following his acquisition of coal properties, timber lands, water power sites and other investments. His cash balances, Mr. Ford said, still exceeded $200,000,000, and "as yet we have not thought of borrowing any money."

Asked about his plans for the development of his coal properties, Mr. Ford said he was urging the advisability of putting in coke ovens with a view to doing the same things he had done in Detroit. In Detroit he has taken advantage of numerous by-products of coal any coke, thus increasing their worth and greatly defraying the aggregate cost of his coal. The gas drawn off from the coal is used to supply gas and lighting for cities and other by-products are sold for motor fuel and other commodities.

Mr. Ford's old friend, Harvey Firestone, has held consultations with the automobile man with regard to the installation of a coking plant in Akron, Ohio, and, so Mr. Ford said, has shown a willingness to put in a coking plant in Akron, which would serve citizens of that place with cheap coke and gas, the same as used in Detroit.

Mr. Ford said the first step he has taken in connection with developing his coal distribution was to let contracts for doubling the River Rouge coking ovens. Contracts for the steel have been let and construction will begin soon. "When these are finished," Mr. Ford said, "we will double the coking ovens again."

REBEL FORCE DRIVEN FROM CAVE IN CLIFF

A Spectacular Two-Day Battle Resulted in Death or Capture of the Entire Band — 100 Feet in the Air.

LONDON, April 20.—(Canadian Press)) — The spectacular siege of the little band of Irish Republicans which had been holding out against the Free State forces in a cave 100 feet from the top of Clashmeelcon Cliff on the wild shore on the Shannon in County Kerry, has come to a sensational ending.

Two of the men who had been fighting under a continuous machine gun fire Monday night fell from the cliff into the Shannon while trying to escape in the darkness of Wednesday night and were drowned; Commander Lyons of the hillside fortress dropped 100 feet to the beach while being hauled up the cliff, but rose and was shot and killed while trying to escape, and the four others of the little party, including Walter Stevens of London, were captured, according to a despatch to the Central News from Tralee.

The men in the cave evidently believing their position insecure, were endeavoring to sally forth and reach the protection of an adjoining cave when the casualties occurred. The body of Commander Lyons was washed out to sea by the rising tide.

RESERVE BANK WAS PROPOSED FOR DOMINION

Witness Before Parliamentary Committee Said Federal Bank is Unnecessary Until Population Increases.

DIFFICULT WITNESS.

OTTAWA, April 20.— (Canadian Press.) — The establishment of a Federal Reserve Bank in Canada and incidentally its relation to the collapse of the Merchants Bank featured largely in the continued examination of Sir Frederick William-Taylor, president of the Canadian Bankers' Association and General Manager of the bank of Montreal before the Banking and Commerce Committee yesterday afternoon.

The examination of Sir Frederick on this point was conducted by L. J. Ladner, Conservative member for Vancouver South, who has submitted to the committee a proposal for the creation of a Federal Reserve Bank in Canada.

Sir Frederick has stated his opinion that the proposal for a Federal Reserve Bank in Canada was "premature," and that the present discount facilities in Canada were "adequate."

"If the population were 15,000,000," asked Mr. Ladner, "would facilities be adequate without further capital or without a federal reserve board?"

"Bring that up when the population is fifteen millions," replied the witness amid general laughter of the committee.

Mr. Ladner then brought up the question of the Merchants' Bank and asked Sir Frederick's opinion whether a body with "disciplinary authority," such as possessed by the Federal Reserve Board could have prevented the collapse of that bank, when it got an advance of eight or nine million dollars from the Finance Department.

"It is my knowledge," Sir Frederick replied, "that the Minister of Finance has asked some very pertinent questions when a bank was borrowing what seemed to the minister excessive sums. The Minister of Finance has just as great power of discipline as could be created in a federal reserve bank."

"There is nothing in the act to give him power," said Mr. Ladner.

"I do not know whether it is the act or not, but it is within my knowledge that the Minister of Finance has seen that good collateral was given and has asked pertinent questions."

In reply to repeated questions whether the present Finance Act provided sufficient rediscount facilities, the witness said he thought the Finance Act "is working perfectly."

"That is not an answer to my question," commented Mr. Ladner.

Talk of Secession in Nova Scotia House

HALIFAX, N.S., April 20.—(Canadian Press).—The secession from the Confederated Provinces of the Dominion of Canada and the setting up of Nova Scotia as an independent, self-governing British Dominion, was advocated in the House of Assembly yesterday afternoon by H. W. Corning, Conservative, Yarmouth, in a resolution calling for a referendum vote of the electorate to ascertain whether or not the people of the Province were in favor of such a move.

AN AMENDMENT TO ADOLESCENT ACT BROUGHT IN

MUCH DELAY.

TORONTO, April 20.—(Canadian Press.)— Three government measures were introduced in the Legislature yesterday afternoon before the debate on the redistribution bill was resumed. Hon. R. H. Grant, Minister of Education, brought in a bill amending the Adolescent School Attendance Act giving some exemption among rural schools. It provides that the act shall not apply to a rural adolescent whose services are required on the home farm providing that the adolescent is in school three months a year.

Another bill concerns investigation of the grain trade. It is concurrent legislation with that being passed by the Federal Parliament for a grain inquiry. Hon. Walter Rollo introduced a bill amending the Workmen's Compensation Act. It provides increasing the compensation for children whose parents are dead from $10 and $15 to $20. It also increases the compensation of a widow from 66 and two thirds per cent of her deceased husband's wages to 100 per cent.

H. H. Dewart brought up the matter of long standing notices of motion for the return of certain papers. Hon. Walter Rollo said that in his department some of these papers had been available for weeks and he was simply waiting for the House to pass the resolutions calling for them. The Premier said he was willing to pass all these resolutions if the members would not debate them. Mr. Dewart asked several members if they wanted to discuss their resolution and received replies that they did not and were only seeking information. As a result of Mr. Dewart's efforts four or five resolutions calling for papers and information were passed without discussion.

A. W. Gray (Con. Leeds) before the orders of the day said he desired to correct a report of a recent speech of his in Toronto. He denied that he had referred to the Farmer members as "numbskulls and dummies."

Premier Drury and Hon. Mr. Ferguson had their daily encounter as to the responsibility for holding up business. Mr. Ferguson declared there was no disposition on the part of the Prime Minister to arrange matters for speeding up business. Because of a remark by J. W. Widdifield that was not audible in the galleries, that member received the attention of the Conservative leader for a few caustic remarks. "There is a member here from North Ontatrio by accident," said Mr. Ferguson, referring to Mr. Widdifield, "who has more intelligence from his ears down than from his ears up. He is always interjecting some insolence into the debate and I think it is about time he stopped."

POLICE HELD AT BAY BY RIFLES OF UNEMPLOYED

Total of Five Killed in Riots at Mulheim — Police Inadequate and No French Troops.

MULHEIM, April 20.—(Canadian Press). — The business section of Mulheim is in the hands of armed unemployed. Unemployed to the number of about 3,000 have thrown barricades across the principal streets. There have been numerous clashes with the police, and at least three men have been killed and from forty to fifty wounded, according to figures given out by the German Red Cross. This brings the total number of dead since the demonstrations began up to five.

The Town Hall, with 200 police within, is besieged by the unemployed, who are armed with rifles obtained during the day by looting arms and munitions stores in the city. All stores are closed and the owners have barricaded the doors and windows.

The police effectives are much reduced and there are no French soldiers in Mulheim. The unemployed are using paving blocks from the streets and bricks from buildings in the course of erection as barricade material.

A delegation of these men was received by the Burgomaster, who declared that he was unable to grant them increased doles unless instructed by the Reich. The delegation decided that the unemployed would await Berlin's decision behind their barricades.

All traffic is at a standstill and all activities are controlled by the rioters, who are led by members of the Communist party and are confiscating foodstuffs.

It is expected that the police will have to surrender unless they receive assistance from the outside.

IRELAND WILL NOT APPLY TO ENTER LEAGUE

Senate Votes to Take No Action on Invitation to Join League of Nations—Fitzgerald Says Yes.

Constitutional Point.

DUBLIN, April 20. — (Canadian Press.)—The Senate made a surprise decision yesterday, 16 votes to 10, that the Government should take no action to procure the Free State's admission to the League of Nations without the consent of both Houses of the Free State Parliament. The decision is considered the more surprising inasmuch as the Free State has been invited by the Economic Commission of the League to participate in the forthcoming International Customs Conference.

Senator Douglas moved that the Government should apply for admission to the League at the earliest opportunity, on the ground that it was desirable for the Free State to play a proper part in international affairs. The cost, he said, would be about £10,000.

Colonel Sir Hutchinson Poe opposed the motion on the ground that the exclusion of Germany and Russia, the aloofness of the United States and the general situtionin Europe gave little hope that the high ideals of the League would materialize and the Free State, with a deficit of £20,000,000, could ill afford the liability mentioned.

Desmond Fitzgerald then announced that the Government had decided to apply to the League of Nations for admission, and a motion to this effect would be brought before the League in September. He recognized that the League was imperfect, but contended that the Free State could not afford to disregard the nations of the world, in view of her status and responsibilities.

The Earl of Wicklow moved an amendment that, while expressing no opinion on the subject of the motion, the Senate records its conviction that the Government should take no steps without the consent of both Houses, this amendment being carried, 16 to 10.

The vote raises an interesting constitutional point as it is understood the Government's view is that the question is purely one for the executive.

When she quit at 9.10 o'clock she had beaten by one hour and fifty-two minutes the record of eighty-eight hours and eighteen minutes established yesterday by Arthur Howard Klein.

WHY NOT IN PETERBORO?

In the Consolidated School at Grantham, near St. Catharines, a prize is being offered to the boy or girl who in the judgment of the teaching staff proves the most courteous pupil in the school each year.

This is an example that might be adopted in the Peterborough district as well as generally.

Next to the home the school has the best opportunity to inculcate courtesy and there is nothing that can be learned in school that is more desirable or that will be of greater advantage in after-life than the habit of being courteous on every possible occasion.

Courtesy has been defined as politeness springing from kindly feeling; an act of kindness done with politeness.

So that it is necessary to develop something more than mere politeness, desirable though that may be.

It is essential that the spirit of the Golden Rule shall be engendered in the hearts of the pupils.

"Whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them for this is the law and the prophets."

That is simply an admonition to be courteous and the school that succeeds in causing the majority of its pupils to live up to that admonition will be of inestimable value to the community in which it is situated.

READING AND ATHLETICS.

His Excellency the Governor-General in an address to the Young Men's Canadian Club in Montreal, gave some advice that should be of value to young Canadians everywhere.

Lord Byng stressed the necessity of reading good books and also advocated active participation in games, instead of merely standing around as spectators.

Both suggestions are timely.

Possibly the best effect could be secured if both were to be acted upon.

The trouble is often that the boy who likes good books devotes his chief attention to reading, developing his mind at the expense of his health and body.

On the other hand, his comrade who is interested in athletics has little regard for books. He is too busy with hockey or baseball to worry about reading.

If the two things could be more evenly balanced, so that the boy would not only get the mental stimulant furnished by good reading, but at the same time would receive the physical benefit that comes from active participation in sport, the problem would be solved.

There is just at present an inclination to stress one side of training to the detriment of the other.

The finding of a happy medium would mean much to the average boy and Lord Byng is doing good service in bringing these things to the attention of young Canadians.

PROPORTIONAL REPRESENTATION.

The chief bone of contention in the Legislature is not destribution but proportional representation and if, as the result of obstructionist tactics and the unwarranted delay of the Government in introducing a redistribution measure, the House adjourns without r y readjustment of the present inequalities in representation, somebody will have to do a lot of explaining to the people of the province.

There has been a strong demand for redistribution; so far as proportional representation is concerned there does not appear to be any outcry on the part of the public for the introduction of such a system.

Urban voters have been urging that the people of the larger centres should be given a more equitable representation, having regard to population.

That is their chief concern, and it is safe to say that nine out of ten know little about proportional representation and care less.

If it turns out that the introduction of the system makes it impossible to put through the redistribution bill they are likely to blame Mr. Drury on two counts, first for his delay in bringing his redistribution measure forward and secondly for associating with redistribution the principle of proportional representation, concerning which the public has not been educated, and for which there is no strong pressure of public opinion.

It is a costly farce that the Legislature is staging just now.

AVOID OVERLAPPING.

The fact that several other local attractions are being held tonight and they conflict with the Motor Show is no doubt due to the postponement of the latter event, a matter that was unavoidable owing to the weather conditions on the dates originally selected.

At the same time the incident calls attention to the desirability of a systematic arrangement of dates for local events, so that there will be no clashing.

Such enterprises as the Motor Show which are community undertakings should of course be protected and in any event it is desirable that so far as possible there should be no conflict in the dates of entertainments, concerts, lectures, public meeting and similar gatherings.

There is really no need of confusion in this respect for a clearing house is available in the Chamber of Commerce, which last year offered its services.

A number of organizations have taken advantage of the offer of the Chamber, and it would be in the general good if the method were to be followed by every society or church organization.

It is a simple matter to call the Chamber of Commerce and make inquiries about dates, and if all entertainments and social events were to be thus registered, the danger of overlapping would be almost entirely eliminated.

The Chamber of Commerce has the facilities necessary for a proper supervision of this service and there is no reason why the offer should not be generally taken advantage of by the citizens.

WESTERN PROTESTS.

Western papers are vigorously protesting against the mournful and gloomy speeches which were made recently in the House of Commons by Progressives, particularly those from Alberta, who are followers of William Wise Wood. The Manitoba Free Press in sarcastic vein has the following comment:

"To hear a type of critic who has been very vocal recently you would think that never a pumpkin had had ripened out of the prairie sod; you would think ever swelled itself out in pride beneath the prairie sunshine; you would think that never an ear of wheat that never a steer had fattened itself on prairie grass; you would think that never a pint of milk or a pound of butter or a bottle of honey or a bale of wool, or a ton of coal, or a load of hay, or a side of bacon, or a cord of wood, or a sack of potatoes had ever come out of the West. You would think the West was a land of famine, sowed with salt, and that Doom had it under his wing. Yet the croakers manage to live in the land they disparage; would it be a sin to hope that they did not wax fruitful and multiply?"

The Saskatchewan papers are making similar protest. The Moose Jaw Times remarks that what the West needs is "a different kind of publicity from that which its members have been giving." The article pouts out that Ontario, which 10 years ago shipped turkeys and other fowl by the carload to the West, last December actually imported hundreds of thousands of pounds of Saskatchewan turkeys. It further observes that 10 years ago Saskatchewan did not produce enough butter for its own wants, yet in 1922 the Province had an exportable surplus of 8,400,000 pounds.

Going farther west, Hon. Frank Oliver, who was Minister of Interior for six years under the Laurier regime, writing in the Edmonton Bulletin, comments on the utterances of the Western Progressives in characteristic style. He writes:

"The debate has been one long succession of wails about the desperate time the people already in Canada are having to get a living. . . . The Canadian farm has been represented to the world—chiefly by farmer members—as the peculiar abode of poverty, hopelessness and discontent. . . . If we ever entice another Englishman, Frenchman or Finlander on to a homestead, it will have to be some one who has not read the press dispatches or the Hansard report telling what our members of Parliament think about farm life in Canada. . . . As a means of promoting emigration and frightening newspaper readers in other parts of the world away from Canada, the debate has been a great success. As an aid to immigration it is several million dollars worse than no debate at all. . . . If these blacklisting speeches are warranted, it is criminal to vote the money (for immigration). If it is worth while voting the money, it is a worse offense to make the speeches."

A LITTLE TALK ON THRIFT.

All true progress whether individual or national comes from work. This is the inevitable conclusion one reaches after a visit to the countries of the Near East and Southern Europe, says S. D. Straus, President of the American Society of Thrift.

In these various lands one, of course, observes various religions, customs, occupations and viewpoints of life. But no matter what these conditions may be, the main course of progress resst solely on work.

Perhaps the most striking example of this fact is found in Egypt which today holds so much of interest for the people of the world. Generally speaking the people of this country do little or no work. They are the last word in thriftlessness. They are not interested in education or apparently in anything else that will improve their condition. They have little to wear. They sleep when they like and they eat when they like, their diet consisting mainly of sugar cane. Yet these people can be made mentally vigorous and alert if the proper examples and teachings are given them by their leaders.

Wherever there is distraction from intelligent and systematic work the inevitable result is stagnation. In some of these countries, for example, the distraction is militarism, and, while the training and development of national armies is necessary, too much militarism makes for a life of idleness and creates ideals that are not founded on thrift and industry.

One cannot travel through France without being impressed with the thrift of the people, especially the peasant classes. It is evident on every hand. Even along the roadways one see women gathering wood in vineyards. Small boughs of trees, sticks and dead bushes are of too much value to be wasted, in the estimation of these industrious French people.

What, of course, is most urgently needed in the Near East is political stabilization. The hatreds that exist between some of these people, the cost of military upkeep and the uncertainty of the future are combining to retard these countries. But the elimination of the war menace is not the only requirement for the success of a people.

No matter what a man's circumstances in life may be, his progress stops when he ceases to be a worker.

And the same rule holds true with nations.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

It is to be hoped that the members of the Legislature will not want time and a half for overtime.

Keep up the good work. Make to-night's attendance at the Motor Show a record-breaker.

Some mathematician may be able to figure out how much per word the debate in the Legislature is costing the people of this province.

With the exception of a war in the House with the Conservatives and a feud outside with J. J. Morrison and the Farmers Sun, Premier Drury's life is perfectly tranquil.

At least one record is being made in the Legislature. Members are talking for four hours or more at a stretch without taking a rap at everybodys target, the Attorney-General.

Members who keep awake in the Ontario House these nights must be imbibing considerable information about proportional representation.

Surely Ireland has trouble enough without having Jim Larkin, Labour agitator sent back to the Emerald Isle.

Now that Babe Ruth has made his first home run it may be accepted as official that spring is really here.

Over 700,000 people saw the American League baseball season open in New York. The mortality among grandmothers must have reached a new level.

EXILE TOOK ALL SHOWS AWAY FROM WILHELM

(By Ferdinand C. M. Jahn)

DOORN, — (By mail to United Press).—Former Emperor Wilhelm who during his reign, was a great theater and opera devotee, hasn't seen a show since his exile here.

Though now and then wandering troupes visit Doorn, and give performances in a big public hall, the ex-kaiser never attends.

Hermine, however, is very much interested in such affairs. Only recently she went to see a performance given by university students of medieval mystery plays. The show represents Adam and Eve in the garden of Eden. The languages which Adam and Eve and even the snake used is decidedly out-spoken— after used is decidedly out-spoken—after Hermine was greatly impressed and even went behind the scenes and talked with the amateur performers for more than a half hour.

Despite the fact that the ex-kaiser has a great memory for music, being able to tell you the origin of almost any musical excerpt, he is unable to carry a tune, "even in a basket."

All the more, like most people who haven't been blessed by the Goddess of Music, the ex-ruler delights in singing and whistling, much to the annoyance of his company. Especially those who help him saw his wood are tortured every day by the very same mistakes of the very same tune he invariably whistles when throwing up the sticks on the pile: "We are the Singers From the Dark Forest."

Cats are fetching 10,000,000 roubles, and kittens half that price in Kiev, Russia, where mice are causing enormous damage to food.

LAKEFIELD, April 19.—The H. A.T. Club concluded its weekly meetings for the season last week, with a progressive euchre party at the home of Mrs. Connell. The subject was "Resolved that the Peterborough Examiner is of greater benefit to the community than the Lakefield News." The affirmative was led by Miss Graham and the negative by Mr. Stenner. Mr. F. J. Lillicrap kindly acted as judge. Many good points were brought out and the decision was given to the negative by a narrow margin. Mr. Stenner's impassioned summing up was largely responsible for the victory of his team.

Maple Syrup Every Day.

Maple syrup is coming into the village every day now and the demand for this delicious by-product of the farm is even greater than usual. The season is later and the sap is not running very fully even yet.

The card party to be given in the Lakefield House this evening promises to be a well attended and popular affair and will be one of the principal social events of the week.

Will Present Play.

The Dramatic Club of Lakefield Presbyterian church will present "She Stoops to Conquer" in Norwood on May 4th. The play was given here on March 30th and proved so popular that there have been repeated requests for a repetition and possibly it will be given after the visit to Norwood.

RESERVE BANK

"That is my answer," retorted Sir Frederick.

A few minutes later, Mr. Ladner pressed the banker repeatedly for a statement as to why a federal reserve bank system could not be started without great expense.

Sir Frederick said he could not give a definite answer.

"All right," remarked Mr. Ladner, "if he does not know."

"Don't ask me foolish questions," shot back the witness, "and then say that I cannot answer."

"The questiton I put was not foolish," objected Mr. Ladner.

"It was not a question any person can answer," replied the witness, "I think the expense would be greater."

"Then you can say so and not get sore at me about it," was Mr. Ladner's retort.

At this point J. T. Shaw (West Calgary) took up the examination of the witness regarding western conditions.

Sir Frederick stated that the banks were "in too keen competition" to lend to the farmer. The main difficulty in the west was crop failure; and in such cases the banks "show the utmost consideration to the farmer," and would extend credit for another year if there was prospect of success.

Mr. Shaw asked why the banks charged more than the statutory maximum rate of interest in the west.

"Because," was the reply, "out of 1219 branch banks operating in Western Canada 419 are operating at an operating loss."

"That is your justificatiton for violating the law?" queried Mr. Shaw.

"I object to the word 'violate'," said Sir Frederick.

"Circumvent then," suggested Mr. Shaw.

"I don't like that either," replied Sir Frederick.

Mr. Shaw asked Sir Frederick's opinion of the wisdom of having a revision of the Bank Act every five years.

"God forbid," said Sir Frederick.

"Why call in the Almighty?" asked Mr. Shaw.

"Because he is a friend of the banks," put in a member of the committee.

Sir Frederick told Mr. Shaw that the banks had agreed upon the 3 per cent. rate of interest paid to depositors but not on the rate of current loans.

In reply to William Irvine, the witness said that the government had issued $26,000,000 of what might be called "flat money" during the war.

Sir Freedrick called these Dominion notes "flat" because they were not issued under the law requiring a certain proportion of gold behind them.

COUNCIL CONTROLS POLICE COMMISSION.

Mr. Raney Tells Mayor of London That Power of the Purse is Absolute.

LONDON, Ont., April 14.—If Mayor G. A. Wenige did not succeed in converting the Legislature to the idea of elective police commissions, he has succeeded in settling one hotly debated point—City Councils have the power to prune the estimates of police departments without the consent of the appointed Police Commissioners. The Mayor, on behalf of a dozen Ontario municipalities, asked Attorney-General W. E. Raney for a ruling and received the following reply:

"The estimates submitted by the Board of Police Commissioners to the Council under section 363 of the Municipal Act are undoubtedly, in our opinion, subject to reduction.

"Formerly under this section, before the amendment in 1920, the board submitted estimates to the Council and the Council had no right to interfere with the same. It is quite clear now, however, from the wording of this section, that this is no longer the case, and that the estimates are ,like other estimates, subject to what is known as 'pruning.'

"Under section 359, the police force in cities (and in towns having a police commission) shall consist of a Chief Constable and other officers and assistants as the Council may deem necessary, but not less than the board reports is absolutely required.

"In our opinion this does not affect the power of the Council to reduce the estimates of the Board of Police Commissioners, but merely enacts that the number of constables in cities must not be less than the board reports is absolutely required.

"The remuneration, in our opinion, of such constables would still by the general provisions of section 363, be subject to reduction by the City Council."

What I Have Learned in 47 Years Practice

I HAVE been watching the results of constipation for 47 years, since I began the practice of medicine back in 1875. I am now 83 years old, and though from time to time the medical profession makes some wonderfully interesting experiments and tests, the fundamentals of causes and relief in this particular ailment are unchanged.

But the people take greater interest today in their health, in diet, exercise and the drinking of water. Constipation, however, will occur from time to time no matter how one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. I believe in getting as close to nature as possible, hence my remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It is made of Egyptian senna and pepsin with agreeable aromatics. Children will not wilfully take bitter things. Laxative Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written me to that effect.

Over 10 million bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin are now sold every year, and it is the most widely bought family laxative in the world. I say family laxative because all in the family can use it with safety. It is mild enough for the infant in arms, effective in the most chronic constipation of an adult. The formula is on every package.

Recently there has been a new wave of drastic physics. Calomel, a mercurial that salivates and loosens teeth, has been revived; salt waters and powders that draw needed constituents from the blood; coal tar disguised in candy form that causes skin eruptions. In a practice of 47 years I have never seen any reason for their use when a medicine like Laxative Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping, and without shock to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It lowers your strength 25 per cent, hardens the arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope but go to a druggist and get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. It is a generous-size bottle. Take a teaspoonful that night and by morning you will be well. The cost is only about a cent a dose. Use Laxative Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, piles, indigestion, loss of appetite or sleep, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

LOCAL HOTELMEN HAVE A PUZZLE

Legislation With Regard to Registration of "Man and Wife."

Local hotelmen are in receipt of copies of the new bill respecting standard hotel registration, and they are at a loss to know why section 5 is added, and how the hotel-keeper is to obtain the desired information. Section No. 4 reads: "Every ferson who at any standard hotel, by registering or causing himself or her self to be registered in any register kept in such hotel, represents that a woman is his wife, or that a man is her husband, as the case may be, knowing the same to be untrue shall be guilty of an offence, and shall incur a penalty of not less than $20 and not more than $500 and in default of payment may be imprisoned for a period not exceeding three months."

Section No. 5 permits such registering if the parties have been living together previously. It reads:

"Section 4 shall not apply in the case of a man and woman who, although not in fact married, have a common residence and live openly together as man and wife, and who register or cause themselves to be registered at an hotel under the names by which they are ordinarily known." The bill has been given the second reading.

CROP REPORT

Following is a summary of reports made by the Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

Fall wheat has not done well during the last week, the alternate freezing and thawing causing some heaving, and the high winds having a bleaching effect on the plants. Should the remainder of the month, which is usually the crucial period, prove favorable to the young wheat, a fairly satisfactory crop may still be realized.

So far very little work has been done on the land. A few have attempted plowing, but the ground has been too soft and stickly to make the work worth while.

Clover is looking better than fall wheat, although farmers are anxious about the weather for the next week or two.

Except where injured by girdling by rabbits and mice, fruit trees are in good general condition. The strawberry fields where not mulched, are not looking promising.

The flow of maple sap has been later than usual, and has not been very free. A number of farmers have already marketed syrup at prices ranging from $2.50 to $3 a gallon.

Halton: "Trucks from Hamilton and Toronto travel the good roads in the county and call for cream and milk at the farmers' gates. It would therefore appear that milk and cream can be handled by truck cheaper than by express."

Dundas states that the feature of the week has been the sharp decline in the value of cheese, prices having dropped from 22c to 18c a lb.

Peterborough: "There was quite a heavy run of hogs to the Canadian Packing plant, at Peterborough, during the week, for which farmers here received $10.50 on flat rate. Good calves brought fair prices, but beef animals were draggy. Good milk cows are in fair demand at from $75 to $100 each."

Prescott and Russell: "Some cheese factories have opened their doors. Makers are getting this year 21½c a lb. Farmers who are shipping their cream to the city are getting 57c per lb. of butter fat."

Small pigs are bringing from $10 to $12 a pair in Frontenac.

The swine industry appears to be thriving in North Simcoe. Hogs are being marketed freely and graded in many cases. Co-operative buyers report excellent satisfaction. Cars have graded from 30 to 51.5 per cent. selects. One man brought in a load which graded 100 per cent. selects.

Halton: "Many ewes have given birth to triplets this year. On the other hand, the hog litters are small."

Kent: "Steers being sold out of the county are running at 7 1-4 to 7 3-4 cents per lb. One of the drovers has stated that, Western steers are quite satisfactory for feeding in this county. One dealer in Chatham had 1,486 head of steers placed with farmers for feeding on a basis of 10c per pound for gain in weight. In most instances these were sold to the farmers at 5 1-2 cents in the fall, and bought back again in the spring at 7 cents. This drover still has 1,250 steers on hand. One farmer purchased eleven cattle, weighing 13,200 lbs., on November 15th at 5 1-2 cents per lb. and sold them to the drover on April 4th, a total weight of 16,470 lbs., at 7 cents, making a cash gain of $426.90.

Oxford: "One farmer purchased forty-one head of beef cattle at Toronto last fall. Cost 4.71 cents a lb. in Woodstock; average 800 lbs. Total cost $1,684. Sold eleven recently, average 1,380 lbs., at 7.85 cents for export. Sold the total number of head for $3,336.70. Figures his feed 1,000 bushels mixed grain at 70c, $700; 40 feet silage at $10 a foot, $400; 20 tons hay at $8, $160; total, $1,260 for home-grown feed. Difference between buying and selling price, $1,052.70, minus $1,260 for feed, leaving $392.70 for labor, interest, stabling, etc."

Bruce: "A carload of export and butcher cattle were shipped from Walkerton on Saturday, and the shipper anticipates a firm market. A car-load of hogs were shipped from here a week ago and graded 44 per cent. selects. The price paid was $10.50 for thick smooths."

Peel: "At a sale of bush horses in fair condition, prices ranged from $75 to $100, one or two running around $160. A span of general purpose horses sold at $410."

Lennox and Addington: "Great increase is being taken in the poultry business, and a number of farms are hatching eggs with incubators. So far, the hatches have not been very high. The average for farmers would be about 33 per cent. At our breeding station, we had 310 eggs hatch the last of March from 365 eggs, an average of 54.8 per cent."

ADDRESS AND PURSE FOR HASTINGS PRIEST

Catholic Women's League Praise Rev. C. S. Bretherton.

HASTINGS, April 20.—The following is a copy of the address which was presented to the Rev. Father C. S. Bretherton at the celebration in his honor at the Town Hall here on Monday evening last:

"Dear Father Bretherton,—

"We, the members of the Hastings Catholic Women's League, assemble here this evening on the Fortieth anniversay of your ordination to the priesthood, to show our appreciation of you, our faithful pastor and friend.

"During your sojourn among us for the past eighteen years, you have truly shown yourself a faithful priest and leader. With keen insight and patient help, you have guided us along the path which leads to better and happier homes here on earth, nobler citizenship, and true happiness in Heaven.

"We honor you for your forgetfulness of self which has been manifested in many acts of charity, of which only those who have been most closely associated with you are aware.

"You have ever kept before us the highest ideals, and if we have failed to accomplish all that you had hoped for us, rest assured that you have given us a wider vision for the betterment of our lives.

"If in years to come we are able to carry out those ideals wherein we have failed in the past, it will be because of the seed you so patiently planted in our minds.

"Words are altogether inadequate to express our regard for you, dear reverend father, but as a slight token of our appreciation of your valuable services and the esteem in which you are held by the Catholic Women's League, we ask you to accept this purse, not for its intrinsic value, but as a token of your kindness and helpfulness to us.

"That you will be spared for many more years of usefulness in the task of leading souls to God, is the earnest wish of the Catholic Women's League.

CORN FED STEERS

WASHINGTON, April 20. —(United Press) —Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska corn belt farmers averaged 35 cents a bushel more for the corn they fed to steers during the last winter than they would have received for it at local market prices.

Cost figures compiled by the Department of Agriculture show feeder steers averaged $7 per 100 pounds in cost. A margin of $1.20 per 100 pounds was necessary on the average to pay for feed, labor, interest, equipment, and marketing charges after certain credits. The finished cattle sold on an average for $8.87 per 100 pounds, so that the feeder made a profit of 67 cents per 100 pounds.

"Returns in individual instances came perilously near to the loss column due to bad markets and other causes," says the department, "but the average farmer received more than the market price for his corn and enjoyed a small profit which in some measure should retrieve his losses of two or three years ago. The steers made unusually good gains in weight because of the extraordinarily favorable feeding weather in the corn belt during the fall and winter up to March 1. The average gain in pasture, stalk fields and feed lot was 2.13 pounds a day, which cost 13 1-2 cents a pound. The average weight of the 1,500 steers sold was 1,286 pounds; thus each animal showed a profit of $8.62."

TWO WOMEN MISSING A PUZZLING MYSTETY

Question Arises Whether They Were Slain or Not—Case Has Been Appealed to Supreme Court, U. S.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 18.—Winding its way through the weirdest legal labyrinth on record in American courts, the mystery of the strange disappearance of the Nelms girls, Atlanta heiresses, has been appealed to the United States Supreme Court.

That is the status today of the south's most puzzling mystery which for ten years has baffled the most astute of detectives and which has brought Victor E. Innes three times before the bar of justice, twice to be convicted and once acquitted.

The learned justices at Washington, far more accustomed to deal with dry-as-dust cases with great corporations as litigants, soon will be asked to consider—

WHETHER Innes slew Mrs. Eloise Nelms Dennis and her sister Beatrice Nelms, ground their bodies to bits in a meat-chopper, boiled the mass in a potash-filled caldron and then disposed of the residue.

WHETHER the federal court at Atlanta did right in admitting evidence of this alleged murder, of which Innes once was acquitted, in an effort to convict Innes of a federal charge of using the mails to defraud Mrs. Dennis.

WHETHER the conviction of Innes on that charge in the Atlanta court and his sentence of five years in the penitentiary, just reached after a spectacular trial, shall stand or be annulled.

Atlanta Excited.

Meanwhile Atlanta is settling down after the excitement attending the revelations at the trial of Innes, former United States district attorney in Nevada. More than 100 witnesses were summoned—from Detroit, Portland, Ore., Los Angeles and San Antonio, Tex.

Here is the strange story the prosecution brought forth:

Mrs. Dennis, in 1912, went to Nevada to secure a divorce from her husband. There she met Innes, a brilliant lawyer, handsome, of charming personality. He took charge of her case.

And when Mrs. Dennis, freed from marital bonds returned to Atlanta, it was only natural she entered into a correspondence with her attorney friend.

But, the prosecution charged, Mrs. Dennis sent Innes large sums of money ostensibly for investment in various western properties.

Innes Visits Her.

Innes then came to Atlanta. The prosecution introduced evidence tending to show Innes visited the palatial Nelms home at Smyrna, seven miles from here, and stole several documents including letters he had written to Mrs. Dennis.

When Innes left Atlanta, Mrs. Dennis is said to have accompanied him. At Memphis Miss Beatrice Nelms, sister of Mrs. Dennis, joined them. All went to San Antonio.

There Innes and his wife rented a house. Mrs. Dennis and her sister several times were seen about the premises.

Innes Seized.

Only a few weeks later Innes and Mrs. Innes went to Portland, Ore. There Innes was seized, brought back to San Antonio and tried for murder. He was acquitted. The prosecution could not produce the bodies of the missing women nor, indeed, any proof they were dead.

TOP TO BOTTOM: BEATRICE NELMS, VICTOR E. INNES AND MRS. ELOISE NELMS DENNIS.

But Innes was brought back to Georgia, tried on a charge of larceny and convicted. It was shown he misappropriated funds entrusted to him by Mrs. Dennis. He was sentenced to seven years' hard labor.

The prosecution at that trial tried to introduce evidence bearing on the alleged murder, but it was ruled out as irrelevant.

Barely had Innes completed his prison term than he was again brought here for the trial—this time on a federal charge of having used the mails to defraud.

"Murder" Evidence Up.

Again the prosecution sought to introduce the "murder" evidence—and this time it was successful. The caldron and meat-chopper bought by Innes were actually brought into the courtroom.

The judge even permitted attorneys to question Innes about the alleged murder.

"Why did you ship this meat-chopper from San Antonio to Portland under an assumed name?" they asked him.

"Didn't you put the remains of two bodies in a cesspool?"

"Why was a bloody knife found in your trunk with this meat-chopper?"

Replying, Innes broke the silence of years. He denied he had a hand in or knowledge of the disappearance. He denied he had accepted money from Mrs. Dennis.

A jury in the Atlanta court found him guilty of fraud through the mails, after having heard the "murder" theory.

What will be the action of the Supreme Court?

League to Investigate White Slave Traffic.

GENEVA, April 20 (Canadian Press). — The Council of the League of Nations yesterday adopted a resolution to have the League appoint special investigators to conduct an inquiry into the white slave traffic.

The recommendation offered funds obtained from United States institutions for the prosecution of the inquiry, provided the League of Nations would undertake the work.

The French representative suggested that Dr. Abraham Flexner, of the Rockefeller Foundation, be appointed on the proposed commission of investigators.

Japan and Uruguay have requested representation on it owing to the interest the subject holds to the Far East and South America.

Want Ad Tips by John T. Bartlett

TWO KINDS OF PHONE INQUIRERS.

(By John T. Bartlett)

People who reply to Want Ads over the phone, seeking information, are of two kinds—those who are good questioners, and those who are not. When the Want Advertiser appreciates this fact, and handles phone inquiries accordingly, he gives information with greatest effectiveness. Well-given information moves many inquirers to buy, or to investigate further.

One type of inquirer calls up with a clear idea of what he wishes to know. This may be because he has a thorough knowledge of the article or service offered for sale, or because he has special individual requirements to meet. Whatever the explanation, he is an excellent questioner.

He gets right at the important points. The advertiser courteously cooperates, endeavoring as he replies to give the facts as plainly, concisely, as he can. He does not "beat around the bush", evade, or wander off into trivialities. He lets the inquirer shape the conversation.

The second inquirer does not understand so well what he needs to learn. Or perhaps he is not accustomed to obtaining information over the phone. Taking the initiative, the advertiser tactfully assists the inquirer. Two or three questions put to the latter give a good idea of his need. Then the advertiser describes the offering fully with relation to that need, bringing out one important fact after another. If the inquirer then wishes further information on any point, the advertiser gives it.

Whichever the type of Inquirer, the advertiser should see that the full facts of his offering, as they are applicable, are stated. If the inquirer is a good questioner, and his questions will bring the important facts out, simply courteously answer questions.

On the other hand, if the inquirer is not a good questioner, give information freely without questions. Launch unhesitantly into a description of important features, the things you feel the inquirer should know.

Using this policy, you are safely started on the road to consummated Want Ad sales.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS.

If you let a tomato stand in hot water it will peel much more easily, but it will also have to be chilled again if you are using it for salad.

A quicker and better way is to put it on a fork and hold it for a few seconds over the gas flame. This will loosen the skin without heating the vegetable.

TO KEEP FLANNEL SOFT.

Repeated launderings frequently make flannel hard and shrunken. It may be restored to its former softness by soaking it in gasoline.

SAND CHECKS BURNING.

If your cake tins have worn so thin that your cakes burn on the bottom before they are entirely baked, scatter a little sand over the oven shelf before putting in the pan. This will remedy the situation.

CLEAN PIANO KEYS

Piano keys may be kept beautifully white by bathing them with a soft cloth dipped in alcohol and wiping dry with a clean cloth. Don't let the alcohol come in contact with the wood or it will remove varnish.

PREVENTS SLIPPING

To prevent a plate from slipping when you set it on cake of ice in the refrigerator place an ordinary fruit jar under the plate.

BAL-SA-ME-A for Spring Coughs

BEWARE of that spring cough. Take Balsamee, it kills the most persistent cough quickly. Cuts the phlegm and clears the lungs. Free from harmful drugs. Will not injure the most delicate stomach. Valuable as a tonic—stimulates the whole system.

Don't let diapers irritate your baby's skin

NO matter how carefully you bathe and powder him—if his diapers are washed with harsh soap—his tender skin will suffer.

The diaper rash that is the source of such severe suffering to babies is caused by this very thing—washing diapers with harsh or impure soaps.

Safe for all his little clothes

Keep your baby's diapers soft and comfortable. Wash them in pure, safe Lux suds and thoroughly rinse.

There is no free alkali in Lux to stick to them and make them irritating. No harmful ingredient to inflame the sensitive skin. These pure flakes are safe for all the clothes that touch his tender skin.

Use Lux for your baby's soft woollen shirts and bands, his petticoats and dresses, his diapers and socks.

To keep diapers from irritating

To prepare for washing: Remove all solid matter immediately—put to soak in cold water. If diapers are simply wet place in a covered pail and let soak in cold water.

To wash: Whisk two tablespoonfuls of Lux into a thick lather in a tub of very hot water. Let diapers soak for a few minutes then dip up and down pressing suds repeatedly through them. Thoroughly rinse in three waters. Boil diapers once a week using one tablespoonful of Lux to a gallon of water.

SAFETY FIRST CAMPAIGN SHOULD BE HELD TO TEACH OWNERS ABOUT CARS

A Good Plain is to Try Stopping Before You Start, for Something May Happen "If You Don't Watch Out."

We have had many "Safety First" campaigns to impress upon motorists the need of looking out for the other fellow, and to make pedestrians look out for themselves. Why not a campaign to make motorists look out for their own cars?

There are very few parts of a car that are not concerned in one way or another with the safety of the passengers, but the most important ones are the steering gear, brakes, tires, and wheels. Of these the steering gear is undoubtedly the most important. If the brakes fail we can use the gears. If a wheel comes off the car stops somewhat abruptly to be sure, but it stops. Whereas if the steering gear fails the car keeps merrily on at full speed.

Then let us keep careful watch over the steering gear and inspect it at least once a week. We'll go over every connection and see that it is properly secured. In present construction castellated and split-pin are used a great deal, making it easy to inspect. As long as the nut is in place we know the nut has not turned. But if lock-washer or lock-nuts are used they must be tried with a wrench. Watch particularly for any lost motion at either end of the drag link. This would become immediately apparent at the steering wheel, in case it develop, and so would give us ample warning before the joint came apart.

Lost Motion in Wheel

Lost motion at the steering wheel is not alone due to loose joints. It frequently occurs in the steering gear itself. Correcting this depends upon the type of gear and may require study of the instruction book, but it must be done if the looseness at the wheel exceeds one inch. More than this dangerous. Another important point of care is proper lubrication of all the parts. At the end of a few months the oil hole plug should be removed from the steering gear case and a light grease be forced in from an oil gun.

The brakes next engage our attention. They should be tried every time we take out the car, first the foot brake and then the emergency. As one authority expresses it: "Try stopping before you start." Choose a moment when the way is clear ahead to make the trial. It stands to reason that they should hold equally well on both wheels. If one wheel continues to turn and the other locks and slides, they are improperly adjusted. Reline brakes before they have become worn down to a point where the rivets bear on the drums.

Tires are trouble-makers and even with the best of care they sometimes go wrong. Cuts in the tread should be vulcanized and the air pressure kept up at all times. When a tire bursts it makes steering difficult, especially at high speed.

Excessive Friction

Wheels should be inspected occasionally for flaws and loose spokes, but it is more important to keep the bearings well lubricated and adjusted. Dry bearings give excessive friction and loose adjustments cause breakage, first of one ball or roller, then others, and finally a ruined bearing. In case the looseness is neglected too long the wheel comes off. Jack the front wheels up occasionally and try them for looseness. But do not be misled by a worn bushing or king-pin in the steering knuckle and think that the trouble is in the wheel bearing.

Safety, however, is not limited to the few places mentioned above. Letting in the clutch too suddenly may snap the propeller shaft or strip some of the gears in the gear-set or differential. Heavy jounces may break the axles or springs. Sometimes side-slip will occur even with chains, especially if the brakes are jammed on, locking the wheels which stop between the cross links of the chain. All these emphasize the point that eternal vigilance is the price of safety.

TIMBER FOR 250 YEARS

OTTAWA, Ont. (United Press).—Timber resources in Canada total more than a trillion feet board measurement, according to a Dominion-wide survey just completed by the Canadian National Railways. The supply will last 240 years, or until 2175, at the present rate of consumption, estimated at four billion feet annually.

Of timber resources, which the survey places at 1,065,000,000,000 feet, British Columbia contains 260,000,000,000 feet, or over a third. The prairie provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta contain 200,000,000,000 feet.

Felt Like Hard Lump in Stomach

Vineland, Ont., Electrician, suffered from indigestion and other troubles, but found relief in one bottle of Dreco—Now recommend bottle of Dreco—Now recommends it to all sufferers.

The story of Mr. T. J. Smith, of Vineland, Ont., an electrician, is like that of many another hardworking man. What he suffered, other men have suffered, but he has found real relief. He has found in Dreco the remedy that attacks the seat of the majority of man's ills, and he recommends it to all.

"My stomach," says Mr. Smith "liver and kidneys had been in bad shape for several years. I didn't know what it was to eat a square meal without being distressed by gas afterwards. I would belch and bloat, and I felt as if there was a big hard lump lying in my stomach. My joints ached with rheumatism. I had pains across my back and had so much trouble getting up during the night because of my kidneys. My liver was sluggish and I had bilious attacks. Spots would float before my eyes and I had dizzy spells when I stooped over.

"Constipation was the main trouble and Dreco has corrected this, and now I can eat anything and sleep fine thru the night. I feel much stronger in every way, and have more 'pep.' I praise this wonderful herb and root preparation because it has done good for me when everything else failed. I began to believe my case was hopeless. I am ever so thankful for Dreco, and recommend it to anyone who suffers as I did."

Dreco is being especially introduced in Peterboro by Bond's Drug Store. It also sold in Lakefield by E. H. Northey and by a good druggist everywhere.

GREEKS WANT AMERICAN UNIVERSITY FOR ATHENS

ATHENS, April 20.—The movement for the establishment of an American university in Greece similar to Robert College at Constantinople took definite form recently when the Greek cabinet resolved to invite all American schools in the interior of Anatolia—closed during the past year owing to hostilities—to move to Greece. This invitation includes half a dozen small American colleges in Smyrna, Marsovan, Tersus and Adana. Greece will give free land, tax exemption and every possible assistance and encouragement, and a Greek committee, headed by the king and queen, will be formed to obtain monetary assistance from wealthy Greeks at home and abroad.

The government will set aside a large tract of land in the vicinity of Athens with ample lands for the growth during the next 25 years of a complete American university including medical, agricultural and technical schools of the most modern American plan. The Near East Relief, cooperating in the scheme, proposes to build immediately seven stone buildings as an orphanage for two thousand children, and these buildings will eventually revert to the American university for use as dormitories.

It is the hope of the Greek government to establish a group of schools where the youth of the entire Near East can come and receive Western training. The present plan is largely the result of conversations two months ago between the young Greek king and Doctor Barton, of New York, who represented American educational interests at the Lausanne conference. The first school to take advantage of the offer will be the American girls' school at Smyrna.

The PRIDE of PALOMAR

By Peter B. Kyne

"That girl's sweeter than a royal flush," Bill Conway murmured. "I wonder if she's good for a fifty thousand dollar touch to pay my cement bill pending the day I squeeze it out of her father? Got to have cement to build a dam—got to have cash to get cement—got to have a dam to save the Rancho Palomar—got to have the Rancho Palomar before we can pull off a wedding—got to pull off a wedding in order to be happy—got to be happy or we all go to hell together. . . . Well . . . I'm going down to Miguel's place to dinner to-night. I'll ask her."

The entire Parker family was present when the doctor in El Toro washed and disinfected Farrel's wound and, at the suggestion of Kay, made an X-ray photograph of his head. The plate, when developed, showed a small fracture, the contemplation of which aroused considerable interest in all present, with the exception of the patient. Don Mike was still dizzy; because his vision was impaired he kept his eyes closed; he heard a humming noise as if a lethargic bumble bee had taken up his residence inside the Farrel ears. Kay, observing him closely, realized that he was very weak, that only by the exercise of a very strong will had he succeeded in sitting up during the journey in from the ranch. His brow was cold and wet with perspiration, his breathing shallow; his dark, tanned face was now a greenish gray.

The girl saw a shadow of deep apprehension settle over her father's face as the doctor pointed to the fracture.

"Any danger?" she heard him whisper.

The doctor shook his head. "Nothing to worry about. An operation will not be necessary. But he's had a narrow squeak. With whom has he been fighting?"

"Thrown from his horse and struck his head on a rock," Parker replied glibly.

Kay saw the doctor's eyebrows lift slightly. "Did he tell you that was what happened?"

Parker hesitated a moment and nodded an affirmative.

"Wound's too clean for that story to impress me," the doctor whispered. "Not a speck of foreign matter in it. Moreover, the wound is almost on top of his head. Now, if he had been thrown from a horse and had struck on top of his head on a rock with sufficient force to lacerate his scalp and produce a minor fracture, he would, undoubtedly, have crushed his skull more thoroughly or broken his neck. Also, his face would have been marred more or less. And it that isn't good reasoning, I might add that Miguel Farrel is one of the two or three men in this world who have ridden Cyclone, the most famous outlaw horse in America."

Parker shrugged and, by displaying no interest in the doctor's deductions, brought the conversation to a close.

That the return trip to the ranch, in Don Mike's present condition, was not to be thought of, was apparent from the patient's condition. He was, therefore, removed to the single small hospital which El Toro boasted, and after seeing him in charge of a nurse the Parker family returned to the ranch. Conversation languished during the trip; a disturbed conscience on the part of the father, and on the part of Kay and her mother an intuition, peculiar to their sex and aroused by the doctor's comments, that events of more than ordinary portent had occurred that day, were responsible for this.

At the ranch Parker found his attorney who had motored out from El Toro, waiting, to confer with him regarding Bill Conway's adroit manoeuver of the morning. Mrs. Parker busied herself with some fancy work while her daughter sought the Farrel library and pretended to read. An atmosphere of depression appeared to have settled over the rancho; Kay observed that even Pablo moved about in a furtive manner; he cleaned and oiled his rifle and tested the sights with shots at varying ranges. Carolina's face was grave and her sweet falsetto voice was not raised in song once during the afternoon.

About four o'clock when the shadows began to lengthen, Kay observed Pablo riding forth on his old pinto pony. Before him on the saddle he carried a pick and shovel and in reply to her query as to what he purposed doing, he replied that he had to clean out a spring where the cattle were accustomed to drink. So she returned to the library and Pablo repaired to a willow thicket in the sandy wash of the San Gregorio and dug a grave. That night, at twilight, while the family and servants were at dinner, Pablo dragged his problem down to this grave, with the aid of the pinto pony, and hid it forever from the sight of men. Neither directly nor indirectly was his exploit ever referred to again and no inquiry was ever instituted to fathom the mystery of the abrupt disappearance of Kano Ugichi. Indeed, the sole regret at his untimely passing was borne by Pablo, who, shrinking from the task of removing his riata from his victim (for he had a primitive man's horror of touching the dead), was forced to bury his dearest possession with the adventurer from La WQuesta—a circumstance which served still further to strengthen his prejudice against the Japanese race.

The following morning Pablo saddled Panchito for Kay and, at her request, followed her, in the capacity of groom, to Bill Conway's camp at Agua Caliente basin. The old schemer was standing in the door of his rough temporary office when Kay rode up; he advanced to meet her.

"Well, young lady," he greeted her, "what's on your mind this morning in addition to that sassy little hat."

"A number of things. I want to know what really happened to Mr. Farrel yesterday forenoon."

"My dear girl! Why do you consult me?"

A STATESMAN SEES DANGER TO LONDON.

Owner of Outlook Has Vision of Explosive-Laden Planes Wiping Out City on the Thames

By Sir Charles Ross, Bart.

LONDON, April 19. — (United Press). — France seems to enjoy bullying her once powerful and now prostrate enemy. Small and newly created states in Europe, "feeling their oats," have to be restrained from embarking upon little wars with their neighbors. But it is axiomatic, a fact which every statesman has to take into account in his political calculations, that the great powers are tired of war.

Public opinion, in France and Italy, no less than here, made up and inspired as it is so largely by the feelings of former soldiers, is more distinctly "pacifist" that at any time since the close of the Napoleonic epoch, if not at any time in European history.

I am not among those despairing pessimists who see in the prevailing public desire for "tranquility" abroad, the sign of national degeneracy. All the peoples, not our own more than others, who fought in the most horrible of all wars, are humbly determined that the thing shall not happen again. Even in France one must distinguish between the professional militarist cast which has obtained the upper hand and the French people.

At Mercy of France.

Post-war psychology alone can explain why we have permitted a nation that owes us five hundred millions to carry out since the armistice an air programme that places the capital of the British Empire at the mercy of our debtors. It is as though Holland and Sweden, grown fat on war profits, had suddenly constructed a navy twice the size of our own.

The air is a new element. There is no air tradition stretching behind the days when French and British planes swept through the sky in search of a common foe. We have the word of one of these experimenters in future horrors for a fact which, even if only probably and not certainly true, makes it criminal negligence longer to delay meeting the new situation. Already, in various countries, but especially in France, successful experiments have been carried out in directing, by wireless, aeroplanes that carry no pilots.

In future, it seems pilotless 'planes can be laden to their fullest capacity with explosives, becoming in themselves one huge bomb a hundredfold more terrible than any projectile that can be launched from the sky. It does not take the imagination of an H. G. Wells to visualize the first step in a war undertaken against us in 1926. Two hundred gigantic multiple-engined 'planes crammed with high explosives—unless poison gases should be found more efficacious — rise from the enemy aerodromes and are directed by wireless over London and there "dropped." One such 'plane, the size of a Goliath, could reduce to ruins an area of 100 square yards. Twenty of them could be smashed on London at a total cost less than that required to build one destroyer.

A Costly Duty.

There is no defence against such attack except counter-attack, a horrible fact that opens out vistas of warfare more terrible than has ever been known, but one which is demonstrably true, must be faced. England must raise her air force to a one-power standard. On the basis of present strengths that means a total expenditure, the Duke of Sutherland declared in the House of Lords on behalf of the Government of £93 millions ($115,000,000) a year now, and of £35 millions ($175,000,000) a year if and when the full French building programme is carried into effect.

Conscious of the need for drastic economy, the Government should still and must lose no time in building as many 'planes as France. The world is now tired of war. The present mood may change, when no man can tell; and when it does change, it may change in France first. At that moment France must not be able to feel that she holds England at her mercy.

At present France has three fighting squadrons at home against our ten; in two years, on the basis of present expansion, France will possess 2,160 war 'planes against our 675.

RECEIPTS

HAM AND EGGS.

Ham and eggs retains its individuality as a dish for luncheon or supper, with bread, or a baked potato, accompanying it. A good recipe for this combination is as follows:

Take one and one-half cups of chopped, cooked ham. Cook the ham for two minutes in two tablespoons of butter and two tablespoons of flour, stirring all the time. Add one-fourth teaspoon of salt, one teaspoon of mustard and one cup of milk, and cook until thickened. Pour this into a buttered platter, or a buttered dish, which can be placed in the oven and served at table.

Make six hollow places in the mixture, and in each one drop an egg. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and cover with buttered crumbs. Bake until egg is set. The egg may be soft or cooked hard, as the family prefers. Serve at once.

The crumbs are soft bread crumbs with enough melted butter added to make them well buttered.

A Thought

Then Paul answered, What mean ye to weep and to break mine heart? for I am ready not to be bound only, but also to die at Jerusalem for the name of the Lord Jesus.—Acts 21:13.

When Christianity wakes up, and every child that belongs to the Lord is willing to speak for him, is willing to work for him, and, if need be, to die for him, then Christianity will advance.—Moody.

UNABLE TO SLEEP—DEPRESSED AND NERVOUS

Quickly Relieved by Wincarnis

"For several years I had been in a weak and run-down condition. I had frequent fainting spells which always left me almost completely exhausted. I suffered so with nervousness that the least little thing would make me jump and it got to be almost impossible for me to get a good night's sleep. I would get terrible fits of depression which would last for days. I had taken doctors' medicines and tonics without number, but nothing seemed to do me much good.

I saw Wincarnis advertised and decided to try a bottle. In an incredibly short time I got back my strength, my nervousness disappeared and I could sleep as peacefully as a child. I really believe Wincarnis is the greatest of all tonics.

The Coughs and Colds of Children

Only the mother knows how hard it is to keep the children from taking cold, they will get overheated and cool off too suddenly, get their feet wet, kick off the clothes at night, and do a dozen and one things the mother can't prevent.

A great many mothers are now giving their children

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP

It is pleasant and nice for them to take and relieves the cough or cold in a very short time.

Mrs. J. Wilson, Portage La Prarie, Man., writes:—"I have used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup for my five children. My little girl, two years old, had a very bad cold last Winter, which I thought was croup, I had some "Dr. Wood's" in the house so gave it to her and she was fine the next day; also my baby, three months old, had a bad cold and I gave it to him. It cuts and brings up the phlegm, and is the best cough medicine I ever used."

TORONTO, April 20.—(Canadian Press).—Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, aged 52, died in St. Michael's Hospital late last night from injuries received when she was struck by a street car on Pape Avenue.

RAILWAYS WILL REDUCE RATES IN GT. BRITAIN

Every Effort is Being Made to Aid Agriculture — Wages on the Railways Are Still Very High.

STRIKE AGREEMENT.

LONDON, April 20. — (Canadian Press). — The minor recommendations in the recent report of the Agricultural Tribunal for the relief of the farmers are being put into effect speedily, although the Government seems disinclined to adopt the more important recommendations of a protective character.

A bill reducing the assessment on agricultural land for taxation purposes having been promised, the railroads in turn are making their contribution to the welfare of the farmers. It was announced last night that the railway managers had agreed to reduce freight rates on agricultural products to fifty per cent. above the pre-war rates, and on general merchandise to sixty per cent. above. Hitherto these rates have all exceeded the pre-war figures by 75 per cent.

The official statement of the railway managers embodying the railway concessions explains that they will cost the railways £9,000,000 yearly. The railways desired to reduce charges still further, but the wages bills are still 136 per cent. above the pre-war level and wages form two-thirds of the total railway costs. All efforts to negotiate reductions in wages with the railway unions, the statement added, had failed up to the present time; but negotiations were still in progress, and if they were successful the railways would be able to make further reductions in freight rates.

Mediation in the farm workers' strike was carried a step further yesterday. A provisional agreement was reached between representatives of the farm owners and the workers, which, it is believed, will prove acceptable and bring about a resumption of work next Monday. The terms of the settlement would be 25 shillings, for a guaranteed fifty-hour week, and any work in excess of 54 hours being paid for at the rate of 7½ pence an hour.

INDIANS WANT MONEY TO FIGHT GOVERNMENT.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 20.—(Canadian Press). — George P. Decker, claiming to be the counsel for the Six Nations Indians at Brantford, yesterday made public an attack on the Canadian Department of Indian Affairs, in which he termed the warning issued against the purchase of tribal defence bonds "an ungenerous slander."

Mr. Decker declared that the bond issue was necessary to enable the Indians to continue the fight against the Canadian Government for thousands of dollars due them for the sale of their lands.

CAPTURED IRISH JOAN OF ARC

COUNTESS CONSTANCE MARKIEVICZ

Countess Constance Markievicz, often refered to as "Ireland's Joan of Arc," abandoned a life of luxury that she might fight side by side with Irish rebels, risking death sentence, and actually undergoing imprisonment.

She has served as minister of labor in the Irish republican cabinet and was the first woman to be elected to the British Parliament, but was not permitted to take her seat because of her Sinn Fein sympathies.

Constance Gore-Booth, as she was known as a girl, was born at Lissadell, County Sligo, Ireland, the daughter of an Irish country squire and his English wife.

From girlhood Constance was a sympathizer in the cause of Irish freedom, though her uncle served as British lord lieutenant of Ireland.

She received her education from private tutors at home, then went to Paris to study art. There she met Casmir Markievicz, Polish count They were wed and made their home in Dublin.

The countess immediatly aligned herself with those Irish who sought separation from England. The count went back to Poland to fight for the freedom of that country.

Countess Markievicz bore a rifle in the Easter revolt of 1916. She was captured and sentenced to death, this sentence later being commuted to penal servitude for life. She later gained her freedom.

When the Free State treaty was adopted, she joined with De Valera in vigorous opposition to it. She came to America in 1922 to speak against it.

Since Free State forces assumed control in Ireland, she had been a hunted fugitive and was taken prisoner last week.

WARNE DRUG CO., Ltd.

Make Remarkable Offer To Any Person Who Is Weak, Sick, Nervous, Or Run-Down.

It Is Now Possible for You to Come to This Store, Get a Package of Genuine Nuxated Iron, Use It for Two Weeks, and If at the End of That Time You Have Not Received All, and Even Greater Benefits Than You Expect, Simply Bring the Wrapper Back to Warne Drug Co., Ltd., and We Will Cheerfully Hand You Back Your Money.

Peterborough people may well ask how we can afford to make this remarkable "Satisfaction or Money Back" offer. Medical examinations by physicians all over the country show that an amazing number of people lack 100% iron in their blood. At a recent conference, Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician at Bellevue Hospital (Out Door Department), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, said, "Without iron, the blood becomes weak, thin, pale and watery. In many people this so seriously weakens their vital organs as to lead them to believe that they have heart or stomach trouble, kidney disease, nerve force exhaustion or some other serious ailment. I have had people come to me thinking they had heart trouble, because they often had pains and palpitation of the heart, sudden dizziness, faintness or spots before the eyes. In a great many of these cases, the moment iron was supplied, all of these symptoms disappeared." We make this offer because Genuine Nuxated Iron contains true organic iron like the iron in your blood. So many people are deficient in iron who would surely be benefited by this remarkable remedy, that we recommend that you come right to Warne Drug Co., Ltd., and get your bottle of Nuxated Iron. Use it for two weeks, and note the improvement in your own case in strength, energy and endurance. If you are not more than surprised at the results, just bring back the wrapper and we will promptly refund your money without question.

ELECTIONS NEXT JUNE DISSOLUTION MAY 4

After Indignant Denunciation of Conservative Blockade Tactics, Premier Drury Throws Overboard Redistribution, Proportional Representation and Transferable Vote Measures.

TORONTO, April 20.—(Canadian Press.)—Redistribution, proportional representation and single transferable vote measures were all thrown overboard by Premier Drury in the Legislature last nigth, and definite announcemetn made of an approximate May 4th dissolution, with an election following at the end of June, probably on the 25th.

Four days of Conservative blockade, during which a single member, John A. Currie, Southeast Toronto, occupied the floor for nearly ten hours, convinced the Government of the uselessness of trying to get their bills through second reading.

Col. Currie, completed shortly after 9 o'clock, a speech which he started about midnight the night before. W. H. Price, Parkdale, gave way to F. Wellington Hay, Liberal leader, who counselled reason, and co-operation and the Premier came on after with a vigorous and indignant denunciation of the blockade tactics.

Severe Kidney Trouble

Mrs. F. Rinehart, Campbellville, Ont., writes:

The doctor said I had inflammation of the bladder and that an operation might be necessary. To this I refused, and began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. UNEMPLOYED SEIZE TOWN OF MULHEIM

Three Hundred Special Police Imprisoned—Strategic Points Are Barricaded.

LONDON, April 20. — (Canadian Press). — A late despatch to the Daily Mail from Dusseldorf states that the principal streets of Mulheim are barricaded with all kinds of materials, including beds and mattresses, and that all the important strategic points, including the bridge over the river, are being held by the unemployed.

About three hundred security police officials and volunteer police sent in from Duisburg are imprisoned in the Town Hall.

Germans say part of the unemployed revolt is part of the plan to precipitate a rising of Communists throughout the Ruhr. According to a despatch published by the Times, the Unemployed Council has informed the Berlin Government that unless the conditions of the unemployed are improved they will volunteer to work for the French.

TAXES AND DUTIES BOOST THE PRICES

Pyramiding Profits Send Price of Goods Out of All Proportion to the Original Cost.

OTTAWA, April 20. — (Canadian Press).—How $100 worth of goods, imported from the United States by a Canadian wholesaler, under a duty of 35 per cent., because of pyramiding of profits on the cost of the goods, on profits and on sales taxes paid, cost the consumer in Canada $247.20 by the time the goods had passed through various hands, was shown to the Special Agriculture Committee of the House yesterday afternoon by Isaac E. Pedlow, retail merchant of Renfrew, Ont., and a former member of the Commons.

In the case of goods imported by a wholesaler and sold by him to a manufacturer, and then, in manufactured form, passing in turn through the hands of wholesaler and retailer to consumer, the pyramiding was even greater and the $100 worth of goods, without allowance for cost of manufacture, cost by pyramiding alone $332.55.

Of the added cost through sales tax and duties in the first instance, the treasury collected a total of $44.11, while the consumer paid $69.94. In the latter case the goods being handled through additional channels, the treasury received $19.75 in sales taxes, while the consumer paid $32.55 in sales taxes and profits on same. The treasury received $35 in duty, while the consumer paid $77.77 in respect to duty and profits on duty.

THE MARKETS

CASH GRAIN.

MONTREAL, April 20.—(Canadian Press).—Trade in cash grain in the local market yesterday was much quieter, but the tone of the market was firm and prices show no change. A firm feeling prevails in the local flour market. There is a good steady trade in millfeed, but the rolled oats market is quiet. There is nothing new in the baled hay market. The tone of the egg market is steady. Prices for potatoes are unchanged. The volume of business in butter is small. There is nothing to report in the cheese market.

The hog market maintained a steady tone. Thick smooths were weighed up to $9.75 and select bacons at $10.75½.

EGG MARKETS.

OTTAWA, April 20. — (Canadian Press). — The belief has been expressed that egg markets are top-heavy and that a sharp re-action would not be surprising. There is some slight indication of this. The undertone on the Toronto and Montreal markets is easier and Chicago is ½c down. Offers are being received in the east from Winnipeg of extras 30c, firsts 38½c, new cases, seconds 33½c, used cases, all f.o.b. Winnipeg.

COKE VS. COAL IS DISCUSSED

Senate Committee at Ottawa Dip Into the Question of Canada's Fuel Supply.

OTTAWA, Aprril 20.—(Canadian Press). —Coke versus Anthracite, was again under investigation this morning by the senate committee on the fuel supply of Canada.

Robert J. Mercur, president of the Canadian Coke Cororation, Montreal, read a number of reports from users in his city, all eulogistic of coke as a domestic fuel. Less ash and practically no clinkers were advantages claimed as also in a quick response to draught.

Mr. Mercur said his experience had only been with importation and distribution of coke made in the United States. His firm had not been able to decide that a by-product coke plant in Montreal could be made as profitable a venture under present conditions.

Difficulties Settled in Egyptian Trouble.

CAIRO, April 20. — (Canadian Press). — The difficulties over the Egyptian Constitution have been settled and King Fuad last night signed the Constitution. It already had been approved by the Egyptian Cabinet and meets with the British objection to the inclusion of the Soudan in Egypt.

A Cairo despatch last Tuesday said that in consequence of King Fuad's insistence on the inclusion in the draft of the Constitution of clauses making him virtually an absolute monarch, the relations between him and his Cabinet were rapidly approaching a crisis. King Fuad, the despatch added, apparently aimed at becoming temporal, spiritual and religious head of the country. It was declared that the newspapers spoke openly of a revolt in the event of the King having his own way.

FATAL SHOOTING NEAR BEAVERTON

Shot Gun Discharged by Man Who Didn't Understand It.

(Special to The Examiner).

LINDSAY, April 20.—Word has reached here of a fatal shooting accident near Beaverton, in which a young Italian named Joseph Futia, lost his life. In company with three companions, Futia was preparing for carp fishing, when a shot-gun in the hands of one of the party accidentally discharged, the entire charge hitting Futia in the head and face, killing him instantly. Dr. Galloway, of Beaverton, after a thorough investigation, decided an inquest was unnecessary.

It appears that when the party arrived at the fishing shack, one of the party took a shot-gun from the wall to examine it. Not understanding how to open it, the gun was accidentally discharged.

Futia's body was forwarded to Sarnia, where his relatives reside.

Floods Do Damage to Train Service.

OTTAWA, April 20 (Canadian Press). — The Dominion of Canada Rifle Association has not yet received any invitation to compete at the International Rifle and Pistol matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, next fall.

Colonel R. J. Birdwhistle, secretary of the Association, made this statement yesterday in reference to a Washington despatch to the effect that Canada was expected to send a team. The despatch stated that Great Britain, Switzerland, France, Italy and Denmark were also expected to be represented.

FOUR MEN WHO CARRIED GUNS NOW FACE DEATH

CHICAGO, April 20.— (United Press.)— Four men are in "death row" at Cook county jail to-day awaiting execution—all because they carried guns.

One is a boy of 21 and the others are less than 30. Each admitted to lawyers and court attaches that if they had not carried guns they would not be in trouble.

The condemned men are:

Barney Grant, convicted of shooting a policeman to death in a south side holdup.

Larry Hefferman and William Cramer sentenced to die April 13 for shooting Joseph Lanus, auto dealer, to death when he resisted robbery.

All the men have so far protested innocence, but all handed out the advice to young men who go armed to "throw you gun in the river and keep out of trouble."

Dispute Developed Over Use of Carpenter's Plane, Accused Testifies.

DRUMBO, Ont., Aprril 20.—(Canadian Press)—Milbra Mackie today denied at the inquest into the death of his brotherr David, who succumbed after a quarrel on David's farm, that he had hit his brother with a carpenter's plane, which had developed the dispute. Milbra declared that David had hit him on the head with a monkey wrench first then there was a scuffle, during which Milbra says he first, David fell according to Milbra and hit his head against a stone wall.

THOUSANDS OF ACRES INUNDATED OUT WEST

WINNIPEG, Man., April 20.—(Canadian Press)— With many districts in Central and Southern Manitoba reporting a steady rise in Assiniboine and Red Rivers and tributaries during the night, the flood situation showed no improvement today. Many families have been forced to leave their homes, others are isolated from northern towns by lakes of water and thousands of acres of farm land in low-lying districts have been inundated.

MEMBERS PREPARE FOR ELECTION NOW

Tension Relieved Over Redistribution and Conferences Now Demand Attention.

TORONTO, April 20. Canadian Prepare. — 'Prepare for battle" is the slogan to-day at Queens Park, after the strenuous skirmish over the redistribution which ended last night in the withdrawal of government bills and the announcement of an appeal to the province the last week in June. So concentrated were the energies of the government party and opposition during the filibuster, that there was little opportunity for laying plans of party organizations with a view to an election, but with the tension removed, caucusses party conventions and conferences are expected to take a prominent place in the activities of the members from now on. For most part preparations for the party conventions were held up by the uncertainty as to what the boundaries of the constituencies were to be. Much of the mooted legislation will likely go by board in order that the business of the legislature may be completed by the 4th of May.

STATE MAY REVIVE AN OLD ACCUSATION.

Seeks Ruling Under Which It Can Put Small Twice "In Jeopardy."

WAUKEGAN, Ill., April 20.—Governor Len Small, acquitted here last summer on charges of conspiracy to defraud the State of interest on public funds, may be compelled to face trial again under the same charges despite the constitutional provision which forbids placing anyone in jeopardy more than once for the same offense.

This is the opinion of State's Attorney A. V. Smith, now pushing a grand jury probe into the alleged plot to bribe members of the panel which returned a "not guilty" verdict for Small after months of trial which cost taxpayers thousands of dollars.

Smith bases his statement, he says, on the probable outcome of a case now before the supreme court which will decide once and for all whether any defendant may be twice tried for the same crime provided the existence of fraud at his first hearing can be proved.

17 Charges.

So far the investigation has resulted in indictment of three men. Each is specifically accused in voluminous true bills on 17 counts including—

Conspiracy to obstruct justice.
Conspiracy to bribe a juror.
Conspiracy to do an unlawful act.
Conspiracy to have a juror answer questions.
Conspiracy to have a juror qualified.

Those indicted are:

JOHN BIRNEY FIELD, a juror in the Small trial and Antioch (Ill.) village hero and baseball player, who was appointed deputy state game warden following the governor's acquittal.

EDDIE COURTNEY, alleged by Chicago police to have a court record.

EDDIE KAUFMAN, Chicagoan, recently arrested while allegedly heading a convoy of beer runners and now under federal indictment also.

Another man, William J. Riley, Antioch (Ill.), saloonkeeper, is being held as a state witness, accused of having received $1000 from Chicago "fixers," of which he paid $350 to Field and held out on the balance.

The indictments charge that Courtney and Kaufman did the "fixing," and that Field accepted the bribe.

Kaufman is the only defendant who has been taken into custody up to date. His $5000 bail was signed by Russell E. Edwards, a brother of Judge Claire C. Edwards, who presided over Governor Small's trial.

One excerpt of the lengthy indictments charges:

"That one John B. Field was, by corrupt agreement and corrupt promise to pay a bribe in money and promise of remunerative employment, made to him and agreed upon by him, corruptly biased and partial to said Len Small, and did qualify to serve as a fair and impartial juror in this cause and proceeding.

"That Edward Kaufman, known as E. Morrison, and Edward Courtney, known as E. Morgan, did conspire to obstruct and impede the course of justice and did unlawfully and feloniously conspire with divers persons whose names are unknown to this grand jury, did knowingly conceal from the court and the counsel in said trial the corruption and bias of the said John B. Field, and did knowingly bring about a verdict of not guilty of the said Len Small without regard to the evidence, and did bribe a juror in the proceedings to be paid thereafter $350."

Small Calls It Plot.

Governor Small brands the probe as a "further wicked attempt to besmirch my reputation for political reasons."

He charges that Attorney General Brundage, with whom he has long been at loggerheads, as being one of the many forces behind the investigation.

State's Attorney Smith says that the probe has "only begun," and that by the time all the evidence is in "many sensational bombshells will be exploded" by the testimony to be taken around the last of April when the grand jury is scheduled to resume its hearings in the case.

TAX PRODUCTS OF MANUFACTURER IS LATEST PROPOSAL

Abolition of Present Sales Tax Involved in Plan—Many Firms Are Forced to Take Heavy Losses—Public Pays.

STOP ABSORPTION.

It has been announced from Ottawa that the Minister of Finance will close the door this week to further representations on taxation and tariff matters. The budget will follow quickly. In about two weeks is the expected time by business men who have been dealing with Ottawa.

Of not a little importance to industry are the views on the sales tax recently advanced by Charles W. Tinling, president and general manager of the National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada. He has outlined his views in a couple of addresses, the latest being before the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at its Hamilton meeting.

That contrary to the intention of the Government to the wording of the Sales Tax Act, all the Sales Tax paid on an article cannot be and is not passed on to be paid by the public who are the ultimate consumers.

That because of the wording and the operating of the Act some manufacturers and the majority of the wholesale and retail trade have been forced to absorb the greater part and in many instances the whole of the Sales Tax which has entailed losses aggregating, it is estimated, to about $80,000,000 for these three branches of the trade.

Details of the suggestion submitted to the Honorable Minister of Finance whereby the three branches of the trade would be put in a position to pass on the Sales Tax to the public or ultimate consumer, thus avoiding further loss for the trade and likewise producing additional Income Tax for the government.

Showing that the proposed plan while not increasing the price of the goods to the public, will yet provide the government with many millions additional revenue.

The main drive of Mr. Tinling's argument is to prevent the absorption of the tax as is now the practice with some firms. At the offset he contends that the intention of the framers of the measure was that the tax should be passed on to the ultimate consumer and the tax should be passed on to the ultimate consumer.

Result an Injustice

The operation of the Sales Tax, however has in the majority of instances, resulted in certain handlers of the goods being unable to pass on the tax, with the result that such section became losers by the tax they could not pass on, and consequently were having to pay an unjust taxation.

While the rates of taxation may individually appear low yet the pyramiding of the tax on the same goods passing through various handlers means that by the time the good reach the public a revenue has been paid to the government of not less than 12% on the value of the raw material. In many instances if the goods pass through more than three hands then the rate becomes higher.

It is not known how many wholesalers of every kind are carrying on business in Canada but the number is quite large. An official letter from the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada states that their lists show tha there are 180,000 of all classes of retail merchants in Canada. The question is: What is the average loss per retail store through absorption of the sales tax?

It is known that several wholesalers in the year 1922 lost by forced absorption of sales tax in one instance over $45,000, and in another instance over $75,000. Some idea, therefore, can be formed of what the present sales tax is losing to the wholesale trade of Canada.

It is, therefore, fair to say that because of the wording of the Act, and business condition, certain manufacturers and the wholesale and retail trade have lost by way of taxation at least 80 million dollars while other manufacturers and certain wholesalers have been getting off scot-free of sales tax because the character of the merchandise they sell enabled them to pass on the tax.

Class Legislation

Mr. Tinling then followed with the serious contention that to-day the act is class legislation and is not doing justice to a large portion of the trade, and a large portion of the retail and wholesale trade is being weakened financially. Also the government has lost materially as the tax has reduced profits and the government loses the income tax that it would have derived had the tax been passed on.

The speaker contended that it was to the interest of the government and country that these three sections of the trade be kept in the strongest financial position because the large proportion of the revenue of all kinds is collected through them. He contended that it was, therefore, but a matter of justice that the levying and collecting of the sales tax should be so arranged that it will be passed on to the public or ultimate consumer and the present class legislation removed.

He came the proposal, the method which the speaker would adopt to collect the tax from the fountain head. This would means the abolition of the present tax and in its place he would adopt a special excise tax collected at the customs on importations by all others than licensed manufacturer, and on the sales of all manufacturers other than those to licensed manufacturers. Thus licensed manufacturers are to have the privilege of getting all their raw material free of sales tax whether imported or purchased from other manufacturers in Canada and in return the manufacturers will pay the government a excise tax on all their sales other than those sales to licensed manufacturers or on exports.

It has been recommended that the manufacturer should be compelled to absorb in their selling price this special excise tax in the same way that they absorb customs duties or freight and should not be permitted to make a separate charge on their invoices for this excise tax.

Mr. Tinling expresses the opinion that his plan will increase the revenue to the government. He also proposes that sales for re-manufacture be not taxed. When the last manufacturer puts the final taxable value on them, there the tax will apply. Mr. Tinling also worked the tax out on a 7 1-2% basis showing a tax on a $1,000,000 of materials at $150,232. He concluded by pointing out that the making of the manufacturer pay a tax on his output and not allowing the charging forward of any tax separately has the advantage of increasing the revenue; no increase in cost to the public; removing the present injustice to firms of all three classes.

MUCH LOCAL INTEREST IN MUSICAL CONVENTION

In connection with the Ontario Musical Competition Festival which is to be held in Toronto during the week beginning April 30, there is a good deal of local interest in the announcement of the intention of the Trinity Sunday School orchestra to compete in this event. The Trinity organization is a group of clever players with well-balanced sections of string, wood-wind and brass instrumentation. At the concert given by them in Reid street hall recently they proved themselves to be a bright, tuneful, well-trained aggregation of promising musicians, and their chances for success in such a competition are well worth the trial. They will be entered in Class 93, under the section devoted to Bands and Orchestras. This class is set aside for Sunday school orchestras, with a maximum of 40 members. Trinity orchestra which is trained, and conducted by Mr. Rupert Glidon, director of the local Conservatory of Music, will number for this event some thirty members. Their test piece is the overture, "Poet and Peasant," with a first prize of one year's possession of Challenge Shield, Certificate and gold medal to conductor, and a second award of certificate and silver medal to conductor.

Pioneers in the musical competitive festival idea in Canada were Alberta and Saskatchewan, with much interest shown also in Manitoba. The present festival will be the first of its kind to be conducted in Ontario, and the interest taken in the idea is evidenced by the number of entries, over 4,000, which include choral and vocal and instrumental competitions of various sorts; for orchestras, bands and soloists in the different instruments, separate classes for school children, in choirs, glee clubs, vocal solos and dances, and dacing competitive events for high schools, colleges, church and playground classes, Y.W.C.A. and Girl Guides.

Adjudicators for the festival are two well-known musicians from Europe, Grenville Bantock, M.A., of London, England, founder of the New Quarterly Musical Review, Musical Director of The Tower, New Brighton, and Principal of the School of Music in Birmingham, also a very prolific composer, and Harry Plunkett Greene, born in Dublin, a soloist of note, who has sung at most of the principal London concerts and provincial Festivals, has given song recitals all over Great Britain and America, and has appeared in opera at Covent Garden.

The arrangements for this Festival, which is hoped to make an annual event, have been going on for nearly a year past. Its organizers and leaders are noted musicians and musical teachers of Ontario, and include H. A. Fricker, M.A. Mus. Bac. F.R.C.O. Conductor of the Mendelssohn Choir; A. S. Vogt, Mus. Doctor, Principal Toronto Conservatory of Music; Albert Ham, Mus. Doc. F.R.C.O., Director Canadian Academy of Music, and conductor of the National Chorus, Edward Broome Mus. Doc. Conductor Toronto Oratorio Society, Boris Hambourg, of the Hambourg Conservatory of Music, Maestro J. A. Carboni, Conductor of the Operatic Chorus, and many other well-known leaders in the musical world of Ontario.

As the trip of the Trinity Orchestra to Toronto will be somewhat expensive expedition, considering the number involved, the cost will be somewhere in the neighborhood of three hundred dollars. The orchestra has a good chance of success, their winning of either first or second place would be a decided triumph for Peterboro, as they represent the city at large, and the directors are therefore asking that any musical-minded citizens who would like to help in a financial way should contribute to their expense fund. Such contributions might be left at either Giles' or Warne's drug stores.

FRENCH TREATY IS AGAIN CRITICIZED

Fielding Asked Why the Treaty Should Cover Articles Which Canada Does Not Export.

OTTAWA, April 20. Canadian Press. — Discussion of the new trade treaty with France held the House again yesterday afternoon, and once more was adjourned. Hon. W. S. Fielding, the Minister of Finance, opened with a reply to Wednesday's criticisms of the treaty by J. D. Chaplin, Conservative member for Lincoln. Mr. Chaplin said Mr. Fielding had asked why a treaty should be made covering articles which Canada did not export. What harm was there in that? queried Mr. Fielding in reply. "We do not believe," he added, "that Canadian manufacturers are not going to expand." Some of the items to which Mr. Chaplin objected, had been placed on the list at the request of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, of which Mr. Chaplin was a member. "Our choice," continued Mr. Fielding, lay between this treaty and the French general tariff, and the French general tariff is very high." Further the treaty removed discrimination which had existed in French markets against Canada as compared with the United States.

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, the Opposition leader, who adjourned the debate, declared that Mr. Fielding was at his best in "magnifying the unimportant." Mr. Fielding added Mr. Meighen, should have increased the Canadian tariff on luxuries before going to France. Then he would not have brought back an "abject surrender." Robert Forke, The Progressive leader, thought Mr Fielding had made a "high protection" speech, but agreed that there should be a treaty with France.

JOLLY DANCE CAMPBELLFORD

Last Event of Season by Twelve O'clock Club Huge Success—The Guests.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 20. — The members of the Twelve O'clock Club gave last night what will probably be their last dance of the season. This club was organized last fall and has had a successful year, all of the many entertainments held during the winter having been well attended.

It was C. T. Brooks, afterwards elected treasurer, who first conceived the idea of forming a social club which was to be conducted on strictly orthodox lines. One of the hard and fast rules was that all dancing was to cease promptly at midnight, so that the objection of long hours could not be urged by the parents and other relatives of the members.

Mr. Brooks started his campaign by sending out communications to over 100 of the young people of Campbellford, explaining his proposition and asking all those who favored the idea to attend a meeting to be held in the public library on a given date. He met with considerable discouragement at the outset, as there were plenty of people ready to prophesy failure, but the results showed that his plan met with prompt popular approval.

The club was organized, Dr. W. A. Murphy, one of the most popular members of the younger social set, being elected the first preseident. The other officers chosen were: Harold Nancarrow, vice-president; C. T. Brooks, treasurer; Miss J. Nancarrow, secretary, and Miss T. H. Nadoo assistant secretary. The members of the executive committee are: Mrs. J. Nesbitt, Miss Hazel Atkinson, Harry Gay and Cecil Archer.

The club started without assets of any kind and finishes the season with a surplus. A general meeting will be held at an early date when a full report of the results of the winter's entertainment will be given.

List of Guests.

There were over 80 couples at last night's dance, the record attendance of the season. Leonard's orchestra of six pieces furnished the music. Refreshments were served at 11.30 and the club made a new departure by dancing for one hour after midnight. Among those present were: Mr and Mrs Harry Bertrand, Misses Mae and Leah Bertrand, Grant Morrison, N. J. H. Dunk, Walter Mitchell Mr and Mrs. C. Booker, Mrs. Henry Brown, Mr and Mrs. C. Ackerman, Mr and Mrs. R. H. Cole, D. Graham, Mr. Knight, Miss Johnson, Cecil Archer, Miss Margaret Dickson, Harry Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Connor, Miss Gladys Plumpton, Miss Olive Hay, Joe Wilson, W. CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Primary School Needed More Than High School is Sentiment of Some—Spring Cleaning by Order.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 20.—The canvass of the town to secure the names and addresses of former residents, who will be invited to attend the 'Old Boys' Reunion, began this morning with two workers in each of the four wards. Councillor W. J. Meiklejohn and J. P. Archer are canvassing the First Wards, R. J. Allan and Wesley Stephens the second, Councillor R. H. Cole and Dr. Watson, the third and Deputy Reeve Wilkinson and Walter Heuson the Fourth.

Chief Issues Order

Police Chief Duncalfe, in his capacity as Sanitary Inspector, has issued an order calling upon all householders to clean up their premises at once. They are required to have all garbage, ashes, decayed veg etable matter and refuse of all kinds that has accumulated during the winter, removed by the first of May. The Chief concludes his order with the significant hint, "A word to the wise should be sufficient." In other words, A summon, will be issued for any residents who fail to comply with the health regulations.

Auto Sales

The automobile business has revived with the coming of warmer weather and the consequent improvement in the country roads. Meyers and Stone, agents for the Star-Duran, cars, have recently made five sales. Dr. W. A. Murphy has purchased a roadster which he will use in his growing practice. The doctor will open a branch office in Marmora in which to treat his patients in that district.

Dr. W. F. Loucks has purchased a handsome Sedan from Meyers and Stone who have, besides, taken order for three touring cars.

High School Tenders

Tenders for the erection of the proposed High School must be in the hands of the Architect S. B. Coon of Toronto, not later than Monday. On Tuesday, Mr. Coon is expected there with the tenders to meet the members of the Board of Education who will probably award the contract.

Wanted —A Primary School

"I think we need a better place in which to teach the pupils in our primary department more than we require a new High School," said a bright young mother who was waiting at the public school for her two little children who have nearly a mile to walk from their home on the west side of the river and who make the trip twice daily as they are too youn to be left at the school during the hour and a half of noon recess.

The lady in question voiced the sentiments, not only of herself, but of a majority of the mothers of young children who reside on the west side, some of whom have over a mile to walk to school. There are at present two primary classes, held in a leased building which formerly was a private house. The quarters are cramped and poorly ventilated.

A school building for the pupils in the primary grade on the west side has been a mooted subject for years those in favor of the idea taking the ground that as two departments are required it would only be fair to have one on the east and another on the west side.

Separate School Concert

The pupils of the Separate School will give a concert in Cole's Opera house on Monday evening, April 30th. The programme will include choruses, solos, recitations, dialogues, a play in two acts, entitled "No Girls Admitted," and a scarf drill by twelve little girls. This is the entertainment that was postponed from Easter week on account of the illness of some of those who were to take part.

Co-Operatives Aroused

The United Dairymen Co-Operative of Peterborough, are carrying the war into Africa and have reviewed their campaign to win to their ranks the cheese factories in this district, the patrons of which at a special meeting of the Board held recently decided to carry on this year as usual and hold themselves aloof from the new organization.

Concert To-Night

The Young Ladies' Mission Circle of St. Andrew's Church will give a concert in the school room this evening, the chief performer being Miss Jean McIntosh, elocutionist and Mr. Fred Wigglesworth, the new organist, in song and piano selections.

DESPERATE EFFORT RESCUE CASTAWAYS

Aeroplane Crashed Through Ice on Trip of Mercy—Another Attempt.

DETROIT, April 20. Canadian Press. — Balked in his race with death to aid the nine men and women reported starving on the bleak shores of South Fox Island, in Lake Michigan, when his airplane crashed through the ice on Grand Traverse Bay, Lieut. Whithead of Selfridge Field, was making a desperate effort to salvage his plane and continue his flight last night.

The little band on the island, it was believed here, are very near death. Their store of food, it was said, had been reduced to a small quantity of frozen potatoes. Other food was unobtainable, and grim pictures of their condition hung over the desperate attempts to right the airplane for another flight.

MONTHLY MEETING WOMEN'S COUNCIL

Mrs. W. R. Morris Read an Interesting Paper on Educational Conference

The regular monthly meeting of the Local Council of Women was held yesterrday afternoon with a good attendance, in the green room of the Young Women's Christian Association. Routine business was tranacted, and an interesting paper was given by Mrs. W. R. Morris on the Conference on Education and Citizenship held recently in Toronto Mrs. A. Mowat occupied the chair.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. Joseph Wearing, Miss S. A. Tomkins read the correspondence received, and Mrs. N. D. Seaton gave the treasurer's report. In response to an appeal from the Local Council of Women to its affiliated societies, Mrs. Seaton reported the sum of $61.95 as having been received to date, in amounts ranging from one to ten dollars apiece. The sum of $25 had been remitted to the National Council to assist them in carrying on their work.

Miss L. Simons, secretary of the local Chapter of Graduate Nurses of Ontario, wrote, thanking the Local Council for their co-operation in helping to entertain the visiting nurses, at the recent convention held here. Mrs. Arthur Stevenson, on behalf of the executive committee, moved a hearty vote of thanks to the members for their loyal support and the assisting musicians who helped in making the tea given the nurses such a success, Mrs. Joseph Mills, convenor, seconded the motion, extending her thanks to the societies who donated generous supplies.

A letter from G. N. Gordon, K.C. M.P., in response to a request from the Council to support the legislation against abolition of the handbook evil and publication of race-track information, expressed his hearty accord with the wishes of the Council in this respect.

A letter from the Canadian Magazine Publishing Company requested the support of the ladies in its publocation, on patriotic grounds, as the majority of the contributors were Canadian writers and artists. Mrs. Mowat informed the meeting that a frequent contributor to this and other Canadian magazines, was Mr. Adrian Macdonald of Peterboro.

Oleomargarine to the Fore.

A discussion on the question of the sale of oleomargarine arose out of the remarks of one member regarding the action being taken at the present time by the Alberta Dairymen's Association, who are opposing the resolution introduced before the House of Commons asking that the oleomargarine industry be made permanent in Canada. The National Council of Women, through its local Councils, made a strong fight just a short while ago to suppress legislation in the House which was striving to forbid both the importation and the manufacture of this commodity of the poor man in Canada, and now, it appears, the dairy interests are once again attempting to suppress the product. It was finally decided yesterday to write the local member, asking him to support the action of the Council in its encouragemetn of the manufacture and importation of oleomargarine.

Mr. Gordon will also be asked to support the endeavor of the present government to secure control of subsidized cold storage plants, in order to set a fixed limit on the length of time that goods may be held in such warehouses.

The secretary was instructed to secure the necessary information as to the feasibility of procuring the services of the Federal official in this province who looks after the interests of the Migratory Birds' Convention Act, for the purpose of addressing school children of the city in regard to preservation of bird life.

The Provincial Council.

Mrs Mowat explained the organization of the Provincial Council, recently formed. Formerly, the Local Councils and National Council made up the working scheme of the society, with a Provincial committee which met occasionally. The formation of a distinct Provincial Council, with president, officers and executive, has lately been formed, in order to deal directly with the different provincial legislatures, in matters directly concerning provincial councils. This intermediary council will affiliate with other societies, such as the I.O.D.E., W.C.T.U., G. W.V.A. Auxiliary, etc., which are not directly connected with the Local Councils, but are working along the same lines. A motion carried to affiliate with the Provincial Council, the fee of $2 to be remitted by the treasurer.

Mrs. Mowat asked the co-operation of all affiliated societies in selling tickets for the concert to be given on May 4th by the Female Voice Choir in aid of the Well Babies' Clinic. Tickets were distributed by Mrs. A. W. Turner, secretary of the Managing Board of the Clinic.

Mrs. Morris' Address.

Mrs. W. R. Morris, in her usual concise, clear style, gave an interesting account of impressions received at the recent Conference on Education and Citizenship, held in Toronto, which was listened to with much appreciation by the ladies present. In a brief review of the inception of the Conference, its aims and accomplishments, Mrs. Morris outlined the three-day sessions of the the Conference, the second of its kind to be held in Canada. The first Conference, held in 1919 in Winnipeg, arose out of the feeling that "rightly directed education must be the source, through which proper development in adequate citizenship would be brought about." A conclusion reached by the first Conference was that a proper study and understanding of English was the "open sesame" to ideal citizenship, and it was the intention that a survey of the needs of the teaching of English in this country should be a basis for the second conference, an idea which, while not carried through in its entirety, still acted as a motif of the sessions in the Toronto convention.

Manifestly impressed by the genial aspect and brains of the visiting Englishman, Sir Michael Sadler, the ascetic idealism and whole-souled warmth of his confrere, Sir Henry Newbolt, Mrs. Morris evidently found the Canadians taking part in the programme quite up to the mark, and had a special word of praise for Mr. Vincent Massey, the chairman, graduate of Toronto University and post graduate of Oxford College.

The Winnipeg conference considered mainly the material and economic needs of Canada as a nation, but a broader outlook animated the second conference, in its greater stress on the ideals of service and full citizenship. With the outstanding nature of its aims and its speakers, its effort to build up an intelligent public opinion can hardly fail to give a marvellous impetus and publicity to the ideas and ideals it expressed.

The sessions of the three days opened with a survey of "What Is," an interpretation of present-day conditions, and inquiry itno the adequacy of education as an all-important aftcor in civilization. A study of geography, as a study of man and manners and a development of history, as record of human experience and human achievement, followed. Then came a studyof literature as a means of expression, with lectures on biography in education. Sir Henry Newbolt said, regarding biography: "Since we are unable to have the Bible placed in our schools for study purposes, surely we have sufficient biographies of Christian men to teach Christianity in the schools." "The Bible," he said, "is the most intellectual thing in our literature and the most spiritually-living thing in our inheritance."

Of personal education and self-control, it was said: "Government is becoming increasingly difficult because those who control have not learned to control."

The Canadian Woman Speaker.

Mrs. R. F. McWilliams, of Winnipeg, formerly a resident of Peterborough, was the only other speaker with Lady Baden-Powell on the entire programme. President of the Canadian Federation of Women and president of the Canadian Woman's Club in Winnipeg, her address was well given, on "Education as Character Development." She said, "At the present time, character counts more than cleverness, and it is better to have second-class brains than a second-class character."

Sir Henry Newbolt referred, in his remarks anent the Bible, to the affinity between the Hebrew and the English race, in the parallel which might be drawn between the experiences of the Jewish race and the history of the English race during the last nine hundred years. The Bible, he asserted, "had a prodigious effect on the thoughts, the hearts, and the imaginations of the people." It was unfortunate, he said, that a teaching of the lessons of the people had come to be associated in the minds of the majority with propaganda for the teacher's particular faith, so that its use had been forbidden in the schools on this account.

Mrs. Morris concluded her address with a protestation of belief in the living power and influence which may be exerted by earnest men and and women laboring to voice a real spiritual impulse for the common good, and quoted the words of one of the visiting speakers: "The Empire loves justice, mercy and truth, when truly it beholds them, and helps thus to speed through dark and difficult ways, the ever-climbing footstesp of the world."

A sincere vote of thanks was accorded the speaker, moved by Miss A. Lancaster and seconded by Miss S. A. Tomkins.

NO ORGANIC UNION DECLARES DR. ROSS

Come What May, the Strong United Presbyterian Church in Canada Will Continue.

MONTREAL, April 20.—(Canadian Press).—Many of the promoters of the organic union scheme are evidently bent on driving it through at any cost. ATTENDANCE thing to do with it, but there seemed to be a general atmosphere of rollicking fun and bustle throughout the whole long building. Crowds clustered about the dance hall entrance, which did a fine business, about the fashion show, where interested men and women watched the graceful models parade in the latest fancies, about the radio in the attractive little Y.W.C.A. section, and the larger machine installed by Messrs. Miller, Powell and Watson in the upper east end gallery, about the "Gabriel" snubber, at the right of the front entrance, where seniors and juniors alike watched in fascinated quiet the perilous progress of the two Teddy bears in the yellow toy automobile. The tea-room was well patronized, and girls with roses and ice cream cones had few refusals. About the moving bicycle exhibit were many spectators, and the strip of red and green cloth moving under the tiny light of the electric sewing machine held interested attention. Photographs in the red enclosure, the booth of the Fish and Game Association, the motor cars themselves, the electric novelties, everything recieved enthusiastic attention. The raffle booth again went over the top in its successful evening's work.

Right from the women who smiled with pleasant faces at the passing crowds, from various booths, to the little boy who flung his cap in the front entrance in a vain attempt to follow it in without a ticket, everyone seemed to be imbued with the spirit of cheerfulness.

Special Attraction.

To-night, a special attraction for the closing hours will be the carnival and masquerade, with a special list of excellent prizes for the winners in several sections. Under the flags and pennants of the old grey Armouries, with music and lights and flowers to create an atmosphere of well-being and fun, with masked frolickers and all the cheer that goes with an affair of this sort, everybody getting together for a last hour's sport to wind up a real successful Motor Show, nothing more attractive could be imagined than a carnival. It is anticipated that to-night's attendance will put the 1923 Motor Show finally over the top as a successful, live event.

SAYS HE SIGNED PETITION IN A MISUNDERSTANDING.

Chairman D. M. McIntyre and Mr. Francis Dagger, of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, held a meeting in the Council Chamber here on Thursday afternoon of last week, to hear the appeal of Mr. Emmanuel Stevens, of the Marmora Road, to have his name removed from the list of signatures for the new Belmont Municipal Telephone System. Mr. Stevens maintained that he signed the petition through a misunderstanding, and that he did not want a telephane installed. Messrs. J. W. Russell and W. J. Peoples, the gentlemen who obtained Stevens' signature to the petition, stated that in their opinion, there was no misrepresentation whatever, and that Mr. Stevens signed up when he was fully cognisant of what he was doing. Chairman McIntyre, in delivering judgment, said that he would recommend to the Board that the appeal be dismissed, as there had been no misrepresentation, and Mr. Stevens would have to stand back of his signature for the financial obligations he thereby incurred. — Havelock Standard.

BODIES CLOTHED IN BLANKETS OF GOLD

Beneath Modern Rome May Lie Treasures Eclipsing Those Found in Luxor Valley.

By CAMILLO CIANFARRA.

ROME, April 18.—(United Press).—The opening of Tu-Tankh-amen's tomb and the theory, confirmed now by countless discoveries, that the royal tombs of the pre-christian and early christian eras was apt to hold all the personal effects of the deceased or, at least, those effects which were inherent to his rank, have revived the debate whether or not the subsoil of Rome has been thoroughly explored.

Many believe a systematic search would lead up to the discovery of many sarcophagus, whose contents would easily eclipse, from the point of view of their intrinsic and artistic value, those found even in the richest of Egyptian tombs.

Local archeologists believe, that, aside from certain historical spots, the local underground has never been explored, and that what has been found, was due more to accident than to the expressed purpose of the explorer.

Professor Ermanno Ponti says that while it would be useless to search for the tombs of the Roman patricians and pagan emperors, as their bodies were invariably burned, yet Rome has at least one unexplored nechropolis, located nearby St. Peter's, which was the nausoleum of all the christian emperors and empresses of Rome, who succeeded Constantine, including Theodosius the Great, Theodosius II., Empress Galla Placida Augusta, Honorius and probably Valentinian III. Side by side to them were buried their wives.

There is no record showing that these tombs were ever opened. The mausoleum was torn down to make room for a wing of the present church, but the tombs were left unmolested.

Treasures in Tomb.

To give an idea of what may be found in them, Professor Ponti quotes a chronicler of the year 1458, concerning the opening of a marble sarcophagus containing two unidentified bodies bought to light while digging a grave for a dead prelate. Inside the marble sarcophagus there was a wooden coffin lined with silver, which when melted netted about 832 pounds of silver. The bodies were, wrapped in a gold blanket, which the Pope also sent to the mint. It yielded about thirty American pounds of gold.

But a list of what was found in the tomb of Empress Mary Honorius's wife, and a daughter of the Roman general stilicon, will give a definite idea of what the tombs of the Christian emperors of Rome would yield. The tomb came accidentally to light in 1544, and when the sarcophagus of red Egyptian granite was opened, the prelates and the officials of the pontificial court, as a chronicler says, stood amazed at the sight it offered, hardly believing their own eyes.

Blankets of Gold.

The body of the empress was clad in a gold gown, while gold embroidered blankets covered her face and breast. Side by side to the body there lay a silver box containing thirty small vases of chrystal, agate and other stones, and four of gold. Beside, there were two cups and an oil lamp of gold. A second box lined with gilded silver contained, according to the chronicler, fifteen rings, a number of ear-rings, small crosses, colliers, buttons, needles and a small gold ball which opened like a nut. Every article was of gold and of the most exquisite workmanship, studded with emeralds, pearls and other precious stones. Among the stones there was a carved one, which bore the likeness of Honorius and which was sold for 500 gold ducats.

Treasure Dispersed.

But at that time there was little or no respect for what was found in a tomb, and the treasure was dispersed. The articles found, when minted, yielded about seventy American pounds of gold.

The only piece of jewelry saved and still in existence was a large brooch bearing the name of Mary and Honorius. Three hundred years later Marquis Trivulzi purchased it for the Milan Museum. Professor Ponti says that if the Vatican gave the necessary permission for a careful search of the mausoleum's underground, a number of tombs would be unearthed that would probably yield even richer treasures.

MOTOR SHOW NOTES

Prof. Gliddon's orchestra has received admiring comments from all sides this year. Their music is exceptionally good.

The flower of the girlhood of the city is selling blooms at the Motor Show these evenings.

All records for attendance were broken last night.

Mr. Bob Cotton won the box of towels. Are they cotton towels, Bob?

The dance hall was a busy and popular spot.

The Prize List Committee has added a number of additional prizes to the list already published.

Why not stay and hear your name called out in the list of winners when the drawing takes place? It sounds much nicer through the megaphone than at second hand next day. The drawing take, place from the orchestra stand at half-past nine o'clock sharp each night, which doesn't mean ten o'clock or a quarter to ten.

Several prizes have already been claimed and delivered. The lady who won the ton of coal from the first night's list is wearing a broad smile, quite noticeable over the telephone.

The band of the Peterborough Rangers will play at the corner of Charlotte and George streets at 7.15 this evening.

Mr. Chris Graham won a hundred pound sack of flour last night. This will help to supply the need s of Chris' large family.

This is courtesy week. Have you paid your respects to the Motor Show yet?

AUTHORITY REIGNS IN MULHEIM AGAIN

MULHEIM, April 20. — (Canadian Press.)—After being terrorized for three days by Communist mobs which held it, Mulheim to-day is again under control of the constituted German authorities. A force of three hundred police and city officials which had been beseized in Rathaus, issued from this great fortress-like building this morning, cut through the lines of beseigers, caught them in the rear, arrested many and took control of the city.

Thirty Wounded.

Eight persons are so far reported dead and more than thirty wounded as a result of the disturbance in Mulheim, according to special despatches, which state that although teh city has been freed from communists, armed bandits are still causing trouble in the outskirts. Forty of the rioters' leaders have been arrested. The beleagued police were able to hold out until the arrival of reinforcements from nearby towns, who forced the barricades leading into the city. Disturbers were well armed through plundering shops. Communist "red guards," as despatches call them, removed all their dead and wounded. The despatch adds that some of the wounded were taken to French occupation forces' barracks.

GRAVE INJUSTICE CANADIAN FARMERS

OTTAWA, April 20. — (Canadian Press).—That the Grain Trade Commission to be appointed shortly by the Federal Government should go thoroughly into the matter of disposal of screenings at terminal elevators in Canada was maintained in the House of Commons last night by Hon. Harry Stevens, Conservative, Vancouver Centre.

"I am morally certain," said Mr. Stevens, "that the cream in these screenings is appropriated by elevator companies, pooled by them, and shipped to Minneapolis. That is a matter the Commission should take up."

If inquiry should prove that, deprived of these screenings, elevator companies were unable to make fair profit, he went on, it was the duty of the Grain Commissioners to set a fee that would allow these concerns a proper return.

Grave injustice was being done to Canadian farmers, declared the member, who said that he realized his remarks would be regarded as "revolutionary," but he cared not as to that.

Rubber vulcanized by a patent process in London, and said to be the lightest solid substance known, will make the building of rubber houses possible.

—An Aid to Advertisers Both Local and National

THE Audit Bureau of Circulations is an Association of publishers, advertisers and advertising agencies who are co-operating to standardize and verify circulation data, and thus place the buying of space on a basis of "Known Value."

The Bureau was established in 1914 and now numbers among its members the majority of the leaders in the publishing and advertising fields of the United States and Canada.

Twice a year the publisher makes a report to the Bureau showing total circulation and details of distribution by states, cities, towns, suburbs and rural districts; also subscription rates and facts about contests, premiums the club offers. Once a year these statements are audited by one of the Bureau's experts. The publisher-members agree to permit examination by the Auditor of all records considered necessary by the Bureau.

By means of the A. B. C. audit reports, which are issued on all member-publications, the advertiser can analyze the circulation of a paper and determine its value to him as an advertising medium.

By patronizing A. B. C. papers, advertisers guard their own interests and also participate in this nation-wide movement to place advertising on a sound businesslike basis.

The EXAMINER is a member of the A. B. C. and would be pleased to submit a copy of the latest circulation report

EXPERT EXPLAINED INCOME INSURANCE

Advantages Over Lump Sum Payment of Life Insurance Clearly Defined

At the meeting of the Underwriters' Association of Peterboro, held to-day the problem of guaranteed income insurance was dealt with by John C. Parker, Chief Actuary of the Imperial Life Insurance Company.

The president of the Association, J. H. Wallace, of the Sun Life Insurance in introducing Mr. Parker, referred to him as an outstanding man in his particular line of business, and an expert on Guaranteed Income Insurance.

Mr. Parker's illuminating address was a strong argument in favor of monthly income Life Insurance. It is, he said, something which is of real benefit to those who buy it. The ideal way of paying life insurance is by this method—the system of income to which the beneficiary is accustomed. The ordinary housewife cannot manage a year's income given her in one installment.

The usual run of insurance, the speaker said, is $1000 or $2000. If that amount is paid over to the beneficiary in a lump sum experience shows that in a year's time, or possibly two years' time, the money is all gone in the effort to keep the home together and the widow is compelled to go out to work. Income insurance would obviate this danger, the regular income being guaranteed for the time contracted for. In Mr. Parker's opinion the ideal policy is a 20 year guaranteed income insurance, because this will bring the children through their younger years to an age when they will be independent.

The secretary reported 51 members in the association, a very satisfactory membership, but not yet completed.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

About 30 of the friends of Miss Vera Hill, whose marriage takes placeto-morrow, were entertained at the home of Mrs. James Runnet, Sherbrooke street, on Wednesday evening, on the ocasion of a linen shower given by Miss Betty Runnet in honor of the bride elect. The many beautiful gifts were gathered in a little chariot in charge of small Joe Cook as Cupid, who delighted his audience with dances during an evening spent in games, the enjoyment of music, and light refreshments.

"THE DEACON"

Those who attended the performance of "The Deacon," a comedy-drama presented by the Cognawaga Athletic Club in St. James' S. S. Hall, last night, were unanimous in their praise of the splendid production. It would indeed be difficult to stress any particular part, for all the way from "The Deacon" to 'Pete,' the colored boy, the characters excelled themselves.

The happy intoxication of the Deacon (Mr. L. R. Parks) was a cruel reminder that "them days are gone forever," but intoxication failed to interfere with his love-making, which was perfect.

The vaudeville, under direction of Mr. Ed Rowe, proved that not only in song and acting, but every day in every way they are getting better and better.

Great credit is due Mr. Geo. Wager, under whose direction this play came to its successful conclusion. Mr. Wager was ably assisted by Mr. Wm. McLaren.

Special mention might be made of the decortaing and scenery due to able efforts of Kenneth Shadgett and Percy Vannest, electrical effects and lighting in charge of Mr. Cecil Church added much to the production.

Genuine and hearty applause was given the village band, under the leadership of Mr. Edwin Rowe.

The Deacon will again be presented to-night for those who missed its first appearance.

SLEEPER JUMPS FOR PETES ON KINGSTON TRIP

The Peterborough Central League team think they have solved the problem of making the trip to Kingston at a maximum of comfort to the players. The Kingston jaunt was figured as an inconvenient one, because of the awkward train connections, but the plan favored by the Petes seems to fill the bill. It is proposed to have a sleeper attached to the midnight C.P.R. train, which will be dropped at Sharbot Lake and taken into Kingston in the morning. A similar arrangement will be adopted on the return journey, and thus the Petes will not be deprived of an opportunity to sleep, and they would be home early enough in the morning after the game to enable them to go to work as usual. The Peterborough team is scheduled to make four trips to Kingston, and the proposed arrangement will make them among the most enjoyable of the season.

Canadian Stock Exchange — And Mines — and New York Stock Exchange — And Curb Prices.

To-Day's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

UPWARD TENDENCY.

NEW YORK, April 20. (United Press. — The upward tendency of the stock market was abruptly halted to-day by a series of events that gave encouragement to the selling side and declines of one and two points in the leading stocks were the order of the day before noon with no signs of any very definite rallying tendency.

In the first place the Federal Reserve ratio fell to 75.5 against 76.3 a week ago although the ratio of the bank hold steady.

Second, Jesse Livermore, usually credited with being Wall Street's largest operator, gave out a statement warning the public against poorly founded securities which are being marketed.

The public, he said, should begin to discriminate. The Standard Oil of New Jersey announced price cuts for gasoline in Eastern States, explaining that the low priced Californian crude was being brought to the Atlantic coast by the company's tankers. Standard of California dipped to 50½ after stopping last week at 51 7-8. Stocks steadied in the second hour when the selling pressure lifted from the oil group. Fresh forward movements were started in several sections of the list.

Corn Products was an outstanding feature advancing to a new high on the move at 131 against Thursday's low of 128 3-8. Standard Oil of New Jersey stated it was taking advantage of cheaper price in California to transport crude to the refineries on the Atlantic seaboard. It called attention to the profitable possibilities in this connection resulting in demand of the stock of the company's with large refining capacities.

The statement of Chairman Sinclair that gasoline production will be increased 200 per cent indicates much larger earnings from the refining end of the Sinclair company's business this year.

Since the organization of Sinclair cash actually put into development acquisitions a new construction and working capital exceeded the present market value of Sinclair's total capitalization stocks and bonds.

PASSENGER TRAFFIC INCREASING RAPIDLY.

MONTREAL, Que., April 20.—(Canadian Press).—Because of the increase of passenger traffic, it was announced yesterday at the head offices of Canadian Pacific Railway that the new train which is to operate nightly between Montreal and Toronto will be placed in commission a week earlier than was originally intended. The new train had been scheduled to begin on May 20th but instead will commence on Sunday May 13th.

Strong City League Teams--Toronto Lost--More Homers

MANY PLAYERS WILL BE PROVIDED FOR BY CITY LEAGUE SERIES

Applications For Entries Were Received in Every Series From Bantam to Intermediate Last Evening.

GOOD PROSPECTS.

Owing to the untiring efforts of President Ward Patterson, of the City League, some semblance of order is rapidly being evolved from the chaotic conditions in which the local baseball plans were found to be checked up for the opening of the season.

At one time this spring it looked doubtful if there would be any city league at all yet last night at the league meeting 15 teams were definitely entered in four classes, and there is every prospect of having a four team league in the Midget class, which has not yet been provided for.

When Mr. Patterson first took hold of the office of president for 1923, the task of finding entries for the Intermediate League seemed hopeless. There were many players available for this class but owing to the strength of the C. G. E. team, which naturally wished to retain its identity, and its chances for the second championship, no organization except the Raybestos Club could be found to back an Intermediate entry. The Mercantile League was then formed in order that men eligible for Intermediate baseball might have a chance to play, and owing to the assistance given this league by President Patterson and the other officers of the City League it was decided to enter an all star Mercantile team in the City League, giving that organization a three-team intermediate league. The three entries of the C.G.E., Raybestos and Mercantiles, were formally made at last night's meeting.

The Adanacs and Lakeviews were the only junior entries when Mr. Patterson assumed the reins of office and it was suggested that these two teams would have to be stepped up into the Intermediate series in order to give a full intermediate league. This would eliminate Peterboro's chances of the Junior championship, this year, and Mr. Patterson promptly started looking for other teams. Again it was found that there was plenty of playing material but no one to back the teams. Louis Yeotes was the first to step into the breach and offered to reorganize his old Thistles team. This offer was accepted and Mr. Yeotes expects to have a team in the field that will be right in the running the whole season. From the moment he decided to enter a team he has been busy rounding up his players and with his backing it is certain that his team will be a strong one. In order to fill out the Junior series to a four team league the C. G. offered to place a junior team in the league and the offer was immediately accepted. This team has not yet signed up all the necessary players, but the backers have a good frame work to build on and the team will be one that will keep the other entries hustling.

No difficulty was experienced in filling out a four team league for the Juveniles. The Maple Leafs, last year's midget champions, have decided to go after the juvenile honours this year. The Lock Works have entered a team in this class, and have some excellent boys to draw their team from. Instead of placing two indifferent teams on the field, the Holy Name Society, and the Sacred Heart organization got together and decided to enter a joint team. This combination of forces should be productive of good results. The Hillcrests, a bunch of East City boys applied for the fourth berth in this section. At a previous meeting these boys had announced that they were without a grown up manager. Since then an able mentor has been found in the person of Joe Munro, and with all East City to draw players from it should be a snappy team.

There was never any doubt of four teams in the Bantam series, as early in the winter the Rotary, Kiwanis and Curling Clubs had volunteered to sponsor teams in this series, and several other clubs applied for permission to back up the fourth entry. There was never any scarcity of players in this class as Alex Kay reported some time ago that he then had sixty-five players signed, and who would be assigned to the various teams.

The question of the Midget series was brought up again at last night's meeting. Alex. Kay, ever the champion of the young fry, announced that he had no less than twenty-seven boy who were not quite fast enough for Juvenile company, but who were over the bantam age limit. It was also announced that a team from the south end is certain in this class if such a league is formed, and there is a possibility of a team from East City. President Patterson and Mr. Kay are now busy trying to find an organization willing to back the two teams for which Mr. Kay has found the players, and it now looks as if this league is also a certainty.

These leagues together with the Mercantile League, will make no less than twenty three teams organized in all classes, from Bantam to Intermediate for this season.

The next meeting of the City League will be held on Tuesday evening at an hour to be announced later.

LACROSSE

The organization of lacrosse clubs in Belleville and Trenton is one of the early encouragements of the present season. Both towns will be represented by juvenile and midget teams along with Deseronto, and probably several other towns in that district.

Dr. Smith and Dr. Gibson of Lakefield had the notion a year ago to start some of the boys up there, and have promises to give the idea another once over right away. Lacrosse thrives in the small towns as well as in the cities. Norwood had a rattling fine juvenile team a few years ago. It produced such prominent players at Andy Magee, the Irwin boys, Nelson King, Alex Weir and others. They cleaned up their district in great style one summer.

A local juvenile league should be organized next week. There are a lot of lacrosse sticks in Peterboro now, and the boys are eager to get started. A little encouragement at the start should give a juvenile league momentum to carry it through to a real success.

MALONE VS. WELLS.

CHICAGO, April 20.—(Canadian Press.)—Jack Malone, St. Paul middleweight, and Billy Wells, British welter weight champion, yesterday were matched to box ten rounds in St. Paul on May 4. The fighters are to meet at 150 pounds, the same weight at which they fought recently when Wells was credited with outpointing the St. Paul battler.

Woollens Offer Use of Playing Field

Heres co-operation. The Canadian Woollens Football team has offered the use of their grounds free of charge to any and all teams for games or practice. This offer applies to football, rugby and ground hockey teams and the only condition attached is that the games do not conflict with the home games of the Canadian Woollens.

Arrangements for the use of the grounds can be made by getting in touch with J. Gaskell, the secretary of the Canadian Woollens team, at his home address, 81 Smith street or phone 188J.

With the scarcity of playing grounds in the city this is an offer that should not be overlooked and a privilege that should not be abused by those who take advantage of it. The courtesy of the team in offering the grounds should be appreciated and every effort made to leave them in as good condition as they are accepted in.

In stroke competition a competitor plays a stroke with a ball other than his own. He then discovers the mistake. Has he the right to play his own ball or is he disqualified for his action in playing the ball of his competitor?

If the mistake is discovered after playing only one stroke no penalty is attached. He has the right to play his own ball. However, should he play two consecutive stokes with the wrong ball he is diqualified.

In dropping the ball, a player in following the usual conditions, so lets the ball fall over his shoulder that it strikes his leg and is deflected into a hazard. Is there any penalty if the ball strikes the person of the player dropping it and must he play the ball from the position in the hazard?

There is no penalty if the ball strikes the player in dropping it. If it rolls into a hazard the player may redrop it without penalty.

TARIFF NOT A FACTOR IN THE RISE OF SUGAR

Criminal Proceedings May Follow Yesterday's Injunction Suit.

WASHINGTON, April 20—Criminal proceedings may follow an injunction suit filed in New York yesterday by the Federal Government to protect the public against exorbitant sugar prices.

The first phase of the Government's action against the alleged sugar conspiracy was completed with the institution of the Federal injunction proceedings to prevent speculative trading on the New York Sugar Exchange. The criminal phase was held in abeyance but Acting Attorney-General Seymour anounced that it was under serious consideration.

Final decision regarding criminal action was said officially to be before Attorney-General Daugherty, who is now at Asheville, N. C. He was personally active in drafting the injunction suit, based on the anti-trust law and the anti-trust provisions of the Wilson Tariff Act was said to be considering a request upon the Federal Grand Jury in New York for criminal indictment under the Conspiracy provisions of the Sherman Act of defendants named in yesterday's civil suit.

Another development yesterday in the sugar situation was a report to President Harding by the Tariff Commission which found that duties of the new Fordney-McCumber Tariff Act were not a factor in the recent increase in sugar prices.

C. H. DEMAR WON MARATHON FOR THE THIRD TIME

First Man in History of the Race to Win it Three Times—Fabre Finished Eleventh.

WELL RUN RACE.

BOSTON, April 20.—(Canadian Press).—The legs, the head and the heart of Clarence H. De Mar, of Melrose, are still the best of those embodied in the bodies of the country's best long-distance runners.

The man of 35 years, who as a soldier back from the wars, surprised sports followers last year by winning the American Marathon Road Race in record time eleven years after his first success in the event, won it again to-day. His time of 2 hours, 23 minutes, 47 3-5 seconds, set no new mark, but it was nearly two minutes faster than that of the runner-up, Frank Zuna of the Millrose A. A., New York, and his victory established him as the only man in the 27 years history of this race to win it three times.

To-day's was a contest in which veterans triumphed. Five of the first eleven men were previous winners and most of those well placed have been running for years. Zuna won in 1912; Carl W. A. Linder, Boston A. A., in 1919; William J. Kennedy, Port Chester, N.Y., in 1917, and Edouard Fabre, of Montreal, in 1915.

Wallie Carlson of Chicago, was third, and Albert P. Nicholson of Stamford, Conn., who contested the lead with others and then with De Mar for nearly half the 25 miles, was fourth. After Gunnar Nilson and Nestor Erickson of New York, teammates of the Finnish-American A. C. had finished fifth and sixth, there came plodding home Carl W. A. Linder of the Boston A.A., victor in 1919, and and Bill Kennedy of Port Chester, N.Y., who led the way in 1917.

De Mar's was a victory of stamina, speed and judgment in which he plodded along in fourth place for eight miles, then moved into second place chasing Michelson, the pacemaker, until he overtook him at the halfway mark in Wellesley. But Michelson, always fast in the first stages of these races, overhauled him with a sprint shortly afterward and De Mar coasted along in his dust for a few miles they had passed the Reservoir checking station at Newton. It was there he started his successful sprint last year; it was there he sprinted to win yesterday. In a mile or two Michelson was left behind and De Mar was alone in front, striding through streets lined by thousands.

Zuna, behind him, had run a race well within his powers but not so well judged.

The winners ran the last five miles of his race on his left heel and right toes. As he reached the Lake Street Reservoir, an automobile crowded his accompanying bicycle in towards him and it caught his right heel, tearing it from his shoe. Then a blister developed on is left foot and when the veteran reached the finish his gait was rather odd, and he was apparently very tired.

Discussing the race, the winner remarked that the test had not hurt him in any way and that he was sure he would be able to make a good showing in the Olympics if the opportunity came. Another marathon will be run here before the next Olympics and De Mar said he would probably run again.

Edouard Fabre, the snowshoe runner from the North Country, who came in eleventh, the last of the five former winners, refused to stop running when he broke the tape. He maintained his closing sprint right into the clubhouse, up two flights of stairs, through the gymasium to a lunch counter at the farther end and only ended when he grasped a large bowl of pea soup and raised it with both hands to his lips. The officials whose duty it was to check in the runners as they reached the clubhouse, ten corralled him and led him back to the scales.

The first eleven finishers and their times, were:

Franc Zuna, Millrose A.A., New York, —2:25:32.
Wallie Calrson, Svitsoid, A.A., Chicago, 2:27:10 4-5.
Albert P. Michelson, Cygnet A.C. Stamford,— 2:28:27 2-5.
Gunnar Nilson, Finnish-Amr. A. C., New York, —2:29:40.
Nestor Erickson, Finnish-Amn., A. C. New York—2:29:46 1-5.
Carl W. A. Linder, Boston A.A., —2:30:02.
Wm. J. Kennedy, Cygnet, A.C., Port Chester, N.Y., —2:33:47.
Jos. Conte, Pastime A.C. New York, —2:38:20
A. L. Flanders, Boston A.A. —2:40:41.

Jack Dempsey to Defend His Title

CHICAGO, April 20.—(Canadian Press.) — Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion pugilist, will positively defend his title July 4, his manager, Jack Kearns announced in a telegram received here yesterday. The opponent remains to be decided, Kearns said.

Kearns, who is in Los Angeles, telegraphed he had not closed with Tom Gibbons, the St. Paul heavyweight, for Shelby, Mnt., on July 4, but negotiations were pending.

An Appeal For Younger Players.

The great difficulty in forming Midget and Juvenile baseball teams has been the matter of financing. The chief and biggest needs at the start of the season is an outfit of uniforms for a team. If the youngsters could only get the uniforms they can dig up a couple of odd bats, a few balls, a decker and mask somewhere but the uniforms cost the money and the kids haven't as much money to sink in such things as the older boys have.

The senior, Intermediate and Junior teams will have their uniforms supplied by the organizations backing them and so have nothing to worry them in that respect. The kids however are faced with a difficulty.

It was suggested at last night's meeting of the City League that all ex-players and players who have two or three odd uniforms lying around the house should turn them in for the use of the youngsters. There must be a large number of uniforms in the city that will not be used again unless such a thing is done with them and what better could be done.

Lack of uniforms is what is holding up the formation of a Midget League. There are plenty of boys of the right age and well able to play against the best of them and if this lack can be overcome the league will be formed. Last year a Peterboro team, the Maple Leafs, went out and won the Ontario Championship. This team has been promoted to the juvenile series this season and if Peterboro is to defend her honors in the Midget class a league must be formed.

Any who wish to donate one or more uniforms should notify President Ward Patterson at his home and some one will be sent after it or the uniform can be left at Ed. Wright's barber shop.

The presentation of last year's Central League uniforms to the Adanacs was a step in the right direction and showed a decided spirit of co-operation. Now if a few of the older ball players can outfit a Midget League all will be well.

Start Your Golf Right; See a Professional

By Mike Brady, Western Open Champion.

To any beginner in golf my first advice would be to take at least a few lessons from a professional.

That may sound like propaganda for myself and my brother professionals, but it is born of the fact that bad habits in golf, once acquired, are the hardest things imaginable to shake off.

The toughest situation a professional faces is to try to make over a man's game when that man has taken up the game blindly, with the idea that there is no more science or secret to hitting a golf ball correctly than there is to swinging an umbrella head at a pebble.

When a bad stroke becomes second nature to a golfer, and he goes to a professional to straighten him out, it takes all the patience the professional can muster and all the practice the player can give to eradicate the fault.

Golf is a flatterer and a deceiver. A man goes out for the first time, hits the ball surprisingly well and plays so excellently his first time around that he fondly believes he is on the road to become a first-class player. He may do well for a few rounds, but suddenly everything seems to go wrong and he hasn't the slightest idea what is the matter.

Now while there is no professional living who can make a good golfer out of everybody who goes to him for lessons, he can teach certain fundamentals and start him on the right road.

Lots of men say that they have taken up the game for fun and exercise only, but human nature is human nature, and any man would rather play well than poorly.

"POP" GEERS AND THE HARNESS HOSSES

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 19.—Along with the other sports that are now popping out of the winter cupboard, the "harness hosses" will soon be hoofing it around the big rings in the middle west.

When the pacers and trotters come out to score down for the first heat, old "Pop" Geers no doubt will be on a sulky cushion, because it is beginning to be believed that when the call comes for him to go, the grand old man of the track will have his boots on.

"Pop" Geers is the biggest figure in the annals of light harness racing and in many respects he is the most unique and remarkable character in American sports.

Seventy two years of age, with a record of forty-two years in a sulky seat, Geers has had an uncompleted record that perhaps will never be equalled. With winnings on the track of $1,500,00 he has put himself first among the biggest successes in all lines of sport.

He has driven more than fifty horsese to marks better than 2:10 and the wizard and brain of the great old driver has gotten out of his "hosses" almost more than they possessed.

No finer type of sportsman ever drove on the track and no gamer game ever competed in any line of sport.

He has been scarred and banged up in a dozen bad smashes, but he is still at the old game when most men of his advanced years would have to be hoisted in the seat.

Back in 1916, during the Grand Circuit race at Columbus, "Pop" got in a tangle on the back turn of the track and went down in mass of twisted wire spokes, broken shafts and tangled horse flesh. He was pulled out more than half dead and rushed to the hospital. It was accepted around the track that 'Pop' had reached the end, and the swipes in his stable cried in their great sorrow. If the fates were kind enough to spare him it was considered certain that the famous Memphis stogie that always decorated his mouth had puffed its last wisp of smoke behind a "hoss."

The next day, hardly visible in his bandages, the great old man was asked if he was through.

"Don't know yet, young fellow," he replied. "All depends if I can ever sit up again."

"Pop" was sittin' up in bed two days later, and in three weeks he was sittin' up on the sulky.

Much can happen between now and next September to disable or wreck the team, but from the present outlook the American tennis team should have very little trouble in successfully defending the Davis Cup. Australia, Spain and Japan were considered the most dangerous challengers for the cup until recent happenings, but they are no longer considered as more than a threat.

Figuring they had no veteran combination to hold its own against Tilden, Johnston and Richards, the Australian association has decided on building for the future and will send a team of youngsters out for experience alone.

The Alonso brothers have established a residence in Philadelphia and they will not return to Europe to represent Spain in the preliminary rounds. Without them the strength of the Spanish team is reduced almost fifty per cent.

Kumagae will not be able to play on the Japaneses team, and without him the Nippon team will have no chance, as it failed once with him.

Australia or France probably will step in the possession of the cup when the American reign of supremacy on the court comes to an end. Both nations are developing young players, while Vinnie Richards is the only outstanding youngster the United States has to offer as a successor to those two great Bills, Tilden and Johnston. Another Tilden or Johnston will not be devolped for years, and Australia and France are building for the day when the American super-stars finish their careers on the courts.

Every critic who looked at the St. Louis Browns down south went into enthusiastic raptures about the improvement in Martyn McManus, Lee Fohl's young second baseman. He is being heralded as the successor of Eddie Collins. To step ahead of Rogers Hornsby, McManus will have to move some, but he has always given promise of getting there in the American League.

TIGERS LOOM AS STRONG CONTENDERS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April — Ty Cobb's Detroit Tigers are the team in the opinion of Miller Huggins, that the New York Yankees must beat out for the American League pennant.

That makes it unanimous.

If the Tigers are not the favorites in the 1923 race they are certainly the outstanding contenders for the right to get into the next series.

Cobb is a manager of established ability and he has the material. If misfortune, such as fell upon the Boston Braves last season and flattened them on the ground, does not pick out Detroit for its 1923 victim, the Tigers have a most wonderful chance to win the pennant.

It was a bad break in luck that played no small part in preventing Cobb from piloting his team to a position higher than third place last season. The arm of Sylvester Johnson, a Pacific Coast hurler, who was regarded as a likely candidate for the pitching honors in the American League, went back on him and he was able to work in only seven winning games of the late season. As soon as he got going, the Tigers jumped into third place and remained there.

Pehraps it can be argued that the loss of Johnson was not a bad break, inasmuch as the thinning of his pitching corps forced Cobb to use Pillette, a little-considered pitcher, who came up with Johnson. Given, the chance, Pillette turned out to be one of the best pitchers in the league.

If Detroit had both Johnson and Pillette in top form all season, the Yanks might not have won the pennant, because the New Yorkers were around aching for some one to come along and beat them.

Since the Tigers were good enough to land in third place last season, it stnads to reason that they ought to do better this year because they have been materially strengthened, while the Yanks are not a greatly improved ball club, and the Browns are not as strong on paper.

The addition of Del Pratt, former Yank and Red Sox second baseman, will pug up a weak spot that has been bothering Cobb since he took hold of the team. Pratt is no youngster, but neither is he ageworn. He has a lot of good baseball in him and with a strong pennant possibility, he should go big.

In the Pratt deal, Cobb also got Rip Collins, former Yankee pitcher. Collins has had his foot lifted to step in among the best pitcher in the league ever since he came up into fast company, but he seems to need a good shove to complete the motion. Cobb is one manager who might be able to prod him along or give him the shove. Another pitcher who might be brought out by Cobb is Francis, former Washington southpaw.

Eight of the players that Cobb will send into every game are .300 hitters or better. His lineup, consisting of himself, Veach, Heilman, Fothergill, Blue, Pratt, Rarney, Jones, Haney, Bassler and Woodall, presents one of the greates aggregations of mean hitters that a club has ever mustered. Theoretically, it ought to produce five or six runs a game, and if the artillery produces on that scale the pitching will not be overtaxed.

Huggins, in discussing the chances of the Tigers expressed the opinion that Cobb's pitchers were strong enough for home duty, but that the club was not fortified sufficiently for road work. The Tigers haven't anything to compare with the star pitching, hustling, hitting club under the guidance of a shrewd manager, the Tigers do not need six champion hurlers.

If it comes to the expected duel between the Yanks and the Tigers, it should be a warm one. In twenty two games played by the two clubs last year, they won eleven each. Cobb ran away with Washington, Philadelphia and Boston, but his team had trouble with the Browns, and Detroit won only five games from the White Sox.

No doubt the injury which forced Heilman out of the lineup late in the season hurt what chance the team might have had last year, and a very poor start also imposed a big handicap. It was not until the first of August that the Tigers got settled and then it was to late to catch up with the fast moving Browns and Yanks.

Cobb seems to have developed morale to a high degree among his players, contradicting the belief expressed when he was appointed manager, that his high-strung temperament and the prevailing notion that he was an average seeker more than a team worked would prevent him from becoming a success.

Given a good start this year and just an even portion of the breaks, the Tigers look like close to an even money bet to do one-half of the worlds series next October.

PIRATES HAVE A STRONG BALL TEAM

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April — (United Press)—Due to causes which can be only partially explained, the Pittsburgh Pirates won the inconsistent championship of the National League last season. The chart of the Pirates' record for the season is almost a perfect ladder of ups and downs on which they wandered eratically from second to sixth place and finished in a tie for third.

With the possible exception of the improvement that may be expected in several young ball players, the Pirates will be no stronger when they start after the 1923 pennant than when they finished the last race. It does not follow, however, that the Pirates will do much better than they did last year. On the contrary, it is possible that they may do much better. In figuring the chances of the Pittsburgh team in the coming pennant race it is necessary to go back to last season and do all the figuring on what happened during that season.

For several years the Pirates have been strong potentially. When George Gibson, former Pirate catcher, was given the management of the club, much was expected from him and the team. After a bad early season start last year, the club fell to fifth place, then found itself and mounted up to second place, where it remained for three weeks. The team went to pieces and it was intimated that Gibson's inability to enforce the rules of training was responsible when the Pirates dropped down to sixth place in July.

At this point, Gibson resigned and Bill McKechnie was placed in command and almost immediately results began to show. The Pirates jumped into second place in two weeks They stumped then and dropped down to fifth. McKenchie sent out a hurry call for Walter Schmidt, who joined the club, and the club played ball from then on.

Schmidt held out for an increase in salary before the season started and when it was refused he went into temporary retirement. Gibson never made serious efforts to get him back, being content, apparently, with the work of Johnny Gooch, a fine young catcher, who lacked nothing but the very essential knowledge of the batters and the stability to hold down the young pitchers.

If Bill McKechnie had been in charge of the team from the start, if Schmidt had worked in 100 games instead of only forty, and if Rebel Russel had been with the club before June, the Pirates might have won the pennant last year.

Russell, the old White Sox pitcher, who found out he could hit when he was about to pass out of the game, joined the team in June. He not only played right field acceptably, but his tremendous batting was one of the big features of the season.

Figuring now that McKechnie will be in charge when the next race starts, that the team will have the skilled head of Schmidt behind the bat and the stick of Russell at the bat all season, the chances of the Pirates are at least good.

Eyebrows of some of the skeptic experts are lifted when the Pirates are held up as trouble-makers in the race, and they ask:

"Where are their pitchers?"

The Pirates are none too heavy in the box, but combinations can be worked out by an able manager that will overcome weakness in the box, as has been proved on several occasions by one John McGraw.

Babe Adams is at the age where he can be considered at best, an uncertainity, and Earl Hamilton is also too far advanced to have the promise of a youngster. But the hurling staff, all round, is not the poorest in the league by far, if it is not the best.

The Pirates have been criticzed for an apparent inclination to take their baseball lightly. The clowning of Maranville and Tierney and the strains of their noted "barber shop" quartet floating from the dugout caused many comment to be made last year that the only way to win the pennants was by playing baseball.

If McKechnie can draw the line and allow the boys to keep in good humor without being childish, he ought to get some good baseball out of them. McKechnie has never given the impressin that he lacks that ability.

The National League race for 1923 looks like one of the best free-for-alls that has been staged in many years, and if the Pirates do not finish one, two, three it is no sign they are not a good ball club.

AVIATORS REPORT NO LOSS OF LIFE DURING 3 MONTHS.

Many Accidents Encountered By One Flyer, But He Escaped.

BANTOUF, Ill., April 20.—(Associated Press)—Not a fatality has been checked against the air service during the three months that have elapsed since Major General Mason M. Patrick, chief of the United States Air Service, issued orders to the commanding officers of Chanute, Bolling, Langley, Mitchell, McCook, and Selfridge Fields, to inaugurate regular scheduled flights over a model airway over the eastern and middle western states, according to records here.

The model air course takes in New York, Hampton, Va., Cleveland, Toledo, Detroit, Kokomo, Ind., and Rantoul. Each field dispatches a plane bi-weekly.

The records show that the first flights were not all completed on schedule time, but each trip has shown an improvement. A trip recetly completed was from Chanute Field to Dayton, O., to Columbus, O., back to Dayton, to Moundsvill, W. Va., to Washington, to Cumberland, Md., to New York, back to Washington, to Moundsville, to Cleveland, to Detroit, to Toledo, back to Detroit, to Kokomo, Ind., and return to Chanute Field. The distance covered was more than 2200 miles and the total actual flying time was 22 hours a 1 ten minutes.

While no aviator was killed, yet the flights were far from devoid of excitement and hairbreadth escapes Major F. L. Martin in a recent trip left Chanute on a route which covered 1800 miles. He was furnished with strip maps covering the entire route, but only for territory a few miles on each side of the route. The only landing place between Zanesville, Ohio, and Washington is Moundsville, the remaining landscape being almost continuously mountainous. Being behind schedule. Major Martin tried a more direct route than that outlined and almost immediately ran into a strong headwind and dense clouds. He was blown off his course while flying over the mountains. After some time of aimless flying, trying to obtain his bearings, he suddenly realized his gas was getting low, his oil was almost gone, and that he had no place to land. He was rather high at the time and dropped down to try for a landing. Just before his gas gave out he saw a town and recognized it as Moundsville, his original objective On landing safely he found he had only three gallons of gasoline left, and no oil.

Lieutenant Floyd A. Lundell started the only flight in the three months that was not carried to a successful conclusion, but fellow aviators look upon him as having a charmed life. His first mishap on his route from Chanute to New York was when a spark plug went wrong and he was forced down near Wheeling, W. Va. He repaired the damage and took off again only to find dense clouds confronting him. When he had climbed above them he learned he was out of oil. He again landed safely, replenished his oil tank and was off again for Washington. He arrived there a day late, but went on immediately to New York intending to make up time by returning to Washington the same afternoon. Lieut. Lundell started from New York just before twilight and a strong wind almost immediately blew him off his course. He finally found himself on the edge of Chesapeake Bay fighting an outgoing wind. He was forced to land, but it was too dark to see the ground. He finally decided to go it blind and landed in a field, but Lady Luck had her head turned the other way and he hit the only tree in the field. His plane crashed and was demolished, but the aviator escaped with a slight cut over the eye.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND.

The Machan Sisters Stock Company will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House for 3 days, commencing April 23, with Miss Rosalind and Miss Gloria Machan at the head of the cast appearing in super feature plays and comedies in which the Machan Sisters have been more successful than any other stars who have appeared in repertoire.

The Machan Sisters and their company come direct from a tour of the United States, and it is only on account of the lateness of the season that the theatre-goers of Peterborough will have an opportunity to see one of the best stock companies that travel, as the company is booked solid over the big time from the middle of August.

The company that will be seen in support of these young stars have all been selected for their respective roles. Last but not least is the splendid vaudeville bill presented as an added attraction at each performance, also the Imperial Syncopaters' Orchestra.

Another "vamp" lady of a different type from Pola Negri is the tightly-coiffured, serpentine effect achieved by Nita Naldi in the feature picture at the Capitol Theatre for this week-end. Extremely unlikeable is the magnificently-gowned, black-haired, black-browed lady who winds her way through the mazes of a story of real high society life, the sort of tale that depicts with cruel touches the woes of the unhappy rich, or rather, those who would be rich and are denied by fate the luxuries for which they crave. Bebe Daniels is the young, appealing Susy, who yearns for rich clothes and motor cars, and is compelled to sponge on her rich friends to obtain them. Unwilling to marry a poor young author who has also a talent for getting favors out of his wealthy acquaintances, she finally resolves to rescue him from the clutches of Mrs. Fred Gillow, the temperamental Nita Naldi, who scorns her own banker husband while carrying on an intrigue with the pliant Nick Lansing, the aforesaid author. Assured by rich friends that they will contribute sufficient wedding cheques to last for a year or so, the young people marry and embark on an extended honeymoon, sheltering meanwhile in the London houses, and Venetian palaces of various good-natured friends. The price demanded for such generosity finds the young wife pliable enough in helping to screen the flirting activities of her hostess, but a breach is made in the relations of the newly-wed by the husband's discovery of his wife's assistance to her weak hostess. Thereafter, both turn to other refuges, the husband to the wily Mrs. Gillow, in slinky black draperies and jewelled nakedness, and the wife to "streffy" a former titled suitor. That the exotic tale, unwholesome in the moral to be drawn from its weak evasions of real duties and situations, has a pleasing ending is due entirely to the art of the picture-maker, who brings his unpleasing characters in every instance except one to a happy finale. The exception is the faithful husband of a hateful wife, the yielding Frederick Gillow, who meets a sudden death after a quarrel with his scornful wife.

The comedy is a cut-up episode with Hal Roach in the stellar role, and the programme rounds out with an animated cartoon and Pathe News.

"HURRICANE GAL" IS PACKED WITH THRILLS

Holubar's Latest: 'Casts' Dorothy Phillips as Schooner Skipper.

Swiftly moving drama, packed with punch and thrills enacted by a star and cast of exceptional calibre.

That describes "Hurricane's Gal," a First National attraction produced by Allen Holubar and starring Dorothy Phillips, which a three day engagement at the Royal Theatre yesterday. It is a "big" picture in every way in our estimation, and should draw capacity houses at every performance.

"Hurricane's Gal" is a story of the bounding main with Miss Phillips cast as Lola, who takes over the command of a smuggling schooner when her father, its owner, dies. The crew, elated at the death of the brow-beating captain, is disillusioned when the daughter proves herself to be just as severe and relentless as her parent.

The action is intense and rapid, with schooners, torpedo boat, destroyers, aeroplanes and hydoplanes taking part. The production is filled with gripping suspense and it will live long in the memory of those fortunate enough to see it.

The air scenes in which Director Holubar himself use a plane to photograph the other air and sea craft in action, are remarkably well done and enhance the appeal of the picture.

Robert Ellis plays opposite Miss Phillips and others in the cast are Wallace Beery, Gertrude Astor, Jas. O. Barrows, Jack Donovan and Frances Raymond.

FIRE LOSSES HIGHER IN CANADA IN MARCH

March was another big month as respects fire losses in Canada. According to Monetary Times records the loss was $4,429,050 as against $4,530,300 in February. The losses for the first three months of this year were $11,105,400 against $11,997,650 for the first quarter of 1922.

The local fire department had one call yesterday to 41 London street.

Pola Negri, who was formerly Countess Dumbski, is not acting Dumbski by marrying Charlie Chaplin.

People who worry about everything will worry about nothing also.

Trying to keep two people from marrying usually results in a married couple for enemies.

FURNITURE AND $1500 DAMAGES TO MRS. PAYNE

Possession of House at 174 Aylmer Street Restored to Israel Payne in Judgment.

NO COSTS ALLOWED

Possession of the dwellling at 174 Aylmer street is awarded to Israel Payne, while his daughter-in-law Mrs. Hester Payne is given the furniture and $1,500 damages, each party paying the ir own costs of the county court action recently tried by Judge Huycke, whose judgment was issued to-day.

"This is an unfortunate family complication," His Honour observed in the opening sentence of his written summary. He recalled the incidents of the death of the plaintiff's wife and of his subsequent writing to his daughter-in-law the defendant, in Los Angeles, As a result of the correspondence Mrs. Payne and her daughter came to Peterboro and kept house for him. They lived together in harmony for two years. In April 1921 Mr. Payne without giving notice or reason went to reside with his nephew and his his wife with whom he has been since that time. When going he left the defendant and her daughter in possession of the house on Aylmer street which belongs to him only for his life. After his death it passes to the defendant's daughter. He left most of the furniture in the house when he departed, and the defendant and her daughter both swear that he gave them the furniture and the house when he went away. In this action the plaintiff sought to recover the house and the furniture. The defendant and her daughter claimed that they were there under the existing arrangement, that Mr. Payne was welcome to return under that arrangement and that by the specific performance of the agreement the house was hers.

Judge Huycke found that the plaintiff had made a gift of the furniture to Mrs. Payne.

Disposal of House

"Then as to the possession of the house. No demand was shown in evidence to have been made upon the defendant for the recovery of this house; such demand has been generally regarded as a pre-requisite for an action for ejectment, and certainly as to any claim for costs in connection with such action; such lack of demand was, however, neither pleaded nor argued. Although evidence was not given of it, I have knowledge personally of a prior attempt to obtain possession of the house under the summary jurisdiction of the Landlord and Tenants Act, which proceeding may have been deemed equivalent to a formal demand. I am rather in doubt whether or not I should consider this at all but in view of all the circumstances and to make an end of the litigation, I have decided to proceed and give judgment on the existing facts, regardless of the absence of such demand and its consequences. This is done to make an end, if possible, of the regrettable litigation between these parties. In reply to the defendant's claim to keep the house, the Statute of Frauds is pleaded. This defence I think must prevail. No memorandum, such as is mentioned in the Statute, signed by the plaintiff, or by his agent, has been shown or produced, nor I think is any proved. It is not shown from the relation of any of the parties that the California correspondence contained any such agreement as is thus required. The plaintiff must therefore I think succeed regarding the possession of the house. This house is still in the possession of the defendant, but she is renting the upstairs to third parties. Regarding the alleged gift or transfer of the house and furniture, much was made in argument of the question of improvidence on the part of the old man the plaintiff. I canno: find any

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE CITY IS SERIOUSLY THREATENED

Entire West End Under Water and Flood Makes Rapid Strides Toward Business Section of City—Homes Isolated.

WINNIPEG, April 21 (Canadian Press), — The entire west-end of the city of Portage la Prairie was under water this morning, and the flood was making rapid strides toward the centre of the citr, according to a centre of the city, according to a long distance telephone message.

All trains East and West are held up in Portage yards, and the Canadian National Station is flooded.

The bridge at the south approach to the city has been washed away, and another on Island Park destroyed.

Residents of the West-end are travelling by boat, and hundreds of homes are isolated, and the foundations of the houses are weakening.

The water came down from the south-west, where the banks of the Assiniboine collapsed under the pressure of the abnormal quantities of water flowing eastward.

An ice jam which occurred just east of Portage yesterday afternoon is still holding back the flood waters, and sending a heavy flow over low-lying land on both sides of the river.

The removal of the jam, it is believed, would relieve the situation which, according to the latest reports, was considered extremely grave.

UPWARD TREND FOR BUILDING

Building is coming into its own in Peterborough with the advent of the good weather. The total of permits issued in the first three weeks of April is 15,670. This compares unfavourably with the total for April, 1921, which was $69,945. The weather in April this year, however, more nearly approximates that of March, 1921, when only $13,445 was expended.

Permits totalled $2,015 in March of this year.

The biggest item in this month's building programme is a new dwelling on Hunter Street, west of Belmont Avenue, at a cost of $8,500.

Another dwelling is to be erected on Robinson Street.

With the gradual and healthy return to prosperity which is evidenced in the city's factories and railroads, it is expected that the building trade will show an increased activity in the very near future.

UNIQUE DEMONSTRATION ANCIENT CHURCH MUSIC

An interesting and unique demonstration of the ancient music of the Catholic church, now in process of restoration, was given at St. Peter's Cathedral last evening, packed for the occasion. Following on the fort night's instruction of Dom Eudine, O. S. B. of Farnborough Abbey, England, a member of the Benedictine Order which was intrusted by Popp Pius Tenth with the task of re storing the ancient liturgical music of the church, the choir of the Cathedral and children of the lower classes of St. Peter's High School gave a demonstration of the Gregorian, or plain chant, and the music of Palestrina, in sacred numbers, including a beautiful rendition of "O bone Jesu", part of the requiem service, the Kyrie Eleison, a Gloria and a Sanctus. The choir music was accompanied on the organ by Miss L. Hurley, and led by Mr. Joseph Minicolo. The children sang well, in excellent time and rhythm, and the choir showed attention give to the instruction of the reverend teacher, who explained the plain chant music to the congregation. The Gregorian style depends for its impressive power on the devotional emphasis laced on the words, on the swelling rhythm of its tone, and on the melody which can be so beautifully harmonized, rather than on the dramatic effects obtained by a different style of music.

After drifting for twelve months a whistling buoy which broke loose from its American waters has been washed ashore on the Scilly Islands.

NO HALF-FINES FOR INFORMERS

Montreal Judge Says Practice is Immoral, and Hereafter He'll Use His Own Discretion.

MONTREAL, April 21.—(Canadian Press.)— The practice of the Federal policy of awarding half the fine imposed on drug dealers to the informer who enabled them to make a case was here yesterday described as absolutely immoral by Judge Monet in police court.

"This system of giving half the fine to informers is altogether wrong," said the Judge, "and encouraged unprincipled people to "frame" cases against innocent members of society.

"Hereafter I will use my own discretion in awarding a moiety of fines to informers. If I have any reason to think that any of them have given information solely for the financial benefit they may receive, I will not award them one cent."

THE WEATHER.

Regular summer weather has prevailed to-day. Lowest last night 51 degrees. Highest yesterday afternoon, 75 degrees. At noon to-day 81 degrees, and to those perspiring but wise ones who "have still got them all on," it appears even warmer. But the old Scotch saying:

"Ne'er cast a cloot, Till May be oot."

is most excellent advice, and may prevent one of our undertaking firms from getting a job. A change is somewhat cooler, and perhaps a shower or two is likely.—W. P.

THEIR SILVER WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Corkery, 472 Reid street, celebrated their silver wedding on Thursday, April 19th. Relatives and friends to the number of nearly one hundred joined them in the happy festivities of their twenty-fifth anniversary and enjoyed a very pleasant evening. Mr. and Mrs .Corkery received many handsome gifts, among them a purse of silver from their son, Mr. Harold Corkery of Detroit. The tables at dinner were beautifully decorated, and the whole company sat down together. The rest of the evening was spent in music and dancing.

FARMERS VISITING CITY BEWARE OF TRESPASSING

The police department draws attention to the practice of leaving horses and wagons behind Woolworth's and Fowler's stores and others. This is an offence under the trespass act, and some years ago a number of persons were fined. The police announce their intention to take action in the matter again.

ARE OPPOSED TO REDUCTION POLICE FORCE

Judge and Magistrate Contend That Cut in Appropriation Means Inadequate Protection

CHIEF'S OPINION

A meeting of the Peterborough Police Commission was held yesterday evening, His Honor Judge E. C. S. Huycke presiding. Magistrate O. A. Langley, Mayor Taylor and Chief S. Newhall were also present.

Several matters of importance to the city were brought up for discussion but were laid over until to-day for decision. Among these was the question of the police estimates, which the City Council requests the commission to reduce to $25,000.

It was the view of the Commission that the police force cannot be reduced if adequate protection is to be given. Asked for his opinion, Chief Newhall declared that if the force is reduced he will not be responsible for any resulting increase in crime in the city.

System will Collapse.

The Chief explained that the C.G.E. have gone to considerable trouble and expense to fit their plant up with telephones so that the police system can connect with headquarters from there at any time. If the two men are taken off that system will fall down. Not only is the city free from dangerous crime—a condition which does not exist in any other city in Ontario, but property is being better protected in every way.

At the time of the Turnbull fire Constable Welch had the fire reported before it got well under way, and there were seven policemen there when the fire brigade arrived. Constable Young was at Braund's store, in the south end of the city, and he got to the fire within ten or three minutes of the fire. This system of patrol will fall down if the force is cut down.

A communication from James Hales, K. C., and General Williams, was received, enclosing the text of their findings in the recent investigation, which has already been published.

Get First Class Pay.

Constables Graham Bromley and Gorden Puffer received the increase to first-class pay on completion of two yeass service in accordance with the by-law. Detective Sergeant W. E. Meagher, on the completion of 15 years' service, received the advance in pay provided by by-law.

Recent Investigation.

A letter was received from the city council transmitting a recommendation from the Owners' and Tenants' Association asking the city council to call a public meeting within the next ten days to discuss the evidence given at the investigation by the Provincial Officers, and the statements made by Rev. Robt. Pogue at a council meeting.

The usual accounts were passed and routine business disposed of, the major questions before the commission being left over to a meeting at 3 pm., to-day.

CURED BY GALLAGHER'S REMEDY

Trenton, March 1, 1923.
The Gallagher Remedy Co.
Peterboro.
Dear Sirs and to whom it may concern:—
Last May I was very bad with Dropsy and Kidney Trouble and had been for some time doctoring with a local doctor, but was not getting help, in fact the doctor said that with my heart trouble no medicine would be any good and at any time I would drop out. I was helpless at that time.
A friend recommended you Kidney Remedy and before I had taken a bottle I was much better and have been improving ever since, so that today I am as well as the average woman of Trenton. Have been doing all my own work and if anyone is troubled as I have been I can recommend to them your preparations.

The difference between our last year's suit and our this year's suit is merely a matter of time.

LOCAL FACTORY SHIPS CRUISER TO HUDSON BAY

The "Pagwa" Built by the Peterboro Canoe Company Shows Shallow Draft Feature.

STRANGE LAUNCHING

Specially built for the Hudson Bay Company and stamped on the stern with the legend "From the Port of Peterboro," the motor-driven cruiser "Pagwa" was shipped from the yards of the Peterboro Canoe Company yesterday afternoon for use on the Albany River and some of its tributaries down to its mouth at Fort Albany on Hudson Bay.

It overlapped in all directions the big freight car on which it was loaded, and, although of a comparatively simple design, to the layman it embodies special features that are unique in this district and which should enhance the reputation of the Peterboro Canoe Company. It was built on a rush order in seven weeks, and is due at Pagwa on April 26th. Its destination is a C.N.R. station on the old G.T.P. railways several hundred miles west of Cochrane, and because there are no sidings on which the car could be shunted into a convenient position for unloading it has been found necessary to adopt the interesting expedient of lifting the boat off the flat car from the G.T.P. railway bridge over the Pagwa river, and lowering it forty feet to the river. For this purpose two derricks used on wreck repair trains will be allotted to the rathes delicate task, one to be placed at each end of the loaded flat car The "Pagwa" will then be raised and swung out over the side of the bridge and gradually launched through a forty foot descent.

Specially Designed.

The "Pagwa" is sixty feet long with a 12 foot beam, and is equipped with two Buffalo gasoline engines of from 40 to 60 horse power each. It was specially designed by J. Murray Watts of Philadelphia, who is an expert on shallow draft boats, to meet the navigation conditions on the Albany and Pagwa rivers. Although there are no falls on either of these streams there are some rapids, to negotiate which it was necessary to set the two twenty-six inch propellers in tunnels recessed in the keel of the boat so as to protect the wheels from the rocks in shallow place. At rest, the propellers are about half submerged in water, but as the boat gets underway water is drawn through the tunnels securing the full propulsive advantage of complete submersion of the propellers. To describe this tunnelling idea, the keel toward the stern might be compared with a rear view of an automobile with its wide mudguards standing out from the chassis. The comparison is very inexact, but it may suggest the appearance of the "Pagwa's" keel, a difference of course is that the wheels of the automobile revolve in the same direction as the car's, while the propellers of the boat revolve at right angles to its direction.

Shallow draft was one of the chief features required in the designing of the "Pagwa" which will have to meet condition somewhat similar, although not due to the same cause as on the Mississippi. On the latter river stern paddle wheels provide the driving power, but on the swift streams in the northland and in the comparatively shallow water in the rapids the wheels would be smashed. Hence the hollowed tunnels in the keel weer adopted to house and protect the propellers.

Long Cruising Range.

Mr. Claude Rogers who has himself been down the Albany to Hudson Bay told the Examiner that the station of Pagwa is a distributing centre for the Hudson Bay company in that district. The new cruiser will push a fleet of barges, each 50 feet by 12 feet, loaded with supplies and will sail down to the confluence and then up and down the Albany over a distance of 480 miles altogether. Only one trip down and back is made during the season The route extends not only east of the junction with the Pagwa down to Fort Albany, but also a very considerable distance westerly and up the river.

The "Pagwa" is built chiefly for utility and presents rugged lines that denote its strength. It has accomodation for a crew of six men, and also has an office in addition to the dining, living and sleeping quarters.

HOPES FOR CONTINUATION OF ANGLO-FRENCH ENTENTE

Lord Curzon Visualizes Chaos Should Breach in Relations Result From Situation in Ruhr-Germany Surprises Her Foes.

LONDON, April 21 (United Press). — Lord Curzon, British Foreign Minister, sees no end of the French adventure in the Ruhr in sight.

The Foreign Minister on Friday declared that the German capacity of resistance to the French was surprising.

Curzon pleaded for a continuation of the entente with France, and declared that chaos would follow if the entente were broken up.

He pictured France and Germany grimly deadlocked and equally determined not to yield, "but," said Curzon, "the strain is beginning to tell on the resources of both parties, and if this antagonism is pursued, it must naturally imperil their future relations."

So far, he added, Germany's resistance has surprised her foes, whereas "the French attitude is one of fixed and inflexible determination, of stern and almost implacable resolve."

If the League of Nations were asked to intervene, Lord Curzon declared, it might result in the withdrawal of France from the League, and possibly even an ultimate dissolution of the League.

MAYOR REBUKED BY LADY DOYLE

Should Clean Up New York Streets and Maintain Silence on Psychic Phenomena.

NEW YORK, April 21. Canadian Press. — Mayor Hyland should stick to affairs of state and keep silent on subjects concerning which he has no knowledge in the opinion of Lady Doyle, who to-day rebuked the city's chief executive for his recent attack on her husband, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. A few days ago the Mayor spoke of physic phenomena as hokum, and suggested that Sir Arthur's success was due to his acceptation of the addled nerves of "society folk." Incidentally he reefred to Sir Arthur as "that fellow Doyle."

Tell him to turn his attention to his own job. I would recommend him to look to the condition of the streets of New York. We have never seen streets in such disgraceful condition.

WELL-FILLED PURSE FOR MR. MACKENZIE

Members of Knox Church Express Appreciation of Departing Pastor.

(Contributed.)

With chararteristic enthusiasm the people of Knox Presbyterian church and many of their friends filled the church yesterday evening to enjoy the programme so admirably given by the children of the Sunday school. The large temporary platform extending over the area the choir loft afforded the space necessary for the different tableaux, dialogues and choruses, while the ferns and hydrangeas kindly loaned for the occasion by the Peterborough Floral Co., made an effective decoration.

The different numbers on the programme were announced by the genial superintendent, Mr. H. J. McCannon, and were splendidly presented. Special mention should be made of Masters Arnold Spencer and Ashton Fife, who, though not belonging to Knox school, gave most acceptable assistance in numbers that were thoroughly enjoyed. The programme was as follows:

Chorus—Intermediate School.
Violin solo—Master Arnold Spencer.
Recitation—Master Ashton Fife.
Chorus—Primary Department.
Solo—Miss Trudie Pearson.
Missionary dialogue under direction of Mrs. Nelson.
Chorus—Primary Department.
Playlet, under direction of Miss McLeish.
Recitation—Ashton Fife.
Solo—Miss Trucie Pearson.
Piano duet—Misses Jean and Marion McCannon.
Chorus—Intermeditae school.
Tableau, under direction of Mrs. Ed. Huffman.
Duet — Mrs. Walter Byers and Rev. J. A .MacKenzie.

During the programme, Rev. J. A. MacKenzie took five minutes in which to give an account of the growth of the Sunday school. In 1872 it began with nine scholars. By 1892 it had grown till the enrollment stood at 700. When Mr. Keith became pastor on March 3rd, 1907, the enrollment stood at 126. When Mr. MacKenzie was inducted it was 458,

GERMAN MARKS VENDED TODAY

"Speculate—that's the only way to accumulate," was the advice of vendors of an entirely new product on the farmers' market this morning. The two plausible gentlemen who dilated on the merits of investment in the one-thousand mark German notes which they were retailing for fifty cents apiece, spoke thus, and many of the audience of men who listened stepped up and bought them. One man who went away with a sheaf of the flimsy paper things was saying reflectively, "If I keep them for fifteen years, I'll be a rich man," and another remarked, "If the mark only goes up a cent, I'll make a hundred dollers on this bunch." The vendors, who did not explain why they were practically sacrificing the contents of their leather valise, instead of holding the bills for future wealth for themselves, were open for wholesale orders for the bills, to be filled on their return here next Saturday.

A writer in The Saturday Evening Post of this week's issue has a good deal to say about German currency. At the time he wrote his article, a dollar in Germany would purchase forty thousand of these paper marks and the price of a pound of butter was five thousand marks. The thousand-mark notes which were purchased on the market this morning would buy in Germany now exactly one-fifth of a pound of butter, so their present price of fifty cents seems a little high. "Look at these little red seals. They stand for the guarantee of the Government, so you don't need to worry about which Government is in. The notes are perfectly all right," was another pronouncement swallowed by the listeners without flinching. As the present Government has already issued several trillions of paper mark notes, it remains somewhat of a probability if any successive administration, even if it should be minded to cash its predecessor's currency issue, which is more than improbable, will be in a position even in the fifteen years of the optimistic-minded gentleman's speculation, to redeem trillions of such notes.

"Of course Germany has the money, but she has it in foreign banks. Wouldn't she be foolish to keep it in her own country and let the French get it," was another remark that probably has some truth in it, but makes the purchaser of these notes a probable accessory to the effort of a defiant and war-like nation to evade her just responsibilities and make the world pay, not her reparations, but her expenses while she hoards up her gold in foreign banks. The man who exchanges good silver or legal tender for mark notes gets nothing but the rather ugly slip of thin paper, with

MOTOR SHOW CLOSED WITH GAY CARNIVAL

Had One of the Most Successful Years in Its History — Results Are Satisfying.

RECORD ATTENDANCE

The 1923 Motor Show, which had one of the most successful years in its history from point of attendance, closed with a gay carnival hour last evening, and an auction of surplus donated articles which attracted a good-sized, generous crowd. The various booths did splendid work, the various attractions were well patronized, and the men and women who worked so hard from an inauspicious opening and deferred Show, to a triumphant finale, with pleasant weather to help them along during most of the time, are well pleased with the result of all their painstaking efforts. Attendance for the three days reached nearly to the four thousand mark, a specially good record, and the entire Show went with a vim and vigor that is an expression of the interest taken in it and the work of the Peterboro Health Association by the entire community.

Plenty of Fun

The carnival hour last evening provided plenty of fun for the participants and onlookers. Although the costumes were not as numerous as hoped for, those present furnished excellent examples of ingenuity and novelty. The following prizes were awarded. For the best dressed married couple (a rug donated by the Brinton Carpet Company) Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Turner; For the best dressed lady 1) five lbs chocolates, from the Bond Drug Company; Mrs. A. E. Coulthard; (2) 25lbs. "Saxon" flour, Mrs. A. W. Spence of Bobcaygeon; Best dressed gentleman, set tire chains from the Riverdale Tire Company, "Bob" Henry; Best Dressed girl, (1) a flashlight, by Miller, Powell & Co., Miss Emily Robinson. (2) one paddle. Miss Ethel Muir. The prize for the best comic costume went to the lady who appeared as "Topsy", and prefers to remain incognito, and Mrs. Chris. Graham received a special prize for the most striking costume worn by ladies in the booths.

Generous Response

A much-appreciated evidence of a generous reponse to the Motor Show's meaning and aims was the donation of ten dollars received this morning from a gentleman who was unable to attend in person.

Evidently Johanna won't be disappointed this year. Johanna is one of the most constant of attendants at the Summer Camp for children in Jackson Park. The other day, when asked if she liked the Camp, she replied with a vigorous lighting up of her little face, "I'll say so," a sporty affirmative rather unexpected from such a pale little thing.

APPLICATION RECEIVED FOR IRISH MEMBERSHIP IN LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Michael MacWhite Presented Formal Request of the Free State Yesterday—Vote in the Fall.

NOW 53 COUNTRIES.

GENEVA, April 21 (Canadian Press). — League of Nations officials are exceedingly pleased with recent developments, which they declare tend to show that the League is becoming increasingly strong.

The Irish Free State applied for membership yesterday. Turkey is coming in when peace is signed at Lausanne, and the United States, they say, is at least, displaying a burning interest in the Court of International Justice, a child of the League.

Omcials also believe that the United States is displaying a greatly augmented spirit oi investigation into the doings of the League itself.

The Free State's application for membership, which was presented yesterday by Michael MacWhite, the Free State's representative in Central Europe, is expected to be accepted by the Assembly when it meets in September, making the League membership 3 countries, If Egypt, as is anticipated, petitions for membership, it will, with Turkey, make the membership of the League 55 countries.

The Free State announcement was made with something of the dramatic, the newspapermen gathered at headquarters being told there would be "important news." Soon MacWhite appeared and distributed copies of a letter signed by Desmond Fitzgerald, Minister of Foreign Affairs in the Free State Cabinet, making applicationw.MVT hmt inet, applying for membership, and asking that the petition be considered without delay.

The Free State application will be distributed immediately to the members of the League, who can admit her by a two-thirds vote at the Assembly meeting in the fall.

MacWhite was subjected to a broadside of questions which he answered freely. He insisted that the Free State's admission did not mean she would follow on the trail of Great Britain in the League's activities. This statement came in response to a German correspondent who called attention that the Free State admission to the League would mean another British vote making seven in all.

MacWhite explained that it was understood from the start of the treaty negotiations with Great Britain that the Free State could join the League. Mr. Lloyd-George had written to Arthur Griffith that he would support such a move.

Speaking of internal affairs, he declared the political revolt against the Free State Government had ended; only bandits were operating. When asked if De Valera had been captured, he smiled, but made no reply.

The Free State application was expected during the last Assembly of pected during the last Assemblygueb the League ,but was deferred at that time because the new constitution of the Dominion had not been ratified.

The application, presented by Michael MacWhite, representative of the Free State in Geneva, and signed by the Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Dublin Government, reads:

"In accordance with the terms of Article 1, of the covenant of the League, I have the honour to request that the Free State of Ireland be admitted as a member of the League, and that this request be placed on the agenda of the next Assembly.

"The Government of the Irish Free State is prepared to accept the conditions laid down in Article 1 of the covenent and to carry out all the obligations involved in membership in the League.

"The Government will send representatives empowered to give all the necessary explanations to the Assembly. It is requested that this application be brought without delay to the notice of all members of the League."

Mr. MacWhite, after presenting the request, told newspapermen that the action was taken in compliance with a decision by the Free State Parliament, and that, so far as his Government was aware, Great Britain had no objection to the entry of the Free State into the League. The State, he added, would expect to play an active role in the League, as had Canada thus far.

AT LEAST TEN DEAD RESULT OF MOB RULE

Citizens of Mulheim Are Organizing For Self-Protection Against the Bands of Unemployed.

THIRTY ARRESTED.

MUELHEIM, April 21.—(Canadian Press)—The citizens of Muelheim and its vicinity last night were organizing for self-protection against the unemployed bands which were dispersed yesterday morning from the center of the town and now are assembling in the outskirts.

Armed with axe handles and other improvised weapons, the people of Muelheim are going about the streets ready to repel any further invasion of the town by the malcontents.

The Red Cross Society's representatives say that nine or ten persons are dead and seventy wounded in consequence of the three days of mob rule; but this count is not an accurate one, inasmuch as those who had besieged the Rathaus and other parts of the town carried away some of their dead and injured.

Most of those among the unemployed who were injured were beaten over the heads with clubs. Ten of the defenders of the Rathaus received bullet wounds.

In the suburbs where the bands driven out of the town are gathering it is reported that they are holding up pedestrians and engaged in plundering. Some of the men entered a restaurant owned by a man named Rosenthal and ordered meals and drinks. When the bill was presented a fight was started and Rosenthal was killed and his son shot four times. German officials assert that most of those engaged in the disorders are Communists. About thirty of the leaders have been arrested, but some of them are still at large.

The officials of both Muelheim and places in this vicinity assert that they intend to take measures tomorrow which will entirely end the Communist movement.

DOPE SEIZURE A BLOW TO INTERNATIONAL RING

Half Million Dollar Confiscation of Cocaine in Mid-Ocean Cause of Great Scarcity and High Price in Montreal—Members of the Ring Escaped.

MONTREAL, April 21. Canadian Press. — According to the Montreal Star, the seizure by Scotland Yard detectives in mid-Atlantic, of a half-million dollar consignment of cocaine has resulted in abnormal prices, and a great scarcity of the drug in Montreal. The shipment was recently consigned to Hamburg from a German port and on arrival was to have been divided into three parts. Half was to come to Montreal and the balance was to be divided between the United States and Winnipeg.

Secret Service agents working in Germany got wind of the shipment that was to be made and when the boat docked at an English seaport a band of Scotland Yard detectives managed to stow themselves away. In a short time they discovered the eccaine, confiscated it, and handed it over to the Government on arrival of the boat at Halifax.

Members of the dope ring in this country waited in Halifax to within a few days before the arrival of the boat. They then discovered that their plans had gone astray.

Officers of the R.C.M.P. stationed in Halifax to arrest the receivers, failed to secure any of the men they suspected.

A hydroplane that has been stationed outside Halifax for some time left with some haste about the time the seizure was made on the ocean. The police suspect that the American shipment was to have been taken across the border by airplane.

The people guarding the shipment on board the boat had evidently kept in daily communication with those in Halifax from the time they left Germany. When the communications suddenly ceased, the agents in this country took warning and escaped the police.

Officers of the R.C.M.P. state that they expect another attempt to smuggle another large amount of the drug into this country will be attempted and that the same people will be implicated.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT WILL NOT INTERFERE IN RUHR SITUATION

Bonar Law's Policy Will Be Upheld—Any Outside Intervention Would Be Premature.

TRADE BETTER.

LONDON, April 21 (Canadian Press). — The debate on the Ruhr in the House of Lords last night, with the Secretary for Foreign Affairs as the principal speaker, proved that all the recent developments have produced no deviation from the line of policy already repeatedly stated by Premier Bonar Law.

Confessing that the world seldom had been confronted with a more difficult problem, the Foreign Secretary, Marquis Curzon, maintained firmly that the Anglo-French entente was the only safeguard off European well-being. He put aside the idea that the problem was one for the League of Nations, insisting it was one for settlement between the two proud, powerful peoples now facing each other in anger—each equally convinced of the rectitude of its own case.

Any outside intervention, in his opinion, would be premature, and he admitted the embarrassment attached to the question who should make the first moye.

Marquis Curzon appealed to Germany to take that step, expressing belief that France would be willing to respond with a sincere overture.

Intimating that the British Government from time to time had given sound, sincere advice, both to France and Germany during the past three months and had never given Germany the slightest encouragement to evade her obligations, the Foreign Secretary declared his Government was ready at all times to discuss any plans concerning reparations, which was a matter for international treatment, or security.

But any such plans could not be carried out at the cost of dismemberment of Germany or of opening a new running sore in the heart of Europe. Moreover, if guarantees were given, the Government would prefer to see guarantees of a reciprocal Government.

Incidentally, Lord Curzon showed a disposition to minimise the adverse effects of French action on British trade. No doubt, he said, there had been harrassing encumbrances, but he was surprised to learn from Board of Trade statistics that British trade with Germany, including the occupied regions, had been corresponding period last year.

Dwelling on the grave anxiety caused by the renewed slump in the mark, the Foreign Secretary was regretful that Germany had done nothing beyond echoing the suggestion of the United States Secretary of State, Charles Evans Hughes, for an international committee of experts. He pointed out this suggestion had not been followed up by the United States, and had been turned down by France. He thought, however ,that Germany had shown wisdom in abandoning the impossible position that complete evacuation of German territory must precede negotiations.

The Foreign Secretary concluded with a note of hopefulness, saying he had "observed on both sides the symptoms of willingness to consider and discuss terms of a future settlement, and that such symptoms the Government would do its utmost to encourage."

Opening the debate, Baron Buckmaster expounded the Liberal view in favour of intervention to prevent Germany being driven into the arms of Russia and thereby "lighting the flames which might scorch the world to ruins."

Viscount Grey, who spoke after Marquis Curzon, was inclined to the same view as Baron Buckmaster, and expressed the wish that the Foreign Secretary could have been more hopeful of active steps to end the deadlock.

BIBLE SALES IN CHINA BREAKS ALL RECORDS

SHANGHAI, April 21.—Chinese in China paid $37,995 (Mexican) for bibles in 1922, buying last year more bibles than in any previous year, according to reports given out in Shanghai by the agency of the American Bible Society. The sum paid is some $400 (Mexican) above the previous high mark, and the record number of bibles issued was 19,356.

That the so-called anti-Christian movement has awakened a new interest in the Scriptures in China is attested by the fact that in 1922 a half dozen book shops in Pekin alone sold more than 2,000 Bibles and New Testaments to the value of $1,200 (Mexican). It is said these went almost exclusively to non-Christians, largely students in the government schools.

A total of 1,987,236 volumes were circulated in China by the American Bible Society. These were in 16 languages and dialects of the country, and in eight foreign tongues.

The plane sent by the Chicago Tribune flew over the island yesterday afternoon and dropped two sacks of 200 pounds of food ,consisting of bacon, beans, sugar, tobacco and other supplies. CANADA NEEDS SETTLERS WHO ARE BONA FIDE

Senator Beaubien Points Out That Too Many of Our Immigrants Are But Transients.

DEVELOP TRADE.

OTTAWA, April 21.— (Canadian Press.)—That Canada must "import bone and sinew to build up the Dominion" and also that she must get the right kind of immigrants was stressed in the Senate yesterday afternoon by Senator C. R. Beaubien, who was calling the attention of the government to the nations enjoying the most favored nation clause, without any adequate compensation being given to Canada. Senator Beaubien asked whether the government intended to obtain the denunciation of the treaties containing such unilateral advantages.

Dealing with the need of immigrants Senator Beaubien said Canada needed men who would become bona fide settlers and not mere transients. Canada must not be merely a funnel through which throngs would cross the border into the United States. Of an increase in population by immigration and births in the decade 1911 to 1921 totalling 3,811,800, Canada had lost 2,248,949, which meant that in addition to forfeiting the entire increase by immigration she had also lost 273,566 of her natural increment.

Canada's foreign trade must be developed, Senator Beaubien declared. Sixteen nations had increased their tariff duties in the last three years. Canada must use every possible means to develop her foreign trade and the best means was by the negotiation of good trade treaties.

Canada's importation per head were four times greater than the per capita importations of the United States. To foreign producers Canada was worth market of 30,000,000 people. The giving of privileged access to our market therefore was of great value and should not be extended without due compensation. Canada was now throwing away those advantages on eight nations who enjoyed the most favored national treatment without giving anything in return. Great Britain had opened the road for the denunciation of these treaties by Canada.

Senator Beaubien asked whether Canada was to continue giving lavish ly the entry into the Canadian market or the government would 'sweep away the barnacles and set the ship spick and span through the channels of foreign trade with every inch of canvas strained to the wind."

The treaties mentioned by Senator Beaubien were with Spain, Argentine, Colombia, Norway, Sweden, Switzerland and Venezuela.

Sir George Foster adjourned the debate and the Senate adjourned until Wednesday evening.

WHO WON THE BATTLE?

Just who won the victory in the battle in the Legislature this week is a matter of considerable doubt.

The obstructionists who didn't want proportional representation, did want to see some of the present inequalities straightened out and the urban centres given more representation.

Many of the farmer members on the other hand, are no doubt delighted that the present constituencies remain untouched, although proportional representation a plank in their platform has had to be abandoned.

The Labour Party apparently has lost out on both counts, for larger urban representation and proportional representation would both have been to the advantage of Labour.

From every standpoint it would have been better had redistribution and electoral reform been introduced early in the season.

For that failure the Government must accept the blame.

The administration chose to leave this most vital matter until dissolution was in sight and it has been blockaded out of existence.

It is hard to believe that there isn't much rejoicing in Government ranks that redistribution has been killed and a plausible opportunity provided of shifting the blame for its death to other shoulders.

RADICAL CHRISTIANITY.

Amusement at the turn some forms of "uplift" take gives place to digust when a thousand people, outwardly sane and intelligent, rise from their seats to signify their compliance with a proposal that they refrain from attendance at the theatre, cinema show, card party, dance and all other varieties of "worldly amusement." says the Ottawa Journal. The speaker who made the proposal was a Canadian, Rev T. T. Shields, Toronto, and his audience was the congregation of a New York Church where another exponent of a curious Christianity holds sway, Rev. John Roach Stratton. Only ten of the audience remained seated.

If they keep their pledge, these thousand persons will be poorer morally, intellectually, and in a civic sense They are not serving the Lord or promoting righteousness in any other way by their course. They do nothing but raise a question as to the intelligence of a class of American citizens.

If their pledge were intended as a reproach to any present tendencies of the theatre or cinema it would be misdirected, for the stage and the screen are cleaner and better and are doing more good than for years Anyway, needed reform will come because of the people who patronize these things, not from those who stay away from them.

But that is not likely their purpose They seem to be persuaded that evil exists everywhere but in their own church and their own homes—and that is a state of mind that is anything but Christian.

THE WRONG WAY.

The effort being made to secure Government sanction for the investigation by the Ontario Athletic Commission of the standing of amateur players, a bill for which has been introduced before the legal committeee of the Legislature seems to be unnecessary.

The Ontario Government, of course, has its finger in so many pies at the present time, that exercising a little paternal control over amateur sport may be considered quite in order.

Yet surely the remedy for the eradication of the professional in any particular sport who attempts to wear the mask of an amateur does not lie in this direction.

After all, the solution of the problem is to be found in the leadership of the various athletic associations.

If men of the right calibre are placed at the head of the different leagues they will not require any assistance from the Legislature in making it decidely uncomfortable for the pseudo amateurs, in their particular line of sport.

As long as human nature is what it is, as long as the desire to win rises above other considerations, as long as large gate receipts are being taken in, there are bound to be some infractions of the amateur rules.

But such infractions can be very materially reduced in any organization in which there is honesty of purpose and sincerity on the part of its directing board.

The evil cannot be legislated out of existence—it must be dealt with on different lines.

SAVE THE FOREST.

By a proclamation issued by the Governor-General, the week commencing tomorrow has been set apart as "Save the Forest Week" and a Dominion wide effort is being made to bring home to the people of Canada, the enormous losses caused by forest fires each year and the necessity of giving careful held to the advice on this subject disseminated by the various forest protective agencies.

It is pointed out that the loss through fires has far exceeded in amount the depletion in timber wealth through legitimate operations.

That is a statement that should do much to emphasize the necessity of greater care.

With our timber resources being wiped out much faster by fires than they have been by the extensive lumbering operations carried on for many years, it is time to consider ways and means of reducing the number of such fires, the majority of which are entirely attributable to inexcusable neglect or ignorance and are therefore preventable.

It seems fairly evident that the exercise of reasonable prudence and proper carefulness on the part of responsible individuals would reduce the annual fire loss to small proportions.

Three classes are especially urged to do their part on this most desirable movement.

Settlers and others engaged in the clearing of land are asked to fully observe the Dominion and Provincial fire laws.

The thousands of people who go camping in the summer or autumn are reminded that many disastrous fires are caused by camp-fires and they are urged to familiarize themselves with the proper methods of building, using and extinguishing such fires, very desirable knowledge to have in any event.

Lumber men are requested to see that their equipment to prevent the origin or spread of fires is in a state of thorough repair and to make sure that their employees are properly instructed as to the danger of fire.

The matter is a very serious one for the whole country—we cannot afford for many reason to go on burning up our timber wealth.

THEY SAVED THE SITUATION.

The Great War Veterans do well to commemorate the anniversary of the second battle of Ypres by a church parade.

It was in this great battle that the Canadian forces had their first real baptism of fire and won for themselves the fame that was to remain theirs throughout the many bitter engagements of the great war.

Eight years ago tomorrow, on April 22, 1915, the Germans, using for the first time their horrible poisonous gas, suddenly launched a terrific attack on the allied lines, and when the French native troops holding the trenches north of the Canadians broke, a gap was created through which the gray clad hordes threatened to sweep, to win the channel ports and roll up the allied armies.

That they did not succeed in doing so was due to the tenacity which the Canadian division, thrown into the breach, held on in the face of great odds until reinforcements could be brought up and the situation restored.

Peterborough's first division soldiers, the infantry with the 2nd Battalion and the artillery with the 4th Battery, were in the thick of the fighting and their losses in proportion to their numbers were very heavy.

Early on the morning of the 23rd, the 2nd Battalion charged the advancing Germans and "A" company which included nearly all of Peterborough's infantry recruits was practically cut to pieces.

The Canadians saved the situation, but at heavy cost and Peterborough has not forgotten the depression that followed the publication of the casualty list.

Tomorrow's church parade commemorating the great battle and particularly the memory of those who perished in the Canadians' stand at Ypres should be largely attended by the ex-service men.

PENSION APPEALS

Row upon row of filing cabinets at Dominion headquarters of the G.W.V.A., containing records of claims on behalf of ex-soldiers and dependents, are mute evidence that some adequate means of appeal from pension and treatment decisions is not only urgently necessary but long overdue. Repeated efforts on the part of the association to make this need apparent to succeeding parliamentary committees on pensions and re-establishment failed because the members of such committees did not have sufficient time to thoroughly study the problem and were diffident about making recommendations without a clear indication of the possible effect.

The Royal Commission on Pensions and Re-establishment, which has been giving close attention to these problems since its appointment at the preceding session of Parliament, has been impressed with the necessity of an appeal procedure. During the sittings in the Western Provinces the chairman, Col. J. L. Ralston, declared time and again that very little additional evidence of the need was required, but that the Commission desired clear-cut recommendations as to the best means of putting an appeal procedure into effective operation.

Careful study of the problem leads to the conclusion that no fixed arrangement can be made at the present time which would deal adequately with the matter as long as a veteran of the C.E.F. or dependent survived For present purposes the suggestion of regional appeal boards would probably best meet the situation, with one covering the territory east of Montreal; another taking in Montreal city and Eastern Ontario outside of Toronto, another for Toronto and Western Ontario; another including Winnipeg, the Province of Manitoba and Northern Ontario from Sault Ste. Marie westward; another for the Provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta; and a sixth board for the Province of British Columbia. This suggestion takes into consideration possible appeals from Canadian veterans in United States who could be called to present their arguments before the regional board nearest their domicile

This provides for six boards, each composed of three members, preferably one doctor who has served with a fighting unit, one lawyer or other professional man, and one layman. At the present time there is no doubt that their services would be constantly required, and arrangement could be made for them to travel at regular intervals to the principal points of their districts As the number of claims slackened the number of regional boards could be reduced, with consequent widening of the districts of the remaining boards.

There is another argument for the regional appeal boards that has not been given consideration thus far. Such boards could not only be utilized in the matter of pension and treatment claims, but the time is coming when veterans of the Great War will become incapacitated in the battle of life, and some provision will have to be made for those who are without provision for their declining years. A regional appeal board would be in a strategic position to deal with this matter. Other matters of minor scope might well be referred to such bodies.

The cost of setting up this system of appeals will be infinitesimal compared with the amount of discontent that it will eliminate and the assurance of justice it will bring to all concerned.—The Veteran.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

A typographical error in this column yesterday made the attendance at the opening ball game in New York read over 700,000, instead of over 70,000. The Examiner's figure would doubtless have been more pleasing to the club owners.

Who killed redistribution, the Conservatives with their blockade, or the Government with its delay in introducing the measure?

The short memory of the human race is shown by the fact that there were actually people yesterday who complained about the heat.

The Examiner absolutely declines to give advice on the important subject of when "they should be taken off."

Strawberry shortcake should be a welcome feature of June electioneering.

WHAT MADE ME HAPPY

"I was congratulsting myself that I had passed the winter without catching a cold, when I got one at the beginning of last May. It was because I was run down. Being run down I had some trouble in getting rid of this cold. I was a nervous wreck. I would wake up regularly mornings feeling that some terrible calamity would take place. Although we were comfortably off, I felt sure my husband was going to lose everything. The children worried me. If they made the least noise, I would get into a terrible temper. I would scold them so that I am sure they hated me. I would be mad with myself after it was over and make up my mind never to let it happen again. I would go to bed at night and begin to think and picture dreadful things which might happen to me and my family. I would lay awake for hours, sometimes until daylight, until I was so weak that I could scarcely raise my head. I would waken next day just as tired as when I laid down. After a while I got so that I didn't care what happened. The children annoyed me and I wouldn't have cared if they had left me for good. I felt that it was only a matter of time before I would lose my mind. I knew that my symptoms were due to a run down condition and that if I could only get something to build me up, I might be all right. I knew that there must be some good tonics but most of them made such foolish claims that I was afraid of them. Happening one day to run across a leaflet about Carnol, I was impressed with the moderate way this preparation was described, so I made up my mind I would try it. I did and today I am the happiest and healthiest woman living. I haven't a care in the world. Instead of running away from me, my children are now with me all the time. My husband tells me that my disposition is as near an angel's as any human being's can be, but of course he is prejudiced. I don't believe I have a nerve in my body now."

WILHELM POSES AS MAKER OF POTTERY

By FERDINAND C. M. JAHN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

DOORN (By mail to United Press)—Former Emperor Wilhelm of Germany hopes some day to become a great pottery manufacturer.

While he was still emperor, Wilhelm obtained possession of the estate Cadinen in East Prussia, on which he founded a pottery factory.

When he was still ruling in Germany, Cadinen pottery was much sought after because it came from royal moulds. The ex-kaiser often put across a good piece of advertising for his wares. At one time, despite his anti-Semitic views, he visited the inauguration of a new synagogue in Berlin which was decorated with Cadinen pottery and plaques.

The former emperor still hopes to develop his pottery business. Although the Cadinen property was confiscated at the time of his abdiction, Wilhelm feels sure that his claims on this particular piece of property cannot be denied, as it was given to him personally. Therefore he still takes the keenest interest in its development.

At the recent Utrecht fair the ex-kaiser installed a booth, decorated with hangings and carpets from Doorn, displaying the pottery wares of Cadinen. A special Dutch agent from Doorn castle attended, trying to sell the goods, which, however, was very difficult, as the pottery was not considered equal to the displays of Dutch and English pottery. Therefore, the former kaiser was forced to reduce the prices of his wares fifty per cent.

HYDRO COMMISSION CAUSE OF DISCUSSION IN PROVINCIAL HOUSE

With Redistribution Disposed of the Legislature Was Able to Get Through Considerable Business Yesterday.

SINKING FUND.

TORONTO, April 21. Canadian Press. — The Legislature got ahead with considerable business yesterday. Before the orders of the day H. H. Dewart brought up the question of the Gregory Hydro investigating committee sitting after the Legislature had been dissolved. He wanted to know if the commission would submit its final report before the House dissolved.

The Premier said that he understood the commission would sit again on May 12th for a few days taking evidence and therefore would not report to this House.

Mr. Dewart immediately moved the adjournment of the House to discuss the matter. He declared that the Hydro Commission would be used as a political football during the election and that the commission should not be allowed to run its "irresponsible course" when there was no Parliament. He trusted that the Premier would close up the commission and have it make its last report before May 4.

Mr. Raney asked if Mr. Dewart were suggesting any legal difficulties.

Mr. Dewart replied that law and decency demanded that the commission conclude its work before Parliament concluded its affairs. It was understood when the committee was appointed that it would report to this House. Mr. Ferguson said that the inquiry according to talk had found nothing inefficient in the Hydro management. He hoped that the Premier would see the propriety of having the commission conclude its work. The Premier replied that the big work of the commission could not be finished in a day and that its report would be valuable to any government which might come after the election.

George Halcrow (East Hamilton) said that any one with the welfare of public ownership at heart would have the commission conclude its work.

H. P. Hill (Con., West Ottawa) rising to a point of privilege explained to the House that he had intended to have spoken on the redistribution bill in favor of proportional representation if the debate had not collapsed in such a sensational way.

The House passed through committee the bill providing that it shall not be necessary to get the consent of the Attorney General to take an action for damages against railways operated by the Hydro Electric Power Commissin. The second reading was given a bill proviring that a change might be made in the character of local improvement works after the bylaw had been passed, provided the people decided favorably on such changes.

The House defeated by 20 to 19 a bill proposed by A. P. Mewhinney of West Bruce, that county councils could appoint any qualified person as road superintendent of the county. The present law demands that the appointee must be an engineer. Hon. F. C. Biggs opposed the bill, declaring that it was a backward step. It was pointed out by those in favor of the bill that many counties could have very efficient road superintendents who were not engineers.

A motion to give the bill allowing Dan Samuel Denberg to practice law in Ontario a six months hoist, was declared defeated without a formal division. W. H. Price (Parkdale) moved the hoist motion and all the government supporters opposed it.

Just before six o'clock discussion started in committee on the motion brought down by Hon. Peter Smith preparatory to the bill establishing a sinking fund to wipe out $61,000,000 of debt in 40 years. W. F. Nickle (Con., Kingston) declared that the scheme would not do what it proposed to do. He declared that if the plan was to work that all the non-revenue producing accounts of the government must be paid from ordinary revenue. The sum put aside yearly to pay the debt must be taken from ordinary account. As there was a deficit now it would simply mean adding the amount put aside to deficit. "Whats the use of saying it will wipe out the debt. It may wipe out the debt simply to make another of the same size and we get nowhere," said Mr. Nickle.

Hon. Manning Doherty declared nobody ever said it would wipe out the whole Ontario debt. Mr. Nickle he said was assuming that there was to be a deficit every year. There was a surplus on ordinary account, and so much was to be taken from this surplus to pay into the fund that would ultimately pay off a large portion of the debt. The debate on the motion was adjourned as Hon. Mr. Smith could not stay in the House, as he was catching a train.

The House adjourned at 6 o'clock.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Large Audience Delighted With Entertainment by St. Andrew's Choir Leader—More Auto Sales.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 21. — Mr. Fred Wigglesworth, the new organist and choir leader of St. Andrew's church, gave last night in the school room his first entertainment since coming to Campbellford, and the large audience, filling as it did the room to capacity, must have been gratifying to one who is a comparative stranger to the music lovers of the town. Mr. Wigglesworth was ably assisted in the programme by Miss Jean McIntosh, the talented young elocutionist from Belleville, who proved herself a versatile and accomplished artist in her line.

Rev. C. F. McIntosh, in a few introductory remarks before the commencement of the programme of the evening, said that Mr. Wigglesworth had, since coming to Campbellford, proved his efficiency in both vocal and instrumental music, so much so that the audience could expect an an entertainment of a high order. As for the young lady who was to take part her name alone was a sufficient guarantee of her ability.

The numbers rendered by Miss McIntosh varied from a recital of a scene from the Shakesperian tragedy, "Romeo and Juliet," to a lighter touch of comedy in which the hero was a philosophic colored man who had almost been caught redhanded in the art of stealing chickens and against whom the circumstantial evidence was conclusive. There were also well rendered poems, the scenes in which were laid in the Canadain northwest, and excellent recitals portraying the grim humor of the Scottish character, one of these, a parody on Harry Lauder's "Stop your ticklin' Jock," fairly taking the audience by storm. It is seldom that so varied a bill is presented by one artist at a single performance and it is just as seldom that in very number, no matter what the dialect, the performer is equally at home. One of the most charming selections of the evening was a bright sketch of a young French Canadian mother soothing her first child to sleep with a lullaby couched in the broken English of the habitant.

It is not only as a reader that Miss McIntosh excells, as she rendered several musical selections in solo and in duets with Mr. Wigglesworth ,the accompaniments for these being played on the piano by Mr. E. C. Dolman, one of Campbellford's most accomplished musicians. Besides her natural gifts and her careful training in her art, Miss McIntosh has the added advantage of a charming personality and an attractive stage appearance that wins the admiration of her hearers from the moment of her first entrance.

Mr. Wigglesworth's performance at the piano, and his vocal selections, combined to establish in Campbellford his reputation as a high class musician. His numbers, too, varied from classical selections to lighter touches of comedy, among the latter being a few verses from "Old King Cole," given in response to a recall. The programme as originally drawn up, was as follows, but it ran into a double entertainment, as both artists were encored at every appearance.

The Programme

Song. — (a) Elegie (Massenet); (b) "I Know of two Bright Eyes"—Mr. Wigglesworth.
Dramatic Poem, with music from Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet.
Pianoforte Solo, Rondo Capriccrose (Mendelssohn), Mr. Wigglesworth.
Dialect poem, "A Sailor's Yarn", Henders) Miss McIntosh.
"Take a pair of Sparkling Eyes", Mr. Wigglesworth.

Prelude in C Minor (Rachmaninoff), Mr. Wigglesworth.
Humorous Mcnologue, "Feathered Clue (Granger) Miss McIntosh.
Light humorous Song "And Yet I don't Know," Mr. Wigglesworth.
Humorous Scotch Reading, "Rale Weel", (Wanless), Miss McIntosh.
God Save the King.

The entertainment was given under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Mission Circle of the Church.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

Relieved Her of Headaches

Headache seems to be habitual with many people, and some, if any, are seldom free from it, suffering continually, and wondering why they can get no relief.

In all cases of headache the treatment should be directed to the removal of the cause, and with the cause removed the headaches will vanish.

It is impossible to find a better remedy for headaches of every description than can equal B. B. B., acting as it does on every organ of the system.

Mrs. Douglas Riseborough, 280 McKenzie St., Sarnia, Ont., writes: "Having suffered from severe headaches for a considerable length of time I decided to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and found that it helped me wonderfully. It relieved the headaches, and I noticed a decided improvement in my health."

Burdock Blood Bitters is a remedy that has been on the market for the past forty-four years, so you don't experiment with some new and untried medicine. It is put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Blackheads Go Quick By This Simple Method

Blackheads—big ones or little ones—soft ones or hard ones—on any part of the body go quick by a simple method that just dissolves them. To do this get about two ounces of peroxine powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—and wash off. You'll wonder where the blackheads have gone. Pinching and squeezing blackheads only open the pores of the skin and leave them large and unsightly—while the simple application of peroxine powder and the water dissolve them right out, leaving the skin soft and the pores in their natural condition.

The flues of a range are hidden from view—yet they are vital parts—most liable to corrosion and rust. Kootenay flues and smoke box are enamel-clad at every vital point.

KOOTENAY

An old range may waste more than a new Kootenay costs

EVERY woman knows how dreadful an old range with a poor oven can be. How much coal it wastes! How often it ruins good food!

It is really an economy to have a modern Kootenay with its white nickeled steel oven (washable) and its smooth glistening exterior.

Easy to care for, easy to clean, a sure baker! It's a comfort every day—a range you would certainly be proud of and enjoy.

WOMAN PREFERS HORSES TO MEN

LEXINGTON, April 19. — "The companionship of horses is a lot more interesting than that of most people. You can depend on them—and show me the man who can say with truth that his vices are fewer than those of a horse."

That comes from Miss Elizabeth Daingerfield, daughter of southern aristocracy who has entree into the south's most exclusive social circles but who elects to spend most of her time with horses.

To Miss Daingerfield's care is entrusted a herd of world-famed racehorses, valued at more than $1,125,000!

Among them is the celebrated Morvich, winner of last year's Kentucky derby, whose owner, Benjamin Block, wouldn't take $200,000 for him, the unbeatable Man o' War, said to be worth $800,000, and Golden Broom, whose value is not even estimated.

CAR SHORTAGE AND HIGHER PRICES

By F. ED. SPOONER.

DETROIT, April 21.—Edward S. Jordon says that the production for 1923 will be 5,000,000 automobiles. Almost thirty makers, when approached recently, had schedules aggregating about 3,600,000 cars, and it was then figured that the added production of the other makers would bring the scheduled production to 4,000,000. But all sorts of things interfere with plans, freight car shortage, shortage of materials, various and sundry troubles that check temporarily, so the estimate of Mr. Jordon is probably nearer right than 4,000,000. And the Cleveland maker has been so close a student of the game, and so astute and reliable a prognosticator in the past that his opinion must carry real weight. He has seldom been wrong, and in fact the writer knows of no instance where he actually has been wrong. Predictions of the Clevelander, that closed cars will realize increased demand, were borne up by facts at the New York and Chicago shows. It is even said now that the maker who first announces a 100 per cent. production, closed models and the touring model special, only will forestall the future. The enclosed model has arrived with a capital A. The women want it, and women are the cause of nine-tenths of motor car selections today. It is stated that only about 500,000 of the 12,000,000 or more cars now in America are closed cars.

It is believed that the 1923 season will be divided into three periods. High-speed production will characterize the first. Then will come a period of the keenest competition, and the third period will be beset by rising price of labor and consequent price increases in cars all along the line. It is not so certain, however, that price increases will not be necessary in the first period, and they will be forced by increases in prices of material. There have already been a few increases.

Every once in a while the old bugaboo comes up of the saturation point. Even the wisest men in the business sometimes ponder as to where all the cars go. Jordon says that the point will be reached when every man owns a car and when no cars wear out. Knabe, the piano maker, said two years ago, that it would only be reached when babies stopped growing up. At any rate, there's no such point in sight when an output that was record-breaking, 2,500,000 cars in 1922, was taken in the large cities. And with California as an example of the possibilities, when all States get like systems of good roads, there is seemingly no end to the market. To-day's population of the United States would then absorb over 25,000,000 cars, replacement on which at one in six would take more production than all of the American factories are capable of, and that does not take into account the export business. With everything put in order foreign countries will take 20 per cent. of all the cars produced in America, and maybe more. America to-day has more than 80 per cent. of all the cars in the world, and the world is the great market of the future.

Harold Cary, of Colliers, interviewed great men and concluded that the number of motor cars in America would be doubled; that there was no saturation point in sight, and that several years will pass before the annual increases settle down to march hand in hand with the increase in population. He estimates that the United States will have as many motor cars as there are white native-born families, 20,000,000 in all. Limitations of the cities will not become serious limitation of ownership of cars. Deputy Commissioner Harris of New York is quoted as saying, "Bring on your 20,000,000 cars. Cities will be made over."

In fact, the motor car is already forcing the making over of cities like New York, Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, San Francisco and many more. Colliers has decided from its investigation that, "On no ground than can we be other than optimistic about the continued growth of the automobile industry."

Generally increased prosperity for 1923 is forecasted in a symposium of opinions of many prominent men gathered by William H. Rankin, of Chicago and New York, who went to large expense to gain opinions from prominent authorities in every large city of America.

Prosperity in all lines of business means prosperity to the automotive industry, which did more than its share in bringing back good times to America. It set the pace. The replies received by Mr. Rankin were cautious, but unanimous. He found no false optimism, none of the "whistling in the dark," which has characterized so many predictions in the past. He found no one willing to be optimistic for the sake of being so. Crop conditions, manufacturing conditions, bank deposits, demands for loans, all have been gone over carefully before the conclusion was reached, and that conclusion has been the same everywhere. The year 1923 will be a sound, wholesome, constructively good business year.

One optimistic utterance frequently repeated came from a California man who said that, in spite of the sale of 150,000 cars in California in 1922, as against 154,000 in the State of New York, California would take 200,000 cars in 1923, and perhaps more. He based this upon the gain in population. A maker said that between California and New York 20 per cent. of the entire output of cars for the year would be absorbed, and on the estimate of Mr. Jordon this would mean the sale of 300,000 cars in each of these two banner states.

There is no longer talk of business being spotty. Business is seemingly all right in every section, and good business is sought everywhere, and expected. Every maker is putting the best foot foremost and leaving no stone unturned to develop every sectional market.

Of course the transportation situation and parts and material conditions that have forced a downward revision in car output schedules is making for a car shortage this spring and higher prices.

WOULD ALCOHOL AS MOTOR FUEL IN BRAZIL

Increased interest in the production of alcohol for fuel is being evidenced in Brazil. The Brazilian Congress of Coal and other national fuels, inaugurated in Rio de Janeiro, has just recommended the establishment of alcohol co-operative societies in important alcohol centres, the use of alcohol-driven vehicles by the government and favors for alcohol-driven vehicles and motors, and has made other recommendations toward promoting the use of fuel alcohol.

Although pure alcohol is now used in tractors and trucks in Brazil, it is not considered suitable for passenger automobiles, and it is proposed to organize a company in Recife for the manufacture of motor fuel from alcohol, sulphuric ether.

PLANS TO LEAD THE WORLD IN AIR DIRIGIBLES

Undaunted By Disaster, America Adopts Programme For Revolutionizing World Travel.

USE HELIUM GAS.

By HENRY B. HUNT.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Gigantic military dirigibles have caused America's most appalling air disasters—

But undaunted, America plans to lead the world in development of this type of aircraft with a program so ambitious that it may revolutionize world travel—a program that includes even a flight to the north pole.

The ZR-1 monster dirigible now nearing completion by the navy, was planned as a factor in national defense. Already, though, the Navy Department's bureau of aeronautics has arranged for it a peace-time career of world-wide benefit.

"Have not great dirigibles proven themselves failures for all practicable uses? They either break in two, like the ZR-2, or blow up like the Roma. Why spend additional millions in building experimental craft of a type whose value is chiefly theoretical and which has produced so high a record of disaster?"

I put questions like these to Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the navy's bureau of aeronautics.

"After the loss of the ZR-2," Moffett replied, "there was a great deal of discussion as to whether or not we should carry on in developing large lighter-than-air ships.

"In reaching our decision to go ahead, we were guided by considerations other than those of a strictly naval nature. If by experimentation and study, by elimination of structural defects and weaknesses, by practice and perseverence, we could develop a new method of transportation, that alone would be worth every cent spent.

Will Use Helium.

"The ZR-1, unlike the ZR-2 and the Roma, will be flown with helium gas, not hydrogen. That will eliminate the hazard of explosions. We have on hand now more than enough helium to fill her and our production is constantly increasing.

"We are developing portable mooring masts of a kind that may be set up readily at points between which flights are to be tried out. In addition to these, permanent mooring masts will be erected at a number of points, both on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts and inland."

The ZR-1, it is expected, will be completed and ready for tests by late July or early August.

First flights will be made in the neighborhood of Lakehurst, N. J., to test out structural correctness, responsiveness to control, power and speed.

Following any necessary changes, the ZR-1 will begin nosing out for longer trips. New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington will be among the first cities visited.

Will Tour U. S.

After these will come the real test of her ability. Chicago, St. Louis, Fort Worth, San Diego are the probable stopping points on the first attempted transcontinental flight.

Then up the Pacific coast over Los Angeles to San Francisco, to Portland, to Seattle and Bremerton, Wash.

Whether a return flight will be attempted over the northern route, possibly via Helena, or Butte Mont., St. Paul and Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Cleveland and Buffalo will be determined largely by experience gained on the westward trip.

German Ship, Too.

Before these transcontinental flights by the ZR-1 are concluded, however, the navy expects to receive from Germany the ZR-3, being built by the Zeppelin Co. This is paid for by the German Government to replace the dirigible assigned to the United States following the armistice, which was destroyed.

This new dirigible, of a somewhat different type, but of approximately the same size and capacity, will be flown to this country by a German crew, the agreement calling for delivery on this side.

With these two dirigibles, both using helium, ready to explore and chart likely commercial air routes, aeronautic authorities predict a revival of interest and confidence in the lighter-than-air ships.

They see approaching the era of huge air fleets operating successfully over routes where surface transportation is slow or difficult.

An All-American air line, with a two-day journey from New York to Panama or five days to Chile; transcontinental and perhaps transatlantic passenger service—these are among the possibilities seen in the two new helium-filled American dirigibles.

GERMAN MARKS

its German words and its double red seals. Truly, Barnum said a mouthful.

A Brisk Market.

There was plenty of life on the open market this morning, even under the hot sun which beat down with mid-summer vigor on humans and beasts alike. Little fat pigs in white and Tamworth brown panted in their close cages, the sacking which protected them from the cold two weeks ago serving this morning to shield them from the sun's rays. One bunch had an umbrella carefully placed over their open crate. The Tamworths were $14 a pair, other brands selling for $13.

Maple syrup was plentiful, but lacked other-year eagerness in the manner of its disposal. "People haven't the money," observed one dealer, the usual remark about anything that fails to live up to former expectations these days. But the late season for sap running, and the onrush of sudden heat may have more to do with a lack of interest in such rich sweetness than a thin collective community purse. Or possibly in these days of germ mania, there is something not quite attractive in the spectacle of a whiskered gentleman dipping a repeated spoon in a flowing milk-can of syrup, preferring the taste of the wholesale quantity in the can to the lesser desirability of the flavor in the proffered dipper. Syrup ranged in price from $2.75 to $3 a gallon, and a discussion arose in connection with its measuring out over the relative quantity contained in the Imperial and the Crown measure. It is asserted that an Imperial quart contains considerably more liquid than its Crown companion.

Potatoes in bags at 75 cents were fairly plentiful; there were red onions at 35 cents a peck, crisp new white cabbages at ten cents a head (the new idea of poundage for cabbages has not yet infected the farmers' market); turnips at 20 cents a peck, and parsnips at 40 cents; cucumbers in brine were 55 and 60 cents a basket; little seeding onions ten cents a quart. One lady who usually has something special in her display had pale green duck eggs at 10 cents apiece, and one man had maple sugar in fluted cakes of large size at 35 cents. Honey was 45 and 50 cents per five-pound pail. Meat on one closed waggon, carefully covered up "to keep it from cooking," was 13 and 15 cents a pound for mutton, 18 and 20 for pork and 13 and 18 cents for veal.

A solitary load of hay offered an admirable refuge and source of refreshment for neighboring horses, and was selling for $14. Two loads of wood were $12 for the green maple, and $9 for a mixed load of elm and cedar.

Upstairs, there were plenty of eggs and butter, the former going from 30 to 37 cents a dozen; butter, which opened at 45 cents a pound, lowering later to 40 cents. Cream was 30 cents a pint bottle, and fowl, scarce in quantity, was selling for 34 and 35 cents a pound for young birds, and 30 cents for maturer samples.

CLUTCH TROUBLE ARISES FROM NUMEROUS CAUSES

Clutch slippage is one of the things with which the motorist may have to contend at unexpected moments when the help of a repairman is not available. The springs of the clutch take care of a considerable amount of wear and it is not always advisable to take them up at the first indication of trouble. More frequently slippage may be due to a binding of bearings or to binding of the pedal arms between ill-fitting floor boards through which the clutch is partially held out. By putting oil or grease on the clutch bearings or by correcting the fit of the floor boards the clutch can be made to hold in the majority of cases.

Constant taking up of clutch springs is apt to bring about a detrimental condition. With sufficient tension to overcome the binding the clutch is almost certain to grab when it does engage, with the result of stressing every part of the rear end of the car.

The grass on this lot had been set afire, it is believed, by a number of children.

WOMAN SICK TWO YEARS

Caused by Troubles Women Often Have—Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Medina, New York.—"I had a great deal of trouble such as women often have, and this affected my nerves. For over two years I suffered this way, then I read in the 'Buffalo Times' about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and have taken it with very good results. I am very much better and feel justified in praising the Vegetable Compound to my friends and neighbors who suffer from anything of the kind."—Mrs. WM. H. ADKINS, 311 Erin Road, Medina, N. Y.

Feels Like Girl Sixteen

Rochester, N. Y.—"After my twin girls were born I was all run-down. My neighbors thought I was going to die. I saw your advertisement in the paper and bought Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The first bottle helped me and I kept on taking it. I only weighed ninety pounds when I began taking it, and I have gained in weight and feel like a girl of sixteen. I never can say enough for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. NELLIE DOREY, 16 Sloane Park, Rochester, N. Y.

DESIGN NOT LIMIED BY STANDARIZATION

In answering the principal objection made against standardization—that it limits design—the Society of Automotive Engineers states that this view has not been borne out in actual results. The 1923 motor car models, it is stated, show more resourcefulness in design than ever before. The standardization of component parts has, however, increased.

Engineers estimate that 15 per cent. is saved yearly through the use of standardized parts and materials which can in no way be considered as limiting individual design.

The fact that a certain car uses standard ball studs on the steering gear does not mean that the car is not properly designed, but it does mean that the maker has cut production cost on that part, and consequently has been able to cut prices accordingly, because standard ball studs cost less than special studs made to order.

Some people sneeze like an April shower.

REJECTS BIG PAY FOR JOY OF TENDING HOUSE

CHICAGO, April 21.—Mrs. Florence Schee Robnett of this city could go out any day and command a tidy salary running into five figures.

But Mrs. Robnett has turned down many a tempting offer—to bake pancakes for her husband!

During the war Mrs. Robnett achieved nation-wide prominence by her phenomenal success as manager of the employment department of the Illinois woman's committee, Council of National Defense. She could size up the attitude of an applicant for a job almost at a glance and fit the round pegs into the round holes.

Her psychological tests for applicants have become so successful and noted among big business men that they conferred on her the title of "Go Getter."

But Mrs. Robnett is through.

"Happiness," she affirms, "is the supreme achievement in life. I have found mine in my home.

"Carrying water on both shoulders—that is, caring for a home and business, both—seems to me too big a problem for any woman to tackle and do justice to each."

And who, do you think, is happier in the Robnett family? Hubby, of course. "Boy, say I'm not glad!" he smiles.

DANCING IS INDICATION OF THE WORLD TENDENCY

The long-distance dancing craze continues among the young people of Scotland and England. In Edinburgh two couples danced over 21 hours without stopping.

Buenos Aires cables that Anna Gutbrod, girl swimmer, swam 22 hours 47 minutes without stopping.

Desire to increase endurance is becoming an international psychic wave. Its meaning? Probably that the world is getting ready to buckle down to work to unshoulder the war debt. Watch dancing. It's humanity's weathervane. The maniacical restlessness that precipitated the World War started with the tango craze in Buenos Aires.

The PRIDE of PALOMAR

By Peter B. Kyne

She leaned from her horse and lowered her voice. "Because I'm your partner and between partners there should be no secrets."

"Well, we're supposed to keep it a secret, just to save you and your mother from worrying, but I'll tell you in confidence if you promise not to tell a soul I told you."

"I promise."

"Well, then, that scoundrel, Okada, sent a Jap over from La Questa valley to assassinate Miguel and clear the way for your father to acquire this ranch without further legal action and thus enable their interrupted land deal to be consummated."

"My father was not a party to that—oh, Mr. Conway, surely you do not suspect for a moment——"

"Tish! Tish! Of course not. That's why Miguel wanted it given out that his horse had policed him. Wanted to save you the resultant embarrassment."

"The poor dear! And this wretch from La Questa shot him?"

"Almost."

"What became of the assassin?"

Bill Conway pursed his tobacco-stained lips and whistled a few bars of "Listen to the Mocking Bird." Subconsciously the words of the song came to Kay's mind.

She's sleeping in the valley,
In the valley,
She's sleeping in the valley,
And the mocking bird is singing where she lies.

"I'm afraid I don't want to discuss that boy and his future movement, Miss Parker," he sighed presently. "I might compromise a third party. In the event of a show-down I do not wish to be forced under oath to tell what I know—or suspect. However, I am in a position to assure you that Oriental activities on this ranch have absolutely ceased. Mr. Okada has been solemnly assured that, in dealing with certain white men, they will insist upon an eye for an optic and a tusk for a tooth; he knows that if he starts anything further he will go straight to that undiscovered country where the woodbine twineth and the whangdoodle mourneth for its mate."

"What has become of Okada?"

"He has dragged it out of here—drifted and went hence—for keeps."

"Are you quite sure?"

"Cross my heart and hope to die." With an unclean thumb Mr. Conway drew a large X on the geometrical center of his ample circumference. "When you've been in the contracting business as long as I have, Miss Parker," he continued sagely, "you'll learn never to leave important details to a straw boss. Attend to 'em yourself—and get your regular ration of sleep. That's my motto."

She beamed gratefully upon him. "Need any money, Bill, old timer?" she flashed at him suddenly, with delightful camaraderie.

"There should be no secrets between partners. I do."

"Quanto?"

"Cinquenta mille pesos oro, senorita."

"Help!"

"Fifty thousand bucks, iron men, simoleons, smackers, dollars——"

She reached down and removed a fountain pen from his upper vest pocket. Then she drew a check book and, crooking her knee over Panchito's neck and using that knee for a desk, she wrote him a check on a New York bank for fifty thousand dollars.

"See here," Bill Conway demanded, as she handed him the check, "how much of a roll you got, young woman?"

"About two hundred thousand in cash and half a million in Liberty bonds. When I was about five years old my uncle died and left me his estate, worth about a hundred thousand. It has grown under my father's management. He invested heavily in Steel Common, at the outbreak of the war, and sold at the top of the market just before the armistice was signed."

"Well," Conway sighed, "there is a little justice in the world, after all. Here at last, is one instance where the right person to handle money gets her hands on a sizable wad of it. But what I want to know, my dear young lady, is this: Why purchase philanthropy in fifty thousand dollar installments? If you want to set that boy's mind at ease, loan him three hundred thousand dollars to take up the mortgage your father holds on his ranch; then take a new mortgage in your own name to secure the loan. If you're bound to save him in the long run, why keep the poor devil in suspense?"

She made a little moue of distaste. "I loathe business. The loaning of money on security—the taking advantage of another's distress. Mr. Bill, it never made a hit with me. I'm doing this merely because I realize that my father's course, while strictly legal, is not kind. I refuse to permit him to do that sort of thing to a Medal of Honor man." He noticed a pretty flush mount to her lovely cheeks. "It isn't sporty, Mr. Bill Conway. However, it isn't nice to tell one's otherwise lovable father that he's a poor sport and a Shylock, is it? I cannot deliberately pick a fight with my father by interfering in his business affairs, can I? Also, it seems to me that Don Mike Farrel's pride is too high to permit of his acceptance of a woman's pity. I do not wish him to be under obligation to me. He might misconstrue my motive—oh, you understand, don't you? I'm sure I'm in an extremely delicate position."

He nodded sagely. "Nevertheless," he pursued, "he will be under obligation to you."

"He will never know it. I depend upon you to keep my secret. He will think himself under obligation to you—and you're such an old and dear friend. Men accept obligations from each other and think nothing of it. By the way, I hold you responsible for the return of that fifty thousand dollars, not Don Mike Farrel. You are underwriting his battle with my father, are you not?"

"Yes, I am," he retorted briskly, "and I've got more conceit than a barber's cat for daring to do it. Wait a minute and I'll give you my promissory note. I'm paying seven per cent for bank accommodations lately. That rate of interest suit you?"

She nodded and followed him to his office, where he laboriously wrote and signed a promissory note in her favor. Pablo, remaining politely out of sound of their conversation, wondered vaguely what they were up to.

improvidence, for the simple reason that the plaintiff, I cannot find any improvidence, for the simple reason that the plaintiff's financial position was not set out and is not before the the court. What would be improvidence in the case of a poor man, need not and would not be in the case of a man of more property."

Question of Damages

Judge Huycke also found the defendant entitled to damages for breach of contract, the original agreement between them. The only question was how much.

"I should and do take into account the gift to her and her daughter of the furniture as found in this judgment, but I am not advised as to the value of such furniture. The defendant was making a considerable income for the support of herself and child in California. She was supported, or partly so, for two years here by the defendant, for which she gave good service and sufficient payment. She says she spent some of her own money in buying things for the plaintiff and in the up-keep of the house, but I do not think that is very serious. For the past two years however, she has had to support herself and for part of the time she has had the rental of the upstairs of the house. She had when she came to Canada about $900.00, now she has little or nothing left. She was making an income in California which now she lost and she has made little or nothing here. The plaintiff I think must meet these losses as far as I can ascertain them, but that is not easy in view of the insufficient and unsatisfactory character of the evidence given.

The plaintiff is there fore entitled to possession of the house on Aylmer street now occupied by the defendant. The defendant and her daughter I declare to be the owners of the furniture in the house and entitled to keep it pursuant to the gift by the plaintiff to them.

In addition I award the defendant as damages for a breach of contract the sum of $1,500.00 against the plaintiff, and success being divided I therefore make no order as to costs, hoping still that the better judgment of the parties may induce them to get together and be friends. Where the evidence of the plaintiff and the defendant and her daughter conflict, I accept the evidence of the defendant and her daughter, not because I think the plaintiff is wilfully dishonest, or untruthful, but because he is senile, weak-minded, and excentionally forgetful."

Mr. A. E. Dixon was solicitor for the plaintiff with Mr. Joseph Wearing as counsel, and Mr. J. A. O'Brien acted for Mrs. Payne.

WELL FILLED PURSE

while at the present time it is something over 600.

Up to the present time the year 1922 was the banner year of the Sunday school, both in point of attendance and contributions. In the latter respect the sum of $1,377 was raised by the school for all purposes. When 1923 closes, a fully as satisfactory record will in all likelihood be established. Mr. MacKenzie expressed confidence in the efficiency of the staff and the loyalty of the people to insure greater progress in the coming days. Votes of thanks were enthusiastically tendered to the Peterborough Floral Co., the Ladies' Aid, Mr. Jos. Trusseler and his staff of assistants, the programme committee, the artists and the chairman.

A Presentation.

At the close of the programme, Mr. Malcolm Clark asked Rev. and Mrs. MacKenzie to come to the platform. He then, on behalf of the congregation, read an address of appreciation and good will to them, presenting Mr. MacKenzie with a substantial purse, while Miss Margaret McCulloch presented Mrs. MacKenzie with a bouquet of American Beauty roses. The address follows:

Dear Mr. MacKenzie,— As your final sermon as pastor of Knox church will be preached next Sabbath and as the week following that will no doubt be fully occupied we, members and adherents of Knox church have felt that this evening would be a suitable time in which to say a few words of farewell.

During the more than eight years of your pastorate you have endeared yourself to us all by your kindly, genial, Christian presence, and your efficiency as preacher and pastor has impressed us very much. There is not a phase of church work at Knox that has not at all times felt the influence of your sympathetic co-operation.

In the nature of things it was inevitable that you would be called to a wider and larger field of service and few there were of us, if indeed there were any but soon realized that well-deserved promotion for you would not be long delayed, and to-night we feel that part of the mission that Knox church is so far fulfilling is in having pastors who are called to a larger work, and so our very best wishes go with you to your new charge.

As an earnest of the place you and your esteemed wife hold in our affection and regard we ask you to accept this purse and our prayer is that God will abundantly bless you and yours in the days that are to be.

Finally we would express the hope that, though you no longer are our minister, that not infrequently we may have the pleasure of seeing you and occasionally of having you occupy the pulpit at Knox.

(Signed on behalf of the Session and Board:

Taken by Surprise.

In reply Mr. MacKenzie expressed his surprise and pleasure at being thus honoured. On behalf of Mrs. MacKenzie and himself and their small family, he wished not only to thank them for these further handsome gifts, but for the succession of kindnesses they had shown through all his ministry. He felt sure that wherever they went a large part of their affection would still cling to Knox church. He believed that good things, and better things than they have yet enjoyed are in store for Knox people, and said that his best hopes and prayers for them was that they would all prosper in the things worth while, and especially in the Master's work.

The chairman then called on Rev. Robt. Pogue and Rev. Jas. Rollins, who respectively addressed the congregation in their usual happy fashion, referring eulogistically to Mr. MacKenzie's work and the harmony that exists between the Presbyterian churches of the city.

The meeting was closed by the congregation joining in one verse of the hymn, "Blest be the Tie That Binds," and the National Anthem.

The benediction was pronounced by Mr. MacKenzie.

"BERTIE AND BETTY" IT WILL BE AFTER TWO "NOES" AND ONE "YES"

By MILTON BRONNER.

LONDON, April 21.—All Britain, which was so pleased when Princess Mary became the wife of Lord Lascelles, is tickled to death over the marriage set for Thursday next of Berty and Betty.

"Berty" is the Duke of York, the second son of the King of England.

"Betty" is Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, youngest daughter of the Earl of Strathmore.

The nicknames are what they call each other.

The loyal Britisher is pleased not only because once more one of the king's children is choosing a Briton as a life partner, but also because the 28-year-old duke had to pop the question three times before he landed his girl.

They had met years ago at a kids' party when Lady Elizabeth was 6 and Prince Albert 12.

They met frequently after that because the girl was one of those chosen by Queen Mary as a companion and schoolmate of Princess Mary. Naturally, she was one of Mary's bridemaids.

At the wedding the Duke of York paid marked attention to her. At an informal dance preceding the wedding festivities the duke ventured his first proposal. "No!"

He Tries Again.

Not despairing, the duke tried his luck a second time last summer at a country house in northern England, where both were guests. Lady Elizabeth and the duke were playing in a foursome at golf.

"How about a twosome for life?" the duke asked. Again, "No!"

But last winter, while a guest at the girl's home in Hertfordshire, he and she strolled through the woods on their way to church on a Sunday morning. He proposed for the third time and got "Yes."

That's why the couple didn't reach church in time for the services.

Princess Mary married a very rich man. But the Duke of York is not marrying a very rich girl.

Her father, the Earl of Strathmore, is the head of a very old house. He owns about 25,000 acres of land in Scotland and England. However, a greater portion of this will probably go to his eldest son and heir.

As the earl has three other sons and daughters, the dowry he gives the duke's bride will probably not be in the same class with the millions of Lascelles.

The bridegroom has been drawing an allowance from the British people of about $50,000 a year. Upon his marriage, he will draw $125,000 a year.

The social duties of a son of the king will make big holes in that income.

After the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York is the next heir to the throne.

GASSED OVERSEAS SHELL SHOCKED AND RHEUMATISM-

Mr. F. M. Biaquiere, Morinville, Alta., writes: "After three years service overseas I returned to Canada almost a complete wreck. I had been gassed and was suffering from shell shock and rheumatism, and was so nervous I could not sleep at night. I tried many medicines and doctors, but none of them did me any good for any length of time. I got so bad in the fall of 1919, my hands were so shaky I could scarcely hold anything, and it seemed as if I had a steel band pressing on my head. The least excitement would almost drive me into fits, and my whole system seemed to be in disorder. I had cramps in my legs nearly every night, and hot and cold chills running up and down my back nearly all the time. One day I decided to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and after I had taken six boxes I began to feel better. I kept on using them and after a while I was completely relieved."

SUCCESSFUL DANCE MILLBROOK HALL

R. B. P. 945, Put on Well Attended Event, Probably Last of Session.

MILLBROOK, April 21. — The dance held in the town hall on Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the R.B.P. No. 945, was a well-attended and, most successful event, all the more enjoyable because it will probably be the last social affair of this nature for this season. This floor was in excellent condition, and both round and square dance were indulged in, Mr. L. Morton acting as floor manager in his usual capable manner. The music also left nothing to be desired, being furnished by Mrs. Richardson, and Mr. Russell Egerton of Pontypool, with piano and violin, Miss Myrtle Russell and Mr. H. Jane of Millbrook playing the extras. A dainty but satisfying supper was served about mid night, and dancing resumed for some time thereafter before the guests finally dispersed. The committee in charge, including J. H. Paul, W. P., M. Todd, Registrar, and L. S. Morton, floor manager, are being congratulated upon the success of the undertaking.

URGES WIDER TEACHING OF FRENCH LANGUAGE

HAMILTON, April 21, Canadian Press. — Old truths presented to the world through new personalities, constitute the only worthwhile formula for the world to-day, in the opinion of General Sir Arthur Currie, vice-Chancellor and principal of McGill University, who addressed several hundred members of the McGill Alumni of Hamilton and Niagara districts here last night. Sir Arthur made a strong plea for wider teaching of the French language in Canada and hazarded the prophesy that Canada would have a brighter future if every citizen could converse fluently in the tongue of Old France.

Flood Conditions Threaten Disaster.

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man., April 21.—(Canadian Press.)—Conditions in the Portage district, due to the rise of the waters of the Assiniboine river, are becoming serious, and late yesterday the water was 14 inches higher than at any time last spring, when serious floods occurred.

The water was overflowing the banks of the river at several points yesterday afternoon, and the indications were that much land would be flooded before this morning.

FIRE SWEPT TOWNS RISING FROM ASHES

No Longer Necessary for New Ontario Towns to Assist North Ontario.

TORONTO, April 21.—(Canadian Press).—With incredible rapidity, Haileybury and other fire-swept towns are rising from ashes of the Northern Ontario holocaust of last summer, according to W. H. Alderson, chairman of the Northern Ontario Fire Relief Committee, who returned to the city yesterday after investigating the relief needs in that area. It would be difficult to recognize Haileybury, he stated, in the new and substantial buildings which have been erected on the site since the fire.

It will no longer be necessary for towns to receive assistance through Northern Ontario relief funds, he said, as they have already regained their feet.

Brittain, American Consul-General at Winnipeg, now living in Los Angeles. "I believe Canada is the greatest wheat producing country on earth," he said. STEEL ENTERPRISE NOT TO REORGANIZE Shareholders Must Take Their Chances by Relying on Trustee.

TORONTO, April 21 (Canadian Press). — It looked last night as if the re-organisation plans of the L. R. Steel enterprises had failed, and that the Canadian and American shareholders will have to take their chances of realising on their shares by relying on the work of G. T. Clarkson, trustee in Canada, and the American receivers in Buffalo.

There will be no more public meetings of shareholders here for the purpose of re-organisation.

RUHR POSITION IS POSITIVE DEADLOCK

Lord Curzon Declares Intervention Now Would Be Premature.

LONDON, April 21. — (United Press.)—Indications that Great Britain has no part in the rumored negotiations to end the Ruhr impasse was seen by the British press to-day in Lord Curzons speech in Parliament yesterday in which the foreign secretary declared the situation in the occupied zones to be a positive deadlock. Intervention now would be premature Lord Curzon declared.

Revision of Patents Act is Suggested.

OTTAWA, April 21. — (Canadian Press).—A bill relating to patents of invention was taken up in committee of the House yesterday afternoon. Mr. Robb explained that the present Act had not been revised in twenty years. Certain amendments were necessary to bring the Canadian legislation in line with the Berne Convention. The amendments were of minor importance.

W. A. Boys (Conservative, Simcoe S.) asked for a provision requiring definite notice to an applicant before the Commissioner proceeded with his application. Applicants for patents who proved unsuccessful should also be given a period up to two months, during which they could appeal against the Commissioner's decision if they wished to do so.

Hon. Mr. Robb provoked considerable discussion when he explained Clause 13 of the bill, providing that every applicant for a patent, non-resident in Canada, should specify an address in Canada to which notices might be addressed.

RIVER BANK BROKE TOWN IS INUNDATED

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man., April 21. Canadian Press — The bank of the Assinboine River broke southwest of here at two o'clock this morning and loosened a torrent upon this city. The railway yards were inundated and the residential section invaded. House holders began packing up here.

AN OPTIMISTIC REPORT FROM FLOODED AREAS

WINNIPEG, April 21, Canadian Press. — Although an optimistic report was received from Brandon, where the Assinaboine River is reported to have receded about nine inches last evening, there was no general sign of relief for the settlers affected by the overflowing of the Assinaboine and its tributaries, extending frm Winnipeg westward, as far as the Qu'Appelle Valley, in eastern Saskatchewan.

SEEDING OUTLOOK IN WEST FAIRLY BRIGHT

WINNIPEG, April 21 (Canadian Press). — "There is no reason for anyone to be pessimistic of the seeding outlook in the West," the Free Press says this morning, in publishing a summary of the reports received from fifty points in the Prairie Provinces which were "obtained with the view of allaying the very natural anxiety being felt in business circles, both West and East, as to the Western seeding being late."

The replies indicate that there will be a very large amount of wheat seeded in all the Provinces by 30th April.

MARRIAGE TERMINATES LINDSAY COURT CASE

LINDSAY, April 21. — A police Court Case which culminated in the performance of a marriage ceremony occupied the attention of County Police Magistrate Jordan's court at Haliburton, on Thursday.

The charge of seduction was preferred against an eighteen year old youth by the parents of a sixteen year old girl. The case occupied the attention of the court for a greater portion of the day, and at the request of T. J. Carley, of Fenelon Falls, counsel for the defendant, the court was adjourned until 7.30 o'clock in the evening. In the interval Rev. Mr. Belknap, Methodist clergyman, united the young couple in marriage. When court resumed the marriage was announced, and the young man was allowed to go on suspended sentence. The parents of the young people are highly respected.

Pocock to Appear Before Commission.

LONDON, Ont., April 21.—(Canadian Press).—Phillip Pocock, of the Public Utilities Commission, has been invited to appear before the Gregory Commission.

At a meeting of the Municipal Electrical Association at Hamilton two weeks ago, a resolution was passed asking the Government to hand over the affairs of the Ontario Hydro Commission to the various municipalities involved. Mr. Pocock supported the resolution, and now the Commission desires to know why he favors such a plan.

Mr. Pocock accepted the invitation extended by the chairman of the Commission, W. D. Gregory, and will leave for Toronto on Wednesday.

FRENCH PEOPLE WITH GOVT. IN THE OCCUPATION OF THE RUHR

People Are Habitually Patriotic and in This Enterprise Any Opposition to it is Witheld.

PRESS OPINION

(By ERNEST M. HEMINGWAY)
Special to The Examiner, registered

PARIS, April 21.—What do the French people think about the Ruhr and the whole German question? You will not find out by reading the French press.

French newspapers sell their news columns just as they do their advertising space. It is quite open and understood. As a matter of fact it is not considered very chic to advertise in the small advertising section of a French daily. The news item is supposed to be the only real way of advertising.

So the government pays the newspapers a certain amount to print government news. It is considered government advertising and every big French daily like the Matin, Petit Parisian, Echo de Paris, L'Intransigeant, Le Temps, receives a regular amount in subsidy for printing government news. Thus the government is the newspapers' biggest advertising client. The railroads are the next biggest. But that is all the news on anything the government is doing that the readers of the paper get.

Pays Extra For Special News.

When the government has any special news, as it has at such a time as the occupation of the Ruhr, it pays the papers extra. If any of these enormously circulated daily papers refuse to print the government news or criticize the government standpoint the government withdraws their subsidy—and the paper loses its biggest advertiser. Consequently the big Paris dailies are always for the government, any government that happens to be in.

When one of them refuses to print the news furnished by the government and begins attacking its policy you may be sure of one thing. That it has not accepted the loss of its subsidy without receiving the promise of a new one and a substantial advance, from some government that it is absolutely sure will get into power shortly. And it has to be awfully sure it is coming off before turns down its greatest client. Consequently when one of these papers whose circulation mounts into millions starts an attack on the government it is time for the politicians in power to get out their overshoes and put up the storm windows.

All of these things are well known and accepted facts. The government's attitude is that the newspapers are not in business for their health and that they must pay for the news they get like any other advertiser. The newspapers have confirmed the government in this attitude.

News Written in Foreign Office

Le Temps is always spoken of as "semi-official." That means that the first column on the first page is written in the foreign office at the Quai D'Orsay, the rest of the columns are at the disposal of the various governments of Europe. A sliding scale of rates handles them. Unimportant governments can get space cheap. Big governments come high. All European governments have a special fund for newspaper publicity that does not have to be accounted for.

This sometimes leads to amusing incidents, as a year ago when the facts were published showing how the Temps was receiving subsidy for running propaganda from two different Balkan governments who were at loggerheads and printing the despatches as their own special correspondence on alternate days. No matter how idealistic European politics may be a trusting idealist is about as safe in their machinery as a blind man stumbling about in a saw mill. One of my best friends was in charge of getting British propaganda printed in the Paris press at the close of the war. He is as sincere and idealistic a man as one could know. —but he certainly knows where the buzz saws are located and how the furnace is stoked.

Public Opinion Backs Occupation

In spite of the fact that great Paris dailies, which are so widely quoted in the States and Canada as organs of public opinion, say that the people of France are solidly backing the occupation of the Ruhr, it is nevertheless true. France always backs the government in anything it does against a foreign foe once the government has started. It is that really wonderful patriotism of the French. All Frenchmen are patriotic—and nearly all Frenchmen are politicians. But the absolute backing of the government only lasts a certain length of time. Then after his white heat has cooled the Frenchman looks the situation over, the facts begin to circulate around, he discovers that the occupation is hot a success—and overthrows the government. The Frenchman feels he must be absolutely loyal to his government but that he can overthrow it and get a new government to be loyal to at any time.

Marshal Foch, for example, was opposed to the Ruhr occupation. He washed his hands of it absolutely. But once it was launched he did not come out against it. He sent Gen. Weygand, his chief of staff, to oversee it and do the best he could. But he does not wish to be associated with it in any way.

Similarly Loucher, the former minister of the liberated regions, and one of the ablest men in France, opposed the occupation. Loucheur is a man who does not mince words. During the period when France was pouring out money for reconstruction with seemingly no regard as to how it was spent or for what, Loucheur did all he could to control it. It was Loucheur who told the mayor of Rheims: "Monsieur, you are asking exactly six times the cost of this reconstruction."

Loucheur Against Opposition

A few days ago M. Loucheur said to me in conversation, "I was always opposed to the occupation. It is impossible to get any money that way. But now that they have gone in, now that the flag of France is unfurled, we are all Frenchmen and we must loyally support the occupation."

M. Andre Tardieu, who headed the French mission to the United States during the war and is Clemenceau's lieutenant, opposed the advance into the Ruhr in his paper, the Echo National, up until the day it started. Now he is denouncing it as ill run, badly managed, wishy washy and not strong enough. M. Tardieu, who looks like a bookmaker, foresees the failure of the present government with the failure of the occupation but he wants to be in a position to catch the reaction in the bud and say: "Give us a chance at it. Let us show that properly handled it can be a success." For M. Tardieu is a very astute politician and that is very nearly his only chance of getting back into power for some time.

Eduard Herriot, mayor of Lyons, a member of cabinet during the war, and dark horse candidate for next premier of France, after supporting the occupation in the same way that Loucheur is doing, has now sponsored a resolution in the Lyons city council protesting the occupation and demanding consideration of a financial and economic entente with Germany. This demand of Herriot may be the first puff of the wind that is bound to rise and blow the Poincare government out of power.

Why Are They Opposed?

Now why are these, and many other intelligent Frenchmen, opposed to the occupation although they want to get every cent possible from Germany? It is simply because of the way it is going. It is losing France money instead of making it and from the start it was seen by the longheaded financiers that it would only cripple Germany's ability to pay further reparations, unite her as a country and reflame her hatred against France—and cost more money than it would ever get out.

Before the occupation a train of twelve or more cars of coal or coke left the Ruhr for France every twenty-eight minutes. Now there are only two trains a day. A train of twelve cars now is split up into four trains to pad the figures and make the occupation look successful.

When there is a shipment of coal to be gotten out, four or five tanks, a battalion of infantry, and fifty workmen go and do the job. The soldiers are to prevent the inhabitants beating up the workmen. The official figures on the amount of coal and coke that has been exported from the Ruhr and the money that has already been given by the chamber of deputies for the first months of the occupation show that the coal France was receiving on her reparations account is now costing her a little over $200 a ton. And she isn't getting the coal.

The Labor Problem

At the start of the occupation certain correspondents wrote that it would be easy for France to run the Ruhr profitably, as she would have to do would be to bring in cheap labor—Italian or Polish labor is always cheap—and just get the stuff out. The other day I saw some of this cheap labor locked in a car at the Gare du Nord bound for Essen. They were a miserable lot of grimy unfit looking men, the sort that could not get work in France or anywhere else. They were all drunk, some shouting, some asleep on the floor of the car, some sick. They looked more like a shanghaied ship's crew than anything else. And they were all going to be paid double wages and work half time under military protection. No workmen will go into the Ruhr for less than double wages—and it has been almost impossible to get workmen for that. The Poles and Italians will not touch the job. If you want any further information on the way it works out economically ask any business man, or any street railway head who has ever had a strike, how much money his corporation made during the time it was employing strike breakers.

Now that we have seen in a quick glance the forces that are at work in France in this war after the war, the situation of France, and the views of her people, we can next look at Germany.

WANT BETTER SCHOOL FACILITIES IN LANG AND KEENE SECTIONS

Meeting Last Night at Lang Requested Trustees to Consider Joint Plan for Advanced Work

DR. KARR SPOKE

There was a large attendance at the school meeting held in the Community Hall at Lang last night. The Lang school section was well represent and there were representatives there from at least three of the adjoining sections. Keen interest was manifested in the questions under discussion.

The schools at Lang and Keene are both overcrowded and there is no provision at either for work beyond the entrance examination. The purpose of the meeting was to consider means of overcoming these difficulties. Addresses were delivered by Dr. Karr, of the Department of Education, Toronto, and School Inspector Lees. After considerable discussion a resolution was passed advising that the trustees of the various sections interested get together and consider the possibility of devising some joint plan for the carrying on of more advanced school work in the district.

The chair was occupied by Mr. Samuel Armstrong, who opened the meeting by expressing his gratification at seeing so large and representative a gathering. He spoke of the necessity for some educational facilities for country children beyond the entrance examination, pointing out that when children from the country go to the cities to attend school, they get the city ideals and point of view and are lost to the country.

Four Solutions.

He then called on Dr. Karr, who, after briefly outlining the situation, pointed out that there were four possible solutions:

1. For the trustees at Lang or Keene, or both to secure temporary accommodation and establish fifth form classes. The teacher in this room would have the fourth book classes and those that had passed the entrance examination along with any others that might be deemed fit for the fifth form. He went into the question of cost and showed that the additional grants would just about meet the salary of the additional teacher, and so the section would have to meet only the cost of providing and maintaining equipment and buildings.

Continuation School.

2. A continuation school could be established in one or other of the sections. In this school the whole time of at least one teacher would be given to high school work. This would meet the needs of the whole district so far as the higher work was concerned but would not relieve the congestion in the present schools. It was pointed out that the grants would be about $900, paid half by the Government and half by the county. If the number of pupils coming from outside the county were such that their proportion of the cost of maintenance was greater than the amount of the county grant, the county would be required to make up the difference.

3. Two or more sections might combine in the establishment of a continuation school, under the same conditions as outlined under 2, in which case the school would be financed by the combined sections instead of by one.

Consolidated School.

4. A consolidated school might be established taking in two or more of the sections. Dr. Karr used for illustration a consolidation of two sections, Nos. 2 and 5, and pointed out that for them a two-room school would be sufficient. It would cost about $10,000, of which the Government would pay $6,000. The balance on a twenty-year debenture would cost one and a quarter mills on the assessment of the section. He also gave an estimate of the cost of maintenance and transportation of pupils. It was shown that, after deducting the grants, this would require a levy of slightly over three mills. The advantages were that the people would have improved public school facilities and the privilege of at least two years of high school education right at home. It might cost a little more than was being paid at present, but when one goes to buy a suit of clothes or a piece of agricultural machinery he does not choose the cheapest but that which will give the best return for the money paid. Why should we not do the same thing in the matter of schools.

After some brief remarks by Inspector Lees on the advantages of consolidated schools, a general discussion took place which resulted in the resolution outlined above.

At the close of the meeting the various trustees present got together and decided to meet at Lang next Friday for the purpose of considering the situation in accordance with the decision of the meeting as expressed in the resolution.

"THE WOODLAND PRINCESS"

The pupils of the Collegiate Institute who presented the comic operetta, "The Woodland Princess" at the Grand Opera House last evening, under the auspices of the Literary Society of the school, had a crowded house for the opening night.

Arranged and directed by Mr. Martin Chenhall, A.R.C.O., the charming play, with its fairy-tale atmosphere, gave an excellent opportunity to the various members of the cast to display their dramatic ability.

Songs, chorus and dances make pretty interlude in the action of the operetta, whose story involves a Royal Prince and a Woodcutter's daughter, in her home within a deep wood. Although Elsa is very homely, the Prince wishes to marry her, but the Lord High Betrothal-Maker objects. However, the kind Fairy and her helpers come to Elsa's rescue and transform her quickly into a beautiful Princess.

The costumes and staging were particularly pleasing. The two acts are very prettily set, the first, a garden scene where a crowd of merry courtiers gather and practise their court dance, a graceful thing of stately, slow movements and deep bows that received a hearty encore. The girls in their long, figured Kate Greenaway dresses, with high waists and a bertha collars, their poke hats and demure faces, make a charming picture as they curtesy to their attendant cavaliers, gentlemen in long velvet coats and knee breeches, lace ruffles and flashing shoe-buckles and powdered perukes. A little detail that added much to the stately gallants' appearance was the flowing shoulder-knot of long ribbon streamers.

The second set has real cedar trees to make it real in atmosphere.

King Thurshbeard, a tall merry monarch, who has an addled head and an appetite for jokes, is a talk figure in mile green suit with crown of gold and red velvet and huge flowering black moustaches. Martin Chenhall takes this part, and, with his royal spouse, succeeds in injecting a little life into the proceedings on every apearance. Audrey Lacheur plays Queen Zola,—a shrewish dame in purple velvet with long train and crown slightly askew. She gives a good characterization in clear voice of the dominant lady who rules everyone in sight. Ernest Legon is Prince Mimblepeg, a romantic figure in brown brocade and pink velvet; and Helen Lamb is the heroine, Elsa, the black-cloaked little creature who undergoes a metamorphosis at the kindly fairies' hands and emerges like a butterfly in glittering white robes. Farron Stevens is very good as Fizzletop, the Court Chamberlain, who suffers dreadfully with his nerves, and wears a monocle and tiny black imperial, especially clever enactment is that of Ian Munro as Dozey, the royal secretary, who yawns as "infectuously". He sports a horizontal black mustache and carries a bell to keep him self awake.

The Betrothal Maker.

Baron Insomnia, the Lord High Betrothal Maker, is a huge gentleman with fierce black eyebrows, opera glasses and a plentiful, pointed beard. He strives to keep the courtiers awake, with a loud voice and an electric atmosphere, and generally bosses the job .Donald Sanderson takes this role in excellent form.

Pleasing Interlude.

A particularly pleasing interlude is the arrival of the gypsy band, in their bright red shirts and black velvet jackets ,their yellow sashes and scarlet head-bands, with tinkling bangles and tambourines that add color and sound to their pretty dance. Their queen, Sheila Thomson, leads the graceful, lithg movement in nimble, sure-footed fashion that brings much applause.

A lovely figure is that of the good Fairy, enacted by Alma Blanchard, who sings prettily and wears a long white robe with flowing angel sleeves and tinsel crown. She summons the flower fairies, dainty, ethereal creatures in rustling paper frocks of rainbow tints. In turn they come, youthful, fresh-voiced spirits, in their shimmering hues, and help to transform Elsa into a beautiful girl. The poppies come first, in red and black with flat hats and slumber bugs, then the dandelions, bright yellow panniers over their green and yellow shirts, with green tops and yellow hose. The wild roses, whose rose-clad leader, Irene Breckenridge, does a graceful dance, are lovely in petalled frocks of pale pinks and yellows, with pointed green bodices and fluted neck ruffles.

The hardy, lusty-footed gnomes, who help to carve out Elsa's classical features are a brown-clothed group, with tight, shining suits and pointed caps. Their leader, Dindlebender, is a hearty soul with a deep voice, played in fine form by Harry Northrop. The gleaming Water Sprite, who rises from her forest pools in filmy green draperies is Ida McBridge, Gwen Kelly and Grace Wilson are the two flirtatious ladies-in-waiting, Lulu and Lolo.

Disease Germs Doomed

Many have lost terrors for the Scientist

The progress of recent years in medical research is little short of marvellous. Daily, science kills germs by the million. Daily, new ones are being discovered, isolated and exterminated by the march of medicine.

Science is winning. What were once regarded as serious diseases are now laughed out of countenance by the doctors. Fearlessly they plunge naked hands into swarms of them, their only precaution being to rinse their hands afterwards with a reliable germicidal preparation. We are witnessing the birth of an era when the world will have little to fear from microbes.

Absorbine Jr., besides being the all-purpose liniment that removes pain and soreness, and hastens healing, is a powerful antiseptic that is death to the microbe world.

Absorbine Jr., is just what is needed in the house in case of accidents and to correct the many little household hurts that constantly occur. $1.25, at your druggist.

Three years in bed until he took the wonderful Fruit Medicine

Lorne, Ont.

"For over three years, I was confined to bed with Rheumatism. During that time, I had treatment from a number of doctors and tried nearly everything I saw advertised for Rheumatism, without receiving any benefit.

Finally I decided to try "Fruit-a-tives"; and before I had used half a box, I noticed an improvement; the pain was not as severe and the swelling started to go down. I continued taking them, improving all the time.

I can now walk about two miles and am able to do light chores around the place".

Around the Clock With the Ex-Kaiser

By FERDINAND C. M. JAHN

DOORN (By mail to United Press). —The ex-kaiser is an early riser. Invariably, winter and summer, the former German emperor gets up at 6 a.m.

His valet assists in dressing Wilhelm because of his lame arm, whereafter the kaiser takes his morning constitutional, inspects carefully the weather and jots down a few notes on meteorological conditions.

At 8 o'clock the ex-kaiser joins his wife for a light breakfast. Incidentally it may be mentioned that everything is done with military punctuality—eight o'clock meaning eight o'clock and not two minutes after. At breakfast Wilhelm looks over his mail and the latest newspapers.

At 9 o'clock the court physician presents himself for the treatment the ex-kaiser has to undergo every day on account of the old deficiency in his left ear. In this ear the ex-kaiser is almost deaf.

After this Wilhelm goes to the woodyard where he gets his exercise. The doctor is usually required to assist him, and if able-bodied guests are about the palace, they, too, are made to lend a hand. This exercise takes about two hours.

During this interval his wife, Hermine, takes a walk into the village accompanied by her two daughters, while the one boy who is with her in Doorn studies. The children are dressed very plainly and would never be taken for "royalty." Hermine takes this opportunity to do a little personal shopping. She is greeted in a friendly manner wherever she goes.

Luncheon is at 1 o'clock. The so-called "superior staff," consisting of the chamberlain and one lady in attendance, assist. After luncheon the ex-kaiser goes to bed—taking a very substantial nap, which lasts two and sometimes three hours.

At 5 o'clock tea is served. After tea Wilhelm does some writing and reading, making notes for his literary studies. At 7 o'clock the ex-kaiser takes a hot bath after which he dresses in a general's uniform for dinner at 8 o'clock. Everybody is expected to wear either uniform or eveing dress.

Hermine usually wears a beautiful gown of mauve or old rose—the favorite colors of the ex-kaiser.

After dinner the company remains together, the ex-kaiser very often reading from his notes or an interesting article in some magazine. At half-past ten the guests retire and at 11 o'clock the imperial couple go to bed. The ex-kaiser has been forced to give up his usual night reading, sitting up until one or two in the morning, because his wife believes he requires more sleep.

Salvation Army to Bring Settlers.

LONDON, April 21. — (Canadian Press).—The Salvation Army yesterday signed an agreement with the Duke of Devonshire, Colonial Secretary, giving effect to schemes designed to encourage settlement overseas under Salvation Army auspices. Classes affected are single women, widows with families, boys and orphans.

A second party of boys are sailing for Canada next week. Their successors in the camp here are already training, and a fourth party also has been selected.

Commissioner Lamb sails to-day for Canada to advance the settlement scheme with the Canadian Government.

SERIES 23 STUDEBAKER LIGHT-SIX TOURING CAR - $1375

"Built-in-Canada"

Studebaker

500,000,000 Miles of Service

More than one hundred thousand owners know the sturdiness of Studebaker Light-Six construction. They know that it is powerful and economical, because their Light-Sizes have conclusively demonstrated these qualities in more than 500,000,000 miles of service.

The Studebaker Light-Six is built to stand up. The touring car body is constructed entirely of steel, and like the chassis, is made to withstand hard service. And the Light-Six is unusual for its economy—27 world-wide tests having established an average fuel consumption of 26.9 miles to the gallon.

The value of the Light-Six is high, because it is manufactured complete by Studebaker, thereby eliminating parts-makers' profits.

You can feel secure in the purchase of a Light-Six—because of its proved dependability and economy—and because it is backed by Studebaker's 71-year-old reputation for honest value and fair dealing.

New steel body. Upholstered in genuine leather. One-piece windshield with attractive cowl lights set in base. Quick-action cowl ventilator. Curtains, bound on three sides by steel rods, open with doors. Thief-proof transmission lock. Standard non-skid cord tires.

BADGERS' NEW FOOTBALL COACH STARTS PRACTICE

MADISON, Wis., April 18.—Favored by a nucleus of veteran gridiron stars and the confidence of the university student body, Coach John J. (Jack) Ryan, Wisconsin's new football mentor, is entering upon the spring season with the assurance that he has the basis for a strong team next season.

Ryan has come to Wisconsin as the Badgers' first full-time football coach, after a rapid turn-over of part-time coaches had convinced the athletic authorities that the task of developing an eleven was an all-year job. Fifty men have responded to his call for spring training activities.

Ryan came here to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of John R. Richards, who developed successful teams during the last six years. Ryan is a former Dartmouth backfield star, and had for the last year been assistant coach at Dartmouth. Formerly he coached at Marquette University, Milwaukee and St. Thomas College, St. Paul.

To build up a strong Wisconsin team in 1923, Ryan has five veterans of the line and two of the back field.

After Bill Juneau spent three years, from 1912 to 1915, attempting to build up the football standing of Wisconsin, he was replaced by Dr. Paul Withington, Harvard star, who came here with four all-American players to implant the Harvard system at Wisconsin. The result was disastrous and was climaxed by a 54 to 0 defeat at the hands of Minnesota.

The next years Richards came back. He had left in 1911 after developing material from which a championship team was turned out the next year. Wisconsin's last championship. Through six years Richards developed strong teams, but they always lost a deciding game that kept the Badgers from the championship.

Germs are so small you need a microscope to see them, and they ought to feel even smaller.

RECEIPTS

Variety of Sauces.

When Brillat Savarin, French statesmen, came to this country in the early part of the nineteenth century he made the observation that in the United States he found many churches, but only one sauce, whereas in his own country they had many sauces and but one church. To this day many people know but one sauce, gravy.

A sauce should be smooth, glossy and consistent. No lumps and no watery, thin places in it.

The thickening for sauces is either starch, as flour and cornstarch, or egg yolks. Butter is usually the fat, and in making white or brown sauces, the butter and flour are blended together and kept white or allowed to brown, depending on the sauce desired. The liquid is milk, cream or stock made from meat or fish.

A fish sauce is best made from fish stock. For boiled fish sauce use the water in which the fish was cooked as the liquid to be combined with the butter and flour. To fish sauce may be added lemon juice, chopped parsley or pickles, red and green peppers, capers, ketchup, chile sauce, and hard-boiled eggs or raw yolks of eggs.

For brown sauces the best flavor is obtained by cooking the vegetables, especially the onion, in the butter or fat used.

A sauce should be stirred often, and at the end vigorously. It is best strained, no matter how smooth it may seem to be.

A good proposition is two tablespoons (level) of butter and the same of flour to a cup of liquid.

Egg sauce are either hot of cold. If hot, the eggs are combined with butter and some acid and cooked over water. If cold the egg yolks are blended with salad oil, and the sauce is not cooked. The first is Hollandaise; the second is mayonnaise.

With more than 300,000 aliens listed in Paris, there is one foreigner to every nine Frenchmen residing in the capital. Belgians lead with 56,500 followed by Italian, 41,000; Swiss, 30,000; British, 27,000; Americans, 25,000; Russians 23,500; Spanish, 14,500; Poles 10,000 and Germans 2000.

Farm Strikers Are Coming to Canada.

LONDON, April 21. — (Canadian Press). — Owing to the strike of agricultural workers in Norfolk, a party of twenty-five farm laborers from that county sailed for Canada yesterday on the steamer Montcalm, which carries over 1,300 settlers.

Ten wireless experts sent by the British Government sailed on the Montcalm to carry out experiments between Vancouver and Fiji, a distance of six thousand miles.

It is stated that altogether fully five thousand passengers are going to Canada and the United States aboard four liners leaving the Clyde this week-end.

SALONIKA RECOVERING FORMER PROSPERITY

SALONIKA, Greece, April 18. — While other parts of Greece have been suffering from the economic blight and commercial stagnation engendered by the disastrous Asia Minor military campaign, Salonika has been making remarkable strides toward regaining the prosperity and prestige it enjoyed before the war. The city where Paul first preached the gospel to the unbelievers is fast becoming one of the most important ports in the Near East.

Three factors have contributed to this. The destruction by fire of Smyrna has diverted a considerable part of the traffic of that once great port to Salonika, which is only 30 hours distant. Then the recent agreement between Greece and Jugoslavia, by which the latter country is given a free commercial outlet at Salonika, has given a distinct impetus to the import and export business of the city. The third element in Salonika's commercial rehabilitation is the vigorous work of the residents in reconstructing the city, which was laid waste by fire in 1918. Whole blocks of modern business buildings, hotels, warehouses, garages and cinema houses are springing up, seemingly overnight.

Greece and Jugoslavia are now working in the closest economic and political harmony. This is due principally to the policy of the present revolutionary government in Athens in adopting the former Venezelist attitude toward Jugoslavia, which always was based upon the most friendly relations with the Serbs. The commercial convention by which Jugoslavia is given customs and administrative control of Salonika while that city remains under the sovereignty of Greece, will be of vast benefit to both countries. Greece is assured of the fullest military and moral support from Jugoslavia in the event of aggression from Greece's troublesome neighbors, Turkey and Bulgaria. For the first time in centuries Jugoslavia will have free access to the Aegean Sea. This will give her direct trade routes to the markets of Europe and is of vital importance to the Serbs, as their only other ports are small and inaccessible towns on the Dalmatian coast.

PALE FACES AND WORN OUT NERVES

Due Solely to Weak, Watery Blood —A Tonic is Needed.

Anaemia — literally impoverished blood—comes on so stealthily that it is often well advanced before its presence is recognized. Feeling of fatigue and discomfort are the earliest manifestations of the trouble and these are seldom taken seriously. Gradually small tasks become an effort and exertion causes the heart to palpitate violently. The complexion becomes sallow or pale and there is loss of weight. The nerves grow weak and the victim displays irritability under slight provocation and is extremely sensitive to noise. The appetite is fickle and indigestion often follows.

A condition of anaemia calls for a tonic, one that will enrich the blood and strengthen the nerves, and for this purpose there is nothing can equal Dr. Williams Pink Pills. These pills give the blood all those missing elements necessary to give strength to the nerves, color to the cheeks, and nourishment to starved organs and tissues. Miss Margaret J. Fraser, R.R. 2, Thessalon, Ont., has proved the value of this treatment. She says: "I was very pale and weak. My blood was poor and I was very nervous. I lost my appetite, my feet and ankles were swollen and I was in a very miserable condition. A friend advised me to try Dr. Williams Pink Pills and I got two boxes, and found before they were finished that they were helping me. I continued the pills until I had taken a half dozen boxes, with the result that I am now enjoying the best of health, all symptons having disappeared. I feel confident that what Dr. Williams Pills did for me they will do for others, if given a fair trial."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SOUTHARD IN REPORT AFFIRMS PALESTINE HAS BRIGHT FUTURE.

Unfair to Convert an Optimistic Statement About Holy Land Into Gloomy Picture.

NEW YORK, April 19.—(Associated Press).—The Zionist Organization of America has pointed out that a recent story concerning the rebirth of Palestine, based largely upon an incomplete review of a survey issued last December by Addison E. Southard, American Consul at Jerusalem, in effect turned an optimistic statement into a gloomy picture and thus was unfair both to the consul and the Zionist movement.

Access has since been had to the full report of 66 pages, and it appears that the American consul made a most interesting contribution to the movement being carried on by the Jews who are referred to as "one of the most active and virile commercial races in the world." Following is a summary made from the full report of Mr. Southard to the Department of Commerce:

Writing in a conservative manner, and in the customary formal style of a consular report, Consul Southard expresses in his survey a most encouraging view of the future of Palestine. After referring to the fact that Palestine at present does not offer great commercial attractions, he confidently speaks of "the assured development of its splendid opportunities as an entrepot in trade between the markets of the Occident and those lying between the Euphrates and the Mediterranean on the one side, and those of the newly awakened districts of northwestern Arabia on the other side. Palestine will serve as a trading base for a probable total of more than three million people in the district indicated. Within the boundaries of Palestine the population will be appreciably increased each year by immigration made up mainly by adult individuals from central and eastern Europe, who are much more advanced as potential consumers of foreign manufactured goods than are the people who, as a whole, (referring to the Arabs) make up the present population of the country."

Consul Southard's optimistic views seems largely to be based on confidence in the Zionist movement, for he writes that "the main factor in the commercial rebirth of Palestine is the sentimental and material attention it is receiving from one of the most activg and virile races of the world (the Jews) which appears determined to spare no effort in making the best of every economic possibility which the country possesses." Of the Arabs he then says: "The majority population of the country, which is of Arabic origin, is not in a position to provide financial capital to any great extent, but it will supply a valuable capital of certain physical and mental virility which should react mightily to the various economic factors that will probably be set in motion."

Elaborating his views of Palestine as a great future trade centre, Consul Southard declares: "With improved communication assured, it (Palestine) will command the trade of some millions of people in northern Arabia; of that wonderful grain district south of Damascus, and known as the Hauran; and of other parts of southern Syria shut off by the Lebanons from the Syrian port of Beirut, which includes Damascus and its rich caravan trade extending even further into the district of the Euphrates.

Mr. Southard predicts a great future for Haifa, referring to it as the proposed terminus of an oilpipe line from Mesopotamia, of its being the Mediterranean port of the Hedjas railway and of railway connection with Damascus, and having the "most favorable harbor possibilities on the long Syrian coast south of Alexandretta." The construction of proper harbor facilities at Haifa, Southard indicates as "perhaps the most important factor influencing the development of Palestine's foreign commerce."

The economic rehabilitation of Palestine, according to this survey "depends largely upon the fullest possible development of its agricultural resources." Mr. Southard gives the area of Palestine having "definite agricultural possibilities" as over two-thirds, or over three million acres. But even the rest of Palestine he does not regard as being altogether hopeless, referring to it merely as capable of "little" and "questionable" agricultural possibilities. He points to irrigation and hydro-electric power as the most important means for the rehabilitation of the land.

Referring to the Rutenberg Plan (which he does not mention by name), Mr. Southard states that the concession "has already been tentatively given to a Jewish engineer. The actual beginning of this project is indefinite, but as it is seriously considered and would be of inestimable value in the economic upbuilding of Palestine, there is a possibility that actual construction will be under way in two or three years." As the major part of the funds—two million pounds sterling—for the concession is expected from the United States, Mr. Southard anticipates the purchase in America of the corresponding part of the equipment to be used.

Mr. Southard concedes a possibly good future for cotton-raising in the event of irrigation. Although he does not treat the Jewish colonies especially, he refers to them in a very favorable manner in several places, giving them credit for the development of orange-growing. He speaks of the present and future development of almonds, grapes, wheat, barley, olives, tobacco and fruits, in a highly favorable manner. The soap industry is regarded as of great potential importance, as are also the silk and drug industries and carpet weaving.

Mr. Southard dwells at several points on the scarcity of capital, asserting that inability to secure long-term notes has most seriously affected agricultural development, not to speak of industrial enterprises. "Palestine is poor in capital," he bluntly asserts. As high as 15 per he declares, opportunities in Palestine for American products. In 1913, it is stated, the imports from America were valued at $291,990. For the fiscal year ended March 31, 1921, United States imports reached $1,990,504, and Southard predicts much greater and ever-increasing opportunities with the growing immigration into the country. He urges American business men to take advantage of the opportunities. Total imports from all countries amounted to 820,866,892 in the fiscal year ended March, 1921.

The survey refers in unusually complimentary terms to the efficiency and satisfaction rendered by the courts as well as the Palestine Government under Sir Herbert Samuel, which he says, "functions very efficiently." "With the new form of government instituted in 1918, Palestine gives every promise of a gradual process of economic expansion."

SLEUTH BRIBED NOT TO ARREST IN LIQUOR CASE

NEW YORK, April 21.—Commissioner of Accounts Hirshfield's challenge to the public to come forward and tell of a single incident of police liquor grafting was met in stirring fashion at the Commissioner's inquiry, when a woman accused a detective to his face of having demanded and received $600 from her.

The woman, keeper of a sailors' boarding house, named and indentified Robert McAllister of the Headquarters Staff assigned to enforce the State prohibition law. In a stormy session, marked by a tumult of accusation, denial and incrimination she stuck to her story, giving time and place and insisting that the bribe was handed over in consideration that she be spared the shame of arrest.

She swore that when McAllister and his fellow-detectives descended upon her boarding house she gave him the money—all she had—after he had demanded $1,000, and that in return McAllister arrested her brother instead of herself and promised that the case would "not amount to much."

Mrs. Mary Castro, the day's sensational witness, was mistress of herself and of the situation. When Commissioner Hirshfield scoffed at her story and said that no sane man would believe it, she took an oath on her God and the lives of her children.

McAllister, leaping from the chair where he sat with other members of his squad, hearing all the testimony, characterized the charge as "a lie and a frame up." Mrs. Castro insisted upon questioning the detective when he in turn took the stand, and she brandished the word "lie" as vociferously as did he.

When he was asked how he accounted for the accusations McAllister cried: "Judge Corrigan has it in for me because I arrested a woman who said she was his niece."

Magistrate Joseph E. Corrigan, whose charges of bootleg grafting on the part of the police were partially responsible for Mayor Hylan's order for the investigation, said last evening that he had no niece over 14 years old and that neither of them—the youngest is 1 year old—has ever been in New York. The woman was sailing under false colors if she pretended to any relationship or even acquaintanceship, Magistrate Corrigan asserted.

Police Stories Tally.

Five of McAllister's brother policemen who accompanied him on the raid at Mrs. Castro's house corroborated his testimony and declared that no money had been passed. All of them told the same story as McAllister, even to minor details. Most of them said that McAllister was in their sight during their entire stay in the house and that no money could have passed without their knowledge. The case was adjourned.

Industrial Disputes Act is Amended.

OTTAWA, April 21. — (Canadian Press).—A bill to amend the Industrial Disputes Act received its third reading in the House yesterday.

Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, explained that one of the changes made by the bill was introduced to facilitate application for boards of investigation. In the past it had often been claimed that committees could not make the necessary application because it was impossible to bring about negotiations between employers and employees. It was proposed to arrange facilities for a board in case the committee took the stand that it had been impossible to secure a conference.

It was also proposed to place on one of the parties to the dispute the obligation for applying for the Board. In the past employer and employees have both hesitated to make the move, and the bill, said the Minister, embodied an attempt to fix responsibility.

The party seeking the change would have to ask for a board.

Forest Reserve Act to Be Amended.

OTTAWA, April 21. — (Canadian Press).—A bill to amend the Dominion Forest Reserves and Parks Act received its second reading in the House of Commons yesterday. Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, explained that lands in the Western Provinces were withdrawn under the bill from forest reserves where they were considered of agricultural value. In other cases certain additions had been made to the reserves. In the Riding Mountain Forest, Manitoba, the district situated near Clear Lake, formerly withdrawn for the Soldier Settlement Board, was returned to reserve purposes as it had not been found suitable for settlement.

PETERBORO TEAM WON IN LINDSAY

Local C. N. R. Softballers Proved Too Good For Their Scugogville Comrades-in-Arms.

The local C.N.R. soft ballers may occupy a position near the bottom of the list as far as the Peterboro league is concerned but they are still fast enough to trim Lindsay's C.N.R. aggregation They turned the trick on Thursday evening in the Lindsay Armouries with a score of 14 to 12. An exceptionally large crowd was on hand and keen interest was taken in the game.

The teams were playing under decided handicaps. The Lindsay team has played only three games this season and the fact that they played under different rules than the Petes and on a much larger diamond kept the local boys from showing to their best advantage.

The Petes outhit Lindsay and came through strong in the pinches. In the early part of the game Lindsay was left far behind in the scoring but staged two great rallies in the seventh and eighth to tie the score making it 12 to 12. In the ninth however a walk and two singles sent two Peterboor men across while Lindsay was held scoreless. McMillan for the locals and R. E Oke for the Lindsay team both pitched stellar ball as the score indicates. Williams of Lindsay and Prindible of Peterboro were the umpires.

COBOURG BASEBALL.

COBOURG, April 21.—The Grand Trunk Baseball team, champions last year of the Cobourg Town League are going in for baseball this season with apparently the same amount of enthusiasm. At a well-attended meeting, the following officers were elected:

Hon. President—F. W. Baker.
President—W. J .Corbett.
Vice-Pres.—J. H. LaFay.
2nd Vice-Pres.—H. Moore.
Secretary-Treas.—W. B. Bulger.
Manager—Kent Payne.
Executive Committee—M. J. McEntie, Foy Baker, E J. Wormington, J. G. McNabb, D. Wagner, Gerald Baker, R. K. Cooke.
Representative to Town League—Kent Payne or M. J. McEntee.

The Grand Trunks will again enter the Town League and make a strenuous effort to land the championship.

Cobourg expects to have an enthusiastic Town League this season. There will be at least four teams, as all of last years teams are expected to enter. An all-star Juvenile team has applied for admission and team from the Rice Lake Canoe Company is suggested.

Two Lakefield Teams Started the Season Going Yesterday — Tennis and Softball Proposed.

The ball season opened here yesterday afternoon with a scratch game barely a week after the last of the curling. Dr. Smith's team defeated G. G. Connell's by 12 to 11 in a game that was as close as the score indicates The players engaged without their positions were as follows:

Connell's— L. Sabatino, C. S. Tanner, B. Blewett, G .G. Connell, S Sutton, Dr. Kennedy, L. Lawless and E. Morin.

Smith's—J. Hull, E. Northey, Dr. Smith, Vaudal Simpson, J. J. McFadden, F Erskine, W. Webster, S. Sherin and H. Stabler.

Umpires—J. R. Hill and H. Wagar.

Talking Tennis.

Tennis is expected to start with a bang at the organization meeting called for next Tuesday An increased membership is expected as a result of the interest that has been recently displayed by those who are promoting the club. A soft ball league on lines similar to the Lakefield and District hockey league of recent memory is also mooted, and from all the present indications summer sports should flourish here this season.

Football

A special meeting of the P.D. & F.A. will be held on Monday evening in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. The meeting will start promptly at 8 o'clock and all directors and club representatives are requested to attend.

Bill Creasy, the clever little Scottish goalie may be forced for business reason to be absent from the International game which is scheduled between England and Scotland.

Pressing For Distance The Fault of Golfers

By Mike Brady, Western Open Champion.

Golf is a jealous mistress and one of her strongest lures to lead players into disastrous temptation is to incite them to knock the cover off the ball.

If there is any department in which most golfers, new og old, like to excel, it is that of long hitting.

The beginner who attempts to hit with all his power practically forfeits his chances of becoming a good golfer. It is the rhythm of the stroke, the perfect timing, that sends the ball a long way.

You will see powerfully built men with blacksmith arms and powerful shoulders, unable to hit within yards of diminutive chaps of frail physique.

Why?

Because ten to one the big man's power is three-quarters wasted. The force of the stroke may be wasted on the back swing, or on the first part of the downward stroke.

The frail chap, through proper pivoting, supple wrists and smoothness of the swing has his club head travelling at miximum velocity when it comes in-contact with the ball.

With a smooth, rhythmic swing, you will be surprised how far the ball will go without the expenditure of every ounce of strength.

Even Abe. Mitchell, tremendous hitter that he is, usually has something "up his sleeve" for use when occasion calls for extra distance. But when he "presses," it is for a purpose, and he knows that he will be sure to hit the ball where and as he intends.

EIGHT HOMERS CHICAGO GAME

One Less Than Record Which Has Stood For Twenty-Nine Years — Hartnett and Freiberg Get Two Each.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

CHICAGO, April 21.—(Canadian Press.)—Eight home runs, one less than the world's record of 29 years ago, were made in the final game between Chicago and Pittsburgh yesterday, Chicago winning 12 to 11, when George Hartnett, recruit catcher, slammed out his second homer and crossed the plate with the winning run in the ninth.

The Cubs made six of the homers, while the Pirate gathered two. The record for home runs by two clubs in one game was made by Cincinnati and Boston in 1894, when the Braves made five and the Reds four.

MARATHON VICTOR BACK AT HIS JOB

BOSTON, April 20. — (Canadian Press.) — Clarence H. DeMar, of Melrose, victor in the United States Marathon Road Race yesterday, for the third time, was back at his printer's case yesterday with only a blistered heel as an admitted after-effect of the long grind. The feat of being first to win the event for a third time and second to win it in two successive years, both achievements coming 12 years after he had run home winner for the first time, did not leave this man of 35 years satisfied. He announced as he set type that his "running sprees" were over until fall, but that he would then begin light training for the United States' marathon of next year, with a view especially to qualifying for the United States' team that will run in the Olympic Marathon at Paris.

De Mar went home after the race Thursday, put on a pair of breeches and some thick rubber-soled shoes and went out on the sand lot to play baseball. But he had been playing only a short time when the townsfolk carried him off to City Hall, whil bells and whistles acclaimed him. He was given a bouquet of flowers.

RUTH THE HERO OF N.Y. VICTORY

His Heavy Hitting Won the Game in the Ninth Inning—St. Louis Won First Game of the Season

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

NEW YORK, April 21.— (Canadian Press.)—A stirring ninth-inning rally in which Ruth again took the hero's role yesterday, enabled the Yankees to make it three straight from Boston by a score of 4 to 3. Ruth came up in the ninth with the bases full, one out and New York needing one run for a tie.

Piercy pitched three straight balls and followed with two called strikes. Ruth then hit far over Centre Fielder Collins' head, scoring Haines and Witt.

Ruth's hitting featured the game, as he hit a triple, a double and a single, scored two of New York's runs and knocked in the other two.

Reichle, a recruit outfielder, brought in two runs for Boston in the first inning with a circuit swat. Score:

At the lunch hour, workmen employed in the repair of the golf course permitted several wheel barrows to remain on one of the fairways. Driving from the tee a player's shoot finds its resting place in a wheel barrow, where it is finally discovered after much hunting for same. What is the proper procedure in such a situation?

The player has the right to lift the ball and drop it without penalty. There is no reason why a player should suffer because of the negligence of an employe.

Has a player the right to change his club after taking his stance on the tee and addressing the ball? If he has such a right is there any penalty attached to the change of clubs?

A player has a perfect right to change clubs at any time he desires. The fact that he has taken his stance and addressed the ball makes no difference. There is no penalty attached.

Want Ad Tips by John T. Bartlett

"NEVER DONE BEFORE" WANT ADS

(By John T. Bartlett)

"I had never seen such a Want Ad before" related the advertiser, "but it seemed to me it was a good thing to say, and I said it." Results bore him out. This man had a house lot which he was reducing to street level. Most of the unneeded "land" he had sold—it was an excellent grade of gravel—to the city for street purposes. A little was left, for which, at the time, there seemed no demand.

What the advertiser put in his Want Ad was this: "Poultrykeepers, make that wet, damp poultry yard well-drained and dry, and get more eggs. Gravel it. Fine gravel for the hauling at 66 Summer St."

Poultrykeepers came and hauled away the gravel, and the advertiser's lot was level with the street, ready for building operations.

The assertion that there is nothing new under the sun does not hold for Want Ads. Every day almost some advertiser pushes ahead without precedent, and cashes in. Who was the first Want advertiser to be besieged with applicants because she put in her "room to let" Want Ad thees two words, "Radio equipped."

Historically speaking, the fact is not settled. This point is certain, though—whoever the advertiser, sensed what an appealing consideration radio equipment would be. So she used a "never done before' Want Ad, and got splendid results.

Stored away in the attic, where they had been for years, a family had a kitchen stove of a long obsolete model, and various odd pieces of old furniture. A spirit of enterprise seized the housewife. While this old stuff would not interest most town people, it would be splendid for a river-bank or mountain summer camp. So she said in a Want Ad, just at the season people were fitting out camps, "Sound and substantial, excellent for summer camps" she quickly sold the things. What a relief to have them out of the way!—and how good the cash obtained seemed!

Although she had never known it to be done before, this housewife went ahead and got Want Ad results. Her example is a good one. Use "never done before" Want Ads without hesitation. There's profit in them.

FARMERS WERE BUSY EAST O ST. THOMAS

Mr. John McIntosh saw no Signs of Activity Yesterday between London and Peterborough.

Seeding is general east of St. Thomas but between London and Peterboro none of the farmers were on the land yesterday according to Mr. John McIntosh of North Monaghan, who has just returned from Detroit and Windsor, where he spent the last two weeks. He was referring to conditions only as he could see them within visual range of the train. Mr. McIntosh went to the border with his son who is going into the real estate business in Windsor. During his stay there Mr. McIntosh was hospitably received by Chief Thompson and driven by him through the border towns.

LIFE'S DARK BACKGROUND.

It seems sometimes that much of our life is spent in filling in a dark background, but presently, after a long time, during which we have been learning lessons of patience, we suddenly come to the pattern, and a new interest is quickened within us, as we trace with our colored threads the little white snowdrops, the pale blue forget-me-nots, filling in the corners, while chains of gold connect them up and what is that traced in the centre? Why it looks like a cluster of Lilies of the Valley.

GOOD CARDS FOR BOXING TITLES

Plenty of Entries for Local Championships, and Special Bouts.

Local boxers are in good shape for the city championships at Victoria Hall on Monday and Tuesday of next week, and boxing fans will see interesting competitions. Jack McDonough and Lorne Combe will decide the city title for their class on Monday night. This bout alone is sufficient to draw a big crowd to Victoria Hall.

Several Oshawa boxers will be here to take part in special bouts, which will, of course, have no bearing on the local championships.

Entries for the championships will weigh in at Victoria Hall tonight, commencing at seven o'clock, and the draw will be made for Monday night.

MARCH OUT LOCAL VETS TOMORROW

Annual Church Parade to Church of Sacred Heart in Morning.

The Veterans march out for their annual church parade on Sunday morning, leaving the G.W.V.A. hall at 10 a.m. with the band of the Peterborough Rangers in attendance, for the Church of the Sacred Heart, where this year's anniversary services will be held.

This year, the exact date of the commencement of the Second Battle of Ypres is Sunday, April 22nd, the day eight years ago when Canadian boys held the breach, when untried lads from office and factory faced the machine-like hordes of German soldiers, faced them and fell and closed in again and again in depleted ranks, but never gave up until they conquered with the last bleeding remnants of a tiny force. It was in this battle that many brave Peterborough men fell, including the gallant Major Bennett, of unforgotten memory. To Canada and her soldier dead has been inscribed a splendid tribute by The Cleveland (Ohio) Commercial:

St. Julien's Day.

"North over the border to-day, in every community leal-hearted citizens of the Dominion are holding commemorative services for the sons of the maple leaf, lying in Flanders' fields, who held the line for liberty from April 22 to April 24 eight years ago. In proud and loving memory mothers and fathers of these heroes recall the battle of battles of the World War, in which the picked conscripts of continental Europe hurled themselves for three consecutive days on the flower of youth of Canada and in the end retired baffled, leaving on the field 10,000 dead.

"The true story of the world's salvation from militarism by that little band of stalwart souls, known as the First Canadian Division, history will tell. The battle of St. Julien was the start of a series of displays of Canadian heroism and efficiency that marked the Flanders and Picardy campaigns of the great war wherever emergency occurred, and which has added to the glory of patriotic achievement the events chronicled by the names of Festubert, Givenchy, Vimy, Cambrai and a score more.

"Untested men from farm and factory, numbering less than 10,000 had been placed between two French armies to block the enemys' determination to achieve the French channel ports. To Von Falkenhayn's command to his German troops to pulp the Canadians and break through, no matter the cost, an answer was given which ranks St. Julien with Thermopylae and The Alamo with the difference that St. Julien had her messengers of victory albeit they numbered but 400, all that was left of Canada's vanguard in the fight for civilization.

"Deserted by the Algerian corps on its left; its right bared by the retreat of the extreme eastern French wing, this pigmy army stood. Defying the repeated charges of the magnificent Prussian guard, 10 service battalions of which dissolved themselves against that unbreakable human wall, scornful alike of gas and bomb these Canadians fought for 72 hours to achieve the result their commander curtly ordered in the words: 'The line across St. Julien wood must be held. The Canadians will hold it.'

"And, when, after the three-day agony, the third British army came to the relief and the battered men of the western contingent marched out, no more inspiring sight was ever witnessed than the little army passing through infacing serried ranks of seasoned British warriors, each rigidly standing at 'the present.'

"The salute of St. Julien is Canada's forever!"

The current belief is that electric bills are shocking.

If women had better taste there would be more bachelors.

GLORIA SWANSON IS DICTATOR OF STYLES

Star of "My American Wife" Puts Ban on Hair Curls and Waves.

No more curly or wavy hair; such is Gloria Swanson's decree.

This radical dictum, coming from the Paramount star who is recognized as one of the best dressed women of the screen, is another thrust at flapper-like styles which have predominated for so long a time.

The general trend in new fashions has been towards the severe. The baby doll style of dress has given way to the more classic, dignified line. The high waist-line has dropped to the hips, or been obliterated altogether; the short skirt has been replaced by the ankle length gown; bobbed hair has become suddenly passe.

But Miss Swanson now carries the reaction one step further and takes the curl out of her hair. The curling iron and the waver have been laid on the shelf, so far as she is concerned—temporarily at least, and for her characterization of the American girl in "My American Wife" her latest starring vehicle, coming to the Capitol Theatre, next Monday she leaves her hair absolutely straight when dressing it into the various coiffures.

AT THE REGENT.

AGE-OLD SONG, "WHERE IS MY WANDERING BOY TO-NIGHT?" Made Into Beautiful Motion Picture By Chester Parrish.

The remarkable composition, "Where Is My Wandering Boy To-Night," words and music by the Rev. Robert Lowry, has a record among sacred songs like that of "The Prodigal Son" among parables.

Dr. Robert Lowry was born in Philadelphia, educated at Bucknell University, and graduated from there with valedictory honors.

Although widely known as a composer of sacred music, he considered preaching to be his life work. Music to him was a side line, and yet he was the author of a song which has done more to bring back wandering boys than any other ever written.

AT THE GRAND.

Monday brings to the Grand Opera House for a three-day engagement the Machan Sisters Stock Company, who will endeavor to give the theatregoers of Peterboro, three days of joys and pleasure. The Machan Sisters are not new to theatregoers here, for both young ladies have appeared here in support of well known stars. Miss Rosalind Machan appeared here some years ago, in child parts with her father's company. The past seven years she has been playing leads with some of the best Stock Companies touring the States. Her last engagement in Canada was with the Garrick Players, in Ottawa. She is remarkably clever, beautiful to look at and wears some wonderful costumes. Her versatility will be proven here for she will appear in three entirely different characters. In "Cappy Ricks" she will play Ricks' daughter in "The Rosary" the dual role of the sisters, and in "Before Breakfast", the role of the actress. Miss Gloria Machan who has already won her laurels in Peterboro with the Rex Stock Company will be seen in the ingenue roles. Her clever work with the Rex Company has already been commented upon by the press and the public and her many admirers will welcome her appearance here. The supporting cast is all that could be desired and no effort has been spared to give the patrons of the Grand the best performance possible of "Cappy Ricks" the opening play for Monday night. Mr. Raymond Poore, late of the Flirting Princess and the Corse Payton Company of New York City, will play the male leads, Billy Webb, comedian, recently toured the West Indies and comes direct from a New York engagement, included in the sporting cast is Miss Ollie Cameron late of the Shubert's Big Time Vaudeville, Ben Laughlin, Al. W. Emerson and Fred Williams, also Baby Marjorie the five year old child wonder who will appear in songs and dances.

Are Usually Due to Constipation

When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements by Nature's own method—lubrication.

Ice! Ice! Ice!

Everything kept fresh on Sanitary Ice.

Ice keeps the butter hard, the milk pure, the lettuce crisp and tender. With ice meat does not spoil; food is saved.

A baby will consume 500 quarts of milk the first year of its life and requires for its heatlh the best and purest milk, that must be kept below the temperature of 50 degrees to maintain its full nutritive value. If kept at a higher temperature most of the contents of the bottle will spoil before it can be consumed. Food starts to spoil at a temperature of 55 degrees and although at that tempertaure the change will not be noticed, enough bacteria is created to cause the food to lose most of its nutritive value.

Cast Off Those Ills

Perhaps you are one of the many people who find coughs and colds hard to get rid of. They pull down your general health, lower your resistance and make your life thoroughly unpleasant. Sometimes they hang on until serious troubles develop.

Keep your resistance up to par and you will not have coughs and colds. You have within you all the resisting power you need, but that power does not serve you properly unless it reaches every part of your body. If there is any impingement of nerves, the flow of this vital force is interrupted and some organ or part of your body will become weakened and fail to function normally.

BUILD UP AND KEEP BUILT UP.

SHERIFF ARRIVED TOO LATE TO EVICT

Death Had Removed Aged Indian Woman From Her Ancient Home.

VANCOUVER, April 21.—(Canadian Press). — A wisened Indian woman lay dead to-day in a shack on a tiny patch on Stanley Park, the most famous city park in Canada, when the Sheriff's officers went to evict her.

"Aunt Sally" was the name she was known by and she is said to have been born on the spot more than one hundred years ago. A small colony of Indians held under squatter rights the strip of beach during twenty years in which small forest known as Stanley Park has been a recreation park. It is said that she contracted pneumopia when she last went to the city to press her rights to remain in the home of her fathers, but the fiat had gone forth that squatters rights could not be upheld on land strictly belonging to crown.

WEDDING BELLS

O'CONNOR—HILL.

A pretty but quiet wedding took place at All Saints' rectory at one o'clock to-day, when Rev. R. B. Grobb united in the holy bonds of matrimony Vera May, daughter of Mrs. Hill and the late Roland Hill, 513 Sherbrooke Street, and John Lawrence O'Connor, son of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Connor, Sherbrooke Place.

The bride was charmingly attired in a suit of navy tricotine, with lavender Canton crepe blouse and lavender hat trimmed with black Spanish lace. Her bouquet was Ophelia roses.

The brother and sister of the bride, Herbert Hill and Miss Etta Hill, acted as witnesses at the signing of the register. Miss Hil wore a navy suit with henna hat and bouquet of Columbia roses.

Miss Tessie Joslin contributed several vocal solos.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor, who will reside in Peterborough, left later for a honeymoon in Toronto and points West.

She leaves to mourn her loss two daughters, one granddaughter and one son. They are: Mrs. Frank McBride and Mrs. John Richards of Cobourg; Mrs. Fred McBride of Peterboro and Mr. C. H. COLLEGE QUARTETTE AT GEORGE STREET CHURCH

One of the most pleasing forms of singing is male Quartette work. The happy combination of four good voices never fails to appeal to those interested in good music. To-morrow in the George street church, one of the finest male quartettes in the country, the Victoria College Quartette, will sing at both services.

Among their selections will be — "Jesus, Saviour, Pilot me," "Some Blessed Day," "The Ninety and Nine," "Deep River," and others.

Their splendidly blending voices will be an inspiring feature of the services.

In the morning the W.M.S. will have charge of the services, Mr. Young preaching on their work, and Dr. Agnew, a member of the quartette, who is soon to leave for China, speaking briefly on the importance of missionary work. In the evening Murray H. Cayley of the quartette, will bring a message of special inspiration to the young men, which it is hoped that every young man who can crowd into the church will sing.

Dorothy Allan Park will sing at the evening service, her solo being one of Squire's great compositions, "The Watchman," and the choir will sing its usual devotional numbers, under the direction of Mr. Renwick.

WOMAN HUNGER STRIKER.

LONDON, April 21 (Canadian Press). — A despatch from Dublin states that Mrs. Charlotte Despard, sister of Field-Marshal French, has been on a hunger strike at Kilmainham Jail since early on Thursday afternoon to protest against the imprisonment of Mrs. Maud Gonne McBride.

Five French army airplanes, flying under the patronage of the Government, will leave Paris next month for a flight around the world. Their course will take them through Italy, Algeria, Egypt, Syria, Mesopotamia, Persia, India, Siam, Indo-China China Korea, Japan and the United States. They will then fly south across Central and South America, crossing to Africa, and returning by way of Spain.

BOMB EXPLODES HOUSE DAMAGED

Infernal Machine Placed on Steps of Home of Italian Banker.

PHILADELPHIA, April 21—(Canadian Press) —A time bomb placed on the steps of the home of Chevalier C.C.A. Baldi, banker and leader in the Italian colony here, late last night, damaged the house and number of other residences in Roxborough suburb. No one was injured despite the fact that stones and bricks were hurled through windows. Chevalier Baldi is a sympathizer of the Fascisti group and the police entertain the theory that the bomb was placed by someone opposed to this movement in this country.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

STATEMENT BY MR. TOOMS.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—Believing in full publicity for matters of public interest, I wish to say that Mr. B. Markson, late of Peterborough, called upon me at the Parliament Buildings on Thursday of this week to make a request that I appeal to the Chamber of Commerce to obtain permission for him to leave this country in May or June, as he had a position awaiting him in England.

I wish to say that this is the second time that I have ever met Mr. Markson, and as he has been a resident of Peterborough, and one of my constituents, he was entitled to come to me for any assistance I might be able to give him.

However, I told him that since the deportation he sought was a Dominion and not a Provincial matter, he should present his case to the Federal member for West Peterborough. I feel myself in a somewhat delicate position in regard to this matter, and I wish to explain it briefly but fully to the public.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am,

Gratefully yours,

Thomas Tooms.

THE MARKETS

A CRITICAL TEST.

NEW YORK, April 21 (Special to The Examiner). — Brief as it was, to-day's stock session put the market through the most critical test faced in recent months. Following the substantial recovery from the break of a week ago prices at Friday's close again stood at the low level reached on three successive drives in the last ten days.

Any important depression below these figures would have suggested that the primary upward trend had been permanently checked and professional operators devoted their entire energy to accomplishing that end.

But once more impressive support come into the general list at the point of resistance established in the last few weeks.

Concentrated pressure on the pivotal stocks was employed in vain in the effort to precipitate liquidation. Toward the close the bear party began a slow retreat, and the market showed a considerably improved tone in the final dealings.

The market closed irregular.

Closing prices included U. S. Steel 105 1-8 off 1-2, Republic 62 off 1-2, Baldwin 138 1-4 unchanged, Amer. IN MEMORIAN.

In loving memory of Mrs. Wm. Albert Davis, who passed away a year ago, April 21, 1922.

A loving mother and wife so dear,
Has gone and left us mourning here.
We loved her, Oh no tongue can tell
How much we loved her and so well.
God loved her too and thought it best
To take her home with him to rest
We laid her away this one so dear,
With many a heartache and many a tear.

—Inserted by her sorrowing husband and family.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Mrs. W. J. Davis, who died April 21st, 1922, in Nicholls Hospital:

The midnight stars are gleaming on
A lone and silent grave,
Beneath sleeps one we dearly love,
But who we could not save.

Her weary hours and days of pain,
Her troubled nights are past,
Her ever-patient worn-out frame
Has found sweet rest at last.

The happy hours we once enjoyed
How sweet their memory still,
But death has left a vacant place
The world can never fill.

—Sadly Missed by Father, Mother, Sisters and Brothers.

BIG CONTRACTS SIGNED FOR ORE ARE DOUBTFUL

LONDON, April 21 (United Press). — The Rhenish Westphalia Company have concluded a contract with the Canadian Wabana concern for the delivery of heavy consignments of ore for the Ruhr, but it doubtful if the contract, although closed, can be fulfilled owing to the attitude of the French towards shipments to the Ruhr from abroad.

It is rumoured that parties interested in the contract will make direct application to the occupation authorities for unhampered ore.

The Wabana Company has already laid out a large sum preparatory to shipping their ore.

PEACE PARLEY AT LAUSANNE OPENED TODAY

Turkish Vision of American Dollars and an Aroma of Oil Pervades Atmosphere.

A FRANCO-U.S. TILT

LAUSANNE, April 23.—(Special to the Examiner.)—A Turkish vision of American dollars and an aroma of oil from Near East wells, pervaded the atmosphere at the first formal session of the Lausanne peace conference to-day.

While the Chester concession — granted by Turkey to American interests in the face of French opposition — was not on the programme, it was the chief subject of discussion among the individual delegates.

The Turks, as a delegation, headed by the militant Ismet Pasha, are not prepared to discuss oil. They say the granting of authority to the American syndicate, headed by Admiral Chester, for the development of the Anatolian projects, is a closed book.

British Mediation.

The British, it is thought, may assume the role of mediator, as they do not believe the Chester concession will lap over into their Mesopotamian holdings and thus align them of necessity on the side of France. If it should develop that Turkey has granted to the United States something over which she has no sovereignty, then, the British say, America will be quick to realize the legality of the French position. Meanwhile the conference has met to consider the Near East peace treaty.

Increase Population.

The Angora assembly has rejected a bill providing that all Turks aged twenty-five must marry and that each couple must have a child every three years. By this measure it was hoped to increase the population of Asia Minor from eight to forty-eight million.

An adjustment of the Allied front with a view to its unshakable maintenance was the object of a preliminary meeting of leaders of delegations of the Great Powers to-day before the official resumption of the Near Eastern peace conference with Turkey.

Fancied Differences.

Allied spokesmen said they had impression that Turkey will seek to take advantage of fancied differences in the ranks of the Allies that have grown out of the political problems of Europe, especially reparations, and will endeavor to profit by the desire of Britain, France and Italy to obtain permanent peace in the Near East.

SEVEN BULLETS ENDS LIFE OF A GANGSTER

NEW YORK, April 23.—(Canadian Press)—The bullet-riddled body of 19-year-old Carmine "Blackie" Stello, known to the underworld as white slaver, dope peddler and burglar, was discovered in the backyard of a shop in Chinatown to-day. He was found beside a pile of egg crates and had been dead for hours. In his head and chest were seven bullet wounds. His right hand clutched a small flashlight. Nearby lay a .35 automatic with six exploded shells. The police believe "Blackie" was double-crossed by members of his gang. As they reconstruct the story of his death he was lured to a squalid areaway in the belief he was to be in on a "job." He was given a flashlight and, while he stood with it in his right hand, his companions backed away and showered him with bullets.

THE HOURS THAT TEACHERS WORK

Contributor Says Their Labor Cut of School Hours Sometimes Approaches Drudgery.

Dear Mr. Editor,— The letter in your valuable paper regarding more business-like methods in operating our schools was practical and thoughtful and deserving, I thought, of fuller consideration. It did appear to me, however, that as might be expected, judging the question perhaps too exclusively from the point of view of a business man's experience, he overlooked some aspects of the question. Is it quite fair, first of all, to contrast the school teachers' working hours with those of the business man on the assumption that all his work is done within the school period? Though not a teacher by profession, I have had some experience in that line, and know that, however well up in his subject, a teacher does his best work by specially preparing for each lesson, so is not only the subject matter but how best to present it to his particular class he must consider and in this respect should be always on the look-out for new ideas.

But equally important is it that he correct out of school a considerable amount of written exercises done by the scholars. Only so can he keep accurate check of what they are doing and keep them up to the mark.

Some teachers do this to the point of drudgery. It can, of course, like everything, be overdone. Another thing that should be borne in mind in reference to allowing teachers more time for their own use, than is common in other vocations, is the fact that the best teacher is one with a live, progressive interest in many subjects which nourish and stimulate mental life. In order that he or she should continue to have some degree of enthusiasm for learning and not become wearied with mere school routine, the teacher requires to be doing considerable reading of a wider range than his own actual teaching, according to text books, would indicate.

There is this, however, to be said of the proposal of two different platoons, or sets of scholars at morning and afternoon sessions, that as the teacher would repeat his work, going over the same matter twice as often ,he would have a narrower range of subjects and more experience and therefore require less time for special preparation.

But teaching is trying, nervous work, requiring all of one's faculties on the alert and at their best from beginning to end, while in how many places of business do we find people often simply waiting for something to turn up.

Moreover it is a mistake too likely to be made in this age which is so enamored of physical vitality, to suppose that the teacher who can stand on his feet for long hours and 'deliver the goods' with abundance of energy is the best kind of teacher. On the contrary, some of the finest and most active minds are limited in the length of time they can work by being weighted down by a body of limited strength and imperfect health.

Some of the very best teachers, while they can stand it, are therefore people without the physical strength to stand longer hours than the present system demands.

Might not then, Business Man's ruthless application of his doctrine of business economy, "the elimination" as he puts it, "of the inefficient teacher," and the survival of the fittest, i.e., physically fittest, realy resut in the loss of some of the finest work which only those who live mainly a mental, not a physical life, are so endowed as to be able to do.

I believe, however, that Business Man's proposal is worthy of consideration and deserves an answer, which I have therefore attempted to give. Following his example, I invite incognito and sign as,

MINISTER.

LIGHT CATCH OF RATS IN BRIEF LOCAL SEASON

Furrier Predicts $50 Increase in Price of Hudson Seal Coats Next Winter.

ICE HANGS ON

Approximately $50.00 will be added to the price of next winter's Hudson seal coats bringing them practically to parity with Persian lamb, as a result of the small catch of muskrats in the season that closed on Saturday night.

This statement by a local furrier reflects one of the effects of winter's dalliance in the path of spring. The price of the pelts has soared to $2.25 under the brisk demand of buyers who are scurrying around to get a share of the present offering.

It is understood that Rice Lake trappers are selling their catch by auction this afternoon at Hiawatha, and it is quite probable that the price will be pushed up to $2.50.

When the season opened, buyers were contemplating a general price of $2.00 or $1.75, but as winter overstayed its leave, and the ice remained in the rivers and lakes and marshes, it became evident that this year's catch would be exceptionally light.

As an example of the diminished supply, it is reported that the Hiawatha trappers, whose Rice Lake cats rank with the highest in quality, have about one thousand pelts, as compared with the average of four or five thousand in other years.

Advance of 40c a Pelt.

"Muskrat pelts are going to cost 40 cents or more than last year," said a prominent dealer. "When you consider that there are from 60 to 65 pelts required for a coat, you can begin to figure out about how much more Hudson coats will cost next winter. Then the hides must be dyed and 'sealed,' and taking it altogether, I don't think I will be far out in saying that the Hudson seal coats will sell next winter at an increase of $50.00."

Temptation to Trappers.

There will probably be a strong temptation to trappers to leave out their traps for another week. The big price will be a powerful strain on their respect for the law, which forbids catching the rats after 21st April, and also requires that no pelts shall be retained after 1st May.

At the mouth of the Otonabee and along the Rice Lake shore the traps have been lifted but in more remote places there may be a tendency to assume a three days' grace, at least, because of the abbreviated season.

Season Was Brief.

Instead of being able to work throughout the full open season, the trappers in this district did not get started until Tuesday of last week, and some were restricted to the last three days of the week.

Reports from Rice Lake say that the ice has not yet gone out, although the Indian River is clear and also the Otonabee. Mr. Cyril Lech went up through the Chemong Lake and Pigeon Creek district on Sunday afternoon, and found quite a large section of Chemong Lake open, and Pigeon Creek showed stretches of water along the shores.

News from Stoney Lake.

Mr. Felix Brownscombe got back to the city this morning after spending a few days at his cottage at Stoney Lake. The day he went up he had difficulty in reaching his island on account of an ice barrier that remained as a sort of no-man's land, and through which he had to make his way with an improvised ice-breaker, but the warm weather of Friday and Saturday made big changes, so that when he left there was an open channel from Burleigh down to the head of Clear Lake. This latter lake is, however, still frozen from shore to shore as is also all of Stoney Lake above Juniper Island.

SOUTH AMERICA MAKES PERMANENT PEACE MOVE

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 23.—(United Press). — A definite move for reduction of naval and land armaments among nations of South America has been initiated by President Alessandri of Chile. Allessandri submitted to the presidents of Argentina, Brazil and Uruguay, a proposal that they join in a conference to discuss reductions.

The presidents have accepted the proposal in principle, though some few difficulties remain to be smoothed out.

The conference probably will be called to meet in Montevideo in December.

RUMOUR SAYS C.N.R. SHOPS FOR THIS CITY

Lindsay Citizens Agog Over Report That Peterborough is to be Divisional Centre.

SOME SAY MIDLAND

LINDSAY, April 23.—(Special to Examiner). — C.N.R. employees and citizens generally are greatly concerned over a rumor freely circulated to the effect that Peterborough is to be made the divisional centre in this district, and that the shops, etc., were to be removed from here to that city. It was further rumored that on the occasion of the visit of the C.N.R. officials to Peterborough last week the city offered tempting inducements to the railway. This rumor has created quite a stir as a move of this nature would prove a serious blow to Lindsay.

Another rumor has it that the C. N. R. intended moving the shops, crews, etc., from Lindsay to Midland. There are shops at present at this terminal, which are unoccupied and with the improved roadbed and high powered engines, the run could be made from that port to Belleville without any difficulty. Business circles are greatly disturbed, and a pronouncement relative to the plans of the C.N.R. are anxiously awaited.

A DEAD MAN TAKEN FROM A MOTOR BOAT

NEW YORK, April 23.—(Canadian Press). — A motor boat, steered by a dead man, with a bullet in his chest, was caught by longshoremen to-day as she emerged from beneath a pier in the Hudson River and headed for the open water at full speed. Its lone occupant lay on his back across the steering wheel, his weight steadying the rudder. A pistol and two loaded cartridges were in the bottom of the craft. The absence of empty shells led the police to believe the man had been murdered.

STATEMENT BY MILBRA MACKIE

Story of Event Preceding Death of Brother, Alleged to Have Resulted From Quarrel.

BRANTFORD, April 23.—(Canadian Press).—W. L. Brewster, K.C., who represented Milbra Mackie, of Drumbo, at the inquest into the death of David Mackie, Jr., last week, makes the following statement of Mackie's story of the event preceding the death of David Mackie:

"The two brothers, Milbra and David, owned farms across the road from each other, near the village, and Milbra went over to his brother's to borrow a wrench. He secured the article and returned home. Finding that it was not suitable, he took it back to ask for another. While in the drive-shed for this purpose he saw a plane owned by his father, which he picked up, stating that he needed it to fix a door. David replied no, and Milbra then replied that he would take it. They got into an altercation, and while that was going on, Milbra swore, deceased struck him on the head with a monkey wrench, raising a lump, later seen by a doctor and others. The blow brought him to his knees. On getting up he found that his brother again had the wrench raised for another blow. He then struck his brother on the head with his fist, but did not knock him down. Next he pushed David over and held him down, but did not again strike him. His brother finally got up and went to the house, apparently all right. Later David went to the barn but half an hour later returned in a dazed condition, and finally became unconscious, death following later in the Woodstock hospital.

"The post-mortem showed that the skull had been fractured and that there was a clot of blood on the brain."

VARIED MENU OF ATTRACTIONS AT ROTARY TO-DAY

LARGE ATTENDANCE

The weekly luncheon of the Peterboro Rotary Club to-day was featured by a number of interesting events, including addresses by Rev. J. A. Mackenzie, and Mr. W. R. Cook, Boys' Secretary for Ontario and Quebec of the Y.M.C.A. National Council, an outline of boys' work activities by Rotarian Dr. Buchanan, and some splendid music by the Victoria College Quartette.

President V. J. McElderry was in the chair, and the attendance record showed 92 per cent.

Rev. Mr. Mackenzie in taking leave of the Rotarians on the eve of his departure for his new charge in Guelph said he wished to leave with them some thoughts in regard to three great factors in life—Work, Friendship and Religion, his brief address on these points being very much apreciated by the members of the club. Mr. Mackenzie said that he was leaving Peterboro with very pleasant memories of his residence in this city.

President McElderry on behalf of the club, wished Rev. Mr. Mackenzie God-speed and every success in Guelph, and expressed appreciation of his services in Peterboro.

Rotarian Geo. A. Gillespie called the attention of the Rotarians to the annual canvass of the Y.M.C.A. There has been a small deficit from last year he pointed out but he was sure that if the citizens showed a little more than their usual liberality that this would be overcome in this year's activities.

Mr. W. R. Cook of the National Council of the Y.M.C.A., gave a very eloquent address upon the work of the Association after touching briefly upon the manner in which it was founded. The Y.M.C.A. programme was based on an appreciation of the fact that it was not possible to divide a man's personality into watertight compartments and that it was necessary to develop men not only in mind and in body, but in spirit. Mr. Cook referred to the Y. M. C. A. as prospering in many fields, and his short address brought home to his hearers the value of the Association as a community asset.

Dr. Norman Buchanan reported on the suggested programme of boys' work activities. Among other things it was proposed in order to get into touch with the boys of the camp, to have a picnic towards the end of June.

Co-operation with the city council in securing proper playgrounds for the children, an endeavor to improve the conditions of the swimming pools, the finding of temporary work for school boys, and the revival of the Boy Scout movement were other suggestions brought forward in the report.

The Victoria College Quartette were guests at the luncheon, and were heard to great advantage in the selection "Bells of the Sea," and had to respond to an encore, while Mr. Murray Cayley of the Quartette gave two very enjoyable monologues. The numbers were much appreciated.

GLOOMY VISION FOR CANADIAN CLOTHIERS

OTTAWA, April 23.—R. P. Sparks, of the Sparks-Harrison Company, clothing manufacturers of Hull Quebec, was called this morning by the special Agriculture Committee to give evidence in respect to conditions in the cotton textiles industry and, the effect thereon of tariffs and wage conditions. Mr. Sparks said that during the past two years of depression goods had been sold to the ultimate consumer at less than cost of production, that as a result of this twenty-five per cent of clothiers had gone bankrupt, that many of those still left in the business are now in a precarious postion; and are accepting as correct the gloomy pictures recently presented of the condition of Alberta Farmers, those farmers are really in no worse position than are the clothing manufacturers.

Farmers' Clothing, he continued, is sold a cheap or cheaper in Canada today than in any other country, and generally speaking cheaper than in the States.

UPHOLDS STAGE AS BROADENING

New York Pastor, Answering Rev. Shields, Says Some Christians Are Very Narrow.

NEW YORK, April 23—(Canadian Press).—In reply to a sermon preached in the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church on Sunday, April 15, by Rev. T. T. Shields, of Toronto, in which the Canadian clergyman denounced the stage and obtained pledges from virtually the entire congregation not to attend the theatre, an opposition sermon was delivered yesterday at the West Side Unitarian Church by Rev. Charles Francis Potter, who chose as his subject, "Why Christians Should Attend the Theatre."

"The drama," asserted the preacher, "is very broadening and eye-opening—the enemy of provincialisms of all sorts, and many Christians are very provincial and narrow. Those who last Sunday pledged themselves to keep away from the theatre are the ones who need it most. The fact that they approved a sermon of that sort shows that they are narrow in their outlook."

Denouncing Mr. Shields' contention that while it may not hurt some Christians to attend the theatre, it may lead the weaker brother to attend bad plays, Rev. Mr. Potter said: "There is more obscenity in the Bible than in any play now running in New York. If Dr. Shields ignores the bad parts of the Bible, choosing only the good, then let him use the same discrimination in his attitude toward the stage."

SAYS PRESENT POLICE FORCE IS NECESSARY

Magistrate O. A. Langley Suggests a Friendly Discussion With the City Council—New Uniforms

THE INVESTIGATION

That the present police force of sixteen men is absolutely necessary and that the other items in the estimates of the Police Commission are essential is the reply of the Board of Police Commissioners to the notification of the City Council that the estimates of the Police Department had been cut from $28,843 to $25,000.

This decision was arrived at after a lengthy discussion at the meeting of the Board on Saturday, when all the members and Chief Newhall were present. At Friday's meeting Chief Newhall made a strong plea for the present force, stating that the system which he has built up with much labor will fall to pieces if two men are taken off the force. On Saturday he repeated his statement that he would not be responsible if the force was reduced and, as a result, crime increased in the city. The responsibility would have to be removed from his shoulders, he said.

The ball was set rolling at Saturday's session when Judge E. C. S. Huycke, chairman of the Commission, asked Mayor W. Taylor what the situation was in regard to the police estimates. "I can't see where we are to get the money," was the Mayor's answer. "Suppose the City Council was right, and in August we had to lay off men for want of money, what would we do?"

Board's Duty to Citizens.

Judge Huycke: "As to whether the City Council is right or not, the only thing you have before you to guide you is Mr. Widdifield's opinion. I am not going to express any opinion on the rights of the Council because I may be one of a number of judges who may have to settle the question. Personally, I would favor the cut if we could do with less men. But that has to be ascertained. Our duty on this Board is to do our duty as we see it, and not to meet the wishes of the people who do not want any law enforcement."

Friendly Discussion.

Magistrate Langley favored the course of the two bodies getting together for a friendly discusion of the problem, and Mayor Taylor suggested the Council meeting on Monday night. Judge Huycke said that the arbitrary action of Council had hurt him. The Council did not make any enquiries from the Board or from the Chief of Police about how this money was to be saved or what the result would be to the force. They simply took an axe and gurnorted to chop off $3,000.

ALL PREPARATIONS FOR THE ROYAL WEDDING AT WESTMINSTER ABBEY

Nuptials of Duke of York Will Be the Most Gala Affair For Many Years.

ON THURSDAY.

LONDON, April 23.—(Canadian Press).—Not since the day, thirty years ago, when King George V., as the Duke of York, led his royal bride to the altar has Great Britain prepared for such a gala wedding fete as will be celebrated on Thursday next, when Prince Albert, Duke of York,—next in succession to the British Throne after the Prince of Wales—weds Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon in Westminster Abbey.

All plans for the great occasion are completed and it only remains to put the finishing touches to the scenery for staging this royal pageant, for which the world, thrilled by the romance of the young Prince's wooing of a subject of his own land, has been eagerly awaiting.

London herself will be decked like a bride in all the finery of her silken flags and banners, and everybody in the United Kingdom—well, almost everybody, so it seems—will be here to catch a glimps of the winsome bride and gallant lover, and lend a hand in the festivities which will be held everywhere Thursday night.

Those unfortunate enough not to be able to come to London will be regaled with the wedding story told by wireless broadcasting.

Hundreds of thousands of people are expected to line the route of the wedding procession to and from the Abbey, and in addition to the stands erected near Westminster for spectators, every building past which the Duke and his bride will drive, will be turned into a bannered pavlion for the ir enthusiastic well-wishers. The windows of offices, shops and even private house have already been rented to persons who have come from all parts of Great Britain and from beyond the seass.

Already some places of vantage are bring big prices. One South American financier paid one hundred guineas for two windows in Parliament street. But in all this rush for seats those unfortunates who return

Greek Services Held In Anglican Church

LONDON, Ont., April 25.—(Canadian Press). — Yesterday afternoon for the first time in this city a funeral conducted under the Greek church rite in an Anglican church took place in St. Paul's Cathedral when obsequies over the remains of Nicholas Hrisikos, prominent restauranteer were held.

Rev. Father Scrapas of Toronto officiated. The members of the Greek communion have no church here and Dean Tucker of St. Paul's gladly granted their appeal for the use of St. Paul's.

ed from the Great War grievously wounded have not been forgotten. A stand accommodating 800 of them has been constructed on the line of the procession near the Horse Guards.

To handle the enormous assemblage in the streets there will be on duty 7,500 foot police, 200 mounted men and 1,000 specials. Traffic along the route of the royal procession will be suspended for some time before the carriages appear.

The ceremony in the Abbey will last three quarters of an hour. In the nave of the Abbey 600 privileged guests will see the ceremony of a life time from tiers of seats specially built and 2,000 other seats will be placed in the nave and transcepts.

The wedding will furnish a great occasion for the famous Abbey bell ringers, who will play a peal of Steadman's triples, consisting of some five thousand changes, which was first taught to their precedessors about the year 1668.

The bridal couple will proceed to Buckingham Palace after the ceremony and late in the afternoon will leave by train for the first stage of their honeymoon in Surrey. Throughout the first part of the week the Duke and his bride will be kept busy preparing for the great event. To-morrow evening there will be a private rehearsal of the wedding in the Abbey.

Various receptions have been arranged at Buckingham Palace at which the guests will be privileged to see the wedding presents. Receptions will be given Monday evening and Wednesday afternoon and another is being discussed. It is understood that a party has been especially arranged for the household staff on Tuesday.

Public interest in the wedding is daily becoming more intense and every detail is eagerly read.

The week will be filled with festivities for London. It is the ambition of the London Association to provide more miles of free novel entertainments every day than any city in the world ever had before. The decorations in the streets will be unsurpassed. Big and little stores are co-operating in decorating as perhaps never done before, and arranging to give a novel, interesting entertainment, musical and otherwise, free. Every hotel and restaurant in the West End is preparing for festival afternoons and evenings, and gala dancese will be in order.

CIVIL ACTION BY QUEBEC TO GET STOLEN MONEY

Proceedings May Be Instituted to Recover the Money Stolen From the Race Track Receipts By Frank H. Dunn.

$38,000 MISSING.

MONTREAL, April 23. — Canadian Press. — The Montreal Gazette said to-day:

Civil action to recover for the provincial treasury the sum of money which F H. Dunn, ex-Inspector of Revenue at the nine racetracks of the province, stole from the government, is a matter which is now being studied in the department of the Attorney General.

Hon. L. A. Taschereau, Attorney-General of the Province, was in Montreal yesterday and it is known that he went into conference with R. L. Calder, K. C., who prosecuted Dunn in the King's Bench on behalf of the government. At the same time Dunn was being sentenced to three years in the penitentiary by Mr. Justice Wilson.

The matter in its various aspects was dealt with by the premier (who is also Attorney General) and Mr. Calder, but no statement was forthcoming from either. There is a second criminal charge laid against Dunn in the City of Quebec; this will not be proceeded with immediately but it is not being dropped.

Other criminal action arising out of the evidence given in the Dunn case will be carefully considered by the Attorney General.

A report on such evidence has been ordered prepared for the department and the department will then be in a better position to decide whether action against others than Dunn should be taken. If it is felt that the report to be made justifies another arrest with reasonable confidence of securing a conviction, such action will be taken.

What was revealed in the course of the trial as regards the theft of $30,000 by Dunn, and especially investigations which have been carried out by the Department of the Provincial Treasurer, has made the government anxious to get back all the money possible. There is much more than $38,000 involved, the government having acted in one case only. It has been known for some months past that there has been a sum of approximately $190,000 in question, and the government's idea is to secure that large sum and any other sums which investigations show to be due the treasury.

Definite steps towards this end will be taken within a few weeks, it is stated.

It is not only the money that is involved, though the government is very keen in this, but there is also political necessity in the matter .The Dunn case has already done the government considerable harm even to the extent that some politicians believe that it was a political blunder to have laid the matter bare before the public . Since such disclosures have been made, however, it will make matters worse politically for the government if every effort is not made to secure the money due to the public treasury, and also to take further steps towards punishing those who may be criminally involved. The whole Dunn affair will play its part in the next political campaign. It is a coincidence that Dunn comes from Richmond county, where there will shortly be a provincial ble-election.

RESCUED MAROONED FROM FOX ISLAND

Ann Harbor Car Ferry Brought Party to Mainland Sunday Evening.

CHICAGO, April 23 (Canadian Press). — Eight men and one woman who had been marooned on South Fox Island in Lake Michigan, John Miller, pilot of an aeroplane that went to their rescue and was wrecked in landing, and two Chicago newspapermen, were taken off the island last evening by a car ferry leased from Ann Arbor Railroad.

Huge Development of Power at Hull.

OTTAWA, April 23. — (Canadian Press).—J. A. Ellis, chairman of the Ottawa Hydro-Electric Commission, when questioned yesterday regarding the despatch from Campbell's Bay Saturday that the Ottawa and Hull Power Company would develop 50,000 horse-power by the construction of a dam at the foot of Calumet Island, stated this was a private undertaking. The Ottawa Hydro-Electric had what power was needed for present requirements. It had a contract with the Ottawa and Hull Power Company for 20,000 horse-power of which about 12,000 was being utilized now. The new power development scheme would probably be available by the time the Hydro-Electric made use of the maximum allotment of 20,000 horse-power, for which the Commission contracted, he declared.

FIRST CONTINGENT MEN REMEMBER GREAT DAY

Anniversary of the Battle of St. Julien Was Fittingly Commemorated By Many Veterans Who Took Part in Canada's First Great Battle.

OTTAWA, April 23.— (Canadian Press.)—Re-uniting in commemoration of the eighth anniversary of the second battle of Ypres, the action in which the Candains first established for themselves a reputation equal to the best traditions of the British army, over 150 wearers of the Red Chevron gathered at a banquet here Saturday night. Besides the survivors of the first 30,000 living in the district, who took part in the engagement, were a number of ex-Imperials and ex-Navy men, who saw action in 1914 .

The speeches were very brief and dwelt mostly on the amusing side of the experiences of the first contingent. Only when Major (Rev.) C. D. Kilpatrick, the padre of the evening, proposed the toast to those that had paid the supreme sacrifice, was the atmosphere of levity hushed in memory of fallen comrades. Major Gen. J. R. MacBrien was chairman.

Hon. Geo. P. Graham, Minister of National Defence, dwelt on the activities of the first contingent from the viewpoint of an outsider.

"At Ypres, when the Germans sent over their first gas attack, the Canadians were not the men to break—they knew nothing about war when they held the line in the teeth of hell. They fought like veterans and had never been trained to retire. They have been given the credit of keeping the enemy back from reaching the most important part of the line—the channel ports."

Mr. Grahams' reference to the part played by the late Sir Sam Hughes in getting away the first contingent, was received with prolonged cheers.

Called to order by the sounding of The Last Post on the bugle by Bugle Sergeant C. Day, the gathering listened in silence to the few words spoken by Major (Rev.) G. D. Kilpatrick. "Every man present may count with pride the fact that he fought in the second battle of Ypres. Those that gave up their lives on that day need no epitaph No company deserves greater credit than that gallant company, who by their gallant conduct gave Canada a great tradition."

Major General Griesbach and a number of others also spoke.

A NEW ANGLE CAMPBELLFORD SCHOOL ISSUE

A Petition Circulated By Those Opposed to the Erection of New School.

MAKE A CANVASS.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 23. — The High school problem has taken on a new phase, a petition which has for its object the checkmating of the members of the Board of Education having been put in circulation to-day by those who are opposed to the erection of a new building at this time. Two of these petitions are out in each of the four wards and when the canvass is complete the petition will be presented to the next regular meeting of the Town Council.

The tenders for the erection of the new building will be in to-day and the Board of Eduestion will hold a special meeting on Tuesday night, with Architect S. B. Coon, of Toronto, who prepared the plans, to consider the tenders and possibly award the contract.

The petition referred to is as follows:

To the Mayor, Reeve, Deputy-reeve and members of the Campbellford Town Council;

Gentlemen,— The petition of the undersigned taxpayers of the Town of Campbellford, showeth:

That the members of the Board of Education have announced their intention of proceeding with the building of a new High school at an estimated cost of $68,000 and that they propose to ask your honorable body to raise this amount by the issue of debentures;

We, the undersigned, claim that the vote of $75,000 made by the Council of 1920 for a new High school was conditioned upon the erecting of a building of a certain type. The plans and specifications agreed upon at that time have been revised by the present Board of Education to provide for a smaller building. We claim that this change in the plans has rendered null and void the agreement of 1920 and that the present Council is not legally bound to issue debentures for the $68,000 asked for.

Our present tax rate of 40 mills is high, considering the income that the town derives from the municipal power plant. The tax rate is certain to be increased this year, even without the additional expenditure for a new High school, as the construction has been decided upon of four new sewers, a work which the Council is bound to undertake under the Municipal Act.

Furthermore, your petitioners are of the opinion that when a new school is put up it should be built according to the original plans, adequate to take care of the needs of the town for some years to come.

The building which the Board of Education now proposes to construct would serve the purpose only for a short time when additions would be required. In that case Campbellford would have on its hands a controversy similar to the one in which the people are now engaged.

Therefore, we, your petitioners, pray your honorable body to refuse to grant the money asked for. We also beg to serve notice that if it is decided to issue the debentures that we will unite in legal proceedings, taking out an injunction to restrain the Council from undertaking the expenditure.

And your petitioners will ever pray.

Cheese at Kingston Sold at 18c Pound.

KINGSTON, April 23.—(Special). — Joseph Cramer, of Glenvale, a veteran cheese-maker of Frontenac County, who has contributed in a very large measure to the splendid standing of the Canadian cheese, brought the first output to the city on Saturday and obtained eighteen cents per pound, which is two cents more than the Brockville Board price. A cheese buyer who sampled it, declared it of superior quality for fodder cheese. It was quickly purchased by local grocers.

The prospects for early production in the dairy industry are not very good owing to the general condition of the herds that are much reduced by the long winter, despite the heavy stocks of fodder carried over by the farmers. There was a surplus of hay, grains and other ensilage, but the farmers fed their cattle well. It was a long winter with low temperatures, and this was hard on the vitality of the milking herds. However, as soon as the grass appears with the warm weather, and the cattle can range a little, they will immediately improve.

Traffic Conditions on C.P.R. Improved.

WINNIPEG, April 23.—(Canadian Press).—"Traffic conditions on the Canadian Pacific Railway are improved but still somewhat hampered by high water," according to a statement issued here last night by D. C. Coleman, vice-president of the Western lines. The main line is open throughout.

The statement telegranhed from Portage La Prairie on Saturday to the effect that all railway tracks were impassable was incorrect, according to Mr. Coleman, insofar as the C.P.R. was concerned, as the company's operations through the city were not interfered with.

Extensive Burglaries at Summer Cottages.

LINDSAY, April 23.—Word has reached here of extensive burglaries at summer cottages in Rosedale, near Fenelon Falls, and considerable property has disappeared. The matter is in the hands of the Provincial police, and it is a difficult matter at present to estimate the exact loss as a number of the cottage owners reside in Toronto. A cottage, the property of Mr. Warburton of Toronto, was completely cleaned out. Cottages belonging to Jas. Dickson and Mrs. McDougall of Fenelon Falls, Miss Wardrobe and Mrs. H J Lytle of Lindsay were also burglarized, as well as a number of cattages at South Beach.

Four Men Killed in Crossing Accident.

CINCINNATI, O, April 23—(Canadian Press).—Four men were reported killed late yesterday when a passenger train on the Big Four Railroad, Cleveland to Cincinnati, struck an automobile at a crossing at Elmwood, near here. The accident happened five minutes after the crossing watchman quit work.

CHAMPION DIES.

NEW YORK, April 23.—(Canadian Press)—Patrick Joseph McDonald, champion distance runner and well known athlete forty years ago, died yesterday at the age of 66. In 1879 and 1880 he won running championships at one, two and three miles, among his victories being one over Walter Raines, Canadian champion.

FRACTURED SKULL.

LONDON, Ont., April 23.—(Canadian Press.)— Archie Irwin, aged 22, a teamster, was knocked down Saturday by a horse he was singeing at the barn of Andrew Stinchcombe, Rectory street, sustaining a fractured skull from which he died, three hours later. His head hit the cement floor.

FOUNDATION OF WAR MEMORIAL HAS BEEN LAID

Governor of West Flanders Laid Stone to Commemorate the Famous British Raid on Zeebrugge.

MONUMENT

ZEEBRGGUE, Belgium, April 2-—(Canadian Press).—Thes founda, tion stone of what will be a noble memorial to the famous Britsh raid staged here in wartime, was laid yesterday by the governor of West Flanders in the presence of a distinguished Anglo-Belgian company including Admiral Sir Roger Keyes, Lord Burnham, Lord Emmott, the British ambassador Sir George Grahame and the Belgian minister of public works.

The memorial which will stand near the shore end of the mole will take the form of a granite column seventy feet high surmounted by a figure of St. George slaying the dragon. It will be visible far out at sea and will be inscribed on the side facing the sea with the words: "Saint George for England" and also "United States for Justice." Likewise on the monument will appear the names of the British who fell in the action and also the names of the participating warships.

The governor when performing the ceremony described the landing of the British in the face of the German fire as one of the most brilliant deeds in naval history. Other speeches delivered at the ceremony and preceding the banquet in Bruges town hall stressed the close Anglo-Belgian ties. Magnificent wreaths were subsequently deposited.

Flood Danger in West is Passing.

WINNIPEG, April 23.—(Canadian Press).—Latest reports received from Portage La Prairie where floods demoralized business and caused suspension of train service on Saturday are to the effect that the situation is much improved. The water in the west end of the city has gone down a foot. It is believed that any serious danger has now been averted.

Peace Conference Opens at Lausanne To-Day — Russia Refused An Invitation to Attend.

MANY PROBLEMS.

LAUSANNE, April 23.— (Canadian Press.)—The stage is all set for a resumption to-day of the Near Eastern peace conference, which was so dramatically ended last February.

The outstanding feature of the resumed conference is the elimination of Soviet Russia. The correspondent of the Associated Press learns that Moscow diplomtically sought an invitation to participate in the conference, but that the inviting powers, Great Britain, France and Italy returned a polite negative. Russia has been told, it is said, that she was invited to the first conference to discuss the Straits convention only, but that the publicly announced a refusal to sign this treaty, on which all the other countries, including the Turks, were in accord; that if any time before the adjournment of the conference, Russia has changed her mind, the conference shall always be open and the Allies will be delighted to see her.

There is no confirmation here of a recent report that Georges Tchitcherin, the Bolshevik Foreign Minister, will come to Lausanne anyway —even as an unbidden guest.

Economic and financial clauses of the treaty caused the collapse of the first Near Eastern conference, and these must now be settled. But the question of judicial guarantees for foreigners probably also will be reopened by the Allies. Great uneasiness exists among foreign residents of Constantinople and other Turkish cities because they henceforth may be entirely subject to Ottoman laws, without any privileged protective treatment.

In an endeavor to induce the Turks to sign the treaty in February, the French and the Italians made last minute concessions by which foreign legal advisers to be appointed to the Angora Government would be informed of all arrests and all domiciliary searches affecting foreigners.

Lord Curzon, the British Foreign Secretary, had left Lausanne, and Great Britain, whose colony in Turkey is numerous, never accepted this concession, and as the peace treaty was not signed, both France and Italy consider this question still on the agenda. Like Great Britain

Nova Scotia Stands By Can. Confederation.

HALIFAX, April 23 (Canadian Press). — The resolution of H. W. Corning, Conservative, of Yarmouth, asking for a referendum in Nova Scotia on the question of the secession of that Province from the Canadian Federation was defeated in the House of Assembly on Saturday night when only two members stood for it while a decisive majority, comprising all Liberals present, of 14 to 4 was given an amendment by Premier Armstrong that the House

Four Persons Killed on Grade Crossing.

BUFFALO, April 23 (Canadian Press), — Four persons are dead as the result of a grade crossing accident late on Saturday night, when a Lehigh Valley train struck an automobile.

The dead are: Albert Sherman and his wife, of Niagara Falls; Mrs. Emma Meahl, also of Niagara Falls; and Arnold Cumrow, of Ransomville.

The automobile caught fire after the collision, and Sherman was burned to death before his body dropped into the creek.

"Do This Daily
Cease old methods—fight the film on teeth"

Leading dentists the world over now give that advice.
Millions of careful people in some 50 countries follow it today.
You can see what it means. Note the prettier teeth in every circle now.
This is to offer a ten-day test so you may see its benefits.

A world-wide crusade
This is part of a world-wide crusade for whiter, cleaner, safer teeth.
Film is the great tooth enemy—that viscous film you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. Food stains, etc., discolor it. Then it forms dingy coats. Tartar is based on film. That's why beautiful teeth were seen less often than now.
Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. That's why few escaped tooth troubles.
Germs breed by millions in film. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea—so alarmingly common now.

Old ways did not successfully combat it
No ordinary tooth paste effectively fights film. So nearly everybody suffered from some film attack.
Then dental science searched for film combatants, and eventually found two. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.
Able authorities proved these methods by many careful tests. Then a new-type tooth paste was created, based on modern research. These two new film destroyers were embodied in it.
That tooth paste is called Pepsodent. Now it has come into world-wide use, largely through dental advice.

Greater protection
Pepsodent also lends to greater protection. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.
It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise ferment and form acids.
In all these ways, Pepsodent is fast bringing a new dental era.

You will be amazed
Pepsodent results will amaze and delight you. In a week you will realize how much it means to all.

Avoid Harmful Grit
Pepsodent omits the film and removes it without harmful scouring. Its polishing agent is far softer than enamel. Never use in film combatants which contain harsh grit.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.
You will want those benefits for you and yours as long as you live, when you know. Cut out coupon now.

THE FEMALE VOICE CHOIR.

In addition to having a male voice choir, which has distinguished itself in its annual concerts, Peterborough also has another unique singing organization in the female voice choir, a chorus of women which has been heard to advantage on several occasons.

The organization, each member of which of course gives her services free, has given concerts on behalf of several worthy local enterprises, and has been responsible not only for providing an enjoyable evening for the audiences before whom it appeared, but has been the means of raising funds for causes that are deserving of support.

Early next month, for example, the female voice choir is demonstrating its belief in the very excellent work carried on by the Well Babies' Clinic by giving a concert, the proceeds of which will be turned over to the clinic.

The choir is a community enterprise and has been ready at all times to lend its services on behalf of worthy objects.

Peterborough is well served in its musical organizations.

MEANS MUCH FOR PETERBOROUGH.

The Cobourg Motor League is interesting itself in the question of securing, if possible, the transportation of automobiles on the ferries running between Cobourg and Genessee Dock, N. Y., a matter in which the local organization has also been active.

It would undoubtedly mean much to this district if the service could be arranged.

The number of tourists from New York State coming to the Kawartha Lakes would be very materially increased, and the benefit would be a double one inasmuch as local motorists visiting certain sections of the United States would find the opportunity of crossing from Cobourg to Rochester of very great convenience.

The co-operation of the Peterborough Motor League is being sought by the Cobourg League, and it will doubtless be cheerfully accorded as the value of the plan has long been recognized locally.

The providing of this service coupled with the placing of the Port Hope-Peterborough road under the Provincial highways system would put Peterborough very prominently on the ap, so far as motor tourists are concerned, and this whole section of Ontario would reap the benefit of the influx of visitors.

PAY OFF THE COMMISSION.

The contention that the Gregory Commission should be instructed to wind up its hearings and present a report to the Legislature covering its investigations into the operations of the Hydro-electric Commission before the session ends, seems to be entirely reasonable.

The Hydro-electric Commission is bound to be a live topic in the campaign, and the findings of the Gregory probe should be before the people.

The investigation has been a very costly affair, and at least the electors are entitled to have a report covering what has been done by Mr. Drury's fishing expedition.

Again, it is not good business to allow this expensive organization to go on functioning after the House has adjourned, and when an election is being fought that may considerably alter the situation so far as the personnel of the Government is concerned.

The commission was Mr. Drury's creation.

The municipalities, the partners in the Hydro-electric scheme, were not consulted in the matter, and far from demanding the inquiry have resented it from the start.

To allow the House to prorogue and the Government to go to the people without instructions to the Gregory expedition to bring their investigation to an end and submit a report, would be making a real farce of the whole proceedings.

CROSSING THE BORDER.

The loss to Hamilton of the large numbers of working men and their families who are migrating to the United States is something which cannot be viewed with equanimity, says the Hamilton Spectator. It is argued that this movement is, in reality, not so much a loss as a gain, in that it means a reduction in the number of our unemployed and more work for those who remain. That is to take a very short-sighted view of the matter, surely. These men are not mere transient seekers after employment, taking on jobs temporarily wherever they are to be had, but are native citizens moving out, bag and baggage, to another country, many of them to be lost to Canada for good. That is a very serious condition, which demands the earnest consideration of the authorities. Unless the exodus is checked—for Hamilton is not, of course, the only city affected—the consequences to Canada will be grave. They are grave enough as things are, for the one big need of the Dominion is a larger population, to develop our national potentialities, to diminish the burden of debt and to put our publicly-owned railway systems upon a paying basis. If we cannot retain the people we already have, the prospects do not look bright for a successful immigration movement.

The primary cause of this southward trek is, undoubtedly, the better opportunities presented in certain industries in the United States at the present time—notably the building industry. No amount of affection for one's country or one's city can be expected to outweigh the imperious necessity of earning a living. But there are other motives, besides this compelling necessity, which induce our native sons and daughters to make the change, and these should be vigorously counteracted—if we are to build up a strong Canadian nationality, they must be counteracted. We are permitting our country to be flooded with literature of all forms, extolling the glories of the great American republic and depicting its way of life in the most alluring colors. The appeal proves irresistible to certain temperaments, who only wait the opportunity to be off. It is folly to allow this powerful propaganda to continue. Statesmanship should be equal to the task of protecting our national ideals and fostering national development.

WHAT KIND OF A SWING?

The Examiner has been informed that within the next few weeks here will be unmistakable signs of a tremendous swing on the part of the electors of Ontario in favour of Mr. Drury.

In this particular case the wish may have been father of the thought.

There is reason to believe that the swing may be in some other direction.

Against the Premier himself not a great deal of criticism is directed.

It is recognized that he undertook a tremendous responsibility and has, in view of the handicaps under which he has had to work, won laurels for himself if not for his administration.

With no parliamentary experience to guide him, he has had to carry on with a Cabinet equally unseasoned and with a majority only made possible by an alliance between two political elements which have very little in common.

That he has weathered the storm as successfully as he has is a most amazing thing, for, unfortunately for himself, with one or two exceptions, his Ministers have failed to measure up to his standard.

The lack of ability and inexperience of many of the Ministers are reflected in the record expenditure rolled up by the Drury Government.

Pledged to economy, they have in the short time they have been in office sent the Provincial expenditures up to heights undreamed of a few years ago, and their biggest task has been to find new ways of raising the money necessary to finance their operations.

Can Ontario afford to run the risk of another term for an administration that has made the expenditures of its predecessors, extravagant though they used to be called, look like the budget of a miser?

DRURY STRIKES HIS FLAG.

Premier Drury has thrown up his hands. Against the dogged and resolute opposition of his political enemies he has cried "peccavi" and abandoned his measures of redistribution, proportional representation and of the single transferable vote. The Ontario Premier does not play a losing hand with good grace. He exhibits a certain peevishness of temper, a petulant irascibility that ill becomes a statesman. In the expressive phrase of American slang, the opponents to his measures seem to have "got his goat." He talks of the tactics of his adversaries a an "obnoxious tyranny" and as "dastardly methods," and he discourses of the violation of the sacred right of free speech with a fine rhetoric that will win the heart of the idealists.

The Opposition will forgive him these flights and this anger in their hour of triumph, and the country will not be greatly influenced by such heroics. For four days the opponents of the last minute measures have fought the Government with the only weapon in their power—the filibuster. During the last four days one of the Toronto members has occupied the floor for ten hours and he warned the Government that the Opposition was prepared to go on talking until Doomsday if the Government persisted in forcing these measures through. From the purely ethical standpoint there is a great deal to be said against obstructionist methods in debate, whether they take the form of the filibuster or the closure. Yet they are the time honored weapons of the opposing sides. There is no closure rule in the Ontario House; and while Premier Drury wins the cheers of his followers when he declares in a fine burst of oratory that he hopes the day will never come in free Ontario when it will be necessary to apply such a discipline, the story of the fox and the grapes that were inaccessible springs to mind and there will be some who will wonder whether Premier Drury has not wished from the bottom of his heart that such a tool was to hand when he surveyed these "dastardly tactics."

The crime of the Opposition in the Ontario House is not a new one. The Opposition were suspicious of a redistribution bill and the adoption of a proportional representation which was put forward just on the eve of a Provincial election. Being persons possessed of ordinary normal intelligence, they mistrusted a measure to alter the election machinery that was introduced by one of the contestants just after the heralds had announced that the issue would be joined.

Premier Drury has brought his defeat on his own head. If redistribution and proportional representation were measures of statesmanship and not of mere political expediency they ought to have been introduced at the beginning of the session as a part of the Government program. To wait until a Provincial election is within sight was well calculated to consolidate opposition to the proposals. The Opposition stood its ground and the electors will think none the worse of them for that, despite the railings of Mr. Drury.—Montreal Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

There may not be any summer this year, but at least Peterborough enjoyed a summer temperature for one day anyway.

The Legislature fell down on the job, but the electors may do quite a little bit of redistributing on their own account in June.

What Peterborough needs just now is a keep-off-the-lawn week.

The latest folly is marathon piano playing. One piano pounder has manipulated the ivories for 27 hours without a rest. If there is much of this kind of thing there will be some shooting done in self-defence.

Saturday was about the first day since last autumn that Canadians failed to think about the coal supply.

With the snw-ploughs out one week and the water-carts the next, it must be admitted that there is considerable variety about Canadian weather.

There is natural wonder why Col J. A. Currie failed to stop the war by talking the Germans to death.

With the relations between Premier Drury and Mr. Morrison in their present condition, the Farmers' Sun will hardly know whether to "point with pride" or "view with alarm."

It is a good thing the blockade is over. Many members of the Legislature were showing symptoms of sleeping sickness.

Whatever the Canadian weather prospects may be, all indications point to it being wet in England for some time.

At least the newspapers will be spared the trouble of trying to explain to an interested electorate just what proportional representation means and how it is operated.

TRAPPING ENDS TONIGHT.

LINDSAY, April 23.—The season for trapping muskrats ends at 12 o'clock tonight, and so far as this district is concerned—being one of the best 'rat districts in the Province—the season has been a failure. Thousands of dollars would have been earned if earlier by local trappers, but owing to the lakes, rivers and marshes being ice-locked no 'rats have been trapped.

In the early part of the evening the following address was read by Mr. E. Allen and the presentation made by Mr. E. Hoover:

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Parks—

We, your friends, have met together to spend an enjoyable evening and to bid you farewell. We will miss you from our midst but realize that our loss will be others' gain. In token of our appreciation we ask you to accept this purse not for it intrinsic value but for the love it carries with it.

In conclusion we would say that we wish you all happiness and success in your new home.

LINDSAY, April 23.—Mrs. Elizabeth Johnston, a former resident of Manilla, Victoria County, was fatally injured in a street car accident at Toronto. She slipped from behind a north bound car on Pape avenue directly in the path of a south bound car. The accident occurred at 10.50 p.m. and Mrs. Johnston died at St. Michael's Hospital at midnight. She had been crushed beneath the fender of the car and received a fractured skull.

Before taking up residence in Toronto, Mrs. Johnston lived for a time in Cannington. She was well known throughout this district.

PARK BOARD OF HAVELOCK MET

A Camping Ground For Tourists Provided—Construct Grand Stand at the Earliest Possible Date.

HAVELOCK, April 23.—An important meeting of the Park Board was held in the Council Chamber, when all the members were present except Wm. Hitchins, who was out of town.

On motion of Moore and Plunkett, it was decided to set aside a portion of the woods for a camping ground for motoring tourists and the Ontario Motor League will be so informed.

A discussion upon the need of a grand stand culminated in a motion of Plunkett and Barlow that D. A Forde, J. H. Moore and Thos. Wood be a committee to arrange for the construction of a grand stand as soon as possible, with power to act. The stand, which will be a good covered structure, will probably be about 100 x 15, containing six or seven rows and capable of accomodating 400 people. It will be constructed immediately in front of the woods facing south and when completed will be up-to-date in every particular, with the probability of the space underneath being utilized for dressing rooms for the Athletic teams, and there will be a wide space in front for standing room, in which penalty boxes or resting rooms for the various teams, will have a place so providing suitable accomodation for such purposes that has been sadly lacking. Such boxes will also be available for hockey teams, should the plans for an up-to-the- minute open air rink next season go through.

On motion of Barlow and Wood a mass meeting of the board, the town council and the athletic association and the citizens generally, was held in the town hall Thursday.

The board also decided to crib the well in the park in an effort to do away with the quick sand which is ruining the well.

Messrs. Forde and Wood were appointed a committee to see about setting out a quanity of nature maple trees this spring.

NEWS CAVAN AND DISTRICT

Annual Meeting Women's Institute Pleasant Affair —Officers Re-elected.

CAVAN, April 23.—The beginning of the season did not promise well for the yield of maple sap, but there has been an unusually good run this week.

The nice weather of the last few days is causing the farmers to try to get the remainder of their wood cutting over in readiness for working in the fields as soon as the ground is ready.

Women's Institute.

The April meeting of the Cavan Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. J. D. Hunter on Thursday afternoon. It was a beautiful day and an unusually large number of ladies was in attendance. President—Miss Bertha McNeil.
Vice-President—Mrs. J. D. Hunter
Sec.-Treas.—Mrs. Lloyd Sutton.

The various committees were also named. The secretary's report showed the society in a flourishing condition, with many kindly deeds showing on the books. Bouquets of flowers and plants in bloom had been sent to persons ill or confined to their homes for any reason. These had been much appreciated.

A pleasant and profitable afternoon was spent. The ladies brought seeds and slips of plants to exchange. At the close of the meeting Mrs. Hunter served a nice lunch. This was the first time that the Institute had met in Mrs. Hunter's new home and they enjoyed the occasion immensely.

The May meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. Armstrong. It will take the form of an afternoon tea. There will be a notion table with different articles for sale. These articles will be contributed by the members. A small fee will be charged. The Institute is anxious to get a fund on hand out of which to buy flowers, etc., to send out as messages of community interest to any who are in trouble.

Presentations.

Previous to their departure for Toronto recently, Mrs. Jessie Coon and Mrs. Ray Phillips were entertained by the members of the Rebeckah Lodge, I.O.O.F., when they were presented with emblematic rings of that order. Mrs. Coon was a charter member of the Rebeckahs. Following is the address:

"Dear Mrs. Coon,—

"I have been requested to voice the sentiments of our Havelock branch of the Rebeckah order and address a few words of farewell to our dear sister, Jessie Coon, and possibly I have been selected because I have perhaps been privileged to know her longer in an intimate way. It gives me pleasure to turn back the pages of memory and recall her as a girl, later as a bride, wife and mother, and in each of these sacred aspects of life I can say with true sincerity she proved an ideal woman of highest principles, exemplory in the truest sense of the word. As a member of the Rebeckah order she fulfilled all obligations cheerfully and willingly, and I trust that she will not forget to visit us at any time she is in Havelock. Before passing on, I should hesitate to add one thought of sorrow, yet as a duty I refer to her husband, our late departed brother, J. Coon, whose genial personality made him popular as a member of our order and endeared him as a personal friend and who regretted his early call to "come up higher." So now as a widow, Sister Coon has had to face another new aspect of life, and for family reasons has decided to take up residence in the city. We regret losing her, but as life is made up of changes so I trust this charge will mean progression for her in every particular. In saying farewell I beg you to accept this little parting gift as a slight token of respect and esteem from the officers and members of our lodge. We all unite in wishing you God-speed on your journey through life, and assure you of our combined good wishes for the future in your new home in Toronto.

"Signed on behalf of the Rebeckahs—Jane Vance."

EDUCATION IS THE GREATEST BARGAIN

Best Investment Anyone Can Make — Pays Big Dividends in Dollars and Cents.

CHICAGO, April 23. — Education was calld "the greatest bargain on earth," by R. S. Branch of Chicago, at a meeting of subscription book publishers here

"Education," said Mr. Branch "offers the bigest value for the price in the world. Compared with the profits it assures, its cost is insignificant. Ask a man who has an education what it has done for him. No matter what it cost, he would not part with it for a fortune. Consult statistics and you will learn that, aside from its cultural value and the joy to be obtained from its mere possession it pays big dividends in dollars and cents. Whatever the cost of an education to a man in time, labor and money, he will always tell you it was the best investment and the greatest bargain that ever came his way.

"Under modern development of educational facilities, the greatest bargain on the world's counters is available to every one. I train my house-to-house book salesmen to realize that they are engaged in the services of bringing education to the homes of the nation, that they have the greatest bargain in the world to offer, and are justified in urging the people to buy until it hurts.

"I teach them to forget that they are selling books, to forget the commission they may make on a book, and to keep in mind only the one big fact that they are selling an education and doing a service to humanity. This service in my opinion, transforms the book salesman into a missionary preaching one of the greatest gospels in the world — the gospel of education."

HASTINGS HOPES FOR A NEW PARK

Spacious and Suitable Site Capable of Accommodating All Sports in View.

A movement is afoot to have the town council purchase a piece of land for a park. A very suitable site has been located on the outskirts of the town, comprising of about 20 lots with beautiful shade trees and land enough to provide a good skating and curling rink, baseball diamond, lacrosse ground, bowling green and also tennis courts.

This is something Hastings is badly in need of and with the Old Boys and Girls re-union for 1924 it is time everybody lined up and boosted the prospect. Mr. Albert Scriver has offered to build a grand stand with a seating capacity of 300, and with this offer it would not cost an excessive sum to secure a park to be proud of.

Senator A. C. Hardy Sends in His Resignation as President of the Ontario Organization.

TORONTO, April 23.—(Canadian Press.) —Senator A. C. Hardy, of Brockville, has sent in his resignation as President of the Ontario Liberal Association. The executive of the Association has been called to meet in the Confederation Life building on Wednesday morning, when it is expected a call will be sent out for the annual meeting, at which the letter of resignation will be considered. It is understood that Senator Hardy's duties at Ottawa take up so much of his time that he feels that he is not able to give attention required as President of the Ontario Liberal Association.

Senator Hardy was writer of the letter intended for J. Walter Curry, Liberal, South-east Toronto, but which was addressed to J. A. Currie, and which letter the latter read in the Legislature.

ANOTHER ATTEMPT

they probably will insist that all arrests or searches of foreigners will be made by the Turks in accord and with the foreknowledge of foreign advisers.

The general feeling of Europeans is that until new Turkey proves during a fixed transitional period that she is entirely capable of justly administering the laws some guarantee should be afforded foreign residents so that they would be encouraged to dwell in Turkey without apprehension.

The forthcoming conference must lay down principles concerning pre-war contractual rights of foreigners in Turkey, including concessions and must establish regulations for the future economic regime of foreigners, including customs, tariffs, trade, insurance and property rights generally. The Allies want to know where they stand both as to established rights and as to future rights if they are to continue to do business with Turkey.

The Turks and the Allies are widely at variance on their views on these questions. There is disagreement over the Ottoman debt, for the Turks refuse to pay back interest and want to pay future interest in Turkish money at the current depreciated value of it, instead of at a gold value. They claim that the expense of withdrawing from circulation the paper money issued during the war should be borne by the States detached from Turkey, as well as by Turkey herself. They oppose the Allied demands to assign fresh revenue as security for the payment of the Ottoman debt, and finally they want war reparations from Greece ,which Greece says she will refuse to pay, even if this means going to war again.

Subscribing to Angora's request that economic matters, notably concessions, be disjoined from the treaty, the British and French Governments advised concession holders to settle any differences by direct negotiations with the Turkish officials. These negotiations are now proceeding and on the result depends whether the Allies will force discussion at the Lausanne Conference of the general problem of concessions.

The European Governments seem convinced of the wisdom of Turkey seriously examining and classifying all commitments in the same way that China has endeavored to classify hers in consequence of the Washington conference. France probably will either insist on the 1914 concessions by Turkey, or on some substituting compensating concessions.

The British spokesmen said last night they believed France's claims just and that they stood ready to suport France if the French delegation, failing to receive satisfaction from the Angora Government, decides to bring up the concessions issue at Lausanne.

This, of course, would drag in the Chester affair, which has created such an international stir.

Lausanne is excited over the new conference. The hotel proprietors are happy over the gathering, for the war virtually has ruined the Swiss hotel business. The taxicab drivers are wearing wide smiles. ture economic reigme of foreigners, ed Savoie mountains looming from the French shore, never was more lovely. There was a touch of spring in the air and all nature seemed to breathe a message of peace.

MILLBROOK, April 23. — The Women's Missionary Auxiliary of Grace Presbyterian Church held their April meeting in the church parlor, the President, Mrs. (Rev.) G. S. Gervan, in the chair. The opening worship period was followed by the discussion of business items, including the arrangements for distribution of mite boxes and preparation of articles of clothing, etc., for the bale sent each year in September to the Alberni School in the West for the personal use of the Indian boy whom the auxiliary clothes and keeps.

Two papers of a most interesting character were given, one on "Trinidad," by Mrs. H. J. Armstrong, and the other on "Japan," by Mrs. W. S. Given. A great deal of useful missionary information is imparted each month in this manner, increasing the members' interest in, and intelligent understanding of, the various mission fields.

The meeting was closed in the usual manner, to convene again on, Wednesday, May 17, at 3 p.m.

The "Wide Awakes."

The "Wide Awakes" group of Canadian Girls in Training, whose meetings have been somewhat interrupted during the past two weeks, met recently at the home of their leader, Miss P. Burnham. Owing to a good deal of sickness in the village the attendance was smaller than usual. During the discussion of business items, on motion the girls decided to send $5.00 to the Armenian Relief Fund, the project of bringing out one hundred orphans to Canada and settling them on a farm near Georgetown, where they will be educated and cared for, appealing particularly to their sympathies. A most interesting and instructive talk on "First Aid" was given by Mrs. S. T. Tucker, the girls, under her direction, doing some practical work in bandaging at the close as well as answering from memory a series of questions on the information given.

The usual social hour was enjoyed after the closing prayer before the members left for home. A literary subject will be taken up next week following the year's program as issued from Toronto.

Fortunate Escape.

Martin Pethick met with a somewhat serious accident while driving into his own yard with a load of hay. Turning out to avoid hitting a sleigh which had been left in the way, the load upset, pinning the driver underneath. Fortunately J. J. Clarke saw the accident and came to Mr. Pethick's assistance, else there was grave danger of suffocation. Dr. H. A. Turner was summoned and gave prompt attention, but beyond being severely shaken up and bruised Mr. Pethick escaped further injuries.

Personal Mention.

Amongst those from Millbrook who were in Peterborough for the Motor Show were Dr. A. Jemison, G. E. Burnham, W. E. Ball, W. Howden, W. Elson, T. A. Kelly and Jas. Kennedy.

Mrs. Larmer accompanied her husband as far as Mitchell, Ont., remaining there for a brief visit with her sister, Mrs. W. Wood. Mr. Larmer met with a serious accident at the elevator of which he was manager in the West about a month ago, and is not yet fully recovered from its effects. FAIL TO SOLVE A LOVE TANGLE

Comedy of Errors Develops Into Tragedy—Which Is the Husband the Question.

By Roy Gibbons

CHICAGO, April 23.—A comedy of errors here has developed into a tragedy.

Gurgling two-year-old Baby Billy Sierro is the innocent victim of an amazing tangle which even the courts have failed to solve.

And Mrs. Irene Hayes Sierro has turned to science and has asked it by means of blood tests to determine who is her husband and the father of her baby, born in legal wedlock!

The first act of this drama took place in 1919 when Irene Hayes became the wife of one Paul Sierro, according to a marriage license, duly signed, which she now offers in evidence. From this union Baby Billy was born.

Two of Him

When brought into court here the other day to answer a charge of non-support, the husband appeared in the form of two men.

One called himself Sam Serpe. The other said his name was Paul Sierro. Each bore a striking resemblance to the other.

But they seemed to have interchangeable names. Sierro, it was said at the hearing, often was known as Serpe and Serpe sometimes called himself Sierro.

"Which of these is your husband?" asked the judge.

The wife pointed to Sierro.

"And the father of your child?" the court queried.

"Your honor, she's wrong," said the man calling himself Serpe. "I'm her husband. But I'm only the baby's stepfather."

"You lie! You lie!" the wife screamed.

"How about this Sierro?" the court resumed.

"Never Saw Her"

"Never saw her before n my life," came the answer.

"But he is my husband. I lived with him three years. Here's his name on the marriage license," pleaded the wife.

Then the court acted.

"Both of you," he said, addressing the two men, "step forward and write the word 'Paul Sierro.'"

The magistrate compared the handwriting specimens with that on the marriage license.

They were almost identical.

The court was dumfounded.

"Let's let the baby decide," he then suggested. "Let it pick out its daddy."

The wife took the little one into her arms and offered it first to Sierro. The baby was indifferent.

"Come to me," pleaded Serpe.

"I'm not your daddy. Only your step daddy. But come on anyhow."

Baby Won't Aid

One more ray of hope remained. The judge turned to the wife.

"Did your husband have any marks by which you might identify him?"

"Only a mole behind his ear."

Then started a judicial search for the mole. It was found— in precisely the same place—on both men.

"Defendants discharged," ruled the court. "Take the case into the divorce chambers."

And that's how science has come to be entered in the cast.

Foreign Truck Drivers Seem to Delight in Crushing Out Life.

CHICAGO, April 23.—(Canadian Press.)—Automobile killings are increasing in Chicago at a far more alarming rate than in any other large centre in America .The total for the year reached 182 yesterday.

Public sentiment is aroused over the daily slaughter, and the coroner, Chief of Police and States Attorney have combined to make war on reckless speeders.

Many of these killings are murder—persons run down by drunken drivers, or foreigners who man trucks, and appear to take a delight in crushing the life out of a child.

Her father had lit the stove, but it did not seem to burn up well.

Miss Couch was trying to re-light it or locate the trouble, when it exploded in her face. Her hair and eyebrows were badly burned, while she also sustained a slight burn on one cheek.

The greatest harm came from gas which she inhaled into her lungs.

She was unconscious until eight o'clock on Saturday evening. Since that time she has been sleeping continually.

Mrs. H. McClure, Norwood, Ont., writes:

"After my baby was born, I was terribly weak and run down, with pains across my back. I had heard so much of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food that I decided to try it. Three boxes proved enough to make me quite strong and well again. I also used Dr. Chase's Ointment for a rash which broke out on the baby, and the rash disappeared completely in a short time."

ANNIVERSARY OF LANGEMARCK OBSERVED BY WAR VETERANS

Paraded to the Church of the Sacred Heart in Annual Ceremony Marking the Second Battle of Ypres.

PASTOR'S TRIBUTE

High mass with full ceremonial was celebrated at the Church of the Sacred Heart yesterday on the occasion of the attendance of the members of the Peterboro Branch of the Great War Veterans' Association in their commemoration of the eighth anniversary of the second battle of Ypres, Canada's day of glory. About two hundred veterans were in line for the route march from the Association's club quarters to the south end Catholic church. Ex-service officers and men fell in without distinction as to military rank, united on the common but significant footing of the enduring spirit of their comradeship in arms. The khaki of the military was relieved by a patch or two of navy blue, and here and there the tartan of some Canadian Scottish battalions of proud memory. The G.W.V.A. band and the officers of the G.W.V.A. headed the parade, which in its march through the city and back attracted many citizens along the route.

Rev. J. J. O'Brien, pastor of the Church of the Sacred Heart was the celebrant of the mass, with Rev. Father Collins of St. Peter's Cathedral, as deacon, and Rev. Father Butler, of the Sacred Heart Church as sub-deacon. The choir sang the festival music of Easter with the "Regina Coeli" at the offertory. After the benediction and last gospel, Rev. Father O'Brien addressed the veterans, and in extending to them a hearty welcome paid a glowing tribute to the sacrifice of Canadian soldiers which reached its first great heights on Sunday, April 22nd, 1915.

Indebted to Soldiers

"Gentlemen of the Great War Veterans' Association, as pastor of the Church of the Sacred Heart, in my own name and in the name of the congregation, I take this opportunity of expressing to you our heartfelt gratitude for the protection you have given us as citizens of this country, and we wish to acknowledge fully the debt we owe you, not only of gratitude but a very material debt. It was due to your bravery and self-sacrifice that Canada as well as the Empire is safe today, and any words I might use would fall so far short of expressing our indebtedness to you, I feel overwhelmed to such an extent by the thought of it all, that I am reduced to silence.

You left many brave brothers on the other side of the ocean, on the fields of France and Flanders and elsewhere. We do not forget them, and we hope their spirits are hovering over this church today and taking part in this service; and we would like them to accept from us now our tribute of gratitude. They have fallen in battle, and have made the supreme sacrifice. You who have returned through the mysterious providence of God, made as great sacrifice because you went over there in the spirit of sacrifice and patriotism. You offered your lives, you were willing to make the supreme sacrifice, and we hope your reward will be as great as theirs.

And as Judas Maccabeus of old, returning from battle, had sacrifices offered up for those who had fallen, and because as Holy Writ tells us, it is a holy and wholesome thought to pray for the dead, we assure you that the Catholic people and priests remember those who were slain in battle as we ascend the altar; and you and your brother soldiers have a large place in our thoughts and prayers. To be brief, let me once more express our gratitude to you and say that the sacrifice you made has drawn you closer to our hearts, and as there are no men in the Empire to whom we owe a greater debt, so also are there none we love more sincerely. Your sacrifice tightened the bonds of citizenship and friendship, and we are drawn more closely together in common brotherhood.

I hope that we and generations yet unborn, who read the history of the war, shall never forget our brave soldiers. And we do not forget the sacrifice and heroism of the mothers, the widows and the orphans. I hope there will never arise in Canada a generation that will forget the wives, the mothers and the orphans of our soldiers. Our prayers go out for them, and may God have a reward for you greater than the things of this life, eternal happiness in the world to come."

Sermon by Father Butler

Choosing as his text the 33rd verse of the sixth chapter of St. Matthew: "Seek ye therefore first the Kingdom of God and His justice, and all these things shall be added unto you," Rev. Father Butler drew an analogy between the physical warfare in which the visiting veterans were victors and the continual spiritual warfare in the lives of those who followed Christ. Mankind was bound by a powerful attachment to this world. As the first dwelling place of man God had made this earth a beautiful place. It was a paradise, called the garden of Eden, made beautiful because Adam and Eve were gifted with original innocence and justice. They were required to show their allegiance to their creator and King. Who had the right to demand of them acts of obedience by which that allegiance might be manifested. Failing in that loyalty and allegiance they were driven forth against the forces of the world, but still retained freedom to choose Him or not. They could merit everlasting joy or everlasting damnation.

As heirs of Adam and Eve mankind was required to merit eternal happiness, Father Butler said. By acknowledging God and serving Him, man could bring his soul back to his Creator by living a good and holy life. In the sixth chapter of St. Matthew, Jesus had counselled "Be not solicitous for your life, what you shall eat, nor for your body, what you shall put on." To man who was more than the birds and beasts He gave the advice to seek the kingdom of God and these things would be added.

"What are we searching for?" Father Butler asked. "We are seeking for life. It is one of the richest treasures we have. We cling to it with an awful tenacity, and will not be robbed of it. You, my soldier friends, who have seen your comrades fall, you can tell us how precious is life. And you who have seen your boys go forth, many of them not returning, you, too, can tell us how precious is life. And that very tenacity with which we cling to it proves that life must be eternal, that it is not a matter of a few spans here. Life is a supernatural eternal gift of God."

For the Christian, the supernatural life must be modeled after that of Christ. This means a struggle, and in this world Christians are soldiers fighting against "powers and principalities." Father Butler referred to the armour of the Christian soldier as described by St. Paul, the breast plate of justice which was holiness, the shield of faith, the helmet of salvation and the sword of the spirit.

"A soldier is prepared to make the supreme sacrifice for the principles of right and justice. Today we have those with us who have been in battle, and many of them have been wounded. Others were left behind on the fields of France. They made sacrifices for us, and yet we are all soldiers, and must make sacrifices if we wish to follow the banner of Christ. In that service we will be doing things which will commemorate the sacrifice of our Canadian boys. We will be honoring them by our lives and by our Christian example to bring into the world those principles which we were first taught us by God Himself."

DOCTOR FORCED TO VISIT STATES

(By Thos. A. Buckner, Vice-President, New York Life Insurance Company)

Dr. Lorenz, the famous Austrian surgeon who operated a number of years ago on Lolita Armour and brought her back to health, spoke the other evening on the economic condition of his country, saying that the nation was dependent on the bounty of America.

In his thirty-five years of medical practice, he said, he had saved $25,000 which had now dwindled in value to $1.50, forcing him to come to the United States to try to "keep my chimney smoking during my old age."

His expression beautifully pictures what life insurance does, or may do, for those who take this sensible and systematic way of laying aside, little by little, as the years go by, a fund that grows and accumulates like a snowball rolling down hill, finally becoming at the end of the period a veritable comforter and sustainer that will accomplish for those who take it just what the famous doctor hopes at this late day to do—keep the chimney smoking during his old age.

The doctor is an artist in expression. No finer picturization of what life insurance means could be put in words. It "keeps the chimney smoking" as one goes down the western slope, providing bodily and mental comfort, relief and sustenance in one's declining years. We thank Doctor Lorenz for his apt expression.

BANQUET GIVEN TO EDUCATION CLASSES

Y. M. C. A. Entertains Students of Salesmanship and Public Speaking Courses.

The members of the two Educational Courses at the Y.M.C.A.,—the courses in Salesmanship and in Public Speaking,— were tendered a banquet by "Y" as a fitting close to a very successful year.

After the discussion of the more material portion of the evening's entertainment the "feast of reason and the flow of soul" began.

Mr. Joseph Wearing, the teacher of the Public Speaking course presided as toastmaster, and in his opening address outlined the reasons why the Board of Directors of the Y.M.C.A. had inaugurated the two courses in question. It was as necessary he said to supply food for the mind as it was to supply exercise for the body and inspiration for the soul and it was the aim of the Y.M.C.A. to develop man in all these three branches of the ir lives.

Toasts were then proposed and responded to by members of the courses, to Salesmanship and to Public Speaking,— the manner in which these were presented being sufficient indication of the results already derived from the courses. The students to a man expressed their pleasure at being given the opportunity to thank the Y.M.C.A. for their initiative and foresight in start? ing these two courses. Messrs. A. M. Stabler, Wm. Tinker, D. W. Roseburgh, C. S. McKee and E. W. Jones were the speakers.

Mr. William Boulton, the teacher of the salesmanship course made a few well chosen remarks upon the service the salesman rendered to the public, mentioning in passing that it was salesmen who were responsible for the development of all inventions through rendering it possible to market them, and thus placing them upon a manufacturing basis as the electric light, the vitcrola and the automobile are nowadays.

Mr. Roper, the general secretary was then called upon. He expressed his gratification at the support the two courses had received from the members and outlined a probable expansion in the Y.M.C.A.'s educational work next fall, which elicited considerable enthusiasm from those present.

In closing Mr. Wearing left his hearers with a vision when he said that the true essence of both Public Speaking and of Salesmanship was, —first, to feel that one had a message; second, to establish contact with the other man and, thirdly, to give him the message in an indelible form.

The singing of "Auld Lang Syne" brought both a very pleasant evening and many pleasant acquaintance ships to an end, leaving however, the hope that in the fall the friendships and good times together would be renewed.

GIFT OF CLUB BAG.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Suscee of Hunter street recently, when the choir of Mark street church met to say farewell to one of the members, in the person of Miss Haliday, of East City.

Mr. V. Boorman, choir leader and organist was the moving spirit in the event, and Mr. and Mrs. Suscee proved themselves royal host and hostess on the occasion.

The evening was spent in music and games, after which a very dainty lunch was served. Mr. Boorman then called Miss Halliday forward, and presented her with a beautiful club bag, while a neat address was read by Miss Suscee. The recipient made a happy and pithy reply.

The pastor dismissed the happy gathering with prayer about 11.30, and all went away feeling that a pleasant and profitable evening had been spent.

ST. GEORGE'S SOCIETY MEETING BY RADIO

Will Be Broadcasted From Albany on April 23.

For the information of the many radio fans in the city who are interested in the programmes broadcasted each evening from the various stations in the U.S.A., the following letter, received from WGY, Schenectady, will be interesting, especially to those of English birth or of English parentage:

"Dear Sir,—We were pleased to receive your letter of March 24th and we are very glad to led you know that on the evening of April 23 there will be broadcast through our station from Albany, N.Y., the meeting of the St. George's Society of Albany, New York. We trust that you will be able to receive the evening's programme in a satisfactory manner.

"Yours very truly,
"General Electric Co., W.G.Y."

This letter was received in reply to a letter of mine suggesting that there were many Canadians and probably many Englishmen in Canada and the United States who would be glad to listen in to an evening's programme on St. George's Day that would be appropriate to the day, and to the country whose patron saint is St. George.

THE SWEETEST STORY IN SPEECH AND SONG

Last night Mr. A. G. Bentley, who is well-known in Peterborough, commenced a series of evangelistic meetings in the Gospel Hall. There was a full congregation, who listened reverently to the message which was based upon three texts of Scripture: "The way of salvation," Acts 16, 17; "The knowledge of salvation," Luke 1, 77; and "The joy of salvation," Psalms 51, 12. The preacher showed clearly that according to these scriptures, salvation from sin's condemnation was not by merit, but by faith in the rich, atoning blood of the Son of God; that the certainty regarding it was dependent upon what God said about it as in 1st John 2, 12; "I write unto you, little children, because your sins are forgiven you," and Ch. 5, 13: "These things write I unto you that believe in the name of the Son of God: that ye may know that ye have eternal life." The joy of salvation was, however, much dependent upon the behaviouh of the Christian. A small act of disobedience grieves the Holy Ghost, and the joy stays, which can only be restored upon confession of that sin, and the forsaking of it.

The subject which will be dealt with to-night is "Marks of the new birth." Don't miss hearing it. Come every night and hear the sweetest story in speech and song.

FISH AND GAME BOOTH CREATED MUCH INTEREST

An an outcome of the booth at the Motor Show, the Fish and Game Protective Association added some 75 new member to its roll.

This is not considered by the Executive the most important work done. Many people who did not know of the existence of the association have become interested in the very necessary work being so well done by the executive and members in restocking the Peterborough waters and protecting game in this district.

General and gratifying interest was shown by the public in this booth, and the impression made at the Motor Show is being followed up by a distribution of literature.

The Executive wishes to thank the following who so kindly loaned exhibits to make the stall attractive: E. Elcome, deer head; George Green, lunge; Fred. Roy, lake trout; Bill Ackerman, brook trout; P. Blade, ferns.

"THE DEACON" REPEATED TO LARGE AUDIENCE

"The Deacon," the bright little comedy in five acts which had its initial offering in St. James' Sunday School Hall on Thursday evening of last week, was repeated on Friday night to a large-sized and appreciative audience. The clever young people who put on this attractive little play have been requested to give it at several out-of-town, neighboring centres and received much praise for their work. D. Davis, as George Graef, Mrs. Thornton's nephew, does good work in unearthing the schemes of the villain, played in specially good style by F. Coles, as George Darrah, alias Matt. Wheeler. "George" is a real, honest-to-goodness bad man, and mixed things up generally until he is brought to time.

The various parts in the bright little play were taken in fine shape, and much credit is due the cast and their directors for their good work. The Village Band, led by Mr. Edwin Rowe, received hearty applause.

RECIPES

By Bertha E. Shapleigh.

Place three cups of maple syrup, one cup of cream and a quarter cup of butter in a sauce pan over the fire and stir until it reaches the boiling point. Then place over simmering burner or on back of range where it will boil generally until a soft ball can be formed with the fingers when some of the syrup has been dropped into cold water. When this can be done, remove from the fire, cool and then beat until creamy. Stir in one cup of nuts, preferably pecans, add one-half teaspoon of vanilla and pour into a buttered or oiled pan. Cut when cold, into squares.

Caution: Do not beat too long a time, or the candy will be hard instead of creamy.

This candy can also be made successfully with brown sugar.

COMMUNISTS ARE BLAMED FOR RIOT

French Absolve Themselves From Responsibility for Fourteen Deaths

ESSEN, April 23. — (Canadian Press.)—The French have absolved themselves from blame in the killing of fourteen German workers outside the Krupp plant here on Easter Saturday.

Military investigators are understood to have placed the responsibility on the shoulders of six Communists ,members of the General Workers Council, who blew factory whistles when the soldiers entered and thus caused the street riot that ended in the French using their rifles.

The formality of a trial will be gone through, however, before any sentences are passed.

This court martial will be held at the end of this week in the large community hall at Werden, instead of in the regular court room, on account of the extraordinary number of foreign journalists desiring to attend.

Three Krupp directors, Hartwig, Oesterle and Bruhn, are still in prison, charged with blowing the sirens and stirring the workers against the French.

MUST PERPETUATE CANADA'S FORESTS

They Are Vital to Continued Industrial Welfare in the Dominion.

OTTAWA, April 23 (Canadian Press). — "The consumer of forest products will pay at his lumber yard and he will pay through his daily and weekly newspaper. Prices for all forest products must ascend. Nothing can stop them."

This is the statement of J. R. Booth Canada's veteran lumberman, in giving his opinion regarding the inevitable results of forest fires. One tree is used in the industry, nineteen are burned.

The protection and perpetuation of Canada's forests are vital to its continued industrial welfare.

With the approaching fire season, and recognising the absolute necessity for greater precaution against fire if Canada is to perpetuate its forests and wood-working industries, and maintain its supply of pulpwood to permit continued publication of our newspapers at a reasonable cost to readers, an Order-in-Council has been passed setting aside the present week as Forest Fire Prevention Week throughout Canada.

FAREWELL ADDRESS BY REV. MACKENZIE

Few Eyes Dry When Departing Pastor Preached His Last Sermon.

Ther were were in the packed congregation in Knox Church, last night whose eyes were not moist as they listened to the farewell sermon by Rev. James A. MacKenzie. His people's sorrow at losing their beloved pastor was too great to be overcome by the hopeful and cheerful message he delivered.

Basing his sermon on the text in St. John 15:8 "Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit," Mr. MacKenzie pointed out how people turn to the Gospel of St. John in times of sorrow that they may have their hope re-established in the citadel of their souls. Jesus told his disciples that he would not treat them any longer as servants, but as friends. Speaking to them as friends, he tells them that the great Father in Heaven, the Creator of theearth—the One who is the breath of life in the human body and who in His own time taketh it away again, He has purposes for all of us. His purpose is that we may bear much fruit of the soul dedicated to God himself.

"It is pertinent at this time," the speaker said, "to ask ourselves if we have fully recognized Our Father's purposes in our lives. We are not in this world to follow the line of least resistance. We are here for a definite purpose. We are here because God wants us to be here and to do some specific work for Him. We should bear fruit for Him. Is it true that you and I have blasted the concord of His love by our unforgiveness by our gross neglect? Is it true that instead of looking to the skies tonight we turn our faces to the earth the earth and cry for forgiveness that the fair pages of opportunity are polluted and blotted through our sin? Can we say that we have recognized the purpose of God, and in the presence of Him whom we cannot deceive say we have done something for Him worth while? It is a worthy question for us to ask ourselves as a congregation. Have we done the Master's service? Can we say that we have ever lost sight of the great purpose of the great purpose of the Church in this world?"

The Pastor's Aim

Remarking that with the exception of a few minor changes things in Knox Church are practically the same as when he entered on his ministry there eight years ago, Mr. MacKenzie said that he had not aimed at much outward change. His aim had been to strengthen the organizations in the church. Knox had until recent years been compelled to seek assistance from outside sources, and is devoutly thankful for that assistance which was always gladly given. To-day, however, instead of looking for outside help to balance the budget at the end of the year, the church is carrying itself. A confidence has been added to the congregation that greater things can be done for God than have yet been done.

The speaker said that he had not attempted to bring boys and girls of immature years into church membership, but had turned his attention to those of mature years who had not identified themselves with the church. Many have entered full church membership during his ministry, and Mr. MacKenzie has never had reason to regret the membership of anyone. He believes that through the years they will play the game because when they entered the church they knew what they were doing—they had counted the cost.

Gave His Best

"Whether my best was good or bad or indifferent," continued the speaker, "Knox church always had it. In all circumstances I have given you the best of which I have been capable." In a graceful tribute to his mother, whom he described as "One of the greatest workers, one of the most unselfish persons whom I have ever known," Mr. MacKenzie said, "She told me 'whatever you do, do it for the sake of your own satisfaction and to the glory of God.' That ideal has been a beacon light to me and through all the years God shall give me it will remain with me. I lift up my head to-night and look anyone of you in the face and say, whatever have been the manifest failures of my work, I have simply done what I could."

His Calling Away

Continuing, Mr. MacKenzie pointed out that God has a purpose in calling him away from Knox Church It is not that the fruit bearing here may be halted. In this change God may awaken Knox Church to some things about His Kingdom which it has not known before. "I rejoice to-night' he said, "in the assurance that while it gives me great pain to leave you, and while it may be an occasion of great regret to many of you, God is going to work greater things in Knox than it has yet known. I believe that God works a great thing when he comes amongst his vines and prunes them. I have a feeling within my heart that it was God's will to send me, and that is all there is to it."

Referring to his text, the speaker drew attention to Gods power. The work in the church is God's work, and behind the Church there is His power. It is God's purpose that we bear much fruit—the fruit of love—of kindness—of integrity. It is His purpose that we bear such a witness to Him that the light of it shall not be dimmed within the confines of the city or the country, but may shine to the ends of the earth and lead others to Jesus hrist. "May I appeal to Knox Church as I have often appealed before to so work and to so pray that out of your homes may come boys for the ministry and daughters for the active service of the kingdom of God; that you may not rest content with equipping your boys and girls morally for business lives, but may surrender them to the paths of service where they may witness for Him?

Appreciation of Peterboro

"I would like to say, on behalf of Mrs. MacKenzie and myself, how much we have appreciated your kindness, your hospitality, your consideration, ond your generosity. I will be glad to come back to visit you at your invitation, and if you overlook the invitation you will likely see me anyhow."

"I want to say that the people of Peterborough have always made me feel at home. In this city there is as kindly a class of people as I will meet anywhere in my travels. For the good feeling that has existed between me and my friends outside my congregation I wish to give thanks."

The anthems, under the direction of Mr. J. A. Jeffries, were "Send out Thy Light" (Ch. Gounod) and "Lord of Heaven" (L. F. Rossi). bery.

SAYS PRESENT

can lay off men or we can lay off the car."

Judge Huycke: "If it is to destroy or affect seriously the strength of the police force then I am not going to give way one iota."

Chief Newhall: "I have stayed up at night and worked hard to make up a good efficient force, and I have given the city good protection, and this is the result. They go and break it up."

The Resolution.

Answering enquiries, the Chief stated that there are 16 men on the police force all told. The car and the motorcycle, he said, are equal to six men. During the approaching summer two traffic men will be absolutely necessary on account of the larger number of cars. "We have the worst crossings of any town I know," he declared. "The corner of McDonnel and George is a regular death trap." Nine hours, the Chief informed the Board, is a policeman's day. That is enough to break down a very strong man. There must be men to relieve those on duty to get meals. The proper proportion for police protection is one to one thousand in smaller towns, and one to five hundred in large cities. Judge Huycke remarked that applications have been made to Chief Newhall and himself to have outside districts covered by the patrol, but it is impossible to cover them with the present force.

The following resolution was adopted:

"Resolved, that the secretary be instructed to notify the Council of the City of Peterborough that the present sixteen men on the police force are absolutely necessary and required for proper administration and the city's necessities; and further that the other incidentals in our estimates are all absolutely essential, and though very desirous of cooperating with the Council in an honest effort to economize, this Board cannot see its way clear to reduce its estimates forwarded as the proper amount, and the most approximately that will be required for police administration of the city during the present year."

It was also decided that the Board be a committee to meet the City Council on Monday night.

The Investigation Again.

A letter from the City Council transmitting a resolution from the Owners' and Tenants' Association asking for a public meeting to investigate the evidence given at the recent investigation and also a statement made by Rev. R. Pogue at a Council meeting, was also considered. It was decided to inform the City Council that the Police Commissioners had made certain investigations in reference to the letter from the City Council, and in view of the litigation pending between Chief Newhall and Rev. R. Pogue, the Commission does not deem it advisable to take any action at this time or while the matter is before the courts.

Asked by Judge Huycke whether there was any truth in the report that Chief Newhall had been approached by clergymen in the city with reference to the investigation, Chief Newhall said there were four clergymen who spoke to him or called him up on the telephone asking him to do this or that or the other thing.

Judge Huycke: To intercede?

Chief Newhall—Yes, to intercede for some people charged.

Chief Newhall declared he had the names of the clergymen in his book upstairs and the commission accompanied him to his office to inspect the record. The result was not made public.

Purchase of Uniforms.

Another communication was received from the City Council requesting that future uniforms for the police force be purchased by tender in Canada. The latest uniforms were purchased in England through a local agent, and cost just three quarters of the price tendered by local merchants, Chief Newhall said. "They are made of uniform cloth, which could not be obtained in Peterborough, and which the merchants could not obtain. The dealers do not want the city's business."

Judge Huycke remarked that several citizens had commented on the new uniform, remarking that it is the smartest yet.

The Board decided to file the letter for reference when uniforms are again required.

Answering questions regarding the hours of duty, Chief Newhall said that nine hours is a policeman's day. The policemen are nine hours on the street, and that is enough to break down the strongest man. The men walk on an average 20 miles on a tour of duty. They walk at the rate of 2½ miles an hour. There must be men to relieve those on duty to get meals. The men are not allowed to go to restaurants for meals — they must bring their meals, and eat them in the police station.

Judge Huycke remarked that the proper proportion for police protection is one to one thousand in the smaller towns and one to five hundred in the large cities.

Chief Newhall said that Toronto is away under strength now—they have 800.

CELEBRATE TONIGHT ST. GEORGE'S DAY

Social Evening With Programme and Addresses at the S. O. E. Hall.

Lansdowne Lodge of the Sons of England will celebrate St. George's Day this Monday, April 23, by holding a social evening in their rooms at the S.O.E. hall, Hunter street. The chair will be taken by Mr. J. J. Turner at 8 o'clock and the programme will be appropriate to the day and to the country, whose patron saint is St. George. A Northern Electric Co.'s radio set will be installed for the evening by the kindness and courtesy of the J. M. Greene Music Co., and it is expected that at 9.30 the St. George's Society banquet to be held at Albany, New York, which is being broadcast by the General Electric Company, Schenectady (W.G.Y.) will be enjoyed by those present.

This special feature of the W.G.Y. programme is the response to a letter sent some time ago by a member of the lodge, suggesting that a special programme suitable for St. George's Day would be [illegible] by Canadians in general and Englishmen in particular, and would also be enjoyed by many Americans whose sympathies are strongly pro-British.

All members and friends and all Englishmen in the city are welcome. Tickets can be procured from any member of the lodge or at the door. The charge is merely a nominal one in order to defray the cost of the refreshments ,which will be served at the close.

LONG SEARCH IS ENDED AT LAST

Spent Years Seeking Relief From Rheumatism and Found It In Tanlac, States Coulter.

"After suffering for years and spending a small fortune trying to get relief, Tanlac has fixed me up in short order—it's certainly surprising how quickly the right medicine will get a person to feeling right again," said Charles Coulter, 125 Sackville Street, Toronto, Ont.

"My hands and wrists were so swollen with rheumatism I couldn't hold a bow to play my violin. My right leg was affected also, and hurt so bad I couldn't bend it or lie on my right side. I suffered so terribly I never felt like eating, and my nerves were so unstrung I could hardly sleep a wink.

"I kept getting worse until I got Tanlac, but the rheumatism began easing up when I started on this treatment, and in a few weeks' time was gone completely. I feel fine in every other way, too, and can get around like a schoolboy now. I'll tell the world Tanlac is great."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 35 million bottles sold.

QUIZ CORNER

LOUIS RIEL.

Q.—Who was Louis Riel?

A.—Louis Riel was a half-breed, or Matis, who started two rebellions in the North-West. On 18th March, 1885, the second one was started at Duck Lake, Manitoba, though his first effort in 1870 had failed. He was arrested, tried, and hanged at Regina.

THE BATTLE OF ST. QUENTIN

A.—When was the Battle of St. Quentin fought?

A.—The Battle of St. Quentin was fought on 21st March 1918, as a part of the long struggle of the Somme, when our men were falling back slowly, and the Canadians did good service in helping to cover the retreat of the main army before the last great German drive.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor, Examiner.

Sir,—In all the recent utterances on Church Union there is one aspect that has not been made clear, and that is the place the Presbyterian Church occupies in its polity and organizations. Presbyterianism stands midway between Episcopacy and Congregationalism. In Episcopacy the supreme authority is in the bishop; in Congregationalism it rests with the membership of the congregations assembled in meeting; in Presbyterianism it is vested in the council or assembly comprised of representatives chosen by the people. In Episcopacy the control of affairs is largely withdrawn from the people; in Congregationalism it is almost entirely exercised by the people, while in Presbyterianism it is reposed in the council or assembly made up of the chosen representatives. In Episcopacy the form of government is monarchic; in Congregationalism it is democratic; while in Presbyterianism it is representative or republican.

The addition of the fathers was to trust the leadership of the "fathers and brethren," and chosen representatives of the people. That is Presbyterianism, and to depart from that and to pour contempt on the supreme court of our Church is to depart from the tradition of our fathers, and is not only anti-union, it is manifestly anti-Presbyterian. If this tradition were lived up to in spirit we would hear nothing of that word "coercion," let those accept the consequences who take upon themselves the responsibility of following the divisive course, and refuse to abide by the decisions of the supreme court of the Church. The day of coercion began the day a "party" was formed within the Church, a party which virtually said, "Henceforth we will accept the judgment of the Assembly when it is in accord with our own party programme."

The PRIDE of PALOMAR

By Peter B. Kyne

"Don Mike has told us something of the indolent, easy-going natures of his people," Kay continued, as she tucked the note in her coat pocket. "I have wondered if, should he succeed in saving his ranch without too great an expenditure of effort, he would continue to cast off the spell of 'the splendid, idle forties' and take his place in a world of alert creators and producers. Do you think, Mr. Bill, that he will be the gainer through my policy of keeping him in ignorance of my part in the refinancing of his affairs—if he dare not be certain of victory up to the last moment? Of course it would be perfectly splendid if he could somehow manage to work out his own salvation, but of course, if he is unable to do that his friends must do it for him. I think it would be perfectly disgraceful to permit a Medal of Honor man to be ruined, don't you, Mr. Bill?"

"Say, how long have you known this fellow Miguel?"

"Seventy-two hours, more or less."

He considered. "Your father's nerve has been pretty badly shaken by the Jap's attempt to kill Miguel. He feels about that pretty much as a dog does when he's caught sucking eggs. Why not work on your father now while he's in an anti-Jap mood? You might catch him on the rebound, so to speak. Take him over to La Questa valley some day this week and show him a little Japan; show him what the San Gregorio will look like within five years if he persists. Gosh, woman, you have some influence with him haven't you?"

"Very little in business affairs, I fear."

"Well, you work on him, anyhow, and maybe he'll get religion and renew Miguel's mortgage. Argue that point about giving a Medal of Honor man another chance."

The girl shook her head. "It would be useless," she assured him. "He has a curious business code and will not abandon it. He will only quote some platitude about mixing sentiment and business."

"Then I suppose the battle will have to go the full twenty rounds. Well, Miss Parker, we're willing. We've already drawn first blood and with your secret help we ought to about chew the tail off your old man."

"Cheerio." She held out her dainty little gloved hand to him. "See me when you need more money, Mr. Bill. And remember! If you tell on me I'll never, never forgive you."

He bent over her hand and kissed it. never, never forgive you."

His caress was partly reverence, partly a habit of courtliness surviving from a day that is done in California, for under that shabby old tweed suit there beat the gallant heart of a true cavalier.

When Miss Parker had ridden away with Pablo at her heels, Bill Conway unburdened himself of a slightly ribald little chanson entitled: "What Makes the Wild Cat Wild?" In the constant repetition of this query it appeared that the old Californian sought the answer to a riddle not even remotely connected with the mystifying savagery of non-domestic felines.

Suddenly he slapped his thigh. "Got it," he informed the payroll he had been trying to add for half an hour. "Got it! She does love him. Her explanation of her action is good but not good enough for me. Medal of Honor man! Rats. She could loan him the money to pay her father, on condition that her father should never know the source of the aid, but if they reduced their association to a business basis he would have to decide between the ranch and her. She knows how he loves this seat of his ancestors—she fears for the decision. And if he decided for the ranch there would be no reasonable excuse for the Parker family so stick around, would there? There would not. So he is not to be lost sight of for a year. Yes, of course that's it. Methinks the lady did protest too much. God bless her. I wonder what he thinks of her. One can never tell. It might be just her luck to fail to make a hit with him. Oh, Lord, if that happened I'd shoot him. I would for a fact. Guess I'll drop in at the ranch some day next week and pump the young idiot. . . No, I'll not. My business is building dams and bridges and concrete highways . . . well, I might take a chance and sound him out . . . still, what thanks would I get . . . no, I'll be shot if I will . . . oh, to the devil with thanks. If he don't like it he can jump it . . . What makes the wild cat wild, boys, Oh, what makes the wild cat wild?"

Felt Factory Busy

The Cobourg Felt Company started operations a few days ago in their felt making department, and it is expected that other departments will be starting up very shortly. This is a matter for gratification as the industry is a valuable asset to the town.

Band Grant of $750

The application of the Cobourg Concert Band (Kilties) to the town of Cobourg for a grant was met by the council making an appropriation of $750 for their work. Mr. J. H. Golding is leader. The band gives weekly concerts that are very popular at Victoria Park during the summer season.

Looking Forward

The Royal Arch Masons of Ontario District No. 10, will probably hold their picnic here early in July.

The Rotary Club picnic for this district, which was held here last year, is to be held on July 27.

The Loyal Order of Moose are considering also holding their picnic this year in Cobourg.

The excursions from Rochester and nearby points are expected to begin about the last of this month. It begins to look as if the early summer will be a lively time in Cobourg.

Children's Aid Take Children

A family named Parry residing in Murray township, have been having their difficulties of late, and this has resulted in the appearance of husband and wife in the police court. Upon their last appearance the wife was allowed ten days to remove her effects, as a separation had been agreed upon. It is alleged that in the meantime she beat up the man of the household, and their matrimonial horizon did not grow any clearer. The Children's Aid Society of Northumberland and Durham, have taken charge of the children.

Dr. Seagar Hero

Dr. Seagar, Provost of Trinity College, Toronto, gave a splendid address at a luncheon of the Cobourg Rotary Club in which he referred to selfishness as one of the greatest faults of the present day. His subject was exemplified along the lines of the following sentence. Below the political question lies the economic, below the economic lies the moral, below the moral lies the curse of selfishness. Once we put into the hearts and wills of men a motive power sufficient in accord with the highest moral principle, then the economic principle will have solved itself, and the science of Christianity will have solved itself also. It was a very able and practical address.

Much Freight Being Carried

The volume of freight carried by G. T. R. and C. N. R. trains last week is stated to have been the greatest in the history of these Canadian railways. This is surely a good indication of the country's prosperity.

Sick Boy Given Radio Set

The officials of the Cobourg Rotary Club last week had a complete radio outfit installed in the home of Murray Gordon, a youth who has been laid aside for a year or two with hip disease. It is a gift from the Marconi Company, Montreal, through their local agent, Mr. Harry Black. The installation of this radio set in the invalid's home is an example of one of the many goodnesses to which the new invention may be part.

The Cobourg Concert Band has been approached by the Brockville Commercial Travellers' Association with reference to going to that city for a day's celebration early in July.

GOOD MANNERS.

The suffix "Junior is not generally used on a woman's calling cards, but sometimes it is necessary. For example, if a woman whose husband bears the same name as his father lives in the same town as the senior couple, it is required to avoid confusion. The mother-in-law does not use the suffix "Senior" unless widowed, in which case she does so if she continues to use her late husband's full name, while the daughter-in-law drops the "Junior" from her cards.

Science reduces the TIME and cost of preparing meals

FROM the very inception of the Electric Range Industry, the best Engineering brains have concentrated on the production of protected Elements.

So far there has been created only one which has stood the test of time, and which is sold with the full assurance by its makers that it will give highly satisfactory service. That one is McClary's Protected Element.

The chief advantage of a Protected Element is obviously that it makes the cooking top of an Electric Range practical.

But in protecting the Element, several other important advantages are gained, which makes the Protected Element supreme from every standpoint—including speed.

USES ORDINARY UTENSILS

Any kind of Cooking Utensils may be used on McClary's Protected Element.

McClary's Protected Element is the only one on which you can get satisfactory cooking results by the use of the wide range of cooking utensils usually found in the home. No other element can do this.

FASTER COOKING

For ordinary Household Cooking the Speed of McClary's Protected Element is not equalled by other Electrical cooking devices.

There is only one test of speed for the housewife, and that is the test in her own kitchen with the tea kettle, with the potato pot, with the sauce pan full of vegetables,—with the frying pan.

The amount of water or water and vegetables usually being heated is two or more quarts. McClary's Protected Element brings that quantity of water to a boil very quickly. It should be observed that there is what the Scientists call a slight "initial lag" in a Protected Element. That means that for a moment or two after the heat is turned on something is lost in speed, but this loss is quickly recovered, and from then on rapid gains in speed are made. The protection or filling of McClary's Protected Element becomes heated very rapidly, and then the Element heats by contact, as well as by radiation.

BOILS ON "LOW"

McClary's Protected Element Costs less for current because it keeps water boiling on low.

No good cook cares to have vegetables "boil to death." Once McClary's Protected Element has brought the vegetables to a boil the current can be turned to "low," and the pot kept boiling with a small amount of current. Previous to this invention it was necessary to keep the Element either at "high" or "medium." Even when turned "OFF" simmering heat is maintained for 20 minutes.

HEATS DISHWATER WITHOUT CURRENT

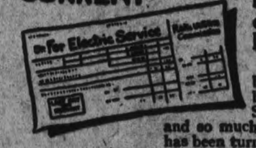
Once fully heated there is a "store" of heat in McClary's Protected Element—enough to heat the water for washing dishes. You can put three quarts of water in the kettle, and place it on the hot Protected Element, and turn off the current. McClary's Protected Element will heat the water to 140 degrees—so hot you cannot hold your hand in it. This advantage comes from the "protecting filling" of McClary's Protected Element.

SAVES CURRENT



McClary's Protected Element Costs less for Current in Ordinary Household Use, because it heats by contact, and because it stores heat.

The economies that can be effected by McClary's Protected Element must be apparent to any thrifty housewife. So much cooking can be done on "Low," and so much done on the Element after the heat has been turned off, that great savings in Electric current are effected. This is a point which not only affects the purse of the housewife, but has a bearing on the broader economy of Electric Current, which will soon be of vital importance to the country as a whole.

BOILING OVER

McClary's Protected Element is not Damaged by boiling over of preserves or by contact with metal utensils or the accidents due to carelessness in using the Range.

Leaving aside the advantages of economy, speed and other conveniences which have been cited above, what a difference it makes to have a cooking top that is just as easy to operate as the smooth top of an ordinary coal range!

If anything boils over no damage is done, and it is a very easy matter to clean the surface of the Range. Thousands of women have bought McClary's Range for this advantage alone, and they are even more enthusiastic now about McClary's Protected Element than they were when they first used them.

For these reasons and to distinguish McClary's Protected Element from any attempt at imitations we are giving it a name of its own:—

TOR-RED PROTECTED ELEMENT

Trade Mark Registered

Heats by Contact—Protected Against Damage—Red in Tone

The protection of McClary's Element is a secret process. It is the creation of McClary's Research Department. It is not used, and cannot be used by other firms.

This protection is the secret of the speed of McClary's Element. It changes the principle of heating, making the Tor-red Element heat by contact as well as by radiation.

McClary's Tor-red Protected Element has a reddish color. This color is an identification. It comes from the secret process which McClary's evolved, and which only McClary's can use in making Protected Elements.

When you decide to buy an Electric Range, consider carefully the advantage it will be to you to have a Range with the Tor-red Protected Element.

Three times a day you use the cooking-top of your range. Some days you use it almost continuously, the advantages of the Tor-red Protected Element will mean less work for you every day, and in addition will effect a considerable saving in your bills for Electric Current.

Want Ad Tips by John T. Bartlett

GIVE YOUR ADDRESS, TOO.

A great many people are not telephone subscribers, yet they may be just as interested in the article your Want Ad offers as though they were. The Jones family are just such folks. In need of a kitchen range a few days ago, they scanned the Want Ads. Two ranges were offered. The advertiser of one gave only her 'phone number. The second advertiser gave both 'phone number and address.

Mrs. Jones took the family car in the afternoon, and started out to buy a range. She went first to the advertiser whose Want Ad. gave an address. Naturally, she did. Calling the other range advertiser would have meant troubling a neighbor, or patronizing a drugstore booth. Also, like many people who use the telephone infrequently, Mrs. Jones doesn't relish 'phone conversations, and avoids them when she can.

She answered first the Want Ad. with an address. The range suited, and the price was right. "Why look any farther?" Mrs. Jones reasoned. And bought.

The advertiser's address takes up little space in any Want Ad, yet those few words often will be salesmakers. Buying any of various things, many readers take the attitude, "We'll go to see. We won't trouble to 'phone, because before buying we would wish to see the article anyway." So they jump into the car, and are away—first, to the advertisers whose addresses are given. And if your Want Ad. gives an address, you are likely to receive a visit.

The name in addition to the address often helps out, too. Replying to your Want Ad, an inquirer finds as he gets to the block that he has forgotten the exact number. However, he has your name, and his dilemma is easily solved. All he has to do is to stop at the first house and ask where "Mr. Stone" lives. That's a lot better than having to ask, "Who has a kitchen range to sell in this block?"

Little things like these do increase Want Ad results.

IMPROVED TRAFFIC IN THE FLOODED DISTRICTS

WINNIPEG, April 23. (Special.)—The following statement in connection with the flood situation in Manitoba was issued to-day by O. C. Coleman, Vice-President of the C.P.R. western lines:

Canadian Pacific to-day reported traffic conditions improved but still somewhat hampered by the high water. The main line is open thorugh out. The statement telegraphed from Portage La Prairie on Saturday to the effect that all the railway tracks were impassable was incorrect in so far as the Canadian Pacific was concerned, as the Canadian Pacific's operations through the city were not interfered with.

The south line to Regina is also clear throughout. The only branch lines on which service is not being furnished at present are the lines from Macgregor to Varcoe and from Gautier to Minota. Out the line from Lariviere to Winnieg and from Portage La Prairie to Dreeanbury service is being temporarily provided by indirect routes on account of breaks in the line.

The main trouble on the former line is at Morris, where a bridge is carried away. Northwest of Portage La Prairie there are various washouts around Macdonald and Westbourne, and in the vicinity of Birtle. On all other lines service is practically normal, although the water is up to the endge of the embankment in many laces, and it is necessary to run trains with caution. The Canadian Pacific is continuing to detour traffic for other railways between Winnipeg and Emerson and between Portage La Prairie and Winnipeg.

SAYS DRUG TRADE IN INDIA LEGITIMATIZED

WASHINGTON, April 23.—(Canadian Press.)—Representative Stephen G. Porter, chairman of the House's Foreign Affairs committee, reitertaed his refusal to meet Lord Robert Cecil, British League of Nations advocate, to discuss the International drug trade and the League's part in suppressing it.

Porter brusquely declined to meet Lord Cecil on the ground that the League of Nations, while claiming the narcotic evil, according to Porter, has "done quite the contrary."

In a letter to Cecil he charged that Great Britain had legitimatized the drug traffic in India because great profits were to be made.

CHAMPIONS MET FIRST DEFEAT

Ruth's Error, Three Hits and Two Walks in the Seventh Frame Gave Washington the Game.

NEW YORK, April 23.—(Canadian Press.)—The New York American League champions suffered their first defeat of the season here yesterday, losing to Washington before an immense Sunday crowd, by a score of 4 to 3.

Johnson, the veteran pitching star held the Yankees in check until the eighth, when he gave way to Mogridge, the former New York left hander, who staved off Yankee rallies in the eighth and ninth innings.

Shawkey, the New York pitcher, went strong until the seventh, when he suddenly weakened and Washington won the game by scoring three runs on hits by Conroy, Ruel and Johnson, a muff by Ruth and two bases on balls. Score:

Washington . . .100 000 300—4 8 0
New York . . . .100 000 020—3 7 1

Johnson, Mogridge and Ruel; Shawkey, Pennock, Hoyt and Schang.

Chicago 4; St. Louis 3.

ST. LOUIS, April 23.—(Canadian Press.) — A squeeze play in the eighth inning enabled Chicago to win its first game of the season by defeating St. Louis, 4 to 3, here yesterday afternoon. The contest was a pitchers' battle between T. Blankenship and Cvengros and Shocker. Score:

Chicago. . . . .000 200 020—4 8 0
St. Louis. . . . .000 030 000—3 6 2

T. Blanukenship, Cvengros and Schalk; Shocker and Severeid.

Cleveland 1; Detroit 0.

Cleveland, April 23. —(Canadian Press.)—Cleveland defeated Detroit 1 to 0, in 10 innings here yesterday and went into undisputed first place. The game was a pitchers' battle between Coveleskie and "Rip" Collins, the Cleveland hurler allowing five hits while the Detroiter gave up only six. The score:

Detroit. . . . .000 000 000 0—0 5 1
Cleveland . . . .000 000 000 1—1 6 2

LIVERPOOL WON CHAMPIONSHIP

Won Football Honors For the Second Consecutive Season—Other Games.

London, April 23. Canadian Press. —By Sunderland's defeat Saturday Liverpool has definitely won the football league championship a second successive season. Nobody is likely to begrudge them their success for they have played consistently well and have maintained the lead in a manner which proved them to be the outstanding side of the season The popularity of Liverpool's success was eloquently illustrated by their big gate Saturday. The match attracted 35,000 people, although the crowds were not large at the other games, especially in the first division —only seven thousand saw the game at Oldham. The Oldham team is now certain to be relegated to the lower division and Stoke seems likely to accompany them to the second division, whence they came at the opening of the present season. It has been clearly shown that both these sides are not equal to the company in which they have found themselves.

Smith's fast play and neat passes at centre forward was the big factor in Bristol City's victory Saturday, which makes their promotion certain.

London was treated to a dress rehearsal by the cup finalists and if Saturday's omens are reliable the cup should come south but it should be remembered that West Ham's desire for the league championship gave them an incentive Saturday which Bolton lacked. Naturally there is rejoicing at Chelsea whose victory made their position practically safe for another season. The Bolton Wanderers by no means travelled at full speed, but Chelsea shook off their recent lethargy for which Wilding deserves much of the credit. He has cemented the forward line and developed it from an inert and feeble combination to one of rare vigor and dash.

The twenty five thousand spectators at the West Ham game found little cause for enthusiasm. The local idols were obviously suffering from physical tiredness resulting from the strain of the last two months, nevertheless Fulham must thank their defence for the lightness of their defeat.

Williard Reducing For Johnson Bout

YONKERS, N.Y., April 23.—(Canadian Press)—Stepping on the scales after a stiff workout Saturday, shortly after his arrival from the West, Jess Willard tipped the beam at 241 pounds, nineteen pounds less than when he signed about two months ago to box Floyd Johnson, Iowa heavyweight, at the Yankee stadium on May 12. He will put the finishing touches on his training at a local gymnasium in preparation for the Johnson bout.

Willard appeared to be in excellent condition.

SCOTS VICTORS IN SOCCER GAME

England Went Down By a Score of 2 to 0 in First of the Annual International Games.

Scotland was victorious over England by a score of 2 to 0 in the soccer game played on Saturday afternoon. There was an excellent crowd on hand for this game, and great interest was taken in it. This was the first of what, it is hoped, will be an annual affair.

The Scots with the wind at their backs, started off in earnest, and a nice combination movement gave Griffin an early opportunity to show his ability.

The English defence, who were a man short until Reid arrived, were having plenty to do. Burrows, the English captain, placed Willis in possession, and making use of his speed, sent in a terrific shot, which Fenner saved at the expense of a corner, which proved futile. Hoggarth sent the Scots forwards along, and led admirably by Richmond, Charley was again called upon. Wag Hotston made a solo effort, which forced the Scots to give a corner. Willis took the kick, and placed it nicely, but Fenner cleared, and McMillan and Reid, the Scots' left wing, went sailing away. McMillan centred, and Jimmy Shaw missed by inches. The game now became very fast, first one goal and then the other, until half-time was called, with the score sheet blank.

After the refresher, the Englishmen became very prominent and Fenner and his backs had plenty to do. Willis on the right took three corners, placing them beautifully, but they went begging. The ever-busy Burgess and Shaw raced away on the right, and Griffin saved. Hurrie, the English left-half, gave to Foster, who made tracks, and sent in a beauty, which Fenner threw over the line. Willis took the corner and Shuttle headed over the bar. Burgess, the Scots' outside right, left the field, hurt. This put new life in the Scots, Jimmy Shaw testing Griffin with a dandy. A melee in front of the goal took place, from which Richmond opened the score. From the centre kick Willis, who played last season for the Coldstream Guards, raced away at top speed, and passed to Gaskell, who gave to Foster, Fenner again brought off a grand save. Richmond opened the scoreereg9inb w.whow(s took the return, and sent Reid and McMillan up the left, and Reid beat Griffin for the second time. Dwyer, the English back, was brought forward, and he seemed to put a little life into the game, and tested Fenner, who never played a better game. Burrows and his half-backs tried to reduce the lead, but the Scots' defence held out. Time was called with the score standing 2-0 in favour of the Scots, who, on the day's play, were the better team.

The line-ups were:

Scotland: Fenner; Rae and Service; McMillan, Hoggarth, and Jackson; Burgess, Shaw, Richmond, Reid, and McMillan.

England: Griffin; Dwyer and Reid; Hurrie, Hotston, and Burrows; Reid; Hurrie, Hotson, and Burrows; Willis, Gaskell Shuttle, Hotston, and Foster.

PACKERS-UNITED GAME WAS A TIE

First Junior Game of the Season Was a Fast One and Was Well Worth Watching.

The first Junior soccer game of the season was played at King Edward Park on Saturday afternoon between the C.P.C. Juniors and Peterborough United, and ended in a tie, with the score standing 1 to 1.

C.P.C. won the toss, and played with the wind and sun in their favour, and commenced to press, Ward having to save from Billingsley, who was very prominent throughout the game. Connors of the United was placed in possession, and by a nice pass to Smith, forced Killenbeck to save what seemed to be a certain goal. Nothing daunted, the Packers came again, but could make no impression on the defence of Ward and company. Smith and Connors again got away, and gave Killenbeck a rough time. Curtis, by some lively returns, sent the Packers away, and T. Ball nearly brough down the house. The lively Connors raced away and scored for the United. This put the Packers on their mettle, and Billingsley and Edwards on the left, playing well together, tested Ward, who saved repeatedly. Eventually Edwards got nicely placed, and made the scores equal. Half-time was now called, with the score standing 1-1.

Upon resuming, the United went at it with a will, and gave Curtis and Saunders plenty to do. Mitchell now went to centre for the C.P.C., but the United, who seemed to be satisfied with a draw, concentrated their efforts on defending the citadel. Ward was given plenty to do, and with the assistance of a grand pair of backs, kept the Packers at bay. Time was called with the score 1-1.

Following were the teams:

C.P.C.: Killenbeck; Curtis and Saunders; F. Ball, Halliday, and T. Ball; Mitchell, Anderson, Downer, Edwards, and Billingsley.

United: Ward; O'Brien and Bradley; Connors, Cooper, and Sweeney; A. Vinette, Cudroy, Smith, E. Vinette, and Bushby.

Referee, Sam Calladine.

Eastern Lacrosse to Have Four Teams.

MONTREAL, April 23.— (Canadian Press.)—Four teams will operate in the Eastern Amateur Lacrosse Association this season, either St. Zotique or Caughnswaga taking the place of Sherbrooke whose admission was held over for a year in order that the Eastern Township Club might have a chance to develop the game first before entering the senior division. The schedule will open May 24 with Shamrocks probably playing in Cornwall and Nationals meeting the fourth team in Montreal.

There is some doubt of the amateur standing of players in both the St. Zotique and Caughnawaga teams, but this is expected to be cleared up in the next few days. The Sherbrooke players will operate a city league this year.

J. R. Simpson, Cornwall, was elected president of the league, the officers being: Vice-president, T. McCarthy, Shamrocks; Secretary-Treasurer, K. Lanteigne.

British Team to Race in United States.

PHILADELPHIA, April 23.—(Canadian Press)—Members of the Oxford University track team worked off their sea legs yesterday at Franklin Field where next Friday and Saturday they will compete against the pick of the United States college runners at the Pennsylvania relay carnival. The British runners, Captain W. R. Milligan, L. R. Miller, E. P. Hewetson, C. B. E. Morgan and G. R. Renwick arrived Saturday. Captain Milligan said his men were in fine condition. They are entered in the distance medley relay and the two mile individual races on Friday and the two mile relay event on Saturday.

CENTRAL LEAGUERS OUT FOR THE FIRST TRY-OUT OF SEASON

Jake Had Over Thirty Would - Be Seniors Cavorting Around Riverside Park on Saturday Afternoon.

SOME NEW FACES.

With mid-summer weather conditions and the diamond in remarkably good shape the Peterboro Central Ontario League ball team had their first workout of the season at Riverside Park on Saturday. Manager Jake Solomon was in charge of the practice and there was a small army of ball tossers out, while the great interest locally in baseball was demonstrated by the presence of several hundred fans who enjoyed the warm weather and the opportunity to see the players at work.

Nothing very strenuous was attempted, the chief part of the afternoon's programme being devoted to giving the crew a chance to loosen up. A short fielding practice and then a batting practice with Al Heckman and Sandy Summerfeldt lobbing them over for the batters to swing at.

Heckman took advantage of the hot weather to get in an hour and a half's work, finishing up by pitching for batting practice. The Petes' ace is determined to be ready when "Play Ball" is sounded.

"Hap" Harrison was out for a few minutes and the big fellow got a warm hand from the crowd when he took his turn in batting practice.

New players out Saturday included "Sandy" Summerfeldt, pitcher and infielder, who was with Cannington in the Tri County League last season, McNeely, a third baseman who has played for Sudbury the past two years and Leo Comolli, first baseman from Pete Travers' home town, who is built on Babe Ruth lines and threatens to hit them much the same way as the famous Bambino. Charlie Ansaldo will be out at the next work out and if he shows as much pep on the ball field as he did in basketball last winter he will be hard to crowd off the team.

In addition to those mentioned, others out on Saturday were: Max Swanston, "Shiner" Johnston, Ed. Dugan, Frank Collins, Cecil Shaughnessy, Tommy Holyman, Stan Lowe and Herb. Wolfe, of last year's Central League team, Bob Ross, Ray Rose, "Lefty" McElroy, Geo. Helson and Ernie Legon of last year's C.G.E. team, "Hap" Wilgar, Fred Batten and "Hip" Hardill of the Adanacs.

Ernie Legon who played left field for the Canadian General team last year is one youngster who is being promoted this season and will be found with the Central League squad.

The Petes are in great demand, having received invitations to play in Ottawa on May 24th and in New Liskeard on July 1st, while the Leaside team of A Section of the Central League want to play a game here a week from Saturday. Leaside will likely be accomodated while the Lindsay team will play an exhibition game here on May 10th. The other invitations conflict with the Central Ontario League schedule and will have to be refused.

A batting cage has been ordered and the Petes will settle down to work to get into the best of shape for the big race that is before them.

All indications point to a fast team and there is every assurance that the fans are with them all the way.

Kinks o' the Links

by PRO

In making some changes near the green the soil is rendered very soft. After a hard rain it has become so sloppy that a ball striking such a spot will either wholly or partially bury itself. Is it possible to loosen the ball from the hole it has dug for itself by lifting it and replacing it in the hole?

Two rulings are possible in such a situation. If play is under U.S.G.A. rules, the player may lift the ball and drive again from where the stroke was made, merely losing stroke and distance. Under the W.G.A. rules, the ball may be lifted and dropped without penalty, the ball being regarded in casual water.

Playing a second shot, the ball lands on the wrong green. Must the ball be played from the green or can it be lifted and dropped without penalty?

Once again there are two possible rulings. The rules of the U.S.G.A. make is compulsory to play the ball from the lie on the wrong green. Under the W.G.A. rules the player can lift the ball and drop it off such green without penalty.

BARNYARD GOLF.

Local quoit tossers will meet some new opposition this season in the persons of some of the Great War Veterans. The latest additions to the Barnyard Golf fraternity are laying out a quoit pitch on the G.W.V.A. property and expect to be dropping on the ringers before many more days go by. A tournament is contemplated in the near future.

COBOURG SPORTS

COBOURG, April 23.—The interest in the Town Baseball League is on the increase, and there will be keen competition among the different teams. The Matting-Felt factory team is the latest to organize and they expect to put a good team in the field. The following are the officers:

President—A. C. Kimmel.
Vice.-Pres.—A. Fullerton.
Manager—W. Barrett.
Captain—Fred Woods.
Sec.-Treas.—W. Perry.
League representative—F. Woods.
Executive Committee—W. Barrett, W. Pearse, Vincent Dawe and Gordon Brown.

It has now been practically decided that the Cobourg Tennis Club will with the Cobourg Bowling Club in the work of erecting a new club house at Victoria Park which will serve both organizations. Is Your Boy Glad You Are His Dad?

Is your son proud of you? Or does he wish Wally Lawson's father was his father?

Wally says his father is the best in the world. To prove it, he shows your boy the peach of a new C. C. M. Bicycle his dad bought him.

Sticks Up For You

Your boy stoutly sticks up for you. But deep down in his heart, he's wondering if Wally Lawson's father doesn't think more of Wally than you do of him. He can't even get you to talk about buying him a bicycle. You put him off from day to day. And he feels it, though he may not say much.

He's a Good Boy, Dad

He's doing well at school. You're proud of him, even though you don't tell him so.

Maybe he's joined the Boy Scouts. That means wonderful trips to the country, and all sorts of thrilling and boyish sports, if he has a bicycle. A Boy Scout and a bicycle are as inseparable as a cowboy and his pinto pony.

Isn't it up to you to make your boy glad by giving him a real bicycle?

C. C. M.'s are the favorite bicycles with Boy Scouts — and all other boys who want real bicycles.

Built to Stand the Gaff

C. C. M. Bicycles are made to stand the bumps, the wear and tear, that the joyous energy of youth puts upon them.

Frames of English seamless tubing, strongly reinforced. Bearings of hard, tough automobile steel. Nickelling done over copper so it won't rust. Glossy enamel baked over a coat of anti-rust so it will stand all kinds of weather.

C. C. M. Boys' Bicycles are equipped with the famous C. C. M. Triplex Hanger—the same as the adult models. This is the hanger that makes the C. C. M. ride so easy you feel as if you were coasting along. Very little pressure is needed on the pedals. The youngest boy can ride a C. C. M. without tiring himself out.

And the Hercules Coaster Brake gives him perfect control of his bicycle. He can stop it slowly or quickly by pressing back on the pedals. He can glide down any hill with safety.

The Kind He Won't Outgrow

Go with your boy to the C. C. M. dealer's and look over the snappy, glistening new models. There is a new 14-inch model for the very young boys. A 16-inch model for larger boys. And the special Curved Bar 18 and 20-inch models that will fit equally well the lad of nine or the youth of twenty. The Curved Bar is the bicycle the boy won't outgrow.

Prices of boys' and girls' models have been sharply reduced from the war-time peak prices. The quality is the best ever put into C. C. M. Bicycles.

There are also C. C. M. Joycycles for little folks too young to ride bicycles.

SPORTS HITTING ALL FOUR CORNERS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 23.—Since the close of the war, a sport frenzy has seized the old globe by the ears. Athletic activity was jumped into all over the world as a means of forgetting sordid memories and those activities have become all the more fervent when it became realized that everyone was better off with a little play.

In the rejuvenation of sports since the war, tennis, golf and boxing have spread remarkably, and they now rank as the leading international sports.

Tennis, as an international game, is already made. It is the one game that is played under standard rules in every country on the map. Golf is not very far behind, and boxing is coming fast.

In South America, the greatest strides have been made in the last three years in developing interest in sports. The South Americans are going in for everything. A tennis team from Argentine is an entry in the Davis Cup matches; an Argentine heavyweight, Luis Firpo, is climbing through the boxing ranks as a most formidable opponent for Jack Dempsey, and golf has also seized the Argentines. Water sports have also advanced with great rapidity in Brazil where they boast of several swimmers close to world's record ability.

Brazil had a most impressive looking water polo team at the last Olympic games, but the water in the moat outside the ancient walls of Antwerp, where the water sports were conducted, was so cold that the Brazilians were too greatly handicapped to make their best showing.

* * *

Bull fighting was, until very recently, considered the national sport and the only amusement in Mexico, but it fell to old Sam Langford to do the missionary work that turned the southern republic into a great boxing centre. Just recently 20,000 Mexicans filled the old bull ring to see Langford fight Balsacs, the Spanish champion, and just before that a bull fight had attracted only a handful of spectators.

Langford, as the heavyweight champion of Mexico, is a very amusing spectacle from the American viewpoint, but "Old Tham" must be given credit for some logic when he said, after he had won the title from Kid Savage: "Well, it ain't much, but I'se some kind of a champion at last."

* * *

Germany is developing a great interest in boxing. During the regime of the Kaiser the martial "one-two-three-four" of the goose-step was considered of vastly more importance than the development of "onetwo" punches, and the Germans never had the opportunity to develop some of the latent boxing talents that it should possess. The Germans went in more for mass gymnastic sports and "strong men" activities and the development of muscle and brawn from those exercises is not conducive to the speed that is one of the essentials of modern boxing.

Paul Sampson is now presiding as the master of the "Sport Palast" in Berlin and he is training a flock of boxers. From what happened recently it may seem that even such an amateur professor as Paul might be able to show the Germans something about the game. Being familiar with the American methods of getting purses, Sampson at least should be able to educate the Germans into the proper methods of getting plenty of marks for their labors and causing the promoters much scratching of the "kopf."

Sampson, it will be recalled, grew so tired of hearing the ten-count tolled above him in the United States that he gave up the ambition of becoming somebody among the American heavyweights and he shipped as a fireman on the Reliance, which found her nose one afternoon in a German port.

Hans Breitenstrater, the German heavyweight champion, was billed to fight some Hollander that night and Sampson went up with a crowd of the sailors from the ship to see how the Germans did their stuff.

Breitenstrater's opponent did not show up and Sampson volunteered to keep the crowd from being disappointed. His purpose might have been sincere, but he gave the Germans a much greater disappointment when he proceeded to knock Hans cold. Sampson was of German descent, but some international complication arose when he claimed the title and the best he could reap from his conquest were the boxing chair in the Palast and a truck load of marks, which came to the good American sum of about $6.43.

* * *

That golf has spread almost apace with tennis and boxing is a great tribute to the popularity of the game because of the many handicaps under which it labors. A tennis court can be pitched almost on a tee of a golf course and a fair sized boxing arena could almost be put up on one fairway. Golf is an expensive game where some of the stylish club notions prevail, but a tennis player or boxer can get along almost on the initial price of his equipment, which is a very small sum relatively.

SECOND BATTLE YPRES OBSERVED AT ST. JOHN'S

Dr. R. C. Biagrave Recalled the Historic Stand of the Canadians.

The anniversary of the second battle of Ypres was noted at the morning and evening services in St. John's Church yesterday. Before the sermon the Rev. R. C. Biagrave, D. D., recalled the historic stand of the Canadians which meant so much to the allied forces at that critical time. The Peterborough men of the first contingent received their baptism of more than fire at that famous stand, in the face of almost overwhelming odds. Flowers on the altar were to the memory of the officers and men of the 2nd Battalion were placed there by Colonel and Captain Mills also Mr. and Mrs. Ecobichon sent flowers in memory of their gallant son, Sergt. Sydney Ecobichon who fell in the same engagement.

The music in the morning consisted of the hymn "O God our help in Ages Past," Anthem "O death where is thy sting." At the close of the morning service the wailing notes of the "Last Post were sounded on the organ by Mr. R. J. Devey, the whole congregation remained kneeling

Canadian Stock Exchange — And Mines — and New York Stock Exchange — And Curb Prices.

To-Day's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, April 23.— After showing some signs of rallying around the opening the stock market to-day was unsettled by the announcement of the long expected cuts in mid continent crude oil. Prairie oil and gas followed by the Sinclair announced reductions of ten cents a barrel.

Wall Street had time to consider over the week end how drastic last week's decline had been in view of the fact that all authorities were agreed that the present lull in the business revival was merely a temporary pause and not the beginning of prolonged reaction. This thought became quite an accumulation of buying orders at the opening and active industrial scored fractional gains.

Steel Common advanced 1-4 to 105 3-8. American Can 3-8 to 96 3-8, California Petroleum 3-8 to 94 1-2 and American Sugar 1-2 to 80 1-2.

Rails were quiet.

Prices were unsettled again before the close of the hour by the private advices of a reduction of ten cents a barrel in mid-continent crude.

This development was used as a pretext for further concentration of pressure on a few stocks like Steel and Baldwin, Studebaker and American Locomotive.

But the fact that oil stocks were not primarily affected demonstrated that the settling was wholly professional.

Wall Street had been waiting two weeks for announcement of a revision downward in mid-continental prices and general consensus was that the market would do better with the news out of the way.

In fact many observers felt that stock values had over discounted a ten cent cut.

If this was to represent the full amount of adjustment it was believed that the stage had been set for sharp recovery throughout the list.

FIRST VESSELS MOVE DOWN WELLAND CANAL

WELLAND, April 23 (Canadian Press). — The first vessels to move down the Welland Canal started from here this morning at about 8 o'clock. They were the O'Connor Dick, Baxter Dick, and the Charles Dick, belonging to the National Sand and Materials Company's fleet. They are on their way to Port Dalhousie, and will start dredging sand in Lake Ontario upon their arival.

SERVICES WERE OF SPECIAL CHARACTER

The Victoria College Male Quartette a Feature at George Street Church.

The services at George street Methodist church yesterday were of a special character and made particularly interesting by the presence of the Male Quartette from Victoria College, Toronto.

The morning service was in charge of the Women's Missionary Society of the church. Mrs. C. H. Coon offered prayer and Mrs. E. E. Harvey read from the Scriptures. Rev. Mr. Young conducted the services, and Dr. R. G. Agnew, B.A., a member of the quartette, who expects to sail for China shortly for missionary work, spoke on the universality of the Christain religion. Rev. Mr. Young gave a brief address on the work of the W.M.S.

The quartette sang twice at the morning services and W. H. Walker, B.A.S., their first tenor, sang "The Ninety and Nine."

In the evening, the good-sized congregtion of the morning was rivalled by a packed house. The services, primarily of interest for young people, were especially directed to the attention of young men. Murray H. Cayley, B.A., second basso in the quartette, gave an excellent and inspiring address to the young men on "The Kingdom," making a plea for better consecration of life and work in an effort to reach heaven. L. W. Brown, B.A., first basso, offered prayer

The quartette sang several times during the evening serivce. Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park rendered Squlee's "The Watchman," Dr. Agnew sang "Lead Me All the Way," and the choir gave the usual anthems, under direction of J. H. Renwick.

GOOD BOXING CARD TONIGHT

Plenty of Entries for Local Titles at Victoria Hall.

With an entry list of twenty-four boxers, ranging in weight from 70 pounds to 135 pounds, the city boxing championships will get under way at the Victoria Hall at 8.15 o'clock to-night.

A good deal of interest is centred on the bout between Jack McDonough and Lorne Combe. These lads have met several times and at their last meeting McDonough got the decision.

To-night's battle will find both boxers in first-class condition and ready for a championship argument.

In the 118 pounds there are four entries which should make this class a hummer. Tony Minicolo Leonard Minicolo Ray Millard and Clarence Corbett are good enough to make each bout interesting all the way through. There are three entries in the 105 pound class and others are expected. Six good youngsters will compete in the 90 pound division and as many more at 70 pounds.

Mr. G. N. Graham will referee. The bouts in the 118 pounds class will start at 9.15 o'clock and will be followed by the McDonough-Combe championship bout.

The Advancement of Science Keeps Up

New Help Found for the Weak and Debilitated

SCIENTIFIC progress has become so rapid that it is almost impossible for the average person to keep up with the wonderful discoveries that are leading to complete mastery of disease. We have come to feel that there is really no limit to what the tireless workers in the field of medical research can achieve.

The cause of the extreme weakness of body and mind and the nervous exhaustion that is so often seen in men and women, and for which they have not been able to account, has been found. And, what is much more important to the thousands thus afflicted, a way has been discovered to relieve these symptoms and promptly restore vigor to the body.

It has been found that the loss of weight, strength and energy that brings distress and depression of mind to countless men and women, is often due solely to the fact that the inorganic elements present in the food they eat are not properly utilized by the millions of little cells of which our tissues are composed. When these cells fail to receive the proper amount of these inorganic elements—when they are faced by a famine—they lessen their functional activity in order to escape death through starvation. In other words, these cells curtail their production of vital energy and, as a consequence, the entire body is weakened, just as it is after a day of extremely hard labor if we do not take time for a mid-day lunch and rest.

In Wincarnis—the reconstructive tonic—are combined the inorganic elements present in the food we eat, and which the cells of the body require in order to produce strength and energy and rebuild tissue. When taken three or four times a day, Wincarnis furnishes the cells with an abundance of the necessary inorganic elements, and the body promptly regains its lost vigor, weight is restored, and there is a full recovery of energy. For almost half-a-century, physicians have prescribed Wincarnis for the weak, anemic, nervous and run-down.

GOSPEL HALL NOTES.

Mr. A. G. Bentley opened a Gospel campaign last night speaking on the Way of Salvation, the Knowledge of Salvation, and the Joy of Salvation; the contrast between man's thoughts and God's way, and the discourse was most helpful. He spoke very forcibly of the Knowledge and how anyone may be certain of being among the saved in glory even while here amidst all the sin and misery; one may be sure and enjoy the peace of God all the way through.

The hall was well filled and deep interest manifested. Meetings continue every night

Religious Work

Although the Physical and Social features of the Association Programme are more important because of the very nature of these activities, the Religious Work is by no means neglected.

Bible Classes and Sunday Afternoon Meetings are vital factors in the Weekly Programme during the Fall, Winter, and Spring seasons.

In the Junior Department, the Bible Study Class is held just before the Gymnasium period, and the attendance is as large at Bible Class as in the Gym. 107 Boys were enrolled in Bible Class, with a total attendance of 657.

Educational Work

Courses in Salesmanship and Public Speaking have been conducted during the past season with splendid success — 27 Young Men were Enrolled in these Courses.

THE Y.M.C.A.'S AIM - FOUR-FOLD DEVELOPMENT!

IN LOVING MEMORY

Of SAMUEL McKINLAY, was was missing after the Battle of Langmarke, April 23, 1915:

God gave my son in trust for me,
Christ died for him, and he should be
A man for Christ. He is his own,
And God's, and man's, not mine alone;
He was not mine to give. He gave Himself that he might help to save
All that a Christian might revere,
All that enlightened men hold dear.
It matters not where some men live,
If my dear son his life must give;
Hosannas I will sing for him,
E'en though my eyes with tears be dim.
And now the war is over, now
His gallant comrades home again,
I'll cheer them as they're marching by,
Rejoicing that they did not die,
And when his vacant place I see
My heart will bound with joy that he
Was mine so long—my fair young son—
And cheer for him whose work is done.

THE LAUSANNE PARLEY OPENS THIS MORNING

The Chester Concessions Will Be Laid to One Side and an Effort Made for Peace.

AMERICA'S VOICE

LAUSANNE, April 24.—(Special)—The Chester concessions and Turkey's bid for American support in the Near East are to be temporarily laid on the table at Lausanne while the conference bends its efforts towards completing a peace treaty.

The first commission of the parley went into session this morning, with Sir Horace Rumbold, leader of the British delegation, presiding. A second commission meets this afternoon. Neither will discuss the Chester scheme, it was announced.

America's voice was heard at the evening session, a plenary one at which Minister Grew, on behalf of the United States, explained his country is represented on the same status as before, not as a belligerent against Turkey, nor as a participant in the treaty, but that he himself was here in a fully representative capacity with full authorization on behalf of the United States. He said that besides commercial interests, the United States had a humanitarian interest in good peace. Grew said he would be heard from again from time to time as the occasion arose.

The first work of the conference was to classify questions before the Political Committee under the general heads of territorial and judicial. In the discussion of the territorial clauses, the Turks maintained their previous viewpoint on each of the disputed questions and insisted that the first step in the procedure should be the evacuation of Turkish territory by Allied troops.

SAVE THE FOREST SLOGAN OF WEEK

International Effort Being Made to Curb Destruction of Natural Resources By Fire.

OTTAWA, April 24. — (Canadian Press).—Yesterday marked the beginning of the international "Save the Forests" week. This campaign is the result of the recognition of the absolute dependence of industry upon the product of the forests of this continent and of their rapid depletion. The growing demands of commerce, especially the newspapers, are reducing the areas of marketable timber and pulpwood at a very rapid rate, so rapid in fact, that the figures of production are astounding.

"Picture in the mind," says the Natural Resources Intelligence Service of the Department of the Interior, "a stack of pulpwood containing over four million cords, or a pile of nearly fifteen million railway ties, and again nearly one million telephone and telegraph poles. This will give some idea of what our forests represent.

"Then add nearly four and one-half billion board feet of lumber, the three billion shingles and the nearly one billion lath, and consider that these are but a few of the products of the forests. With these figures of the annual cut in mind, and what they represent in employment, an appreciation of what forest fires are costing Canada may be gained."

POSSIBLE FOR STATES TO ENTER WORLD COURT

NEW YORK, April 24.— (Canadian Press.) —Participation by the United States in world court as proposed by the United States' Administration, President Harding declared to-day at the annual luncheon of members of the Associated Press, would be "in harmony with party platform pledges, candidatorial promises and American aspirations," and would be an entry into the League of Nations, "by side door, back door or cellar door."

Peterborough Milk Is Inspected From its Source to User.

That milk is thoroughly inspected from its source to the consumer was the statement made by the Sanitary officers of Peterborough to-day. The Sanitary Inspector makes visits to the outlying districts and inspects the stables and byers of those who supply milk to the city vendors. The Dominion Government tests the cows and, on finding an animal with a disease taint, they order it to be killed. In the city, milk is inspected periodically. With this supervision from the buyer to the purchaser as good protection as possible is given the public.

ASSERTS SPORT BUSINESS NOW

Archbishop Worrell Regrets Co-ordination Today of Gambling With Athletics in Canada.

HALIFAX, April 24.—(Canadian Press)—"Sport is no longer a recreation — it is, business," and in close co-ordination with it have grown gambling habits which have taken from it many of the blessings which once accompanied games of cricket, football and other athletics, said Archbishop Worrell in his charge this afternoon at the Diocesan Sydnod which began its forty-sixth annual session here this morning.

Continuing, the Archbishop said that the world to-day "is going through an experience which has parallel in circumstances which follows all great wars." Advances in various departments of life have been attended by corresponding advances in opportunity for self-indulgence and pleasure, so that, while men and women are feverishly engaged in all sorts of activity, fruits of their toil are spent overlavishly in the luxuries of life.

"We hear of unemployment and suffering, but there is no money for ordinary needs. Bankruptcy is prevalent, yet when we go down the streets we meet crowds thronging the theatres, well fed and expensively dressed. The only place where it is not necessary to pick one's way through is the church."

ORGANIZE A LEAGUE OF FAIRY GODMOTHERS

MANCHESTER, April 24.—(Canadian Press.)— Useful women, an organization which is a sort of league of fairy godmothers, has started operations here. Under its guidance bachelors requiring wives, elderly gentlemen looking for someone with whom to discuss politics, brides needing advice or hostesses seeking "fillers" at parties will be assisted. Mrs. Lilly, daughter of a former Lord Mayor o fManchester, who is starting the scheme, explains that in addition to duties mentioned here, "Useful Women" will be willing to mend bachelors' clothes and darn their socks, look after children, teach languages, search for missing relatives, go shopping, read books in every tongue and supply players for card aprties.

DOGS SCATTERED MAYOR'S GARBAGE

So the Whole Tribe of Roaming Mongrels Are in For Trouble.

The dog that overturned Mayor Taylor's garbage can and tossed its contents about the lawn sealed the doom of some of his homeless fellows, and perhaps his own fate, too. For upon His Worship's representations of the nuisance caused by wandering dogs, a condition that has been brought closely home to him, the Council empowered Ald. Phelan to engage a dog-catcher for two months, with full instructions to make a clean sweep of the city.

The job is open to Jimmy Gates on the strength of his performance several years ago, but it was understood last night that Mr. Gates is steadily employed.

In any event, the Council loaded the duty on Ald. Phelan, with an order to make it a snappy two months' campaign.

DOOR OPEN FOR CONFERENCE ON POLICE BUDGET

Council Authorizes Committee to Meet Commission—Judge Absent Last Night.

MONEY UNPROVIDED

The conference with the Council, which the Police Commission proposed at their meeting on Saturday, fell through last night owing to the absence of Judge Huycke.

Mayor Taylor was present in the dual role of Mayor and Commissioner, and Magistrate Langley, the third member of the Police Commission, was reluctant to take the initiative because, as he explained, he considered the question at issue, namely the maintenance of the police force at its present strength, too important to be discussed without the Judge. And although nothing came last night of the first move for a better understanding between these two administrative departments, the door was left invitingly open by the Council's action, moved by Ald. Crowe, seconded by Ald. Stocker, authorizing the Committee of the Whole to meet the Commission at any time they wish to discuss informally around the table the Police Department's estimates.

Mayor Taylor departed from the regular order of business to accord Magistrate Langley a hearing before the minutes were read. His Worship referred to the Council's reduction of the police appropriation for this year, and said it had been suggested at the Commission's meeting on Saturday afternoon that a conference with the Council might be a good thing, and that it might avoid any blockade in the affairs of the Police Department as based on their original estimates.

Desire Efficiency.

"We all want an efficient police force conducted with reasonable economy," the Magistrate said. "Our interests are all the same, and we all wish to do our duty properly. Judge Huycke is chairman of the Commission and I don't feel like going ahead in his absence, but I might suggest that you appoint a committee for a round table discussion."

Ald. Crowe said he wouldn't be favorable to a committee going to the Police Commission. In any conference he wished that the Council should form a committee of the Whole. The subject was an important one and had been before the public for some time.

A Friendly Sign.

"I am glad the Police Commission has spoken along the line of being friendly," said Ald. Crowe. "We are all out to serve the people economically and well. I think the action is well taken to have us come together in a round table talk. So much has been said about this matter and so little attention has been paid to it by the Police Commission that it looked as if they didn't want to come together with anybody, but that they wanted to handle it in a high-handed manner."

Ald. Crowe believed that the Commission had as much "right" to come to the Council as the Council to go to them. The estimates, he said, had been cut in a reasonable manner, and in a difficult position in which the people were demanding reduced expenditures.

Duty of Council.

"It didn't seem that the Commission wanted to reciprocate in the spirit they ask us to adopt now," remarked Ald. Maher. "However, I think it is the duty of the Council to this committee and I think we'd be glad to meet them. But I don't think any committee from this Council has a right to go to the Commission."

Ald. Holloway said it would be most satisfactory to appoint the Committee of the Whole to confer with the Commission.

Money Not Provided.

"Even if the Commission did convince us," Ald. Phelan stated, "I don't see where we would get the money for more than we have allowed the Police Department. Every department under the control of the Council, directly or indirectly, was asked to reduce their appropriations this year. People were complaining that things were too high, and the Finance committee decided that each department would have to co-operate to a certain extent. Some $3,000 was taken off the police estimtaes, leaving them at $25,000 and $5,000 was cut from the Board of Works."

Ald. Stocker expressed his agreement with the suggestion that a committee be appointed, and Ald. Crowe's motion was adopted without further debate.

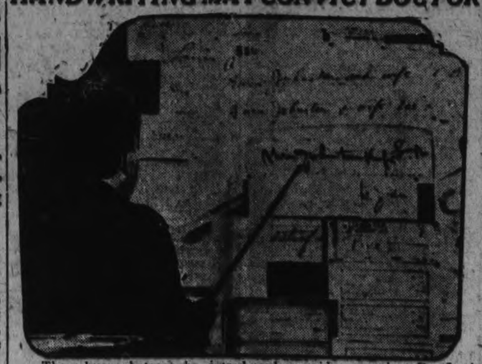
HANDWRITING MAY CONVICT DOCTOR



These huge photographs, introduced as evidence against Dr. Louis D. Jacobs, accused of the murder of Fritzi Mann, dancer, at San Diego, Calif., are banked on by the prosecution to bring conviction. The prosecution hopes to prove Jacobs was the man who registered with Miss Mann at a seaside cottage.

LESS SUNDAY STREET CARS

May Cut Off the Charlotte Street Line Which Has Been Operating at a Loss.

The elimination of the Charlotte Street car from the Sunday service in Peterborough during the summer months was broached to the Council in a letter from the Hydro-Electric Commission read at the special meeting last night. Economy was the reason ascribed by the management. It was stated that the system as a whole was not profitable in the Sunday operations, and the Charlotte Street car brought only a loss. The Jackson Park car accommodated the residents of the north-west end and the C.G.E. car the south-west end of the city, and if the Council was willing that the Charlotte Street car be cancelled, this reduction would permit a saving without any appreciable inconvenience to the public. The period during which Sunday cars have operated during the last two years has been from May 1st to September 30th.

The Council took a non-committal attitude in their reply to the Commission, and, on Ald. Fife's motion, seconded by Ald. Phelan, expressed a desire to have the service the same as heretofore and for the same period, but leaving to the Commission to decide whether or not the Charlotte Street car would be with drawn from the Sunday schedule.

Offer Lot as Park.

Rev. G. E. Ross, of the Mark Street Methodist Church, proposed that the property at the north-west corner of Mark and Hunter Streets be exempted from taxation in consideration of its being converted into a public park. This lot was purchased by the Trustee Board of the Church, who intend to prepare it for use as a park until they decide to proceed with a new building. Mr. Ross' letter requesting that the property be exempted from taxation under that condition was referred to the Finance Committee.

Fell on Sidewalk.

Ellen Kirk, 377 Queen Street, notified the Council that on April 2nd she fell on an icy part of the pavement on the west side of George Street, between Brock and Hunter Streets, near Lech's store. She suffered a broken leg and was confined to St. Joseph's Hospital.

An Obstructing Post.

Ald. Fife reported that two automobiles had run into the C. N. R. sign post at the crossing at the corner of George and Romaine Streets. It was about ten feet out from the sidewalk, and was dangerous to traffic. On his motion, seconded by Ald. Stocker, the Clerk was instructed to request the C.N.R. to remove this post from the street area.

Request For Lights.

Petitions from Fred. Holmes and residents of Hilliard Street, asking for a cinder path and adequate lighting were referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

Ald. Crowe was also instructed to find out whether the unused light standard in front of the Bank of Commerce on Hunter Street could be moved to the Water Street corner, and the Utilities Commission will also be requested to provide a light at the corner of McDonnel Street and the Monaghan Road.

COST REMOVING SNOW.

The cost of snow removal varies with the season, as is shown in the following figures for the past four years. In round figures, snow removal cost $2,155 in 1918-1919, $2,900 in 1919-1920, $2,100 in 1920-1921, and $3,504 in 1921-1922. All the figures are not available for the past winter, but it is estimated that the total will be about $4,000.

Taking Action to Conserve Health in Peterborough

There is not a case of typhoid fever, saerlet fever, diphtheria, or smallpox in Peterborough today, staed Dr. T. W. H. Young, Medical Health Officer. Only four placards are posted for measles, and the patients are all recovered.

Commenting on the freedom of Peterborough from contagious disease compared with other cities, Dr. Young told the Examiner that this is probably due to the excellent filtration plant which ensures a pure supply of water.

The Sanitary officers are determined that this splendid immunity from disease shall continue and to that end will press to the fullest their powers to compel citizens to clean up their premises. The sanitary inspector is already making his rounds, and will call on the law to compel enforcement of the by-law requiring yards and stables to be cleaned up.

BAND INSTRUMENTS WERE TRANSFERRED

Agreement With City Accepted by Officers of Peterborough Rangers.

Mr. Joseph Wearing made his debut as city solicitor at last night's special meeting of the Council. He had prepared a sheaf of by-laws, his first and maiden effort embodying the agreement between the city and Peterborough Rangers for the transfer of the old 93rd Battalion band instruments from the Great War Veterans' Association to the Rangers.

Lieut.-Colonel A. W. McPherson, M.D., commanding officer of the Rangers, and his successor, Lieut.-Col. Frank Bradburn, whose appointment and promotion is practically in effect, although it has not appeared in orders, and also Mr. Sidney Whatley, of the G.W.V.A., approved the terms as ratified by the Council.

One of the clauses provides that the Rangers shall return the instruments to the city at any time upon written notice of six months after a drill season.

In the event of any public demonstration on a holiday, the band shall respond to the call of the Mayor and play without charge, but shall be paid for their time if required on any working day.

Dr. McPherson refuted the statement that the G.W.V.A. members of the Rangers' Band had forced Rupert Gliddon into retirement as bandmaster. "That statement is absolutely wrong," said Dr. McPherson. "The G.W.V.A. men had nothing to do with Mr. Gliddon going out. That was altogether between Mr. Gliddon and myself. I want to make that statement to clear Mr. Perfer and any others who have anything to do with the band."

Other by-laws appointed D. Hayward caretaker of the Victoria and Central Parks, formally authorised the Utilities Commission to borrow the $75,000 passed by the ratepayers, leased the Riverside Park to the Peterborough Baseball Club, and gave a quit claim deed to the Colonial Weaving Company.

City Clerk Armstrong explained that the company had fulfilled some years ago the conditions of employment under which they received their factory site from the city. They had deferred until now their claim for the deed.

Chief Gimblett's salary was increased from $2,000 to $2,500 in another by-law.

Ald. Maher expressed his objection to making it retroactive simply on some verbal statement that had

KIWANIS CLUB HEAR ADDRESS ON EDUCATION

Presentation to Rev. J. A. MacKenzie — Solos by Miss Kathleen Gorrie of St. Andrew's Church.

SEVERAL GUESTS

W. J. Dunlop, of the Toronto University staff was the chief speaker at to-day's Kiwanis Club luncheon, in an interesting and instructive address Mr. Dunlop recalled the fact that he was at one time a citizen of Peterboro. "That was twelve years ago," observed the speaker. Discussing the new era in education, Mr. Dunlop said that the new era began in July, 1918, with the passing of the Fisher bill in the British House of Commons. It did not bear immediate results. It suffered almost the same fate that threatened the adolescent act a short time ago. As it is to-day no child can escape an education of some sort. There are two kinds of knowledge—that which is known and that which is not known. Members of the Toronto University are continually at work trying to increase the sum of human knowledge. There is a vast amount of research work going on. Special courses have been arranged for students who have secured their Bachelor of Arts degree. In this way they can get advanced education and there is less inducement for them to cross into the United States. In the past we have been exporting brains at a loss to ourselves. Not enough of us are taking advantage of the educational facilities that are offered. Some pessmists tell us we are educating too many people and there will not be anybody left to do the rough work. If you apply this reasoning to yourself you will readily see how unreasonable it is. The standard of education is getting higher all the time and the cost is on the increase. Education is the nation's chief business and money spent in this way is by no means wasted. To make this a good country to live in we must educate the people. One of the greatest means of truly building is to give all that we possibly can to education.

A Presentation

In a three minute presentation speech to Rev. J. A. MacKenzie of Knox Church who was a guest at to-day's luncheon, Kiwanian James Rollins accused Mr. MacKenzie of appropriating some of the Empress hotel silverware and wound up by calling him a prince of good fellows Mr. Rollins then proceeded to make Mr. MacKenzie a Kiwanian in name as well as in fact. In reply Mr. MacKenzie said he had always enjoyed his visits to the Kiwanis club and that he had received more from Kiwanis than he had given. Mr. MacKenzie was presented with a membership card and duly decorated with the symbols of the organization.

Kiwanian Jack Marshall who handled the gavel in fine style said that the departure of Mr. MacKenzie would leave a gap that would be hard to fill. He however was pleased to say that one compensating feature of the present situation was the coming to the city of Rev. W. C. Rose, D.D., the newly inducted pastor of Murray street Baptist church.

In reply Dr. Rose said he was glad to be here and that in the days to come he hoped to share in the good fellowship that is manifested in local public gatherings.

The boostee for the day was Kiwanian Hamish Mackintosh and the prize winners were Kiwanians Walter Stocker, Wesley Dodds and Leslie Unitt. Kiwanian Mackintosh in a one-minute speech said he represented the Ontario Hydro Power Commission in Peterboro. The aim of the Commission is to supply power at cost and in this way serve the public.

Miss Kathleen Gorrie, soloist of St. Andrew's church was heard to advantage in two solos. Her work was loudly applauded and at the close Miss Gorrie was presented with a bouquet of carnations by President Jack McKone. Kiwanian Leslie Unitt officiated at the piano.

To-day's guests Miss Kathleen Gorrie, soloist of St. Andrew's Church, L. G. Dussault, Montreal, V. Taplin, Toronto, Rev. W. C. Rose, D. D., pastor Murray street Baptist church, W R. Stones and Iron Will Hardly Burn in the Incinerator

That people have an exalted opinion of the heat generated in the city's incinerator is the opinion held by Charles Stapleton, City Sanitary Officer. Stones glass, building material and even iron are mixed with the refuse which people expect the incinerator to consume.

Raking from yards and gardens should be put in separate boxes from burnable material he points out.

COUNCIL'S CUT POLICE COSTS

Authority to Reduce Estimates is Made Clear in Report From Raney's Department.

Under instructions from Attorney-General Raney the following memorandum from E. Bayley, deputy Attorney-General, and W. B. Wilkinson, municipal law clerk, as to the effect of the legislation respecting the Council's right to reduce the police estimates was forwarded to the Council and read last night:

"The estimates submitted by the Board of Commissioners of Police to the Council under the Municipal Act section 363 are undoubtedly, in our opinion subject to reduction. Formerly under this section before its amendment in 1920 the Board of Police Commissioners submitted its estimates to Council for purpose of providing money and Council had no right to interfere with such estimates. It is quite clear from the wording of section 363 as it now stands that this is no longer the case and that the estimates are like other estimates subject to what is called 'pruning' how reasonable it is. The standard of education is getting higher all the time and the cost is on the increase. Education is the nation's chief business and money spent in this way is by no means wasted. To make this a good country to live in we must educate the people. One of the greatest means of truly building is to give all that we possibly can to education.

GLORIOUS PAST ENGLAND'S SONS WAS STRESSED

William Tinker Struck Many a Responsive Chord at Celebration of St. George's Day.

FITTING MESSAGE

"England expects that every man this day will do his duty," was the message brought to the Sons of England, at their St. George's Day social evening, on Monday, by Wm. Tinker, of the Canadian Woollens Staff. J. J. Turner fulfilled his duties as chairman n his usual jovial way.

The audience was an appreciative one and the speaker struck many responsive chords when he reviewed the glorious history of England's great men through the ages from Saint George to this time.

"As a nation," Mr. Tinker said, "England has not a great many saints, but the ones she has are great in every respect. Saint George was born about the year 275 after birth of Christ. Like many other ancient notables, his life is found more or less in story and legend. We are pretty sure that he joined the army in his early days. We are quite sure that he stood for all that is pure and noble. He was early converted to Christianity, but his life was not of long duration. He was ordered to accompany an expedition against those of his own faith, who when captured would have been thrown into prison or tortured or killed. I have no doubt that many would have carried out the orders but Saint George proceeded to his chief, and confessed that he was a Christian, and could not proceed against his fellow believers. He was, of course, immediately subjected to terrible torture and eventually died rather than deny his faith."

England Leads World's History.

"English men and women have stood out like beacon lights on the hill tops all through the ages, continued the speaker. Is there another nation in the world that can point to a list of celebrated men such as we number among the Sons of England? It would be impossible to name them all, but there are some that we cannot pass over, such as Shakespeare, Caxton, Stevenson, Arkwright, Keats, Lmb, Tennyson, Thackery, Florence Nightingale, Drake, Frobisher, Hawkins, Wolfe, Nelson and Wellington. In the last great war every English soldier was a hero, and worthy of the name of Englishman.

If we took the name of England out of the history of the world, there would not be very much left for the story of the world's progress is simply the history of England.

In a stirring appeal for a continuation in the glorious traditions of England, the speaker concluded with a message to every Englishman.

"Our predecessors threw from their falling hands the torches of duty and honor," he said. "Let us see to it that we carry on the good work so well commenced by our countrymen — let us step forward with new vigor That old signal of Nelson's is as true to-day as ever—"England expects that every man this day will do his duty" Then and only then shall we be worthy of that great name, the greatest the world can ever bestow, the name of Sons of England"

A Social Evening.

The event last night was in the nature of a social evening, and good fellowship marked the occasion. The hall was gay with pennants and flags and throughout the decorations red predominated, while a profusion of roses lent a seasonable touch to the affair.

A feature of the evening was the community singing under the leadership of P. Manning. An excellent programme by members of the lodge and others included orchestra selections by the H. Follis' orchestra; banjo and guitar duet and concertina duet by J. Parkins and F. Clarke; solo by H. Sowden, recitation by Mrs Nicholls, solo by Mrs. Rathbone, piano solo, by Leslie Unitt, solo by F. Heafield, and recitation by R. Tivey, the oldest member of the lodge.

A radio outfit was installed by A. B. Gates but owing to interference the expected concert was not very clearly heard.

Dainty refreshments were served at 10 o'clock, and a very successful event terminated with votes of thanks to the artists, proposed by P. Webb and W Shiner and the sing ing of God Save the King.

MALE QUARTETTE VICTORIA COLLEGE

The citizens of Peterborough who had an opportunity some time ago of hearing the Male Quartette of Victoria College, Toronto, were again favored last evening at George street Methodist church in a well-attended concert given by the four versatile young men, each of whom combines with his vocal powers ability in another line of entertainment. Dr. R. C. Agnew, B.A., second tenor and the second bass, M. A. Cayley, B.A., are also elocutionists of a high order, W. H. Walker, B.A.S., the first tenor, is a very clever female impersonator, and the first bass, L. B. Brown, B.A., performs pleasingly on the clarinet. Their quartette and solo numbers last evening were received with enthusiastic applause, which elicited generous encores.

The quartette numbers included a pleasing darky selection, "Swing Along," a setting of "The Rosary," for quartette work, "Stars in the Azure Blue," and "Rolling Down to Rio," with a number of lighter pieces in which the four fine voices were heard to great advantage.

The hit of the evening was the work of Murray Cayley, second basso, who was compelled to respond to repeated encores after his vocal solo, "The Bass Viol." His monologues included a splendid musical arrangement of quotations from the work of Charles Dickens, and a humorous number, entitled "The 1169 Express."

W. H. Walker gave a tenor solo, "Flower of the World," and brought down the house later with his female impersonation in voice, dress and manner in duet with Dr Agnew, when the "Barcarolle" from "The Tales of Hoffman" was sung, followed by "Sing Me to Sleep."

Dr. R. G. Agnew's much-enjoyed readings included a very amusing lecture on phrenology, and L. W. Brown's renditions on the clarinet of Mendelssohn's "Spring Song," and the "Berceuse" from "Jocelyn," were among the most pleasing selections in a very enjoyable programme.

This will probably be the last appearance in Peterborough of this clever group of young musicians, as the four leave shortly on divergent roads, Dr. Agnew going to the foreign mission field in China, the others to work in different parts of the continent.

TURKISH DEBT WILL BE CAUSE OF TROUBLE AT LAUSANNE CONFERENCE

May Develop Into Struggle Between Turkey and France—Turkish Troops Moving.

COMMITTEES NAMED.

LAUSANNE, April 24.—(Canadian Press).— The situation at the end of the first day after the resumption of the Near East Peace Conference appears to indicate that the Conference may be chiefly a struggle between Turkey and France, to which Turkey owes the majority of the Turkish debt.

When the Conference resumed its labors yesterday, inaugural addresses were made by heads of the various delegations. All expressed their desire to restore peace between the Allied Powers and Turkey, and Greece and Turkey.

The Turks, in explaining their attitude, say they want to free themselves from the economic control of France, but the French, who are the heaviest holders of foreign economic interests in Turkey, assert that they are merely trying to protect the legitimate investments of their people in Turkey and that already they have made great concessions.

The movement of irregular Turkish troops along the Syrian frontier has created apprehension in French circles as possibly indicating Turkish desire to embarrass France generally while she is in occupation of the Ruhr.

Practically all points in dispute between Great Britain and Turkey have been settled, but it is expected here that Great Britain will back France in any economic clash between France and Turkey.

Sir Horace Rumbold, head of the British delegation, in the course of his address before the conference yesterday, alluded to the brilliant war record of General Ismet Pasha, the Turkish Foreign Minister and chief delegate, but said he was convinced that Ismet was a man of peace as well as war. He bespoke for the conference a sentiment of good will and co-operation.

Ismet Pasha declared Turkey was second to no country in her earnest desire for peace. She has shown this spirit in the past and would show it in the future. If all would act in good faith and in a spirit of conciliation and concession, he thought peace would be achieved and he hoped it would be achieved as speedily as possible.

The first of the three committees of the conference will be devoted to gneral matters, under the presidency of Sir Horace Rumbold; the second, for consideration of financial questions, will be headed by General Pelle, of France, and the third, on economic problems, will be under G. C. Montagna, of Italy.

No mention was made at yesterday's inaugural meeting with the Turks, of the railroad or other concession granted either to United States interests or other foreigners but the Chester concession continues to be the great topic of private discussion.

The Turkish delegation, through its spokesman, declared that the Chester concession was entirely valid.

Safeguarding of the legitimate national interests of the United States, and of the principle of commercial opportunity for all nations, was officially set forth yesterday as the guiding rule of the United States representatives.

Joseph C. Crew, United States Minister to Switzerland, and head of the delegation, made this clear in a brief inaugural speech following similar addresses by leaders of the other delegations. The Conference then divided into three committees, each of which will take up subjects in dispute, and to-day active discussion son concrete topics will be begun.

Canadian National to Insure Own Property

OTTAWA, April 24. Canadian Press. — The third reading was given in the House last night to the bill providing machinery for the Canadian National Railways carrying insurance on their own property.

Hon Mr. Graham, acting Minister of Railways, placed on Hansard a schedule showing the rates of insurance premiums hithe-to paid to various insurance companies.

SEEDING IN WEST WELL UNDER WAY

Operations Will Be General Throughout Western Provinces Next Week.

CALGARY, Alta., April 24. Canadian Press. — Information received on Monday morning at the offices of the Canadian Pacific, United Grain Growers, and by a number of local grain firms, is to the effect that seeding is now general in the province, particularly in the south. In some of the districts, even in the north, considerable progress has been made, for instance at Bentley, one third of the crop of wheat has been put in.

Generally speaking seeding operations are being conducted under favorable conditions although the land is on the dry side. With spring rains a little later on in the season confidence is prevalent among the grain men.

REGINA, Sask., April 224. Canadian Press. — Despite the recent favorable weather the farmers on the heavy land in the Regina district do not expect to start seeding before the first of next week.

On the lighter land in various districts considerable seeding has been done and should be fairly general by the middle of this week.

SASKATOON, Sask., April 24. — Canadian Press. — Seeding is rapidly becoming general throughout the Saskatoon district, with cool but bright weather prevailing. Dan Lynch of Nanley, Sask., has already seeded 500 acres, and W. E. Hall in the same locality, has finished 300 acres.

MOOSE JAW., Sask., April 24. — Canadian Press. — Seeding will be general in the Moose Jaw district by Wednesday, if there is no rain. The wheat acreage will be about the same as last year, although the labor shortage, which is very acute at present, may result in a slightly decreased acreage. The district along the Riverhurst branch of the Canadian National Railway is slightly behind the rest of the territory owing to the quantity of water standing on the land until a few days ago.

SMITH WILL DROP SINKING FUND PLAN

Ferguson Points Out That Changes in Methods of Finance Should Be Made By Incoming Government.

TORONTO, April 24. Canadian Press. — Hon. Peter Smith, Provincial Treasurer, intimated in the Legislature yesterday afternoon that the government would abandon for the present the scheme of establishing a sinking fund to wipe out a portion of the provincial debt in 40 years.

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Conservative leader, said he thought the treasurer was taking a wise step. Sweeping changes in methods of finance he said should be made by incoming governments and not by those just going to the electors.

The House had a dull but business like session. Four bills got a third reading and 15 were put through the committee stage. Only one bill, that of the loans to consolidated cheese factories, caused any debate of length. The bill providing for two permanent divisions of the Appellate Court in Ontario of five judges each carried through committee with no opposition.

Mr. Ferguson criticized severely the bill providing help for consolidated cheese factories. Hon. Manning Doherty in his bill provides that a board of appraisers value the buildings, etc., of the factories consolidating and asking for a loan. He provides that one of the appraisers shall be the president of the company seeking the loan. Mr. Ferguson thought that this was entirely wrong. He said that he would oppose the bill until it contained more safeguards for the various persons concerned including the government.

Before the orders of the day, Mr. Ferguson expressed objection to certain statements made by Premier Drury to the effect that the Conservatives were blocking business. He also pointed out to the government that there were rumours that it was going to make some high salaried appointments before the election. In view of the fact that the Premier had stated that he had not the complete confidence of the House he said he thought that the appointments might well be held up.

Changes Proposed in Naturalization Act

OTTAWA, April 24. Canadian Press.—A government bill to amend the Canadian Naturalization Act roused some sharp discussion in the House of Comomns last night. Important changes in the naturalization law which the bill proposes to make are the abolition of court proceedings in the granting of naturalization certificates and the substitution therefor of action by the Department of the Secretary of State direct. The bill also proposes to permit the issue of naturalization certificates to former enemies.

The bill comes up for further discussion later.

India's Wheat Crop Will Be Large One.

OTTAWA, April 24.—(Canadian Press.)—A cablegram received yesterday from the International Institute of Agriculture states that the newly harvested wheat crop of India is 425,000,000 bushels compared with 366,000,000 last year and 344,600,000 the average of the five years 1916-20. This crop was harvested on 29,511,000 acres compared with 28,234,000 last year. It is a record crop for India. In the decade 1899 to 1908 the average area sown to wheat was 25,000,000 acres and the average production 275,000,000 bushels. The condition of the cereal crops in Europe and North Africa is reported by the Institute as generally good.

The final estimate of the 1922 production of wheat in France is 243,240,000 bushels against 323,000,000 in 1921. Previous estimates gave the crop as 255,000,000 bushels.

PLANS ANNOUNCED FOR THE WEDDING OF DUKE OF YORK

The Splendor of Princess Mary's Wedding Will Be Outdone By That of Her Brother.

WALES PRESENT.

LONDON, April 24. Canadian Press. — The splendor of Princess Mary's wedding will be outdone by that of the Duke of York and Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon on Thursday. The ceremonial will be according to plans which were approved Monday by the King. The more favorable time of the year, the presence of the Prince of Wales and the popularity of the Duke of York and his proximity to the Throne will combine to outshine the royal wedding of 1922

The wedding ceremony will be carried out with the usual precision and pomp of such State occasions. The Royal guests and diplomatic corps are expected to assemble in Westminster Abbey before 1.45 a.m. to await the arrival of the royalties.

The first will be the Queen Mother Alexandria, accompanied by the former Dowager Empress Marie, of Russia, and Princess Victoria, and their suites. The King and Queen and Prince George will drive from Buckingham Palace, and will be followed shortly by the Duke of York, the Prince of Wales and Prince Henry who will proceed to the anteroom of the Abbey to wait the bride.

One of the Royal carriages will bring Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon and her father the Earl of Strathmore from their home to the Abbey, along the same route as that taken by the Royal family. The bride will be met at the Abbey door by her bridesmaids and will proceed immediately to the altar, where her father will give her to the Duke of York.

In other words of a total population of 8,788,483, there are 8,572,516 classified as Christian. Non-Christians number only 173,143, or 1.9 per cent., including 125,190 Jews, 40,727 of Oriental religions, and 7,226 Pagans. This leaves less than ½ of one per cent. otherwise reported.

PRINCE ABLE TO PRESIDE AT BIG SOCIETY AFFAIR

Has Sufficiently Recovered From His Throat Trouble to Make a Short Speech at Society of St. George.

TOAST TO "ENGLAND."

LONDON, April 24.— (Canadain Press.)— The Prince of Wales was sufficiently recovered from his recent throat affliction to preside at the banquet of the Royal Society of St. George at the Guild Hall last night and to make a short speech to a brilliant company, including the Duke of Devonshire, the French Ambassador, the Earl of Melborne, the Lord Mayor and George Harvey, the United States' Ambassador.

Proposing the toast, "England," the Prince modestly expressed the difficulty he experienced as an Englishman to find words to convey all that lay in his heart. Even if he could overcome the Englishman's natural reluctance to talk about England and could find words, he explained, "my larynx would refuse to utter them."

Speaking of associations bound up with the essentially English word, "home," the Prince remarked that nobody could call him a stay-at-home; neither could he deny that his many friends outside of England always made him feel very much "at home." None the less, he added, "whenever I hear that word, I think of England."

The United States Ambassador followed the Prince. Speaking to the same toast, he claimed for New England many of the great traditoins of old England and said that when he returned to his native township of Peacham, in Vermont, he would advocate the formation of a Society of St. George and that he would request permission that the Prince of Wales be named Chief Patron.

"So," concluded the Ambassador, "back we come to old England. Despite by digression in favor of the new, it is still her right. And now I speak as an unalloyed American for America, as I trust you will ever speak as unalloyed Englishmen for England, when I voice the gratefulness of my country to your Society for inviting Columbia to join with Caledonia, Australia, Canada and all the peoples throughout the world sheltered by Britannia in rendering homage to England, secure in her matchless past, still saddened, but serene and steady, in her troublous present, resolute and confident in the contemplation of her glorious future—to England, Old England, undismayed, unafraid, stately, queenly, mother of us all. To me, Sir, I am proud and happy to say, no less than to you all, like the storied Zion to the Hebrew singer of old, her very dust is dear."

RIGHT OF BANKS TO ISSUE NOTES WAS OPPOSED

G. G. Coote is Opposed to Measure as a Matter of Principle — Private Banks Are Discussed.

CLAUSE STANDS.

OTTAWA, April 24.— (Canadian Press.)—The right of the chartered banks to issue notes was opposed in the banking and commerce committee yesterday afternoon.

The issue was raised by G. G. Coote, Progressive member for MacLeod, when Hon. A. K. MacLean, chairman of the committee, proposed to go ahead with the discussion of the note issue section of the bill to amend the bank act as "non-contentious."

He remarked that the section was of long standing and, he thought pretty generally accepted.

"If the Bank Act is like the laws of the Medes and Persians," said Mr. Coote, "we might as well pass it to-morrow and go home."

Mr. MacLean explained that he did not object to the matter standing over if there was any serious objection, but he had not heard of any.

"I have not much hope of getting it changed," replied Mr. Coote, "but

HAVE WE FORGOTTEN?

Outside of the church parade of the Great War Veterans Association the anniversary of the second battle of Ypres was allowed to pass in Peterborough with little outward indication that the significance of the occasion was realized.

It might have been imagined that at least the Union Jack would fly from every flag pole in recognition of the immortal stand of the Canadians at Ypres.

With only a few conspicuous exceptions, the masts were, however, flagless, neither in the business nor the residential sections was there any general showing of the Union Jack.

The cenotaph at the Great War Veterans' Hall which it was reasonable to think might be the shrine of many people who remembered the gallant officers and men of this city who gave up their lives eight years ago, was unadorned—not a single wreath nestled at its base to tell passersby that those who died at Ypres were still fresh in somebody's memory.

Is it possible that the second battle of Ypres is forgotten?

Or is the seeming indifference only another sign that Peterborough hesitates to make an outward burst of sentiment or patriotism.

THE OLYMPIC TEAM.

It is announced that only athletes who are considered to have a reasonably good chance of making a respectable showing at the Olympic games will be considered on the team that is to be sent by Canada.

That will be regarded by Canadians, generally, as good business.

The Government will be asked to make a very substantial grant towards the expenses of the trip and there would be no sense in loading up the Olympic team with men who could not possibly hope to compete with any chance of success.

The expedition should not be considered as a joy ride arranged for the benefit of those lucky enough to be included in the personnel of the team.

The Federal Government will help to pay the expenses, because it regards the presence of Canadian athletes at the Olympic games as a very effective advertisement for Canada.

But the publicity will be of the wrong kind if care is not taken to eliminate those athletes who would be practically certain to be outclassed by the opposition they would meet in France.

As a business proposition it would be much better to have Canadian representation small in numbers and high in quality than to send a small group of athletes, the majority of whom could not be conceded even a fighting chance to win laurels for themselves or for the Maple Leaf.

If the government pays the shot it should have something to say in regard to this feature of Canada's participation in the famous games.

THE Y.M.C.A. WORK.

The annual canvass for subscriptions for the work of the Young Men's Christian Association is being carried on this week and it is hoped that the response will be such as to wipe out the deficit from last year's operations and enable the fine activities of the Association to be maintained during 1923.

The work of the Y.M.C.A. on behalf of the boys and young men of Peterborough requires no endorsement, it has spoken for itself during the many years the Association has been in operation in this city.

It is recognized that the Red Triangle stands for constructive, manley, all-round Christian character—that it stands for a community organization that plays a very prominent part in the life of Peterborough. The Y.M.C.A. is of very great service to the boys of the community and that it is so furnishes the answer to the question, "Why is the 'Y' not self-sustaining?"

It would be possible to make the Y.M.C.A. self sustaining, but in order to do so it would be necessary to raise the membership fees so high that they would be beyond the reach of the average boy or young man

The under-privileged youngster would be completely shut off from the benefits of membership.

And the principal object of the institution would be defeated.

The present system gives the best general results and there is every confidence that with the co-operation of the public, the financial position of the Y.M.C.A. can be completely restored.

Peterborough needs the Y.M.C.A.—and the response to the appeal should show a recognition of that fact.

IMPORTANT ACTIVITIES.

Several matters referred to by Dr. Buchanan, of the Boys' Work Committee of the Rotary Club in his outline of suggested activities for the summer are of much public importance.

The report pointed out that there is much room for improvement in regard to the swimming beaches, inasmuch as both the civic institutions are situated below factories which deposit sewage and waste material into the river, rendering the conditions decidedly unhealthy for the bathers.

If there is any way in which a remedy can be arrived at, the Rotarians will have earned general gratitude if they succeed in correcting these conditions and ensuring for the citizens of Peterborough an opportunity to bathe in water free from impurities and from danger of infection.

The question of playgrounds, which the Rotary committee also proposes to deal with, starting out with a survey of the City in order to consider what can be done along this line in co-operation with the City Council and other bodies is a very timely problem.

The more playgrounds for Peterborough, the more children that are kept off the streets, the safer will the city be and the better will be the youngsters, both physically and morally.

The proposed revival of the Boy Scout movement is another undertaking that should be generally supported, for it is recognized that the Scout training has very materially assisted in developing citizens of the proper calibre.

In considering these activities, the Rotary Club is showing a proper appreciation of the ideals of the organization and if success is scored in one or all of these enterprises it will be a matter for community rejoicing.

IS THE UNITED STATES PROSPERITY REAL?

Why are United States industrial centers more busy than those of Canada? There is evidence to show that this is the case, says the London. Advertiser Mechanics in a number of Ontario cities have crossed the border in search of work, and with pretty fair ideas where they were going to look for it. A few have left London, a number have gone from Chatham, some from Stratford, and Brantford has also seen a contigent go in the same general direction.

The automobile plants in United States are very busy, and the building trades are also calling for men, such as carpenters, bricklayers, plasterers, etc. The movement in building is much more pronounced in United States than it is in Canada.

The busy appearance in Unit. States is not based on sound principles The reason for believing this is because all the visible motion is not creating new wealth. Agricultural conditions in the republic are not right. The farming community is not making money; the cotton growers are waging a war against the boll weevil that is cutting into their earnings and holding back production. There is not a ready market for much of the produce they have in other lines.

Canadians would be well advised to look carefully before they are deceived by appearances on the surface. In this country the return of business is gradual; we are not violating the laws of reason as we did during the period of forced inflation following the war; we are not building up a framework that we will later on have to knock down and probably apologize for having reared.

The men who have gone to United States seeking work will be back in Canada before long, and there will be something for them to do when they return.

MAIL CARRIERS' GRIEVANCES.

The petition of the rural mail contractors for the abolition of the contract system and for certain amendments in the terms of their agreements which, they claim, are essential for the removal of existing injustices, will shortly come up for consideration in Ottawa. The case presented on behalf of the contractors appears to be a strong one. If the facts are as stated—and it should not be difficult to refute them if they are not true—it is high time that the grievances of which complaint is made were remedied. It is said that expenses in connection with the average rural mail contract, during the past five years, have amounted to $1,058 per annum, while the average income has totalled only $732, a loss of $326 annually. This manifestly is an impossible state of things, not to be tolerated in a Government department. According to Mr. Garfield MacKinnon, Secretary-Treasurer of the Rural Mail Contractors' Association, recruits for this particular sphere of public service are obtained from inexperienced men, who are persuaded—"forced" would, perhaps, be the better word—to reduce their tenders to a price so low that it is insufficient to cover even the necessary running expenses. This is done, it is charged, through written representations or personal visits from post office inspectors, who "barter each applicant against the other," till the unfair terms are accepted. Once the contract is signed, it is in vain for the contractor, grown wiser by actual experience, to protest. He has to continue with the bargain till the stipulated term is up. That term, it is explained, is four years, and in order to guarantee fulfillment of the conditions the department demands two sureties of $400 each. Failure to complete the unprofitable contract means the forfeiture of these bonds.

What the rural contractors particularly desire is that, in place of this inequitable contract system, the carriers be put on a yearly salary basis, at the rate of $70 per mile per annum, and "three times the present rate of payment for contractors operating between post-offices and railway stations." It is pointed out that rural mail contractors throughout the United States receive $75 per mile per year, on a permanent salary basis, with a life-long engagement. It is suggested, too, that the increase be made retroactive to the beginning of the year 1917, seeing that employes in other branches of the postal service have received back payments or war bonuses to offset the high cost of living. The contractors demand the recognition of the statutory holidays, with pay, and they want the mail boxes placed uniformly on the right-hand side of the highway, in order that a fruitful source of accident may be removed. Finally, complaint is made "against the cowardly practice of publishing a bulletin against the Association of the Mail Contractors, which is crowded full of statements that are absolutely false in every regard." This bulletin, it is alleged, emanated from the Mail Contract branch of the Post Office Department, the greatest indignation being felt against its anonymous authors, who "have stooped to the mean and contemptible practice of falsifying and misleading the issues." Such are the grievances and such are the proposed remedies. The public will sympathize with the rural contractors, whose life at best is a hard one, and will certainly want justice done to these faithful public servants.—Hamilton Spectator.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The rise in sugar prices seems to be premature. It is customary to wait until the preserving season is here.

Statues in Queen's Park early Saturday morning were decked out in ridiculous garbs. Surely there was not another of those "last night" parties being held in the Parliament buildings?

Canada's veteran lumberman, Mr. John R. Booth, declares that for every tree felled by the lumberman, twenty have been damaged by forest fires. No wonder a "Save the Forests" week has been set apart.

YOUNG DAUGHTER MADE WELL

Mother Tells How Her Daughter Suffered and Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Vancouver, B. C.—"My daughter is a young girl who has been having severe pains and weak and dizzy feelings for some time and had lost her appetite. Through an older daughter who had heard of a woman who was taking it for the same trouble, we were told of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My daughter has been taking it for several months and is quite all right now. It has done all it was represented to do and we have told a number of friends about it. I am never without a bottle of it in the house, for I myself take it for that weak, tired, worn-out feeling which sometimes comes to us all. I find it is building me up and I strongly recommend it to women who are suffering as I and my daughter have."—Mrs. J. McDONALD, 2847 20th Ave. East, Vancouver, B.C.

From the age of twelve a girl needs all the care a thoughtful mother can give. Many a woman has suffered years of pain and misery—the victim of thoughtlessness or ignorance of the mother who should have guided her during this time.

If she complains of headaches, pains in the back and lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, make life easier for her.

Seymour West Institute.

The regular monthly meeting of the Seymour West Womens Institute was held recently at the home of Mrs. George Vanvolkenburg with a membership of twenty present. The president presided and the meeting opened by the singing of the "Institute Ode." The minutes of the last two meetings were read and adopted. A letter from Mr. and Mrs. Waddell was read expressing their thanks for flowers sent during their recent bereavement. Unfinished business was then discussed and it was decided that the Institute hold a maple sugar social at the home of Mrs. Charles Macoun on Tuesday evening, April 24th. Mrs. Gordon Shearer then rendered a solo in fine voice followed by a reading "Bill Jones' Neighbors" by Miss Margaret Garneau.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

Missionary Services.

Special missionary services were held in the Methodist church yesterday, when Rev. W. P. Albertson of Toronto, a missionary on furlough from West China, gave the addresses both, morning and evening, and also addressed the Sunday school in the afternoon. Rev. Mr. Albertson based his morning remarks on Romans, chap 10, verse 12, "For there is no difference between the Jew and the Greek, for the same Lord over all is rich unto them that call upon Him."

Rev. Mr. Albertson based his evening remarks on St. John, chap. 1, verse 46. "Can any good thing come out of Nazareth." The speaker referred to the overthrow of dynasty in China and the establishment of a republic in 1911 and the unsettled political condition of China today. He also asserted that Christianity originated in Asia and now after encircling the globe was returning there. Mr. Albertson referred to China as a land of uniform customs, traditions and language save for a few provinces along the coast who spoke a different dialect but whose written language was the same. He told much of interest on his work in China and urged his hearers to look on the bright side of the situation as well as the dark.

Rev. Mr. Albertson returns soon to China after fourteen years spent there and he is not only a fluent speaker, but he is most enthusiastic about his work, and this enthusiasm is reflected on his hearers. The large congregation yesterday at both service, were carried in rapt attention and a new interest in China and her needs was aroused from Mr. Albertson's first hand knowledge.

LINDSAY, April 24. — Cecil Hanna, aged 21 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Hanna, of Reaboro, who mysteriously disappeared about a fortnight ago, was located Saturday night by the police at London. He was discovered diving into the river Thames and swimming about with his clothes on to his heart's content.

Firemen's Dance the Outstanding Event—Motor 'Bus Service to Peterborough — News Paragraphs.

LAKEFIELD, April 24.—The outstanding social event of the week will be the dance given by the local fire brigade and it promises to rival all their other dances both in point of attendance and also in the novelty dances which are being arranged.

The fire brigade is a village organization which is of tremendous value to the community and stands ready to give service in its own department at the first clang of the fire bell. The brigade has won honorable mention from the inspector for their prompt response to the test calls made, and on the few occasions when genuine calls have come they were remarked for their promptness and efficiency. Do citizens realize what a fire brigade means to a village, where for obvious reasons it is a voluntary effort? The firemen hope to secure a set of up-to-date ladders and are making a plucky attempt to raise the money themselves instead of adding the cost to the expense account of the village and thereby raising the tax rate. Let all help the boys of the brigade and incidently spent a pleasant evening.

A Bus Service

Dr .M. P. Kennedy has obtained a contract from the C.P.R. to provide a bus service from McCracken's Landing to Peterboro via Lakefield to connect with the C.P.R. passenger trains to Toronto, Dr. Kennedy has purchased a fifteen passenger motor bus and will probably continue the service between Lakefield and Peterboro all the year round. This would be a great convenience to Lakefield people, who wish to make business trips to Toronto within a limited time.

Radio Attraction.

The splendid outfit, installed by local branch of the G.W.A. in their rooms, is an attraction for many of their friends and almost every evening one can find a room full listening to the wonder of the age.

Water Very High.

The water in the river is very high at present and the view either from the bridge or the dam is well worth while. A community effort to beautify the river bank on the east side below the planing mill would add greatly to the beauty of the scene.

Labor Activity.

Work will be begun very soon on the new bridge, when there will be great activity on both sides of the river. Probably the dam will be put in shape to accomodate the traffic for the summer. This would solve the problem which has vexed the minds of many dwellers on the west side of the river.

Work was resumed with a full staff on Monday morning at the Canada Cement Co's plant, and both construction work and the clearing up of the site of the original building will be resumed. Work has never ceased at the plant but has been carried on with a reduced staff.

Spring Cleaning.

The long delayed spring has arrived and means to stay apparently and one of the first results is the plunge into spring cleaning which most good housewives have taken during the past week. The family clothes line, long dedicated to the family washing, now contains the family furs, airing before going into seclusion with the fragrant moth preventatives, also carpets, rugs, clothing, curtains and bedding, the latter, in some cases being a display of home made patchwork quilts of dazzling hue. In a past decade quilt making was a fine art and patterns were a diligently sought as in the present day are crochet patterns. House cleaning is in full swing and provides the housekeeper with something to occupy her mythical spare minutes.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. Elmo Kidd and family of Indian River are guests of Mr. David Darling.

George Baisdon of Kenora is the guest of his sister, Mrs. James Mahood.

Miss Corkery spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Corkery of Peterboro.

Mr. and Mrs. George Nelson of Dourp were in the village on Saturday the guests of Mr and Mrs. John Blewett.

Mrs. Graham Bromley and children, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Webster, returned to Peterboro on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Finnemore of Toronto were in the village last week, called here by the illness of the former's father, Dr. C. W. Finnemore.

Mr. John Blewett returned home on Saturday after spending a few days in Toronto.

Dr. M. P. Kennedy was in Toronto last week on business.

R .A. Charlton of Young's Point motored to the village on Sunday.

Jack Miner Coming.

Jack Miner, who is well known and famous for his wonderful bird colony, will give an illustrated lecture in Lakefield on May 2 in the lecture room of the Methodist church. He will also give a lecture in the afternoon of the same day in the Queen street theatre. This will be a great treat for Lakefield audiences.

Simple Application That Dissolves Blackheads

No more squeezing and pinching to get rid of those unsightly blemishes, blackheads. There is one simple, safe and sure way to get them out, and that is to dissolve them. Get about two ounces of peroxine powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub briskly over the blackheads for a few seconds—wash the parts, and every blackhead will be gone. Pinching and squeezing out blackheads make large pores, and you cannot get all of the blackheads out this way—while this simple application of peroxine powder and water dissolves every particle of them and leaves the skin and pores in their natural condition.

RIGHT OF BANKS

as a matter of principle I am diametrically opposed to it."

H. E. Spencer, of Battle River, Progressive, said that Canada was one of a minority of countries who allowed this right to banks. He also asked that the section stand.

The clause then stood.

The right of "private bankers" to do business was questioned by L. J. Ladner, Conservative, South Vancouver.

Under the existing law the term "private banker" may be used in English or French, but is prohibited in a foreign language.

"I think," said Mr. Ladner, "that no institution should be allowed to use the word 'bank' unless it is a chartered bank under the Bank Act."

"Or chartered under some special act," put in W. C. Goode, Progressive, Brant.

"That is another matter," added Mr. Ladner.

Sir Henry Drayton agreed that it was odd to permit private bankers in English or French but not in any other language.

The chairman said that the native born people of Canada had a business understanding of private banking which newcomers did not have.

Henry T. Ross, secretary of the Canadian Bankers' Association, explained that private bankers had been operating in Canada for well on to a hundred years, and it was thought unfair to interfere with them. The prohibition of the use of the term "private bankers" by foreigners was introduced ten years ago at the request of the Italian Consul-General after there had been large losses in connection with private Italian bankers in Montreal.

Mr. Good pointed out that a foreigners might legally go into the business so long as he put up his sign in English or French.

"He would not make much money that way," commented the chairman

Sir Henry Drayton called attention to the fact that it was only individuals who could become private bankers. An incorporated company could not do so.

There are two additional sections in the bill this year to further limit private banking among foreigners. These new clauses grow out of the Winnipeg failure in which $750,000 was lost. The sections on this subject ,new and old, all were held over for further consideration.

H. O .Powell, general manager of the Weyburn Security Bank, a chartered bank, will be the witness this morning. It is now arranged that Major Douglas ,of "Douglas Credit Scheme" fame, will appear this afternoon.

2 TRAPPERS DEAD IN LONELY SHACK

Gruesome Discovery Made by a Lumberman—Police Are Investigating Tragedy

FORT WILLIAM, April 24—(Canadian Press).—With no means of communication with mile post 150, the scene of the double tragedy of yesterday when the bodies of two trappers in a lonely shack were found, Return of the police and coroner to Sioux lookout is awaited in order that official opinion may be available as to whether deaths were the result of murder and suicide or the work of an outside agency. All that is now known is that Dulphiste, aged 74, was found with his head severed and his trapping partner was discovered alongside of him with a bullet in his breast. Information was communicated from Valora by a lumberman who found the bodies when he went to make a friendly call.

PLANS ANNOUNCED

The ceremony will be performed with the couple standing in the centre of a little group formed by the royal family and the bride's parents. After the ceremony, the couple, the royal family and the members of the Cabinet, will sign the register, and the bridal couple will be the first to leave the Abbey, driving over a longer route to Buckingham Palace where they will be joined by the other members of the Royal family and guests at the wedding banquet.

They will leave the Palace about 4 o'clock, driving to the station, and taking a special train for a little place in Surrey, where they will spend several days.

Reduction of Duty Meets Opposition.

LONDON, April 24.— (Canadian Press Cable.)— The opposition amendment to the budget proposing a reduction of the duty on tea from eight pence to the pre-war level of five pence, which was supported in the house of commons yesterday by all the opposition groups, was defeated by 257 to 179. The supporters of the proposed reduction contended that as beer was not a necessity to the same extent as tea and not an article of such general consumption, the reduction of the beer duty (a penny per pint to the consumer) was not sufficient relief for the indirect taxpayers.

Major Archibald Boyd-Carpenter, financial secretary of the treasury, on behalf of the government, contended that this was the least onerous of all the duties. He pointed out that with the imperial preference duty actually little higher than it was before the war the government could not afford to lose £3,000,000, which was involved in the proposed reduction.

The present duty on tea was finally confirmed by a vote of 260 to 182.

Public Now Prefers Vegetable Laxative

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin affords prompt relief in a natural way

THE public is constantly becoming more discriminating in its choice of things. Those subject to constipation try to learn what makes them constipated, and then avoid it. If constipation persists in spite of all their efforts they take the mildest, most easily tolerated laxative obtainable, and not a drastic physic that upsets them for days afterwards. As over 10 million bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin are sold a year, a large proportion of the people must believe that this mild vegetable compound is the proper remedy for them, and so it is. No need to take salt waters and powders that dry up the blood; coal-tar drugs in candy form that produce skin eruptions, or calomel that salivates. These drugs are "heroic measures", over-effective, weakening and griping.

The best constipation remedy is the one that moves the bowels without shock to your system, and such a one is Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. It is a vegetable compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics, and has been satisfactorily sold for 30 years. Unlike the harsher physics it does not produce a habit, and increased doses are not required; in fact, it so trains the stomach muscles that in time medicines of all kinds can be dispensed with.

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" We urge you to try my Laxative Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 33 Caldwell Building, Toronto, Ont. Do it now!

Many take a teaspoonful of Syrup Pepsin once a week as a health safeguard. Others use it only when required, as, for example, Mrs. Jack Turtle of Cherry Valley, Ont., who finds it equally valuable for herself and the children, and Mr. H. S. McLaren of Montreal, Que., who uses it regularly. Try Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin in constipation, biliousness, piles, headaches, sallow complexion, and to break up fevers and colds. A generous-size bottle can be had at any drug store, and it costs less than a cent a dose!

RUMORED RETIREMENT HEAD HOTEL COMMISSION

LINDSAY, April 24.—In connection with the political situation in Victoria County, it was rumored on the streets on Saturday that Edgar Watson, M.L.A., North Victoria, and Chairman of the Hotel Commission, would retire from politics at the close of the session. This rumor could not be verified, as Mr. Watson was in the city.

A convention is to be held at Fenelon Falls at an early date, and it promises to be an interesting one.

THE BURNBRAE CHURCH IS A LINK WITH THE PAST

CAMPBELLFORD, April 24. — When the pioneers of the Burnbrae district raised the standard of Presbyterianism in 1836 there was only one church between Cobourg and Belleville. The Anglicans had a parish in Marmora, the rector being the late Rev. Mr. Gandier, whose son, Rev. Dr. Alfred Gandier, is now principal of Knox College, Toronto. The men who first settled in Burnbrae were a sturdy type of Scottish manhood, well educated and grounded in the faith. They have all passed away, but the homes which they established are still in the possession of their descendants. Men may come and go in other places, but in Burnbrae the names of the original owners of the well-tilled farms are perpetuated.

The first thought of these pioneers after they had put up primitive dwellings was to establish a school for their children and a place in which to worship for the older people. It was a hard task to secure a settled minister but in 1840 a young missionary from Kingston, Rev. Dr. Robert Neill, who visited the district to hold services in some of the houses, accepted an invitation to remain among them. He remained there until his death 50 years later, and his grave, the place chosen by himself as his last resting place, marks the site of the first Presbyterian church ever erected in Burnbrae, and which is the parent of all the churches of that denomination in the district.

The monument put up in memory of the late Dr. Neill records the date of his birth and death, but the real story of his life is interwoven with the history of the congregation among whom he labored for 44 strenuous years and with the growth and development of the Presbyterian churches at Campbellford, Rylestone and Stirling, every one of which he founded and nurtured until they became self sustaining. His name stands high in the honor roll of the pioneers ff Presbyterianism in Canada, and among the people who knew him best his memory is revered as a devoted pastor who never wearied in striving for the material and spiritual welfare of others. His contemporaries have nearly all passed away, but the record of his deeds are still cherished by another generation.

Ordained in a Barn.

When the late Dr. Neill—he had taken a missionary medical course in Edinburgh before emigrating to Canada—came to Burnbrae and decided to remain, he was ordained by the Presbytery of Kingston, the ceremony being held on January 20th, 1840, in a barn on the farm of the late Mr. Allan. On the following Sunday he preached his first sermon as the regular pastor, his pulpit being a large packing case. That was the beginning of a pastorate, marked by untiring zeal and unselfish effort, that lasted without a break for 44 years and which was terminated only when the minister, worn out by his labor, was forced to give up active duties.

Practical Christianity.

The late Dr. Neill was an exponent of practical Christianity. He purchased with his own money 15 acres of land from the late Gilbert Ketcheson who has taken up a 20 acre farm. This land was covered with a heavy growth of the finest maple which to-day would be worth a small fortune, but which at that time had no value. The pastor engaged men to clear the land, and finally a frame church was put up and in this the Presbyterian faith was carefully cradled.

Travelled on Horseback

Dr. Neill got out among his people, travelling through the forest trails on horseback, holding services in the homes of his people, marrying the settlers, baptizing the children, ministering to the sick and dying and comforting the mourners.

He conducted services, too, in the home of Walter Govan, in Seymour West and in the school house at Campbellford, and in the town hall here. To reach Seymour west it was necessary for him to ford the river as there was no bridge at the time. Sometimes the water came swirling up to his knees as he sat in the saddle and very often his horse had to swim but no risk was too great to turn the pastor from his duty. He was everywhere at all times and—seasons, where his services were required.

The Church at Burnbrae.

In the meantime the present church at Burnbrae made steady growth. The lot was cleared up, the first place of worship was erected, and a modest frame house sheltered the pastor, who was still a bachelor. The part of the 15 acres not actually used for church purposes was converted into a flourishing glebe upon which Doctor Neill conducted agricultural operations, having one of the finest gardens in the district and in fact maintaining what was really a demonstration farm for the benefit of his people. Twelve years after settling in the district he erected a stone house which is still standing and which is now occupied by Geo. Craighead, the sexton. The original frame house had been destroyed by fire and some valuable church records were lost in the flames, the doctor having devoted all his energies to rescuing his manservant from the burning building.

In 1852 Dr. Neill married Miss Christiana, daughter of Rev. Hugh Urquhart, Presbyterian Minister of Cornwall, and she was his devoted helpmeet until the end of his long life. The young couple began house keeping in the new manse which was not quite finished at the time of the marriage.

Pastor of the Old School.

Dr. Neill was a pastor of the old school, a devoted friend of his people, a Christian gentleman, in the highest sense of the term. He always wore a gown while in the pulpit and none of his hearers can recall ever having seen him even at his own home while at work in his garden, wearing other than the regulation clerical garb, which included a clawhammer coat of the finest broadcloth, and a silk hat. All his life he sent to Scotland for his clothes.

He was a man not only of consecrated talents but of the highest intellectual gifts, developed by education, and had he chosen might have held one of the highest position in the church, as he received numerous invitations to wealthier charges. He preferred however to remain in the pastorate to which he was first called.

Destroyed by Lightning.

The original frame church was replaced by a stone structure which was later re-modelled. One year later this building was destroyed by lightning and the present church was put up. The edifice is a credit to the community as well as to Canadian Presbyterianism, having one of the finest country churches to be found in Ontario. The cemetery is a model being as well laid out and as carefully tended as that of any city burial place, due to the care taken of it by Mr. Craighead, the sexton. The commodious structure, the entire property being an ornament to one of the finest agricultural districts in the province. The present pastor is Rev. J. J. Black, who has just returned to his people after taking a six months post graduate course in a theological institution in Chicago.

Dr. Neill Retires.

Worn out by 44 years of labor, the late Dr. Neill retired from active work in 1889, moved to Campbellford, where he died at the age of 89 in 1899. His wife survived him by 22 years, passing away in 1912. Three daughters and one son are living in Campbellford, Misses Jessie and Alice, Mrs. Ernest Denmark, and Mr. Charles Neill, who resides with his two unmarried sisters. Miss Helen Denmark is a granddaughter, present manse is a handsome and Church's War Record.

It was only natural that the sons of the sturdy pioneers of the Burnbrae district would answer the call to arms when the Great War broke out in 1914. The honour roll of the Burnbrae congregation contains the names of 39 young men, of whom 33 went overseas, and of that number nine never came back. The other six were on duty in Canada.

A fine memorial tablet has been placed in the church bearing besides the names the Shakespearian quotation of the last words of Cardinal Wolsey to his friend Cromwell;

"Let all the ends thou aim'st at be thy country's thy God's and Truth."

The names on the honour roll are as follow:

Killed: Leslie Little Selbourne Sharp Alf. Stickles Harry Anderson, Eric Lawes, William A. Lamb, Edward S. Innis, Roy Varcoe, Frank Maddock.

Returned Men: James A. Eagleson, Victor Masson, Percy Boxall, Thomas Hume, L. C. Shillington, T. W. Third, Fred Hay, Arthur Stewart, Raymond Varcoe, Kenneth Hay, John Badcley, John Hughes, Ernest Hay, Andrew Archer, John Shand, Albert Heather, William Caulsbrae, Alex. Oddie, Augustus Thomas, Mack Varcoe, Victor Hay, Fred Bennett, Ernest Butler, Hector Wynn.

Property Sold.

Little by little the late Dr. Neill sold back to the congregation the most of the 15 acres of land which he originally purchased. One plot, however, he refused to dispose of, the site of the first church built. This land is now the burial place of the late doctor and the members of his family who have passed away.

It is believed that the death of Miss Janet Donald last week means the passing of the oldest member of the congregation who was alive when the late Dr. Neill first settled at Burnbrae.

"I Now Feel Fine"

Mrs. P. G. Murdoch, Box 433, Portage la Prairie, Man., writes:

"I was troubled for years with biliousness, constipation, kidney and liver troubles. I tried many different kinds of medicine, but nothing did me much good until I tried Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I now feel fine, but am never without these pills in the house. Dr. Chase's Ointment has relieved my husband of piles, from which he used to suffer badly."

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Bass Spawn Planted in Trent River — May Change Plans for Reunion — Miscellaneous News.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 24. — Local fishermen who for some time have been working for a change in the regulations, have just received good news from the Department at Toronto. As the result of their efforts, 150,000 bass spawn will be sent here to be placed in the Trent river at Crow, Cassidy and Bradley Bays. The same number of speckled trout spawn will also be distributed in the creeks in this district. R. H. Cole will look after the placing of the spawn.

No spearing will be allowed, another point for which the local men have contended. The open season for pickerel will begin on June 15th instead of May 15th as at present, the former date being the first day of the open season for bass and maskalonge. There have been in the past numerous complaints that fishermen out after pickerel on May 15th did not confine themselves to the catching of that variety of fish but also caught the kinds for which the season was still closed.

Two extra men will be put on duty at once to see that the regulations are strictly enforced in this district. The new officials have not yet been selected.

Lights For Bridge.

A. E. Wragge has been commissioned by the Department of Railways and Canals to put four electric lights on that portion of the bridge across the Trent which is under the jurisdiction of the government. There will be two lights on the lifting and two on the stationary portion of the bridge which will add to the appearance of the structure as well as to the convenience of the public.

It is expected that traffic on the canal will soon begin and Joseph Poulton, the bridge operator, will in a short time resume his duties for the season.

May Change Plan.

Some of the committee appointed to make a canvass of the town in the interests of the Old Boys' Reunion report that very few of the residents were ready with a list of the names and addresses of absent friends. To visit at the different houses while such lists were prepared, would take up an amount of time that the committee is unable to spare. It has been suggested that the school teachers of the town ask the pupils to bring in the lists which can then be turned over to Secretary Humphries.

Political Forecasts.

Some local Conservatives predict that ex-Warden Henderson of Cavan, will be the party candidate in Durham in the coming election. Joseph Hickson of Manvers is another of those mentioned for the position.

Baseball Meeting.

Charles H. Davidson is in Colborne to-day attending a meeting of the Northumberland Baseball League. At this meeting it will be decided whether Campbellford will have a team in the County League this year, and what other teams are to belong.

NORTH MONAGHAN BARN DESTROYED

Flames this morning consumed the barn owned by Mr. Archie Patterson, North Monaghan, and its contents of live stock, seed, hay and implements. The estimated damage to the building is $2,000, and no figures are available as to the loss on the chattels.

At 7.08 a.m. the fire department was called on to save the house, as the wind was blowing the flames directly toward it. Obtaining permission from Mayor Taylor, Chief Gimblett rushed his forces to the scene of the fire, about a mile from the Roman Catholic Cemetery. Nothing could be done to save the barn, which was burned to the ground. The house was not damaged.

Extensive Loss.

Among the livestock lost in the flames were 2 calves and a sow with a litter of 10 pigs. All of the farmer's seeds, oats, hay, and a number of farm implements also fell prey to the fire. The cause is thought to have been spontaneous combustion in the hay stored in the barn.

It is not yet known whether the loss was covered by insurance.

WAR ON ILLICIT DRUG TRAFFIC

Federal Government Will Act as Though Canada Were Under Martial Law

OTTAWA, April 24. — (Canadian Press).—Canada, through its Government, has declared uncompromising warfare on illicit trafficking in drugs. The House of Commons last night gave the third reading to Hon. Dr. Beland's bill to prohibit the improper use of opium and other drugs, and for the second year in succession Parliament has forwarded to the Senate a measure under whose terms the accused person is denied the traditional right of appeal.

Strong opposition was voiced by several members to the removal of the right of appeal. The Ontario Temperance Act and corresponding Acts of other provinces were cited as instances of parallel legislation which had led to grave abuses of power and to gross injustices to innocent citizens.

Hon. Dr. Manion (Conservative, Fort William), Hon. J. B. M. Baxter (Conservative, St. John) and L. H. Martell (Liberal, Hants) vigorously upheld the principle of appeal, but the House, while sympathising in a broad sense with their plea, hardened its heart toward traffickers in drugs.

The determination of the Government to take ruthless measures was expressed by the Minister and by Hon. E. M. Macdonald. The Government intends to act, in so far as the drug traffic is concerned, "as if Canada were under martial law," they declared.

On steep grades, it is advisable to shift into low gear before commencing the descent.

RANEY WITHDREW BLUE SKY BILL

But Only for Last Night —Will Introduce the Measure Again.

TORONTO, April 24 (Canadian Press). — For two hours last night Attorney-General Raney struggled in committee of the Legislature with his Blue Sky Bill, and finally interpreting the vigorous opposition of H. H. Dewart as an intention to talk the Bill out, he withdrew it for the night.

"That does not mean that the Bill will stand on any day because my honourable friend is not in his seat," said the Attorney-General.

The particular clause to which Mr. Dewart objected was that which gave absolute protection to the "contemptible informer." Mr. Dewart said it was a "blackmailing" section of the worst character.

CRIMINALS IN STATES FORM A CRIME TRUST

PHILADELPHIA, April 24. Canadian Press. — Banditry is becoming so lucrative here that a "crime trust" for the protection of criminals, has been organized, Supt. of Police Mills stated to-day.

"By standing together," said Mills, "and aiding each other in case of trouble by obtaining lawyers, and advancing funds, the criminal element has strengthened its position. The ringleaders in the movement are old offenders."

How You Can Make All Hairs Quickly Disappear

(Helps to Beauty).

Even a stubborn growth of hair will quickly vanish from the face, neck or arms after a single treatment with delatone. To remove hair from arms, neck or face make a stiff paste with a little powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface and after about two minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be left free from hair or blemish. To avoid disappointment, be quite certain you get real delatone and mix fresh as wanted.

INFANTS DELIGHT IT'S WHITE TOILET SOAP

The PRIDE of PALOMAR

By Peter B. Kyne

CHAPTER XXVI.

It was fully two weeks before Miguel returned to the ranch from the little hospital at El Toro. During that period the willows had already started to sprout on the last abiding place of Kano Ugichi, the pain had left the Farrel head and the Farrel attorney had had Andre Loustalot up in the Superior Court, where he had won a drawn verdict. The cash in bank was proved to have been deposited there by Loustalot personally; it had been subject to his personal check and was accordingly adjudged to be his personal property and ordered turned over to Miguel Farrel in partial liquidation of the ancient judgment which Farrel held against the Basque. A preponderance of testimony, however (Don Nicolas Sandoval swore it was all perjured and paid for) indicated that but one quarter of the sheep found on the Rancho Palomar belonged to Loustalot, the remainder being owned by his foreman and employees. To Farrel, therefore, these sheep were awarded, and in some occult manner Don Nicolas Sandoval selected them from the flock; then, acting under instructions from Farrel, he sold the sheep back to Loustalot at something like a dollar a head under the market value and leased to the amazed Basque for one year the grazing privilege on the Rancho Palomar. In return for the signing of this lease and the payment of the lease money in advance, Farrel executed to Loustalot a satisfaction in full of the unpaid portion of the judgment. "For," as the sheriff remarked to Farrel, "while you hold the balance of that judgment over this fellow's head your own head is in danger. It is best to conciliate him, for you will never again have an opportunity to levy against his assets."

"I think you're right, Don Nicolas," Farrel agreed. "I can never feel wholly safe until I strike a truce with that man. Tell him I'll give him back his eight thousand dollar automobile if he will agree on his own behalf and that of his employees, agents and friends, not to bushwhack me or any person connected with me."

"I have already made him a tentative offer to that effect, my boy, and, now that the first flush of his rage is over, he is a coyote lacking the courage to kill. He will agree to your proposal and I shall take occasion to warn him that if he should ever break his word while I am living, I shall consider, in view of the fact that I am the mediator in this matter, that he has broken faith with me, and I shall act accordingly."

The arrangement with Loustalot was therefore made, and immediately upon his return to the ranch Farrel, knowing that the sheep would spoil his range for the few hundred head of cattle that still remained of the thousands that once had roamed El Palomar, rounded up these cattle and sold them. And it was in the performance of this duty that he discovered during the roundup, on the trail leading from the hacienda to Agua Caliente basin, a rectangular piece of paper. It lay, somewhat weather-stained, face up beside the trail, and because it resembled a check, he leaned easily from his horse and picked it up. To his amazement he discovered it to be a promissory note, in the sum of fifty thousand dollars, in favor of Kay Parker and signed by William D. Conway.

BURNED FORESTS PAY NO WAGES.

Living forests provide us with wood material of all kinds for our homes and industries, but burned forests provide no lumber, no work for the workingman, no business for the merchant and no freight for the railway or steamship. Most of the land on which our Canadian forests now stand is not fit for agriculture but it is fit to grow fine crops of trees to keep our saw mills, our wagon factories, our furniture factories and our paper mills running at full force forever. Let us take part in protecting our valuable forests.

TWO HUNDRED ALARMS KEEP FIREMEN MOVING

Four fires over the week-end brought the total alarms for this year up to an even 200, with still eight days of the month to run. In the first four months of last year there were only 87 alarms.

The most serious fire this week-end was at 1.21 a.m. to-day when a call was sent in from the Lift Lock. A fire caused by spontaneous combustion in which an oily rag figured did damage in the keeper's house to the extent of $150. No insurance was carried on the building, the Dominion Government not insuring its buildings, but the contents were covered.

The other fires were at 4.12 on Saturday afternoon in rear of the Peterborough Lock Comp'y's premises; at 10.21 a. m. on Sunday, a chimney fire at 933 Water street, and at 5.25 p. m at 431 Roger street where overheated stove pipes set fire to the wood-work in a ceiling, due to a defective thimble.

DECLARES TIKHON IS TORTURED IN PRISON

LONDON, April 24.—(Special.)—The Times to-day publishes reports from Riga that the Metropolitan, Tikhon, former patriarch of all Russia, now awaiting trial for resistance to the Soviet system, is tortured by electricity in a Bolshevik prison in Moscow.

Besides this the Times reporter says newspapers containing lurid details of the death of Mgr. Budkevich are furnished him.

SAY PETERBOROUGH IS UNDERPOLICED

Chief Newhall Gives Interview on Question of Force Reduction.

Interviewed by the Examiner regarding the necessity for maintaining the present police force, Chief S. Newhall gave Saturday evening's reports as proof that the City is really under-policed now

People say that Browntown and Claraday and other points in the District should not be policed by the City's force "the Chief said, "but the people from these places come to the City to shop. On Saturday there are thousands of people and hundreds of cars from these districts in the main streets of the City, That requires a bigger number of men on city beats and on traffic points

On Saturday evening when the day men went off duty at six o'clock they left 10 men on duty. Traffic control requires one man at the corner of George and Charlotte, another at George and Hunter and a third at Charlotte and Aylmer. One man is required on each side of George sreet and another on Charlotte street. A seventh man is busy patrolling the market and the places of amusement. This leaves three men to do station work, extra triffic controll where needed, and special work which is always demanding attention. On last Saturday evening there were over twenty complaints received. Each of these had to be investigated.

When the force is tied up with this work until a late hour on Saturday night it makes the men late in getting out on their beats. This consequently leaves the way open for house-breaking and other crimes which would be impossible of the men got to their posts on time.

Chief Newhall remarked that more trouble is caused by out of town crooks than by city people. "The great thing about police protection," he said, "is prevention." We could get along with a smaller force if we only investigated the crime after it is committed but what I am aiming at —and am suceeding in—is prevention of crime. The system of patrol we have now is responsible oir Peterborough's immunity from serious crime."

Thought His Case Was Hopeless One

But Dreco soon helped John Lawlor Overcome Billiousness and Dizzy Spells. Bowels were never regular until he used Dreco. Just what he needed.

John Lawlor, of Rebecca Street, Hamilton, Ont., an employee of the Freeman Fertilizer Co., suffered for years with stomach trouble, pains in the back and dizziness, whenever he stooped. His breath was bad and his appetite poor—in fact, his general condition was such that he thought his case was hopeless. Now Mr. Lawlor is among those who have discovered in Dreco what wonderful health builder that overcomes those ills from which so many suffer.

The story is better told in Mr. Lawlor's own words. He says: "For years I have suffered from stomach trouble and had pains in my back and joints. Every time I'd bend over I would get bilious. I had bad breath and my bowels were never regular and I always had to take medicine to keep them open. My appetite was poor and food would sour after meals. I could not sleep and rolled all night. I often had to stop along the way to get my breath. I started to believe my case was hopeless as I had tried so many things, but after talking with the Dreco expert, I decided to give this new herb and root medicine a trial. I have taken only one bottle and feel much better. It has done more good for me than anything I have ever taken, so intend to complete the treatment as it seems Dreco is just what I needed."

There are many John Lawlors in Hamilton and all over Canada, going through life suffering unnecessarily. Dreco will bring health to you if you are one of them.

Dreco is being specially introduced in Peterboro by Bond's Drug Store. It is also sold in Lakefield by E. H. Northey and by a good druggist everywhere.

FERGUSON JOKES AT EXPENSE OF RANEY

TORONTO, April 24.—(Canadian Press).—Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, leader of the Conservative wing of the Opposition in the Ontario Legislature, believes in casting shadows of hoped-for events some months before. In discussing the expected filling of some important offices by the present Government, the Opposition leader more or less jokingly remarked that the next Government would not disturb the present Attorney - General, Hon. W. E. Raney, should he now take over one of the remunerative positions open.

Mr. Raney thanked Mr. Ferguson for "his consideration," but declared he would not need it. The Government, he said, would use its own good judgment in the matter of filling vacancies, regardless of "political exigencies."

VOICE OF PEOPLE

To the Editor of the Examiner.
Sir,—

The following extract from the Toronto papers in a statement which will excite the interest of all those opposed to Church Union and probably of those too who have been asking where the Forward Movement money all went to, in view of the unsatisfactory nature of the unusual reports now being made.

READER.

Congregations' Status not Affected By Union.

How will Church Union affect our congregations? This in a question that is being constantly asked by Presbyterians in these days. The answer to this question was contained in the statement issued by the Presbyterian Church Union Movement Committee yesterday. The statement says that there will be no change in the status of self-supporting congregations unless a majority of the members desire it. In augmented charges where the congregations are numerically weak they will be required to unite with neighboring congregations and form one self-supporting charge, and thus relieve the mission funds.

There will be no change in organization. Every congregation will manage its local affairs as at present. The session elder, and managers will be retained. The pastoral relation will be without time limit, and the congregation will be free to call its minister, as at present. The settlement committee will have the right of appointment as the Presbytery has to-day, but will also facilitate the transfer of ministers, in cases where a change is desired.

The property rights of each congregation will remain unaffected whether it becomes a part of the United Church or not. No property trust will be interfered with in anyway.

He was crossing the street, when he was hit by an eastbound street car and hurled beneath the front trucks. His skull was fractured and his left leg severed. He died at the General Hospital early this morning.

LIGHTING QUESTION AT WARKWORTH IS SETTLED

WARKWORTH, April 24.—The lighting question has been finally settled here. The required number of patrons in the village for Hydro have been secured and a transmission line will be built from Bradley's Corners to Warkworth. The contract with the Hydro-Commission to this effect has been signed. The work of building the line will begin as soon as the Hydro engineer makes a survey of the route. This branch will pass through a fine farming section and nearly all of the farmers along the route are expected to and themselves of the opportunity to secure light and power for their premises. It is estimated that the work on the new branch line will be completed in two months.

A. C. Twiddy, secretary of the local commission and other friends of Hydro, are elated over the outcome of the movement that has been the chief topic of discussion here for months.

PAGEANT WILL BE ONE WORTH WHILE

Many Looking Forward to Gymnasium Event This Week at Grand.

Anyone watching the practices at the gymnasium of the Young Women's Christian Association these days is quite sure that the pageant to be given in the Grand Opera House on Thursday and Friday evenings of this week is going to be decidely worth while.

The costumes, numbering nearly four hundred for the various dances, are lovely and unique. For the moonbeam dance, with colored spots on the dainty youthful performers, there is a confection of misty chiffons in mauves and blues, and mauve and rose and grey appear again the charming "rosette" dance. "Saucy Sue" is the cutest thing you ever saw, with the little girls in Kate Greenway costumes, and the little boys in green and pink outfits, with jaunty neck frills. Brilliant oranges and greens clothe the fantastically perking little bodies of the tots in the ferocious Gooliwog number, and curiously-tufted creations form a dress for the little 'bird' dancers. The Sailor's Hornpipe, the gypsy dance, and the Scotch numbers, all are appropriately costumed. One of the cutest sections of the programme is the tiny tots' dance, with fairy-like wee things tip-toeing through its mazes.

Swedish exercises, fancy gymnastics of all sorts, dumb-bell and Indian club work, group, aesthetic and interpretive dancing, all with a vim and zest to their production, promise an evening of unceasing entertainment

FAST BOUTS STAGED IN THE CHAMPIONSHIP EVENTS LAST EVENING

Preliminary Round For City Honors Brought Out Some Lively Talent at Victoria Hall.

FINALS TO-NIGHT.

Fight fans were treated to some first-class bouts in the preliminary rounds of the city championships last evening at Victoria Hall.

One championship was decided last evening and the way paved for title bouts in all other classes this evening. While only one knock-out was scored, the remainder of the bouts were all fast.

The card was opened with three fights in the 700-pound class, Scott and Kennedy had the curtain-raiser, which the former won on a decision of the judges after a likely mill. These two "flea" weights mixed things in lively shape, and the victory was only won by a very narrow margin.

In the second bout Evans won from Lavery in a scrap that on many ocasions was but a toe-to-toe slugging match. Both the youngsters were going like windmills, but both failed to do any great damage. Evans put up the steadier fight of the two, and was awarded the decision.

In the third bout, also in the 70-pound class, Steve Smith won a close decision from Stan Jones. Both these boys shaped up well.

The first bout in the 90-pound class was won by C. Smith, who defeated Daniels in the only slow bout of the evening. These two boys indulged in more foot work than either head work or hand work, and but few blows were landed by either.

Sims defeated Guppy in the second of the 90-pound affairs. This bout was a lively one, and Sims found Guppy right there every second of the scrap. Though Guppy lost, he deserves credit for the fight he put up.

Hutchison and Woodcock, the latter announced as Peterborough's white hope, turned in a whirlwind battle which was won by Hutchison after he had been sent to the mat once for the count of eight. Woodcock had a shade the best of it in the first round, and early in the second sent Hutchison to the canvas for the count. Hutchison came back strong, and before the round was over was almost on even terms again. The third round was his by a good margin, and the judges declared the bout a draw on the three rounds, and asked for an extra session. Woodcock, however, refused to stay the extra round, and walked from the ring. The decision was then awarded to Hutchison.

Tony Minicolo won from Corbett in the next bout with the only knock-out of the evening. This bout started at a good clip both boys trading punches at a great rate. Corbett was forced to the ropes in the first round and Minicolo drew a warning for hitting him while he was hanging on to the ropes. Though Corbett was a bit groggy, he shook it off gamely, and came back strong, but Minicolo had the better of the round. In the second round Corbett went down for the count of eiht, and though he tried gamely to stay, Minicolo found him again, and rocked him to sleep before the round was over.

The bouts had been getting better right along and the next one between Ray Millard and Len Minicolo was no exception. These two boys swapped wallops on even terms for two rounds, at the end of which Millard was forced to withdraw, both of his thumbs having been put out of joint. Minicolo was awarded the decision, and both boys were given a good hand by the crowd.

In the 135-pound class Coomb won the decision and the title, defeating Jack McDonough on a judges' decision. The decision was a close one, as both had put up a good scrap. McDonough surprised Coomb with a rapid fire attack right at the start, but Coomb came back strong, and sent his opponent to the mat twice before the round was over. The next two rounds were free-for-all slugging matches, in which neither had much advantage. This bout was the liveliest and best of the evening, and kept the fans on their feet all the way.

The finals in all classes except the 135-pound section will be fought this evening, and in addition to the local attractions, arrangements have been made to have some Oshawa boxers on hand to show their wares in special bouts.

Club Standings in Soft Ball League

As the result of last night's games, the Belmonts now stand at the top of the League in the second section, with the Gunners, Firemen, Rotary, and Kiwanis all tied for second place and crowding close for first honours.

All five of these teams have had two defeats and all are still very much in the running for the championship.

The K. of C. defeat last evening at the hands of the Gunners sent them back into sixth place, and practically put them out of the running for first place.

The next games will be played on Thursday, and Kiwanis and Firemen are scheduled to meet. This will mean the elimination of one of these teams.

The standings of the teams are:

	Won	Lost	Tied	P.C.
Belmonts	5	2	0	.714
Gunners	4	2	2	.667
Firemen	4	2	1	.667
Rotary	4	2	1	.667
Kiwanis	4	2	1	.667

SAY FLOYD JOHNSON WAS ENTITLED TO VERDICT

JERSEY CITY, N.J., April 24. — (Canadian Press.)— Floyd Johnson was entitled to the verdict over Fred Fulton at the end of their twelve round battle in the Fourth Regiment Armory here last night. Johnson crashed into a peck of trouble in the final round when Fulton had him on the verge of a knock-out but could not quite finish the game young Iowan. The latter had a tough time surviving that last minute of the fracas ,and if he had not piled up a big lead in nearly every other round he would have surrendered the decision to the tall plasterer from Minnesota.

Defeated L.O.L. 50 in a Snappy Set-to Last Evening By Score of 7 to 3.

The Firemen turned back the L.O.L. lads by the score of 7 to 3 last evening in a lively tilt. King William's boys started off well, but weakened badly at the last their fielding. Dunkerly "pushed" them across in great form, retiring fifteen discomfited batters to the bench. "Al" Spencely and his smile were not working well last night and the Firemen got close to him for long hits. Connors swatted out a three-bagger.

KNIGHTS LOST TO GUNNERS IN A TIGHT GAME

Defeat Practically Puts the K. of C. Out of the Running For First Place in the Club Section.

SCORE WAS 1 TO 0.

The Knights of Columbus lost to the Gunners by the score of 1 to 0. This game was the cream of all soft ball games. The Caseys battled all the way and the game was not won until the last man threw down his wr club. The loss of this game means that the Knight's chances in soft ball have gone "flooey." There are now five teams tied for first in the Club section each with two losses recorded against them The teams so tied are the Belmonts, Kiwanis, Rotary, Firemen and the Gunners.

Last evening's game was the best in all respects of any yet played. The fans were grooves in the benches and holes in their trousers with their excitement and anxiety. Time after time the pitchers would have two and three, or three and one on the batter and then strike him out.

There was no scoring until the eighth, Wolffe got on when given a walk and by the same speed in base running that he shown in outdoor ball, stole second and third and came in on a wild pitch by Murphy.

Excitement was at fever pitch when the Knights up to bat in the ninth had a man on third and second and none out and only that one run staving them from a victory. But Piercy never weakened striking out the next man. Grady the next batter, always a dangerous one, popped out a fly to Doughty. Then came the play that brought the fans to their feet. George Rutherford cracked out a hard liner over second which looked like a sure hit and the winning of the old ball game, but Wolffe ran back, jumped and speared it neatly and the game went to the Gunners by the single score.

The Gunners nearly scored in the third when they had each sack occupied but a bonehead play resulted in a double play and their chances took wings.

Both twirlers pitched super ball with Piercy leading in strikeouts and control, but Murphy topping him in fielding his position. Piercy had thirteen strikeouts and issued one complimentary. Murphy retired eleven and walked five.

The K.O.C. were the stronger on the batting end of the game, but the good pitching gave both teams a very meagre number of hits. The Knights collected four, two going for two bases. The Gunners got two hits.

Both teams were on their toes and turned in a great fielding game. Three minor errors were made in the whole game, the Knights having one.

The teams were:

K. of C.—M. Sheehy, 1b; O'Hern, c; D. Sheehy, ss; J. Rutherford, ss; Murphy, p; Cronin, lf; Grady, 3b; G Rutherford, 2b; C. Wolffe, rf.

REALM OF SPORT IN LAKEFIELD VILLAGE

Lawn Bowling Club Reported — Rumored Organization of a Lacrosse Club.

LAKEFIELD, April 24.—There is a rumor, which has reached the neighboring towns, that Lakefield will organize a lawn bowling club this season and there is a good deal of interest in the rumor as several members of the Peterboro Bowling Club have signified their wish to have a tournament with a Lakefield organization.

Interest in baseball is very keen this spring and it is not at all unlikely that district leagues in both hard and soft ball may be formed. League games are always interesting and draw a crowd.

A meeting of those interested in tennis will be held this evening at 7.30 in the Lakefield House. There is a prospect for a good strong club this year and it is hoped to get things in shape early so that when the courts are ready the club will be ready for the season.

There is a rumor that a lacrosse team will be organized in the village and several enthusiasts are making a strong and determined effort to produce definite results. Some years ago a team was formed and there were a few practices and that was all. Lakefield has had a sports record for 1923 which surpasses all previous years and it certainly seems an auspicious time to organize a team for our National Canadian game.

RENAULT SIGNED.

NEW YORK April 24 (Canadian Press). — Jack Renault, Canadian heavyweight pugilist, yesterday signed a contract to replace, in case of an emergency, any of the four principals in the main bouts of the Milk Fund Show at the Yankee Stadium on 12th May.

Belmonts Won Easy Game From Bowlers.

The Lawn Bowlers had a hard time of it when they stacked up against the Belmonts last evening for the final score was 2 to 0, and the Bowlers had the 0. The game was too one-sided to be very good for the Belmonts had everything their own way right from the start. They hit Fox's offerings all over the Armouries and romped around the bases whenever they felt like doing so. Holyman did the pitching for the Belmonts and had seven strike-outs to his credit. The victory sent the Belmonts into first place in the League standing.

The players were:

Suffered From Pimples and Blotches For Fifteen Years

When the blood becomes impure it is only natural that pimples, blotches boils or some other blood trouble will manifest itself by breaking out of the system.

There is only one way to get rid of these obnoxious skin troubles and that is by giving the impure blood a thorough cleansing by the use of a good blood purifier, such as

Burdock Blood Bitters

This remarkable remedy has been on the market for over forty years; is the best obtainable, and will do all we claim for it as a blood cleanser.

Mr. Albert R. De Witte, Lake Valley, Sask., writes: "I have suffered very much from pimples and unsightly blotches for the past fifteen years, and was so bad that I hated to go out anywhere. I tried many different medicines, but none seemed to help. A friend told me to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I have used three and a half bottles, and now I have a clear, rosy complexion."

BOUT WITH CHAMP. WAS DISAPPOINTING

TORONTO, April 24, Canadian Press. — Johnny Dundee, the junior lightweight champion of the world, was awarded the decision in a 12 round bout with Gene Delmont of Memphis, at the Coliseum here last night.

The bout was far from being a high class exhibition of boxing and was somewhat disappointing. Dundee seemed content to shade his opponent and did not show up as well as on his last visit here. He showed flashes of championship form but it was only after he had been staggered by his opponent.

After being almost out in the second round, and taking two counts of nine, Wally Hopwood, Toronto, fought through to a draw decision in ten rounds, with Chris Newton, Toronto. Both are lightweights.

FORMER TORONTO BROKER INDICTED

Involved With Four Others in Questionable Mining Stock Deals in Boston.

BOSTON, Mass., April 24.—(Canadian Press.)— Hamilton B. Wills, former Toronto mining broker ,and four other men who were secretly indicted here after an investigation of mining stock deals involving the Boston and Montana Company, were due to appear in Superior Court yesterday.

All are officials of the American Discount Corporation. They are Charles L. Burrill, a member of the Governor's Council, and formerly State Treasurer; William M. Montgomery, Lee George, Anistides Melendez ,and Hamilton B. Wills. Nine others have been secretly indicted in connection with the same transactions.

The investigation was started by District Attorney O'Brien after stockholders of the Boston and Montaan Company had brought a bill in equity alleging fraud on the part of the American Discount Corporation in financing a loan from that corporation to a brokerage firm which was fiscal agent of the Boston and Montana Company and which was conducted by William R. Allen, formerly Lieutenant-Governor of Montana, and president of the Boston and Montana.

GIVEN UP AS DEAD OPS MAN IS ALIVE

George Green Has Had a Remarkable and Honorable Career.

LINDSAY, April 24.—In the early eighties George Green, then a young farm hand living in Ops township, left these parts and was lost in the great outdoors. His friends gave him up as dead, but great was their surprise when a letter was received from him to-day with a Hamilton, Ont., post mark.

George has had a checkered as well as remarkable career. He went to South Africa with the Strathcona Horse and for valiant service in the Boer war in the dashing South African Light Horse to which he was transferred he was awarded the D. C.M. He was employed after the war as chief gardener for the Lieutenant-Governor of the Orange River Colony. Being anxious to get back to Canada, he was granted a homestead in British Columbia. But farm life palled on the soldier of fortune. He went to Mexico in 1910 and during the revolution served as a Colonel in the rebel army. When the World War broke out he shipped to England on a Norwegian steamer and enlisted in the Imperial forces. He reached France in 1916 and was at the front until the armistice was signed. Mr. Green has a formidable array of medals, including the D. C.M., Imperial long service and good conduct medals, two South African and a Mercantile and Marine medal and British War and Victory medals, the last two being souvenirs of the late conflict.

Mr. Green will return to Lindsay in May.

BUCKLEY EXPLAINS SETTLEMENT PLAN

Various Schemes Vary in Many Respects But All Provide Loans Without Interest.

LONDON April 24.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Speaking in the house of commons yesterday, Col. A. Buckley, secretary to the overseas trade department said the schemes under the Empire Settlement act varied considerably but in a general way they all provided for loans without interest and to be recoverable by instalments. Free grants were made in certain cases, with respect to the more distant destinations.

Replying to a question Col. Buckley said he did not think there had been any direct payment to the Canadian government for assisting settlers.

A member asked: "In considering any financial assistance to the Canadian government in connection with the emigration schemes will the secretary keep in mind the fact that the Canadian government are considering a subsidy to a private exploitation company in Canada of $10,000 per month?" The speaker said notice of the question must be given.

Replying to further question, Col. Buckley said he was aware that valuable work had been performed by the British Dominions Emigration Society. He added that the overseas settlement committee desired to encourage voluntary efforts in connection with Empire-directed migration and were prepared to consider proposals for co-operation with voluntary bocieties under the terms of the settlement act. He hoped shortly to conclude an agreement with the society for assisting about seventy-five families to proceed to Canada in the next three months.

Conference to Draw Empire Together.

LONDON, April 24.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Edward Cecil Mooro Lord Mayor of London, who presided at a meeting of the empire development union here yesterday, congratulated the government on having fixed the date for the imperial economic conference, October 1. All classes, he said, should combine to make it the starting point of a new great development of inter-imperial trade.

Viscount Long dwelt on the possibilities of the dominions in the matter of trade and said it was nothing short of a scandal that there should be any difficulty of obtaining a supply of sugar when there were ample supplies in the British dominions and colonies.

The meeting adoted a resolution assuring the government of support in any measure it might take along the line of recent imperial conference to draw the various parts of the empire closer together.

Want Ad Tips
by John T. Bartlett

YOUR BIGGEST TALKING-POINT

In the language of salesmen, a "talking point" is an argument for an offered article which carries great weight with the public. Accordingly the salesman uses it over and over when selling customers. A "talking point" in a Want Ad is much the same. It is an argument of sure appeal to possible buyers. With it sales are made with the least difficulty.

Writing a Want Ad, is a good plan for you to go still farther—mentally decide what is your biggest "talking point." Then give more prominence to this than to other points. Feature it in the head line, or in the first words of your message.

Price "talking points" help sell countless things for Want Ad users every day. Among these is the bargain price, including the reason why the advertiser offers such ("forced sale," "special offer," "walk upstairs and save the difference," etc.) Easy terms are a price "talking point". So also is the possibility of the thing offered—real estate, for example increasing in value—as there is the suggestion therein that the present price represents an unusually good buy.

Service and quality "talking points" are powerful, too. Some of these are unusual quality, unusual range of selection, quick delivery, the number of an advertiser's satisfied customers, some special point of superiority—as a view, in the case of a home; the handsome lines of a purebred dog—a money-back guarantee, a free trial.

What it is, connected with your thing or service, which will most quickly bring inquirers—that is your biggest "talking point." Decide what this is. Then feature it in your Want Ad.

BOXERS COMING FROM OSHAWA

Three Good Mitt Performers From Motortown Take Part Tonight,

The City Boxing semi-finals and finals will be decided to-night at Victoria Hall, and in addition to these competitions, Oshawa A.A.A. is sending three boxers to take part in special bouts.

No Room For Dainty in An O.B.A. League

The story about Dainty pitching for Oshawa in the Central Ontario League this season may be taken with a grain of salt. There is no place for Dainty in an O.B.A.A. organiztaion, for his record is too well known by this time to let him get away as an amateur. The eccentric left-hander is reported on good authority to have had two different try-outs in the Michigan-Ontario League and last year was announced as having been released by the Western Ontario club of the M. O. League to another. On top of that Dainty would not in any case qualify under the January 1st residence rule. Oshawa surely do not expect to get a certificate for the southpaw, nor is it believed possible that the Oshawa club would have nerve enough to ask for one.

The total causalities are not known but a loss of twenty-one lives is already definitely established.

A PEOPLE'S PLAYGROUND.

Algonquin Park, that wonderful Government Reserve situated in the Highlands of Ontario, 200 miles north of Toronto and 170 miles west of Ottawa, is nearly 3,000 square miles in extent, and has become one of the most popular resorts for the summer tourist and the lover of the outdoor life. The altitude, 2,000 feet above sea level, gives this territory an invigorating climate. From all over the North American Continent people with frayed nerves and fickle appetites seek the bracing tang of her forests and she takes them in hand and rebuilds them. been made to the Chief when he was engaged. He understood that there had been more mistakes now at the Fire Hall than before.

"No such a thing," Ald. Crowe replied. "Such isn't the case. We have had more fires than ever, three to every one before. There have been a few mistakes. I can recall three or four but there was a good explanation for all of them. We couldn't get a Fire Chief to apply for the position. They stood on their dignity, and wouldn't take the place while one of their members was still on the job. And finally when some did apply, they wanted more money than that. We told Mr. Gimblett that when he proved himself his salary would be raised to $2,500, and I think he has done that."

AN EVENING OF FUN AND HUMOR

Busy Bees of Berkeley St. Methodist Church Toronto, Exceeded All Expectations of Audience

The hall of the Conservatory of Music was filled last night with a crowd of men and women who chuckled and roared and giggled appreciatively through an evening of fun and quaint, old-time humor, provided by the fifteen visiting ladies from Toronto, the Busy Bees of Berkeley Street Methodist Church, who more than exceeded the expectations of those who anticipated a pleasant entertainment. The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Andrew's Church were in charge.

Aunt Jerusha Dow from Pumpkin Centre and her Ladies' Aid meeting was one of the funniest and most entertaining small amateur offerings ever seen here, and would bear a repetition at any time.

With an air of being thoroughly at home in their old-fashioned gowns, the members of the Ladies' Aid Society of Pumpkin Centre gathered at the home of their president, Aunt Jerusha, to celebrate the semi-centennial of the foundation of their society. Placing the time of their meeting in 1864, they came dressed in their best. Aunt Jerusha, dominating the proceedings, wore a voluminous black silk dress, with small black ruffled cap and large gold brooch. Her daughter, Tillie, a long-maned, gingham-clad, lanky child, with near-sighted spectacles, had "fred up" the house. The rows of red geraniums, the shells and china vases on the whatnot, the chair-tidies, were all displayed to the best advantage.

Aunt Jerusha.

Aunt Jerusha, who had made up her mind that attendants at Ladies' Aid meetings came for the sake of the food supplied, registered a determination to have no refreshments but her resolve was shaken by the advent of six strange women from "Fowler's Corners," who had come to take notes on the conduct of a real Ladies' Aid meeting. A group of silent onlookers, they formed a background for the energetic members from Pumpkin Centre, and were responsible for the meagre service of refreshments which finally appeared, when Aunt Jerusha poured tea, ginger beer and coco-cola all from the same pot, and handed around sandwiches on a small saucer.

In their best frills and tuckers, the ladies arrived by way of the audience entrance, singly, in stately, impressive fashion. Like figures out of Godey's Lady's Book, or an old-time "Harper's," they had neglected no detail of costumes seen in daguerreotypes of a forgotten period. In flowered silks, in tight-waisted cottons and ginghams, with pointed basques and small shoulder-shawls, with bustles and trains and "pull-backs," huge cameo brooches and golden lockets, with Paisley shawls and black lace mittens, they arrived. Leg-of-mutton sleeves and high collars predominated, with trailing skirts and cream silk shawls. Poke bonnets and little straw hats in flat pancake style were noticeable, one lady achieving a notable head decoration with an inverted bowl in straw, adorned with broad ribbon streamers and a single, upright, nodding rose.

The News-Gatherer.

They brought their knitting and the latest news. Mrs. Stubbs, the local news-gatherer, a prim figure in tight black dress and large reticule, had a "dish of gossip" for the ladies, and the secretary, Patience Peak, evidently a lover of pink, who brought her medicine with her, read the extremely outspoken minutes of the previous meeting.

Drusilla was a lady with a strong Scotch accent, an ardent suffragette, who delivered a loud-voice oration on "man's rights and woman's sphere," alluded to later by her deaf neighbor as a "real nice prayer." This deaf lady, Hepsibah Hunt, who had a passion for opening and closing her fat satchel and a great fondness for smelling the red geraniums, and imbibing peppermints from a small bag, labored under the delusion that she was attending an "experience" meeting. Sitting with prim countenance throughout the entire uproarious evening, she woke up when the refreshments arrived, and created a diversion by bolting from the platform completely at a fancied alarm of fire, during the impassioned Drusilla's plea to "female women to raise themselves higher above the male men." Drusilla's further description of her trip to "Eatonses" in search of a bonnet, a hectic excursion when she was forced to take an "elevator" and conversed with the wax models in the show-rooms, brought down the house.

A favorite design of Drusilla's, to accomplish the defeat of man, was a bill to be shoved through Parliament, to allow the "lassies" to pop the question, thus saving a deal of time and unnecessary expense in "courtin'." Her advice to the deaf Hepzibah to leave the latter's stingy husband, Jonathan, was met by an indignant, "Land sakes! After all the trouble I had gettin' him!"

Local Allusions.

Several local allusions were received with appreciation during the packing of the missionary barrel with a number of unnecessary things and the contributions offered toward the relief of a neighboring needy family. The ladies enjoyed a following "dish of tea" immensely, Hepzibah imbibing her portion from a large saucer.

During the progress of the hilarious meeting, the ladies from time to time rose for a song, their repertoire consisting of the old-time, quaint, smoothly-flowing, sentimental ballads, including "Nancy Till," with the call of the lover to "go sailing on the o-hi-o"; "Wait for the Waggon"; "The Grandfather's Clock," "Granny's Arm-chair," "Juanita," and a medley of real old-fashioned hits. Their voices are beautifully harmonized, and they achieve an effect with their old songs that is pleasing and melodious. The choruses were led by Aunt Jerusha.

Solos were given in splendid voice by "Cleopatra Spriggins," who sang "Mary of Argyle" and "Comin' Thru the Rye," by "Patience Peak," "Polly Put the Kettle On," and by the "little girl" Phoebe, "Just a Song at Twilight," who, with her mother, "Mrs. Butterfield," then gave "Sweet and Low" as an encore.

Aunt Jerusha (Miss Elizabeth Thompson) announced at the conclusion of the programme that the Busy Bees' Society would be in charge of a refreshment booth at the Canadian National Exhibition this summer, extending an invitation to her audience to patronise it.

Local ladies who formed the listening delegation from "Fowler's Corners" were: Mesdames P. B. L. Barns, Bert McClennan, F. Weir, M. Breckenridge, G. E. Latimer, P. Allison.

E. I. C. MEETING.

Colonel Boyden, of the Portland Cement Association, of Chicago, will address the local branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada on the evening of May 8. Owing to Col. Boyden's itinerary preventing his coming to Peterborough before this date, the regular meeting of the branch was postponed.

The annual meeting of the branch will be held on May 10, when the election of officers will be held. Corporate members and juniors who have not received their ballots before that date will kindly notify the secretary.

THE MARKETS

RALLY CONTINUES.

NEW YORK, April 24.—(United Press.)—The rally in progress at the close of the market yesterday was slight, but it was encouraging to those on the constructive side. It was continued in early trading today, gathering strength as trading proceeded.

Steel Common moved up 1-4 to 105 3-4 and similar gains were scored by Cal. Petroleum, American Locomotive, Corn Products and other speculative leaders. Phillips Petroleum displayed special strength, reaching a new high on the recovery at 64 3-4 in response to the declaration of a fifty per cent. stock dividend and an extra cash payment.

Stocks continued to move ahead throughout the list in the first hour. Steps towards Mexican recognition proved a helpful influence with regard to the stocks of companies with large holdings below the border, such as American Smelting, Greene Canane and Southern Pacific. Another constructive factor was the suggestion of a break in the deadlock over the reparations question. Settlement of this problem would mean a big demand for raw materials from this country and prominent banking interests have been carefully scrutinizing developments abroad. Before eleven o'clock this short covering gained greater and many industrials sold above the highest prices reached in the previous session.

Strength in individual stocks was the principal feature of the late morning. Gimbel advanced to 51 1-2 against Monday's low of 48 3-8, reflecting expectations of early inauguration of a four dollar dividend rate. Central Leather sold at 34 1-2 against Monday's low of 33 1-8, responding to remarkable earning comebacks in the first 3 months of 1922 when a surplus of $1,490,975 was shown against a deficit of $230,217 last year.

International Paper was another company which showed a surplus in the first quarter after a long string of deficits. It is a fact that shares of companies like these which are just beginning to benefit from the business revival are still selling around low levels of a year ago that make many experienced observers feel that the market is still a cycle of rising prices.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND.

"CAPPY RICKS."

The Machan Sisters Stock Company, which opened a three days' engagement at the Grand last night, made a very auspicious debut in a stage version of Peter Kyne's amusing stories featuring "Cappy Ricks." A large audience welcomed the company and enjoyed the offering, judging by the laughter and applause. The cast gives a very adequate production of the comedy, the work of Raymond Poore in the title role standing out prominently. The part of the explosive, blustering, yet loveable, Alden P. Ricks is rich material, and Mr. Poore used it to excellent advantage. The brow-beaten Skinner was well portrayed by Al. W. Emmerson, and Billy Webb got many a laugh out of the comedy part of Cecil Bernard. Miss Rosalind Machan made a very favorable impression as Florence Ricks, and Miss Gloria Machan, well remembered here for her work with the Rex Stock Company, was well cast as Ellen Murray. Ben Laughlin was sufficiently manly and energetic as Matt. Peasley, and the rest of the parts were well looked after. Baby Marjorie, a winsome five-year-old entertainer, sang and danced cleverly, and Billy Webb scored in his vaudeville number.

To-night the Machan Sisters company will present "The Rosary," and to-morrow night the farce, "Before Breakfast."

Why Corns?
Just say Blue-jay to your druggist

The simplest way to end a corn is Blue-jay. A touch stops the pain instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes out. Made in a colorless clear liquid (one drop does it!) and in thin plasters. The action is the same.

Capitol Entertainment

The resplendent Gloria Swanson, dashing in her sports clothes, shimmering and dazzling in daring evening dress, is the vital heroine of "My American Wife" at the Capitol Theatre this half week. She plays opposite Antonio Moreno in a swift-moving story of Spanish love, intrigue and revenge. The rival families, the de Grossas and the Santos, become rivals for the favour of the beautiful American, Natalie Chester. At a dinner party, Pedro de Grossa insults the lady, and Manuel Santos fights a duel over the affair. Brazo Gomaz, a gun-man, is hired to despatch young Manuel, but fails to kill him. Natalie nurses him back to health, in a lovely "estancia" among the hills, and is misunderstood by his mother and would-be fiancee. A carnival scene, the Corso de Flores (battle of the Flowers) brings matters to a head once more between the two men, but Natalie, in a final, unexpected, dramatic denouement, dominates the situation.

With her dramatic ability, wonderful gowns and a background of Spanish, moonlit castles, the heroine achieves an interesting and entertaining picture.

The two cuts-ups, Percy and Ferdie, have an excellent "Hallroom Boys" comedy.

IN MEMORIAM

CROUTER—In ever loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Geo. Crouter, who passed away April 24, 1917.

Six years have passed since that sad day,
When one we loved was called away
The time was short, the blow severe,
To part with one we loved so dear
For all of us she did her best,
May God grant her eternal rest.
Her willing hand will toil no more,
Suffering and pain with her are o'er,
This toilsome world she left behind;
Eternal rest in heaven to find.
We watched her fade like a flower;
We could not make her stay;
We nursed her with a tender care,
Till Jesus called her away.
—Inserted by her two daughters,
Pearl and Rose.

FRANCE TO GET NEW REPARATIONS OFFER.

BERLIN, April 24. — (Canadian Press.)—The Germans will make a new repartions offer to the Allies this week intended to settle the Ruhr dispute and establish peace with France.

This was learned Monday night when Chancellor Cuno called a conference of party leaders and industrial representatives of the nation on Tuesday at Berlin to approve the Cabinet's new proposals.

According to the plans drawn up by the Government the Cabinet will notify all signatories of the Versailles Treaty this week that Germany is ready to proceed on a cash payment basis. The offer will be based on Karl Borgeman's scheme, brought forward at the Allied Premiers' Conference last winter, for German payment of thirty billion gold marks in cash. It will contain, moreover, a mutual security border clause to be signed by both Berlin and Paris.

This clause will provide wider protection for France.

PROTEST AGAINST COST SUBURBAN HIGHWAYS

GUELPH, April 24.—(Canadian Press).—A number of replies have been received to telegrams sent out to various municipalities last Saturday requesting that they join with Guelph in sending representatives on a delegation to Toronto to protest to the Ontario Government against taxing municipalities such a high figure for suburban highway construction work. Toronto, Windsor, St. Thomas, Galt, Owen Sound, Niagara Falls, Welland, Sarnia, Peterborough, Kingston and Belleville, all replied, expressing their willingness to co-operate. Replies were also received from Port Arthur and Fort William, but as these two cities are not affected by highway costs they stated that they would not be included in the delegation.

FLOOD CONDITIONS ARE NOT IMPROVED.

SOME FAMILIES MAROONED IN OWN HOMES WEST OF WINNIPEG.

WINNIPEG, April 24 (Canadian Press), — With rain and snow, accompanied by low temperatures, fairly general throughout Manitoba, the flood situation showed little improvement to-day.

Conditions in many sections of the Province affected by high water continue about stationary.

Between Poplar Point and High Bluff on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, west of this city, flood conditions were very bad to-day, with many hundreds of acres of fine farm lands under water, roads and culverts washed away, and in some cases families marooned in their homes.

Brandon, where the situation was so serious last week, reported only a two-inch rise in the Assiniboine River over night.

No improvement was reported from the Stock Yards district and the adjoining territory in St. Boniface, the water continuing to rise during the night.

AGREE TO WITHDRAWAL PROJECTED LEGISLATION.

TORONTO, April 24. Canadian Press. — Wellington Hay, Liberal leader, and Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, the Conservative leader, met Premier Drury in his office to-day, and decided on the withdrawal of certain projected legislation.

Among the bills to be dropped is the public vehicles act, calling for the standardization of all bus lines, tion of commercial agreements between manufacturers and wholesalers, and the land titles and registration titles and registration of instruments act, all government measures.

Devision will be made by the party leaders on the fate of the blue sky bill to-morrow.

WEDDING BELLS

MURPHY—CORIN.
A quite but pretty wedding took place at seven o'clock in the Holy Family church, Toronto, on Thursday, April 19, when Father Corrigan united in the holy bonds of matrimony, Bessie, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Corin, Toronto, to John Frederick, son of Mr. and Mrs John Murphy, 57 Smith street, Peterboro. The young couple were attended by Ghadys Corin, sister of the bride and Henry Leonard. After the ceremony the happy couple were given a sumptuous wedding breakfast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hyland, 8 Gwynne avenue.

The young couple left on the 8.45 train for Peterboro, where on their arrival they were given a dinner at the home of the groom. In the evening about forty friends were entertained at a dance. The young couple received many beautiful and useful gifts, showing the esteem in which they are held.

They will reside in Toronto.

Society

On Sunday afternoon Rev. J. A. MacKenzie gave a few parting words to a combined meeting of the Brotherhood, Berean and Volunteer Bible classes of Knox Church who were out in large numbers to hear Mr. MacKenzie's parting words. The occasion was taken advantage of by the Brotherhood to present Mr. Mac Kenzie with a fountain pen to serve as a reminder of the warm feeling of friendship entertained for him by the Brotherhood. Mr. MacKenzie replied in suitable terms and then addressed the combined class.

Although the Physical and Social features of the Association Programme are more prominent because of the very nature of these activities, the Religious Work is by no means neglected.

Bible Classes and Sunday Afternoon Meetings are vital factors in the Weekly Programme during the Fall, Winter, and Spring seasons.

In the Junior Department, the Bible Study Class is held just before the Gymnasium period, and the attendance is as large at Bible Class as in the Gym. 107 Boys were enrolled in Bible Classes, with a total attendance of 657.

Educational Work
Courses in Salesmanship and Public Speaking have been conducted during the past season with splendid success — 27 Young Men were Enrolled in these Courses.

IS A PROBLEM FOR CUNO AND HIS ADVISERS

Government is Represented as Being Desirous of Making a Move for Settlement.

THE FRONTIERS

BERLIN, April 25. — (Canadian Press.)— Whether Germany is warranted in now coming forward with a reparation offer in view of her internal financial situation is one of the questions that is perplexing Chancellor Cuno and his cabinet, according to well informed political circles.

Government is represented as being desirous of showing an accommodating attitude in response to Lord Curzon's recent appeal to Germany to make the first move for settlement. Chancellor and his Foreign Minister do not lack counsel in the situation created by Lord Curzon's remarks. As reflected in the press this voluntary advice may be summe dup in the words: 'Go slowly, don't get nervous.'"

In the ranks of the United Socialists there is evidence of strong determination to force the questions of Germany's frontiers to an ultimate settlement and there is also a desire that Germany's position in this respect be fixed quite as indelibly as that of her ultimate obligations.

OFFERS A SOLUTION.

RYE, N.Y., April 25.—(Canadian Press.)— Agreements of terms of payment of British debt to the United States is likely to lead not only to agreements in regard to other Inter-Allied debts, but also to final settlement of reparations problem, Frederick Goodnough, chairman of Barcelay's bank said to-day in an address before the executive committee of American Bankers' Association.

Reinvestment of securities United States receives from Britain in securities offered by German government would lead to an eventual solution of the reparations problem, he declared. German reparations bonds could be made an attractive investment to investors throughout the world.

Council Follows Up Report From Lindsay That Railway Shops May Be Moved to Peterborough

That rumor of the possibility of the C. N. R. shops being removed from Lindsay to Peterborough was seized on by Ald. Turner at the special meeting of the Council, and a resolution by Ald Maher, seconded by Ald. Stocker, will call the attention of Mr. G. N. Gordon, M.P., to the item which appeared recently in the Examiner.

ADDRESS ON HYGIENE WAS LARGELY ATTENDED

A well-attended open meeting of the Prince of Wales Home and School Association was held last evening, presided over by the president Mrs. J. S. Peters. An interesting and instructive address on 'Hygiene' was given by the District Nurse of the Peterboro Health Association, Miss G. Peat, a contest arranged by one of the school's teachers, Miss Hunter, was much enjoyed, and a musical programme was rendered, including a part song by the pupils of Mr. F. E. Kerr's class; a heartily encored vocal solo "April Showers", by Scot Medd, accompanied by Mrs. N. D. Buchanan; a clever pianoforte selection by small Master Burwin Tillcock; an enjoyable piano duet by the Misses Jean and Marion McCannon, and violin solo by Roy Rome, accompanied by Margaret Rome and an exceptionally interesting reading by Mrs. H. E. Connolly, who, in a bright selection by Jessie Alexander entitled "A Coronation Crowd,' 'took off' in splendid fashion the various nationalities watching the passing-by of a coronation parade.

A vote of thanks was tendered the speaker and assisting musicions; and dainty refreshment served by the ladies in charge.

Deny Reports That Patriarch Tikhon Had Been Tortured

LONDON, April 25 (United Press). — A flat denial of a report from Riga that the Metropolitan Patriarch, Dr. Tikhon, had been tortured to wring a confession from him has been made in a statement issued here to-day by the Russian trade delegation.

Dr. Tikhon is facing trial for conspiracy against the State.

The delegation here pointed out that the Patriarch had not concealed his connection with Monarchist leaders. Moreover, they contended on several occasions he had called the populace to revolt and blessed Anti-Red generals including Denkine and Koltchau.

CONTINUES TO HEAD LIBERAL SHIP ONTARIO

Senator A. C. Hardy Will Remain at the Helm and Direct the Coming Campaign,

MEETING TODAY

TORONTO, April 25 (Canadian Press). — Senator A. C. Hardy, of Brockville, Ontario, to-day withdrew his resignation as president of the Ontario Federation of Liberal Associations, and will remain, for the present at any rate to direct the campaign of the Liberal Party in connection with the forthcoming general elections in Ontario.

The Senator stated his decision to remain at the helm at the unanimous request of two hundred delegates assembled here to-day at the convention of Liberal Associations and Clubs.

Various speakers, representatives of Liberalism in various parts of the Province, voiced their confidence in the president.

It is understood that no serious criticism was made of Senator Hardy's famous letter for J. W. Curry, K.C., Liberal member of the Legislature, which was wrongly addressed to Col. J. A. Carrie, Conservative, and which was read in the Legislature recently.

Wellington Hay, Liberal leader in the Ontario Legislature, made a vigorous plea for getting together of the Ontario Liberals in the coming campaign Self-sacrifice would be necessary, he said.

Mr. Hay told the delegates that Liberal candidates should be nominated in every riding for the coming elections.

The convention passed votes of confidence in the Right Hon. Mackenzie-King and Wellington Hay as the leaders of the Liberal forces in in the Dominion and Provincial arenas respectively.

It was resolved that when Lloyd-George visits Canada next September he should be welcomed by the Canadian Liberals as the "greatest living Liberal of the present time.

KEEN INTEREST C.G.E. COMMON

This Security Latterly has Displayed Conspicious Strength — Advanced 4 Points Yesterday.

TORONTO, April 25. — Marked interest thus far this week has centred in Canadian General Electric common. This security latterly has displayed conspicuous strength, yesterday's high of 100¼ representing an advance of 4 points for the day, and an advance of 19¾ points when compared with the year's low. The strength of this stock in recent months has been one of the mysteries of the board, for, as one broker pointed out yesterday, few financial statements presented so many bearish factors as did that of the Canadian General Electric Company. The persistence in the buying has led to the conclusion that there are certain unidentified parties interested in the stock for other than investment or speculative reasons, and the rumor has been revived that the American General Electric Company is again endeavoring to secure control through purchase of the common stock in the open market. This security, which was formerly held in high regard by investors, lost a large measure of its prestige within the past year with the cutting of the dividend rate from 8 to 6 per cent. Throughout 1922 reports of the company's business were particularly depressing, and that the gloomy side was in no way exaggerated was indicated by the financial statement for the year, which revealed the fact that surplus had been heavily drawn on to provide for the dividends on common and preferred. Latterly, reports have been more favorable in character, and it is understood that the company has now a substantial volume of business on its books. The stock has had an interesting market record, ranging over the past 20 years from a high of 235½ to a low of 75½, the low point reached in 1922. Last year earnings reached the lowest point in a number of years, indicated earnings being equivalent to 5.22 per cent. on preferred as compared with 35.30 in 1921, 67.83 in 1920 and 71.82 per cent. in 1918.

JAZZ STEPPER GOING STRONG

Allen Shows Signs of Fatigue in Marathon Grind to Set World's Mark.

DETROIT, April 25.—Feet badly swollen and blistered, but refreshed by a new change of socks and slippers, and a shave, self-administered while shuffling on the smooth floor, Barney Allen, aspirant for the world's long distance dancing championship, was plodding in to his 86th hour at noon to-day at the New Majestic Institute for Dancing.

Shortly before 10 a.m., he foxtrotted from the small side room, where he had kept in motion since 1 a.m., when spectators were barred from the place to the orchestra stage, and there played a jig on the piano, and danced to the tune. He was discovered by the manager, and shooed back to the side room.

Allen then took a puff of a cigaret, after superstitiously refusing to allow two other men to light cigarets off the same match.

Seeing his newly-acquired fiancee, Olive Carr, lying under a pile of blankets in the corner, he approached her in tune with the weary orchestra and insisted on bathing her swollen ankles with witch hazel, without losing a step himself.

Signs Contract.

The end of the third day of continuous dancing, 11.10 p.m. Monday, was marked by Allen's affixing his signature to a contract for one year, as dancing instructor, at a salary of $5,000.

Mr. Allen's eyes had lost the world's record. He rested heavily on partners' shoulders, and most of the night his "dancing" consisted of a mere slow walk about the hall, broken infrequently by a bit of spirited fox trotting or fancy stepping.

In short Mr. Allen appeared tired.

But he will not admit it. Asked whether he thought he could keep going until 10:12 a.m. Thursday, when he will have equalled the present record, he evinced scorn of the questioner.

Good For 24 Hours.

"I'm good for 24 hours more without treatment," he said. By "treatment" he means massaging of his foot and leg muscles. "If you think you know of anyone who can dance longer than I can, I want to see him. I can beat them all."

Opinion of attendants at the hall was divided about his ability to last. Some pointed to his occasional spurts and his alert mental condition, which notes everything about him and responds readily to any stmulus, as evidence that he still has a large store of reserve strength. Others maintained that the apparently growing pain in his feet and legs, and the haggard look in his eyes, mean that he will not be able to continue many hours longer.

MINISTER NOT NECESSARY AT PRESENT TIME

Sir Edward Kemp in London Speech Repudiates Idea Canadian Ambassador.

OMIT REFERENCE

LONDON, April 25. (Special.) — Sir Edward Kemp, who was a minister in Sir Robert Borden's cabinet speaking at a dinner here last night, repudiated the idea of the appointment of a Canadian ambassador at Washington, which originated in the government of which he was a member.

He said that the information he had received since that time had changed his ideas on this point, the most important factor influencing the change being the consideration that other dominions resented being represend by a Canadian when the British ambassador might happen to be absent.

He referred also to the possibility of confusion of the various interests if the other dominions pursued a similar policy.

The London newspapers which carry a report of the dinner this morning noticeably omit any reference to this statement by Sir Edward Kemp or quotation from his address.

Sir George Brown at the same gathering urged the importance of problem of immigration, and Lloyd Graeme, the present president of the Board of Trade said that immigration and imperial trade were inextricably interwoven and announced that the imperial conference to be held in October would consider the proposal to use Britain's credit during the next five years for expenditures necessary for the development of imperial resources.

Such a development would bring about an enormous accretion of wealth, he declared, both to the dominions and the colonies, and in this way the empire as a whole would reap a profit within the next 20 or 30 years.

NOW IS THE TIME TO START GARDEN

Early Planting Will Be Under Way This Week and Next in Peterboro

If you want to have vegetables for your table this summer now is the time to attack the back garden with rake and spade.

Asked to-day when flower and vegetable seeds should be planted in this district to get the best results, one of the most successful gardeners in Peterborough said that quite a number of varieties of seed could be planted this week and next. Garden peas, early cabbage and early cauliflower should be in the ground now; lettuce, radsh, and Dutch onion sets might be planted at any time; carrots should be planted next week, and tomato plants should be held back until May 15 to 25.

In the flower garden, sweet peas should be planted now, but such plants as snapdragon and asters should be held until May 24 to June 1.

Enquiry this morning brought to notice several enthusiastic gardeners in the city who have many of these seeds sown. They will have radishes and lettuce fresh from the garden in a few weeks.

PAINT AND TEA IN A PRICE INCREASE

Two Widely Separated Commodities Are Up in Price Here.

Despite the general downward trend noticeable in various lines of merchandise, one or two continue on the up grade. Paint and tea—widely separated from the consumer's viewpoint—are keeping each other company very far up the heights in a duet which is anything but sweet to the working man. One line of paint has recently advanced 20 to 25 per cent. to the retailers, who have not yet passed on the increase to the ultimate purchaser. It is only a question of time, they say, until this will be necessary. Tea has advanced from 15 to 18 cents, according to one dealer, who also states that this is the amount it dropped about a year ago.

BEAUTY TRAPPED BY FIRE WAS RESCUED BY FIREMEN

Detroit Thrills to Escape of Italian Maiden From Menacing Flames in Fire-Beset Home —Family is Wealthy

DETROIT, April 25. — Olga Annessa, 23 years old, whose golden hair and lustrous brown eyes, were the despair of all the Italian maidens in Compoli, Caserta province, Italy, where her father, Victor, one of the wealthiest men in the kingdom, resides, had her first real thrilling experience here. She was trapped in a burning building and rescued by a fireman.

With a wall of flames roaring between them, Miss Annessa and her brother, Dr. Giovanni Annessa, 27 years old, prominent physician in the Italian quarter, awoke at 1 a.m. to find their home, 3395 Riopelle St., on fire and all escape cut off.

Each thinks of Other.

Brother and sister are inseperable chums. Each is to the other more than anything else in the world. And when they awakened, choking in the smoke filled rooms, separated by a hallway, each thought first of the safety of the other. But when they opened the doors of the rooms they found that they were separated by flames sweeping through the hall.

They retreated to the windows of their rooms which look out on Riopelle street and there Dr. Annessa shouted encouragement to his sister, after he had attracted the attention of Louis D. Angelo, a neighbor who summoned the firemen.

Carried to Safety.

Dr. Annessa made his way unassisted down one of the ladders while a sturdy fireman took the Italian beauty in his arms and carefully carried her to safety.

After which the young doctor and his sister congratulated each other on their escape.

The two came to this country several months ago after completing their education in Italy. Their father owns vast vineyards in Caserta province, is an oil magnate, and a former mayor of Compoli. The family is an old one and for generations has produced scientists, lawyers, doctors and other professional men. Dr. Annessa following the tradition of his family was sent to the University of Rome where he obtained his degree.

The origin of the fire which threatened to destroy their home, is unknown. The damage is estimated at $6,000.

CONSERVATIVES MEET TONIGHT

Executive Will Plan for Election Campaign--Nine Names Mentioned as Possible Candidates.

A little liveliness is apparent in the local Conservative camp to-day, although, as President Roland Denne, of the West Peterborough Liberal-Conservative Association, says, there is plenty of time yet for the party to bring forward their election campaign batteries.

A meeting of the association's executive is called for eight o'clock this evening in E. A. Peck's office, Water street, where campaign preliminaries and possible standard-bearers in the June elections for the Legislature will be discussed.

This morning no less than nine names were mentioned as a field from which to select a strong candidate, either in a two or three-cornered fight. They are:

Col. C. Ackerman (insurance.)
W. H. Bradburn (managing director Bradburns Limited, and ex-Mayor of Peterborough.)
Dr. M. A. Morrison (dentist.)
Dr. G. S. Cameron (physician.)
E. A. Peck (solicitor and ex-M.P.P.)
George Nicholls (farmer of Smith and ex-Warden Peterborough county.)
W. H. Hill (insurance.)
Harry Webber (farmer, North Monaghan.)
Roland Denne (merchant, and who unsuccessfully contested the Federal seat in the last Dominion elections.)

Of the foregoing possible slate for nomination at the coming convention, it will be noticed that two are resident within the rural confines of the riding, while the remaining seven are prominent professional and business men in the city.

INTERESTING TALK ON TRAVEL BY MISS WATT

The Queen Mary Home and School Association held its regular meeting last evening with a good attendance. The business session was followed by a very interesting travel talk by Miss Verda Watt one of the Peterborough teachers who spent a year in teaching in the schools of London England. Miss Watt's address was illustrated with lantern slides, run off in satisfactory fashion by the young members of the Peterborough Amateur Chemists' Club, and gave some beautiful views of cathedrals in England and on the Continent, with especial reference to the main buildings of Italy, in the cities of Venice, Florence, and Milan.

An enjoyable musical programme was given by the pupils of Mr. E. G. Wagar's class, with two pretty choruses by the entire class, entitled "Gliding Through the Meadow" and "Merrily the Cuckoo." Misses Jean and Marion McCannan gave an instrumental duet, and Miss Mary Mulholland an instrumental solo.

The president, Mrs. J. E. Johnston, occupied the chir. Dainty conclusion of the musical programme

PRESIDENT HARDING OUTLINES HIS POLICY TOWARD THE LEAGUE

Definitely Committed to U. S. Membership in the International Court of Justice.

NOT LEAGUE ENTRY.

NEW YORK, April 25 (Canadian Press), — President Harding yesterday committed himself and his Administration without equivocation to United States membership in the Permanent Court of International Justice.

Speaking at the annual luncheon of members of the Associated Press, Mr. Harding set forth the reasons which impelled him to recommend to the Senate shortly before the adjournment of Congress the adhesion of the United States to the world court protocol as drafted under the League of Nations, outlined the advantages he believes would accrue from the adoption of the recommendation, and presented for the first time answers to the arguments of opponents of the Administration plan.

In doing so the CChief Executive asserted his conviction that United States membership in the Court would be "in harmony with party platform pledges, candidatorial promises, and American aspirations." It would not be and could never be, construed as being an indirect entrance into the League of Nations, he declared, with emphasis.

The address was generally considered as the beginning of the presentation which the President plans to make during the spring and summer of the principal policies to be pursued during the next year.

Political leaders throughout the country, admittedly in disagreement as to the wisdom of the world court recommendation, awaited with intense interest the address, and last night were watching for the country's reaction. Whatever reception it might be accorded by the American people, the President indicated clearly that he stood firmly behind his recommendation.

Throughout his discussion of the world court question the President was most emphatic in his assertion that it did not mean an entry into the League of Nations, as he said evidently was hoped by League advocates nd ferd by srong Lguoinnnn nnnninnnnnnnn jottoUe etaoin hmm vocates and feared by strong League opponents. The United States, he said, stood committed against entrance into the League, and he now did not propose, he said, to put the United States into that international organisation, "by the side door, the back door, or the cellar door."

The United States, he contended, has nothing to fear in answering to the world court because of the greater voting strength of Great Britain in the League Assembly, which with the League Council, elects the court's judges.

"I do not hesitate to say," he said on this point, "that if the other great Powers can accept without fear the voting strength of the British Empire, without ties of race to minimise international rivalries and suspicions, we ought, in view of the natonal ties of English-speaking kinship, feel ourselves free from danger."

The President was introduced by Frank B. Noyes, president of the Associated Press, who said:

"Since I had the honour of presiding over our annual luncheon last year, I have spent most of my time in a trip around the world in an effort to study the new conditions in the Far East. In my journeyings I was met everywhere with really remarkable cordiality and hospitality.

"I left here feeling very proud of our organisation, and I come back with an even greater pride. Generous as was the praise showered on the Associated Press as the foremost news gathering organisation in the world, the tributes everywhere to its absolute impartiality were the most heartening words that I have ever heard, and I heard them at every point I visited.

"Everywhere it has been recognised that so far as humanly possible the service of the Associated Press is kept free from bias of every sort, and I cannot express the profound satisfaction with which I have heard these repeated expressions, and I know that you will share this satisfaction with me.

"For this reason I will go back to my desk, prepared to hear with equanimity and charity, charges that the Associated Press is controlled and dominated by Republicans or Democrats, capital or labour, Protestant, Roman Catholic, or Jew, for I know that no one who is both informed and honest can or will make such charges."

MOBS IN ESSEN CLASH WITH POLICE

Communists Blamed For Outbreaks Among Unemployed—One Man Killed and One Injured.

ESSEN, April 25. Canadian Press. —A mob of unemployed men clashed with the police yesterday at Ketersberg near here, in another outbreak of the unrest throughout the Ruhr, which the German officials attribute to the Communist agitators. One man was killed and one badly wounded.

According to the German accounts several hundred men under Communist leaders attempted to present demands to the city authorities, but the Mayor ordered the police to hold them off. The crowd resented the efforts of the police and the collision followed.

The men, as in other similar demonstrations, had formulated demands for free supplies of potatoes, increased municipal unemployment allowances and a certain amount for shoes and clothing. These demands, the German authorities say, are largely inspired by Communist agitators, who go from place to place, wherever there is unemployment, organize the men and incite them to trouble.

These outbreaks are regarded by the German authorities as preparation for a big May Day demonstration which the Communists are actively arranging.

Merchants in the principal centres such as Essen, Bochum and Duesseldorf, whose stores are not already equipped with the European protection of steel curtains or shutters are hurriedly installing them.

LONDON IN HER HOLIDAY GARB FOR THE DUKE

Crowds Wait For Fleeting Glimpse of Lady Elizabeth—Duke Will Wear Uniform of the Royal Air Force.

MANY DECORATIONS.

LONDON, April 25. —(Canadian Press.)—Londoners who have been unable to wait until Thursday for the royal wedding swarmed about the gates of Buckingham Palace and No 17 Bruton street, the home of the Strathmores, from early morning until darkness yesterday, to catch a glimpse of the principals in the nuptial pageant. Their vigil was repaid in the afternoon when Lady Elizabeth escaped from the dressmakers long enough to visit the Palace, and the Duke of York emerged from the Palace in an automobile.

Many of them were still there when the street lamps were lighted, loath to abandon the chance of another glimpse, although the palace was in darkness, proclaiming that there were no festivities within its walls last night.

It is impossble for one to get away from the wedding in some form or another, and, in addition to its being the gossip of everyone, everywhere, the unemployed are taking advantage of the opportunity, and the streets are filled with them selling pictures of the bride and groom and all manners of souvenirs. Variegated decorations are beginning to appear on the buildings and numerous stands which have been erected along the route.

The wedding chimes will be a dinner bell for thousands of children, who not only get a holiday on the occasion of the wedding, but will be the guests of the various municipalities at "wedding parties." In the city of London, 8,000 children will attend a party given by the Duke of York, at which a four-foot wedding cake will be cut for them. This also applies to all the larger cities in Great Britain.

The Duke is referred to by many o fthe papers as "His Royal Highness ,the Bridegroom." He has elected to appear attired in the uniform of the Royal Air Force at the wedding, although he has been an officer of the Navy for a longer period.

The King and Queen gave a party yesterday afternoon at the palace to the staff of the royal household, at which Lady Elizabeth was present. The bride and bridesmaids were entertained at a private party given by one of their number at a West-end restaurant last night. Lady Elizabeth will be busy at her dressmakers Wednesday and then must attend a reception at the palace in the evening, which is the last event in which she will appear as just plain Lady Elizabeth Angela Marguerite Bowes-Lyon.

ENGAGEMENT OF BRIDESMAID FOR PRINCESS MARY

Betrothal of Lady Rachel Cavendish to Honorable James Gray Stuart Has Been Announced.

PRINCE'S FAVORITE.

LONDON, April 25.— (Canadian Press.)— It is officially announced that Lady Rachel Cavendish, fourth daughter of the Duke of Devonshire, is betrothed to the Honorable James Gray Stuart, third son of the Earl of Moray.

Interest in the engagement of Lady Rachel arises from the fact that gossip so often has connected her name with that of the Prince of Wales. During the time of the Duke of Devonshire's governorship in Canada, which coincided with the tour of the Prince of Wales, Lady Rachel was the Prince's favorite dancing partner. She frequently has been invited to the royal house parties at Windsor. Her mother is one of Queen Mary's closest friends.

Lady Rachel Cavendish is the third of the bridesmaids for Princess Mary whose engagement has been announced since the wedding of the Princess to Viscount Lascelles. The other attendants of the Princess who are shortly to be married are Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, who on Thursday will wed the Duke of York, and Lady Virginia Mary Cambridge, daughter of the Marquis of Cambridge, who is to become the wife of the Marquis of Worcester. Lady Rachel Cavendish is 21 years old.

The Honorable James Gray Stuart is a captain of the Royal Scots and an equerry-in-waiting to the Prince of Wales. He is 25 years old and served during the European war from 1914 to 1917 and was mentioned in dispatches and awarded the Military Cross with bar.

Thirty Per Cent. of Seeding is Done.

EDMONTON, April 25 (Canadian Press). — Thirty per cent. of spring seeding in Central and Northern Alberta has been completed, according to a conservative estimate made yesterday by the Edmonton Journal. With operations going ahead all along the line, the present work should see a large percentage of this grain belt cropped.

Activity is noted in all sections, while estimates of areas already seeded range from 20 to 50 per cent. To secure any early advantages, wheat seeding is being carried on on a wider scale than has been for some time, and with fair conditions a big crop is a certainty.

Moisture conditions vary considerably according to reports. In some sections the soil is in fine shape, while other parts show that the dry fall was clearly detrimental.

While farmers are busy with wheat seeding they are not going to the same lengths with oats and are not as yet seeding barley or rye to any extent.

Perhaps time really is money. Anyway, it is all some men spend.

TURKS ASSUME A HOSTILE ATTITUDE

Have Apparently No Intention of Making Any Concessions Toward a Just Settlement.

LAUSANNE, April 25.— (Canadian Press.)— The resumed Near East Conference got under way yesterday with the Turks in no more conciliatory frame of mind than at the previous conference, which collapsed over the economic and financial problems of the proposed peace treaty The Angora delegates, Allied spokesmen said last night, gave no impression during the day's proceedings of an intention to make concessions on any of the disputed points.

Hassan Bey, the Turkish financial expert, told the Financial Committee of the Conference at its first meeting that Turkey wanted the whole world to understand that she was ready and determined to pay her just share of the Ottoman debt, but wanted a definite understanding that the provinces detached from her territory as a result of the great war should also bear their just share of the total debt burden.

He contended further that the succession states, including Syria, Palestine, Mesopotamia and the others, should stand a proportional cost of the withdrawal from circulation of the Turkish paper money. The Allies flatly declined to accept the Turkish contention that the paper money constitutes a debt to be borne by the detached provinces, but agree that division of the Ottoman debt shall be obligatory, and the matter will be submitted to experts who will work out the details.

Numerous other financial questions of an extremely technical nature were attacked, but the majority were referred to the experts.

LONDON, April 25.— (Canadian Press.)— Announcement was made in the House of Commons this evening by Ronald McNeill, Under Secretary of the Foreign Office, that Great Britain did not intend to raise a discussion of the Chester concession at the Lausanne Peace Conference.

German-Russian Agreement Signed.

MOSCOW, April 25.— (Canadian Press).—Count von Ulrich Brockdorff Rantzau, the German Ambassador to Russia and Maxim Litvinoff, Assistant Commissar of Foreign Affairs, yesterday signed an agreement by which Germany and Russia recognized the decisions of the prize courts, but agree to the exchange of merchantships seized during the war and to refer any disputes to an arbiter to be named by Dr. Fridtjof Nansen.

FORT WILLIAM, April 25—(Canadian Press).—The Kaministiquia River is now open from the mouth to beyond the Bascule Bridge of the Canadian Pacific Railway and the ice-breaker, Strathbogie has broken a channel through the Mission river to open water. Boats could now be moved to the elevators but it is said that no loading will be done here until May 1. A west wind would blow the rivers clear of ice.

EDUCATIONAL NEEDS OF THE INDIAN WERE STRESSED IN HOUSE

Must Be Taught How to Make a Decent Living or They Will Be Thown on the Government.

HEALTH MATTERS.

OTTAWA, April 25. Canadian Press. — The necessity of increasing educational facilities for Indians on the reserves in Western Canada was emphasized yesterday afternoon in the House of Commons by Hon Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, when estimates for the Department of Indian Affairs came up again.

The item was $714,223, for Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and Northwest Territories, showing an increase of some $36,000 over last year.

Hon. Mr. Stewart said that his own observations while visiting Indian reserves in the west last year, led him to believe that more technical education was necessary. In Saskatchewan, he said, advanced methods had proved very satisfactory. Indian boys and girls taken from the schools and placed upon farms had shown themselves able to favorably compete with their white neighbors.

One must remember, Mr. Stewart said that the white man was becoming a keen competitor of the Indian in hunting and trapping. It was essential, he claimed, that looking to the future the Indian must be assisted in changing his mode of living as well on the plains as in the bush. Otherwise Mr. Stewart believed, Parliament in the not distant future would be voting large sums to enable the Indians to continue to exist.

"No Indian child," he added, "should be without the opportunity for a decent public school education."

Robert Forke, Progressive leader, agreed with Mr. Stewart that it was necessary to teach the Indians how to make a decent living. Mr. Forke spoke of personal experiences with Indians in the west. He had observed that if left to himself an Indian boy on leaving school would revert so rapidly that within twelve months one would not know the difference between him and a lad who had never seen school. Mr. Forke also emphasized the need for selecting as Indian agents men who were sympathetic and tactful.

Hon. R. J. Manion emphasized the need for educating the Indians in better methods to protect their health. The Indians at the head of the lakes had been decreasing in numbers and this decrease was mainly due to disease. Diseases from which white men suffered dealt more harshly with the Indians than with the white people.

Hon. Charles Stewart replied that the department was trying to educate Indians as to the best means of combatting disease in their own homes. The Indians were in a rather bad way because of the ravages of tuberculosis. By employing nurses and sending them out to the Indians and by education it was hoped to check the disease.

R. B. Hanson (Conservative, York, Sunbury) said that the Indian agent at Perth, N. B., had been dismissed without reason following the last election. He wished to know why this had been done.

"I am informed that his services were unsatisfactory," replied Mr. Stewart.

"The reason that he was dismissed was because he did not support

GOLD MINERS MAY GO OUT ON STRIKE

Professional Agitators Are Believed to Be Back of Spirit of Unrest in the Porcupine.

NORTH BAY, Ont., April 25. — (Canadian Press.) —Advice which reached North Bay yesterday from the Porcupine gold fields where a strike of miners is threatened, was not reassuring, although there are still hopes that an actual crisis may yet be averted. Reports of the strength of the respective forces indicate that the miners are scarcely a unit in their threat to completely shut off negotiations with the mines and it is recognized that the work of professional "agitators" has to a considerable extent weakened their cause. Utterances made at the mass meeting of the workers which was held on Sunday gave the impression that the movement has been started not so much in order to improve the wage conditions in the Porcupine as to keep the labor situation in a ferment. Consequently a strike of short duration organized for a 'show of power' purposes is the worst that is being feared.

Reports reaching North Bay are that the mine operators have taken a definite stand and that both sides are perpared for the worst if a strike occurs. The operators insist that only a percentage of the men working in the mines are in sympathy with the movement and that there are enough local employes available to operate on a reduced scae.

Czechs Are Active Against Hungary.

BUDAPEST, April 25.—(Canadian Press).—Owing to Czech reprisals, trains running from Hungaria to Czecho-Slovakia have been halted and travellers are returning to Budapest from border stations. The Czech legation here has suspended the granting of vises to passports of Hungarian citizens.

Seventy Hungarian estate owners in Czecho-Slovakia, including a number of prominent aristocrats, have been handed expulsion orders from the Czech authorities.

UNFAIRNESS SUGGESTED.

Unintentionally or otherwise, the Ontario Government seems to be continually running foul of the urban municipalities.

The toes of the latter have been stepped on so often by legislation introduced by the Drury administration that the Councils of the larger centres have to be ready at any time to join in a deputation to try and block some measure that they regard as unfair to them.

Such a bill is that which is to be introduced by Hon. F. C. Biggs, and that proposes that notwithstanding anything contained in the Provincial Highways Act or the amendment thereto, the portion of the cost of construction, repair and maintenance chargeable under the corporation of the county, under Section 2 of the Provincial Highways Act, shall be borne by the department and shall not be repayable to the Province by the county.

This seems a very neat little piece of class legislation by which the counties profit while the urban municipalities receive no benefit.

There is no logical reason why, if the counties are to be exempt from these charges, the cities and towns should not receive the same consideration.

This is the view of the municipalities who are arranging a deputation to wait upon the Minister and endeavour to have this discrimination corrected.

STOP, LOOK AND LISTEN!

With the coming of seasonable weather and the drying up of the roads, motoring, confined during the winter for the most part to the city streets, becomes a general pastime.

It is a very good time for motorists to consider the question of what they should do to make travelling safe for themselves as well as for other drivers and pedestrians.

Already accidents are being reported, and particularly fatalities at level crossings.

Near Brantford on Saturday there was a collision between a train and an automobile in which a four-year-old boy was killed and four other people more or less seriously injured.

Failure to notice the approaching train was responsible for this accident.

It could have been avoided if the driver had stopped or slowed down as he approached the crossing and surveyed the track in both directions.

That is the only sensible, safe course to take.

Attempting to race a train over a crossing is a feat that contains too great a percentage of risk to make it worth while.

There are many dangerous crossings around Peterborough, and local motorists should remember the old advice, "Stop, look and listen!"

APATHETIC ELECTORS.

The people of Quebec are supposed to take their politics pretty seriously, yet the figures as to the vote polled in the Provincial elections held in February indicate that the lower Province has the same difficulty as Ontario in inducing electors to exercise their franchise.

It is announced that the total vote registered was 294,417, and of this number 3,768 ballots were found to be irregular, leaving a total of 290,649.

The electoral lists showed a total of 513,224 names.

That means that only 61 per cent. of the people on the lists took the trouble to vote.

And as it is announced that some constituencies registered as high as 80 per cent of the total available vote, it is evident that in other ridings the vote polled fell well below the fifty per cent. mark.

The indifference of so many electors to their responsibility in municipal, Provincial and Federal elections is not a healthy sign.

It is, at the same time, difficult to explain because the selection of governing bodies is surely an important enough matter to command the attention of every situation.

Where is the remedy to be found?

Compulsory voting under penalty of disqualification might do something to get better results, but there are obvious objections to such a policy.

Yet the apathy of the electorate is serious enough to warrant drastic action.

A MOVIE HERO EPISODE.

Last week Canadians had as a visitor a well-known movie actor from that colony which has come to be so well known through the columns of space given it because of recent happenings there, and with him came his wife, to whom, as one newspaper said, "he has been married several times," says the Kingston Standard. Like Caesar, he came, he saw and was seen, and he conquered, to such an extent that in Toronto a railway train was held waiting for nearly fifty minutes past her scheduled time for fear that he would miss it. At Montreal a cordon of police had to be thrown around the hotel at which this pair and their retinue of servants were staying to keep back the crowds which packed the streets in an effort to see this "hero" of the film and the marriage altar. This was bad enough, but the nauseating feature of his whole trip came to light still later when press despatches announced that railway brakemen were not allowed to enter the coach in which the party was riding, and the conductor was obliged to knock on the door before he would be admitted in the discharge of his duties.

Imagine this in a country like Canada. Courtesy to visitors is a splendid thing, but does it go so far that we are to get into the habit of holding up our trains to suit their conveniences or to make our railway employees little better than fawning servants who must not enter lest they contaminate or who must in servile manner knock to gain admittance to a railway coach in the discharge of their duties? Surely not, and surely, too, those who are in charge of our railways will see to it that hereafter we shall have no farther holding up of trains for people of this type and that they shall be treated exactly as any other traveller, no better or no worse.

NONE TOO SEVERE.

Although the growing tendency in Canada, as evidenced by certain sections of the Ontario Temperance Act, to consider a man guilty until he is proved innocent is to be regretted, yet the menace of the narcotic drug traffic is so serious that the majority of people will approve of the drastic legislation proposed by the Federal Government, even though the right to appeal is to be denied.

The use of drugs has grown to such an extent in most of the Provinces of the Dominion that the evil cannot be stamped out by half-hearted measures.

The law must be tightened, the penalties must be made more severe and the conviction of offenders rendered easier, and because the amendments proposed by Hon. Dr. Beland will do much to accomplish these things it is to be fancied that popular opinion will be behind the Government in its decision to inaugurate more drastic legislation.

The drug men ace is no imaginary evil. Its tentacles are stretching iout in every direction and fresh victims are being daily added to the list.

And each new addict increases the peril.

He is not only another customer for those who carry on the traffic, but he is almost certain to drag others into the trap with him.

The increased penalties in Dr. Beland's amendments are none too severe in view of the very real danger presented by the drug traffic.

WHY COAL IS DEAR.

Mr. Samuel Crowther has an article in the last issue of Collier's which, while lacking in startling novelties, at least tells us very convincingly why coal is dear. In his epigrammatic style he sums up the case in this way: "Too many people are trying to live on a ton of coal—too many miners, too many operators, too many distributors." He might have said the same thing about any business or all business, and spoken truthfully. There are too many people all over the world trying to buy something for a dollar and sell it for two. That's why there are so many failures, and, incidentally, to some extent why prices are high. We have got beyond the sound proportion as between producers and sellers. And commerce is out of joint and in trouble. But Mr. Crowther's observation about coal goes straight to the pith of the situation.

While all this applies to the United States, and is not directly our business on this side of the line, we are among the sufferers and are therefore very deeply interested. In proportion to our numbers we buy more American antracite than do Americans themselves. We pay a little more for it, too, although both we and they pay entirely too much. We would not be required to pay so much if adjustments were made, which Mr. Crowther intimates are held back wholly because of bad politics. There are no sound economic reasons for $17 coal. It should not cost us more than $10.

There are too many miners. In 1921 the average miner had employment for 149 days out of a possible 308. This meant that he had to earn enough to live for 365 days by working one day in every two he should have worked. And he did. His scale of pay was deliberately based on the assumption that he would be idle half his time. The operator did not suffer by this vicious system, as one might suppose. He gained by it. He was able to keep production down to the point where coal was scarce. But it was an artificial scarcity. It sent coal up to a very high price, and, of course, the innocent consumer footed the bill.

The innocent consumer, however, now has his eyes wide open. He knows why his coal is costing him $17 when he should be getting it for $10—and without robbing the miner of anything but his loafing time. He is not wasting any further effort in seeking to bring about peace between the miner and the mine operator—who certainly understand each other very well—but is directing his attack on Washington, which he now knows to be the centre of all the trouble there is in the coal business.

The aroused American citizen usually gets what he goes after. He is slow to start, being tolerant of wrong doing where money is involved. Stories of big graft more often excite his envy than his indignation, since in the pursuit of the elusive but almighty dollar he admires rather than condemns what he calls "sharpness." But when he turns he becomes a real corrective force, because his attacks are invariably in mass formation. And it now looks as if the assault on Washington would bring the coal barons to a reflective state of mind and put the miners really to work. That is all that needs to be done.

We can do nothing—except pray. Our votes cannot go into American ballot boxes. Success, however, to the crusaders against an evil of more than forty years' standing across the boundary would save us many millions of dollars and, at the same time, relieve us of the dread of freezing to death during our exhilarating but nevertheless frigid winters. We did not quite get down to burning up our shade trees last January and February, but there were times when they were tempting. The lawn might have lost in beauty; but the house would have been less like a refrigerator. —Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Everybody but the Government seems to see the desirability of having the Gregory Commission wind up its work before the election.

Hon Peter Smith has decided now not to wipe out the Provincial debt in 40 years. As he was the only one who thought he could, there will be little disappointment.

Short election speeches should do much to ensure success in the coming campaign. A long-winded orator on a June night will be as unpopular as a cloud of mosquitoes.

When citizens are being asked to clean up their premises the city should set the example by ridding the parks of their winter's accumulation.

The marathon dancers are still at it, although no one yet has discovered any sound reason in favour of the nonsensical performance.

Grade crossing accidents continue to furnish headlines for the newspapers and work for coroners' juries. The policy of "Safety First" seems to be slipping from memory.

Portugal Will Not Sell Colony of Macao.

LISBON, April 25. — (Canadian Press.)—A denial has been issued of a report that the Portuguese Colony of Macao, in China, will be sold to Germany.

The Macao dependency is on the west side of the entrance to the Canton River, not far from Hong Kong. For a long time it was the port of entry for East Asiatic commerce, but lost much of its importance after the British acquired Hong Kong.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

CAMPBELLFORD, April 24. — The chief speaker at the weekly meeting of the Young People's Society of St. Andrew's Church last night was Mrs. T. E. Moffatt, who spoke on the subject of "Courtesy," suggested by last week's effort to promulgate that virtue among the public. Mrs. Moffatt, who is a bright and entertaining speaker, deplored the lack of courtesy among Canadians generally, and believes that every week should have the same object as that aimed at last week. Courtesy means more than mere superficial politeness, implying as it does some kindly action to others.

Two outstanding instances of a lack of courtesy were given by the speaker. One was the case of a teacher who referred to another who held a different opinion on the Adolescent School question. The second example had to do with a university professor who classed as certain surgical operation.

Discourtesy, Mrs. Moffatt said, is due to a variety of causes, chief among which are the rush habit of the present day and an indifference for the feelings of others. Then, too, people often fail to perform an act of kindness from a desire to avoid the very appearance of interfering with the affairs of others.

Telephone discourtesy, people being rude to each other because they are apart and may be strangers was another matter dealt with by the speaker. The anonymous letter writer who says harsh things of another, statements that he would never think of making over is own name, did not escape criticism. The speaker believes that all letters should be written in a cheerful spirit, and that nothing should be written that the writer was afraid to sign.

The presiding officer for the evening was Bert Stephens. The other items on the programme were a reading by Mrs. John Strand, and a duet by Miss E. Meiklejohn and Fred Wigglesworth.

These reports had been found correct although he understood that the Indian agent in question had no knowledge of what was being done. He believed that the agent in question had gone to Northern Ontario

Mr. Hanson: "He went only a month ago. His dismissal took place over a year ago." He pressed the Minister for the reason of this man's dismissal.

Mr. Stewart: "I am informed that he did not give his full time to the work."

Mr. Hanson: "How could he give his full time on the miserable salary which he was paid?"

Michaud (Liberal, Restigouche) declared the the agent had obtained his job because of his activities as a Conservative organizer. Then he had not given his time to the work.

Mr. Meighen: "He evidently was dismissed by the member for Restigouche since the Minister knew nothing about it"
